Letter From the Editor

College football fans will need an atlas this fall as they track their teams across the national map. The Big West, once upon a time the Pacific Coast Athletic Association, last year included Nevada, New Mexico State, Pacific, San Jose State, UNLV, and Utah State. This season, four Division I-A Independent schools have joined the conference: Arkansas State, Louisiana Tech. Northern Illinois, and Southwestern Louisiana. What is going on here? The 10-team Big West now consists of schools from seven different states. Where in the world is Carmen San Diego?

The ranks of the Independents continue to dwindle as athletic department budgets are cut and more schools seek a piece of a league pie. This fall, Penn State officially becomes the 11th member of the Big Ten. (At least the Pac-8 renamed itself the Pac-10 in 1978 when Arizona and Arizona State joined the league.) Perennial power Georgia Southern, which has won four national championships and been runner-up once, will compete for the title in the Southern Conference, the most competitive league in Division I-AA. And Northeastern, William & Mary, and James Madison have forsaken their Independent status and are now part of the Yankee Conference.

The NCAA has reclassified its four divisions. Twenty-seven schools join the ranks of Division I, with eight moving up from Division II and 19 from Division III. Six schools (Butler, Dayton, Drake, Evansville, San Diego, and Valparaiso) have formed the Pioneer League. Four Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference members (Canisius, Iona, St. Peter's, and Siena) and two reluctant football powers from the Big East (Georgetown and St. John's) have come together in a low-profile gridiron MAAC. Nine other former Independents from Division III (Alabama-Birmingham, Buffalo, Charleston Southern, Davidson, Duquesne, Hofstra, Marist, St. Francis of Pennsylvania, and Wagner) and three from Division II (Central Connecticut State, St. Mary's, and Troy State) have taken the step up to I-AA. Cal State Northridge, Cal State Sacramento, and Southern Utah will compete with Division II members Cal Davis and Cal Poly San Luis Obispo in the Western Football Conference. We have added previews of all 27 teams and included their schedules.

With all of this movement off the field, however, some things have remained constant on it. Miami and Florida State have either started or finished the season ranked No. 1 for the past five years. In the last 31 Associated Press polls, one of those two schools has been at the top 28 times. Look for them in or near that same spot in August and again in January,

Baseball

I look forward to buying the Street & Smith's Baseball issue in March and I enjoy reading the changes in the Players Targets. Expanding the target areas to include more than just hits, home runs, and RBIs (for hitters) and victories, strikeouts, and shutouts (for pitchers) was a good idea, but cutting back on the inactive and active players was not And there were a couple of mistakes in the home run chart; You forgot to include Mark McGwire and Rob Deer, with 220 and 205. respectively [at the start of the season.]

DAVID G. OBERG, Burlingame, CA

For the past seven years, I have purchased your Baseball, Football, and Basketball issues, and had no reason to believe that trend would change. However, I acquired the 1993 Baseball and was appalled. Whoever wrote the National League preview actually picked the Florida Marlins ahead of the "Fighting Phils!" It is an embarrassment to even think that an expansion team in any sport could come in and finish ahead of an established organization. Furthermore, I believe an apology is in order. The Phillies were picked first by numerous other publications (which I will soon be buying). They have the hitting to stay with anyone in the majors and the best young pitching staff this side of Atlanta. Get on the bandwagon now while there's still time to save face

CHRISTOPHER M. PROGIN, Lebanon, PA

I have every issue of your Baseball publication since 1941, and used to look forward to your predictions for the upcoming seasons. but now I am resigned to Maury Allen picking the New York Mets because of his "horner" instincts. Admittedly, the National League East is not the strongest division in baseball, but picking the Mets for the reasons he gives is ludicrous. Howard Johnson was going back to third base, where he was arouably the worst fielder in baseball. Eddie Murray has been a fine player, but don't you think it likely that another year will mean less production? Picking Dwight Gooden and Bret Saberhagen to come all the way back because of two late. pressureless games in September is truly wishing on a star. Personally, I pick the Phils to finish ahead of the Mets this year, and the Cards will prevail in the N.L. East

DAVID N. KLEIN, Danvers, MA Baseball does inspire passion among its fans Mr. Allen, who accurately forecast the Mets' fall in 1991, was among the majority of baseball writers who last spring predicted the Mets would finish higher than the Phils, whose transformation has been one of the remarkable stories of the season.

I am the Executive Director of the Czech. Baseball Association, which was established after the split of the former Czechoslovakia. The CBA covers all baseball activities through the entire Czech Republic, from kids to seniors, from beginners to Czech national teams. We run competitions, championships, and tournaments. Besides this work, I was invited to announce major league baseball games for Czech TV. But it is impossible to get any baseball publications here in the Czech Republic. Would you be so kind and send me your 1993 Street & Smith's Baseball? I appreciate your kindness and understanding.

JAN BAGIN Executive Director CBA Czech Republic

Please send me a list of those players taken in the first round of the 1990 NFL draft. MARK ADRIAN, Westmorland, CA

I have bought a Street & Smith's Pro Football issue every year since 1973, the year that Steve Spurrier adorned the cover. So I feel qualified to make the following suggestion. With the introduction of free agency, there has been so much player movement that your readers need a reference source to locate players. Therefore, I propose that you include an alphabetical roster of all the players in the NFL and the American players in the CFL with their respective teams.

BILLY WEDGEWORTH, Northridge, CA

College Football

I have found a way to stir up more interest in football. Now that the goal posts have been narrowed, it is much harder for field-goal kickers to score. I submit to you the following:

1. 3 points for field goals up to 40 yards

2. 4 points for those 41-50 yards

3. 5 points for those over 50 yards

The strategy of the game is now changed and interest from watchers has increased. If this big change is adopted, I'd like the honor of having it called the "Lorenz System."

RAYMOND J. LORENZ, Savannah, GA

Please send me a list of all the past Street & Smith's College Football covers, Enclosed is a stamped self-addressed envelope.

College Basketball

You are my bible. I check the newsstands for weeks in advance in order to purchase your magazine. I have been reading Street & Smith's since the 1970s. Thank you for years of enjoyment. I still get out the old issues and see how many of your high school profiles are in the NBA. They bring back so many memories of great college players and games.

J.D. HILL. Louisville, KY

I would like an address where I can write to the University of Michigan Wolverines.

ARGONNE QUINTANA, Dulce, NM Write to the University of Michigan at 1000 S. State Street, Ann Arbor, MI 48109.

As a long-time fan of American basketball, both college and professional, I would like to ask for a small addition to your College/ Prep Basketball issue: a follow-up on the prep stars that you list each year, It would be interesting to see how a certain class of great promise did, four years later, in big-time college hoops

ALEX A. NIKULASSON, Vatnsleysustrond, Iceland

I would like to see Street & Smith's give the girls better coverage in the College/Prep Basketball edition, and I would also like you to list the National Football League officials, their hometown, and how long they have been NFL officials.

GEORGE WELLS, Dove Creek, CO

I have enjoyed and collected the Street & Smith's magazines for many years and recently got my copy of the new College Basketball issue. I noticed a couple of changes from previous issues and wondered whether they were intentional or accidental: The new issue doesn't list statistics from the previous season, which I enjoy reviewing, and lists the publication dates for the various 1992 issues (already out) rather than the dates for those in coming year. (Despite the Red Sox' atrocious record, I am already looking forward to the next Baseball magazine and would like to know when it's coming out.)

JOHN FAWCETT, North Providence, RI

I thoroughly enjoyed reading the 1992 Street & Smith's College/Prep Basketballeven though not one player from San Diego County was declared All-America. The county hasn't broken off from the mainland and fallen into the ocean. There are at least 15 Division Icaliber players in San Diego.

KENNETH KAVANAGH, La Jolla, CA

As someone who has loved basketball since I was a child, I have one problem with your magazine: Why is it that high school players receive more ink than players from small colleges? Some of the top players in the NBA have come from small colleges. I enjoy your magazine, so keep up the good work.

CHARLES RANKIN, Jacksonville, FL.

I have been reading your magazines for many years and especially like the College-/Prep Basketball issue. I would like to commend you on the fine job you do in covering college basketball. However, I think you could be much more complete if you provided some insight into Division II, which has given the NBA some great stars. I would like to know if there is another Scottie Pippen or Dennis Rodman on the rise. Please consider giving Division II a closer look in your next edition.

Most of the underclassmen drafted in the first two rounds in 1990-92 were successful immediately.

by LARRY FELSER

BUFFALO NEWS

"How Bout Them Dawgs?" Usually that's the battle cry of University of Georgia fans when success seems imminent. Barely had the equipment been cleaned and put away after last season when another slogan would have been appropriate: "How Sweet It Might Have Been.

Until that time, any mention of the 1993 football season sent visions of Sugar Bowl plums dancing in the heads of Bulldog loyalists. From Valdosta to Dothan, expectations of a Southeastern Conference championship, or at least the Eastern portion of it, seemed reachable to most Georgia fans. With quarterback Eric Zeier passing to wide receiver Andre Hastings and Garrison Hearst conceivably running all the way to the Heisman Trophy, anything seemed possible. The expectations traveled beyond state borders.

Then came the deadline for college underclassmen to declare for the pro draft. First Hearst, the running back who blurred Georgia memories of Herschel Walker, announced his intention to skip his senior season. Then Hastings, not only the team's feature receiver but also one of the nation's best return threats, announced that he, too, was leaving.

Georgia on His Mind

Ray Goff, the Georgia coach, is philosophical. "We went .500," he said ruefully. "We lost Hearst and Hastings, but two others remained. Bernard Williams, our tackle whom I consider the best offensive lineman in the country, is still with us and so is Mitch Davis. an outside linebacker. Both of them had thought about leaving early.

That's the best that college coaches can do about losing underclassmen these days: Be philosophical. Besides, Goff has grown accustomed to it. Since he's been at Georgia, the Bulldogs have lost star running backs Walker, Tim Worley, Keith Henderson, Rodney Hampton, and now Hearst before their eligibil-

"I told Hearst he'd have to go," said Goff. "When I heard from the pros where he would be drafted, I told him he can't turn down that kind of money."

For some other college coaches, it's difficult to be that philosophical. "If it weren't for kids leaving school early," said Charlie McClendon, executive director of the College Coaches Association, "Larry Smith would still be the coach at Southern Cal." Smith's chances to stay at USC diminished when he lost Junior Seau and Mark Carrier after the 1989 season. Todd Marinovich after the '90 season, and running back Mazio Royster after '91. At the time, Seau was the best linebacker in the nation and Carrier the top safety. Marinovich, who started at quarterback as a freshman.

lumed pro with two years of eligibility remaining. Without them, Smith's Trojans were unable to fulfill part of his job description: Beat UCLA and Notre Dame.

The problem for most college coaches is how to convince their young players that they will be better off staying in school to complete their eligibility. Most of the underclassmen taken in the first two rounds of the draft in the last three years were successful immediately. As a rookie, Hampton was an essential part of the New York Giants' 1990 Super Bowl winners. Emmitt Smith of Florida was a catalyst for the Dallas Cowboys' 1993 Super Bowl champions. Last year, Smith and ex-Arkansas Razorback Barry Foster won the ground-gaining titles in the NFC and AFC.

The Lack of the Irish

Even the prospect of winning a national championship, much less a conference title, is not the inducement that it might seem to be. Last winter running back Jerome Bettis and cornerback Tom Carter, both juniors at Notre Dame, declared for the draft. They may have reasoned that if the Irish couldn't win the big prize with them playing on the same team with quarterback Rick Mirer, running back Reggie Brooks, linebacker Demetrius DuBose, and tight end Irv Smith-all destined for the premium rounds of the draft-what were Notre Dame's chances without them? In fact, according to some scouts, Mirer may have lowered his draft status when his senior season did not measure up to his junior promise.

The appeal to stay in school, in most cases. has to be made in selfish terms. If you use your remaining eligibility (the argument should go) then your market value is more likely to inflate. Consider the cases of Barry Foster and Terry Allen

Garrison Hearst

When Foster left Arkansas following his junor year, in which he finished fifth in the Southwest Conference in rushing, he was drafted in the fifth round by Pittsburgh, the 128th player taken. He d'dn't get to start untithe 13th game of his rookie season. The next year he began well, then suffered an ankle nury that caused him to miss eight games Last season he exploded, leading the NFL with 1 670 yards, a figure far beyond the expectations of any fifth-round draft choice. "If Foster had stayed in school, he would have gone in the second or third round for sure said Goff "Maybe the first round"

Despite playing just three college seasons. Allen ran for 2,778 yards at Clemson, just 137 yards under the school record for a four-year career. He might have shattered that record had he not hurt his knee in his junior year Despite the injury, he still entered the draft early. Minnesota selected him in the ninth round with the 241st pick. Another knee injury caused him to miss his rook e season, but he started seven games in 1991 and then ran for 1 201 yards last year, an almost unthinkable ach evement for a ninth-rounder

Passing Grades

An even better argument might be applied to quarterbacks leaving school early. In the last three drafts, six underclassmen quarterbacks were selected. Only one, Jeff George of Purdue, whom Indianapolis made the No. 1 choice in the 1990 draft, has been successful Two of the quarterbacks, Marinovich of USC and Tommy Maddox of UCLA, left school after their sophomore seasons. Despite being handed the starting job by the Raiders last season, Marinovich was an embarrassing flop, sending owner Al Davis into the NFL free-agent market this year. Maddox, drafted by Denver, had to play as a rookie when the Broncos' star quarterback John Elway, was injured late last year. But it was obvious that Maddox needed far more experience, and the youngster was confronted with a long period of apprenticeship after Denver signed Elway to a new four-year, $20 million contract

Andre Ware off the University of Houston after winning the Heisman Trophy as a junior Drafted by Detroit with the seventh pick in the first round, Ware seemed in his comfort zone with a team that used the run-and-shoot offense, basically the same one he played in college. Yet Ware hasn't been able to beat out either Rodney Peete or Erik Kramer for the starting ob

Scott Mitchel, skipped his senior season at Ulah, but he ran into a situation similar to that faced by Maddox. Drafted in the fourth round by Mami in 1990, he did most of his playing a year ago in the World Football League, on oan to Orlando by the Dolphins, who decided he needed more game expenence. Unless the NFL defrosts the World League in some form in 1994 (it was placed in indefinite deep freeze this year) quarterbacks who leave college early will have to get their further playing experience during brief exposure in summertime exhibition games. Major Harris, one of West Virginia's all-time great quarterbacks ended up in the Canadian Football League where he has struggled

That doesn't deter some teams from making major investments in unpolished underclassmen quarterbacks. Last summer, in the midst of a veteran quarterback controversy over Phil Simms and Jeff Hostetler, the New York Giants forfeited their first-round choice in the 1993 draft to select Dave Brown of Duke who decided to forgo his senior season and enter the NFL's supplemental draft. When both Simms and Hostet er were hurt late last season, Brown was of no help to the Giants

Emmitt Smith

Running Starts

It is difficult to find many stones to deter running backs from leaving school early. They fare too well. The top ground gainers in the NFC last year, as well as the AFC leader, Foster, came out of college early. Barry Sanders. of Detroit was recognized as the NFL's No. 1 ball carner when he left college after winning the Heisman Trophy as an Oklahoma State junior. Some of the top college coaches don't even try hard to talk their players out of defecting to the pros unless they sincerely feel that the player would benefit from playing more college ball, "It's the kids' decision," said Penn State's Joe Paterno, who lost Richie Anderson, his best back, to the draft this year

Dick MacPherson has seen it from both sides. Successful as a college coach at Syracuse and currently being paid the final two years of his contract with the New England Patriots (following the coaching changeover as a result of management turmoil), MacPherson thinks it would help if the NCAA and the NFL performed a joint survey each year

"A good survey could provide guidance to the players as to whether they could expect to be drafted in the first or second rounds and maybe even the third," said Mac, "That way, they would know whether it was worth it to come out early. Obviously, some of them need to play more, like the two quarterbacks. Marinovich and Maddox

Actually, the NCAA and the NFL have met over the issue McClendon led a college group that included Goff. The NFL group included Don Weiss, the director of planning and general managers George Young of the Giants and Bobby Beathard of San Diego NFL commissioner Paul Tagliabue has estabtished a policy of not allowing any player into the draft who has more than a year's eligibility remaining. The pros are sensitive over the issue of drafting underclassmen and actually would prefer not to do it, since it undermines their relationship with college football, their free farm system

Even the pro scouts in the field avoid discussing the merits of underclassmen until the players officially declare for the draft. They can't do much to stop it, however For instance, there is a serious question whether Tagliabue's current ban on players with more than one season of eligibility remaining would stand up in court

Nevertheless, the NFL has benefited from the influx of underclassmen. Of the first 10 players drafted in 1990 and '92, half left college early. This year, the top quarterback, Drew Bledsoe of Washington State, the premier linebacker, Marvin Jones of Florida State, and most of the best running backs and safeties were underclassmen

If Curtis Conway of USC and Sean Dawkins of California hadn't come out early," said one NFL talent boss, "We would have had a really thin crop of receivers "

Guilty or not, the pro scouts have suffered as the colleges have endured the early departures. Access to most school campuses is far more restricted for them now than it was a few years ago "We did just exactly as the Coaches' Association suggested, ' said Goff 'We restricted access the same way the NCAA restricts our access when we recruit high school players." That policy led to to some petty retaliation last winter. Some college coaches ignore the guidelines set by their association and welcome the pros as they always have Some of those who dign t found it difficult to get invitations to the NFL's annual talent appraisa in Indianapolis for their players who were borderline prospects

On the other hand, the outsiders whom the colleges find more difficult to restrict are the agents "It's almost impossible to control the influence the agents have on the players," said McClendon, "Just this year, three or four underclassmen were told that they were going to be the first cornerback selected in the draft Now, somebody was lying "The NFL Players Association makes an effort to help the situation by publishing an in-depth guide on the agents it certifies. It is available to college players and coaches. Goff said that "the state of Georgia just passed a new law that requires agents be registered, but bad guys are still going to be bad guys."

National Preview by RANDY MELL FORT LAUDERDALE SUN-SENTINEL

There was a time in football-wealthy Florida when winning the state championship was as meaningful as winning the national championship There were times when it seemed the state title was more difficult to cam than the national title Just ask Forida State coach Bobby Bowden. He will shake his head, give you a woeful smile, and tell you how his Seminoles were 2-0 against his state rivals in 1989. A 24-10 victory against Miam and a 24-17 victory against Florida won his Notes the unofficial little as state champs. Still, somehow, some way, the Miam Hurricanes won the national championsh p

There's no ring and no trophy for Florida's state champs. No parade either But there were bragging rights. In the hearts of Florida s now taking hold, leading to the growing importance of Big East, Atlantic Coast, and Southeastern Conference crowns

If think the state really suffers because we don't all play each other anymore," Mami coach Dennis Erickson said 1 It's such a great football state, and it deserves to see all three teams playing to see who's best.

The Miam -Florida series was supposed to resume on an irregular basis last fall but SEC. expansion spoiled that. When the SEC increased its conference schedule from seven to eight games, Florida cance ed the Miami games slated for 1992-93 '96-97 and '99-2000 Florida officials said they could not afford a home-and-home agreement with both Miami and FSU because it would mean playing only five homes games every other year They said that the costs that went into expandng Flor da Field demand that revenues be raised from six homes games every year. And so the series died another death. Last season the tradition was laid to rest. Last year's seniors at Mam and Florida were the first class to graduate without ever playing each other They eft without a single taste of what was once one of college footbali's best rivalries

"It hurts me," said former Miami linebacker Micheal Barrow, one of those seniors who never played the Gators. "I grew up watching those games. They hated each other, but all the hatred's in the past. We don't know the Gators anymore. We don't know the meaning of the rivalry." There is hope If the Southeastern Conference ever scales back to a sevengame schedule, Fforida athletic director Jeremy Foley has pledged to try to put the Hurncanes back on Florida's schedule.

With or without a meaningful state title, it seems you can no longer win a national championship without passing through Florida Miami and Florida State have either started or ended the season ranked No. 1 for the last five years. In the last 31 Associated Press polls, Mami or FSU has been at the top 28 times.

Look for Florida State to keep that streak alive, for the Seminoles, despite the loss of four defensive players in the first two rounds of the NFL draft, are No. 1 in the 1993 Street & Smith's College Football preseason poll No Atlantic Coast Conference team could beat them in their first year in the league last fall, and no team will defeat them this year FSU went 11-1, tosing only to Miami (19-16) and finishing second in the final polls to Alabama It was an unprecedented accomplishment for Bobby Bowden, who became the only coach ever to guide a school to at least 10 victories in six consecutive seasons. Heisman Trophy candidate Charlie Ward should make sure that 1993 is the year Florida State finishes on top. The spectacular senior, a two-way quarterback threat, finished fourth in the nation in total offense (286.5 yards per game), throwing for 2,647 yards and running for 504 while personally accounting for 28 touchdowns. FSU opens the season with Kansas in the Kickoff Classic and closes it against Florida in Gainesville. In between there are dates at home with Atlantic Coast Conference rival Clemson in September and Miami in October.

and a trip to Notre Dame in November. The Seminoles have played in a bowl game in each of the last 11 years and have won the last eight. It's a long-playing record that doesn't figure to end anytime soon.

Mami's victory over Florida State was its 10th in the last 13 meetings. En route to what would have been their fifth national title in 10 years, the Hurncanes were blown out by Alabama in the Sugar Bowl and wound up third in the polis, their seventh consecutive finish in the top three. They, too, lost heavily in the NFL draft, including '92 Heisman winner Gino Tor retta and a trìo of talented linebackers. Still Mami's four national championships came in odd-numbered years. And each of those teams was directed by a first-year quarterback, a good omen for coach Dennis Enckson, 44-4 in just four seasons.

Syracuse, with 20 victories in the past two seasons, is a bona fide contender for the Big East title and, thus, the national championship. The Orange had the ball on Miami's three-yard line when time ran out last fall. With All America quarterback Marvin Graves among a dozen returning starters, Syracuse is pointing to the rematch on October 23 in the

Napoleon Kaufman Washington

Orange Bowl, where Miarni has a 51-game winning streak

Alabama is coming off a perfect season, a 23-game winning streak, and its first national championship in 12 years. The Tide lost running back Derrick Lassic, one of the heroes of the Sugar Bowl, and defensive linemen John Copeland and Eric Curry to the NFL, but returns 13 regulars. Back to lead the offense is Jay Barker, who, with a 17-0 record, is merely the winningest quarterback in school history.

While Alabama is the class of the SEC West, the East figures to be a three-way battle among Florida, Tennessee, and Georgia The Gators need a replacement for record-setting quarterback Shane Matthews to complement running back Errict Rhett and wide receiver Willie Jackson Heath Shuter is one of the premier passers in the country. In his first season as a starter, he threw for over 1,700 yards with just four interceptions in leading the Volunteers to a Hall of Fame Bowl victory and a 9.3 final mark. And Georgia returns the No. 1 quarterback in the SEC in Eric Zeier. However, he will be without running mate Garrison Hearst, who left school early for the NFL.

Michigan is another contender for the national championship, which the Big Ten hasn't won since 1968. The Wolverines, off a second straight conference title, are loaded offensively with wide receiver Derrick Alexander and running back Tyrone Wheatley Their biggest challenge will come from league newcomer Penn State, which is looking to rebound from last season's sluggish finish. The Nittany Lions will be without offensive stars O.J. McDuffie and Richie Anderson, who scored 28 of the team's 49 receiving and rushing touchdowns last fall Nevertheless, coach Joe Paterno is excited about the prospect of winning the conference title and going to the Rose Bowl the only major bowl in which he has never appeared Anticipation is building toward October 16, when Penn State hosts Michigan

Elsewhere in the Midwest, Notre Dame will dip into its deep pool of talent to try to replace the four starters it lost in the first round of the NFL draft, quarterback Rick Mirer, fullback Jerome Bettis, tight end Irv Smith, and cornerback Tom Carter The Irish should be strong along both lines, with All-America Aaron Taylor moving from guard to tackle and Academic All-America Tim Ruddy at center and Bryant Young anchoring the defense. The schedule is typically challenging, for the Irish host Southern Cal, Florida State, and Boston Coflege and travel to Michigan, Stanford, and Brigham Young—all bowl teams a year ago

In the Pac-10, Southern Cal will have a familiar look. Former L.A. Rams coach John Robinson returns to the Trojans after a 10-year absence. He will reinstitute the tai back-oriented offense that served him so we'l a decade ago, when he won 80 percent of his games and three conference titles. It won't be easy for the schedule includes eight '92 bowl teams. And he'll have to get by without the 1615 yards per game supplied by flanker Curtis Conway, who took off early for the Chicago Bears Seventeen other starters return, however, including Outland Trophy candidate Tony Boselli at offensive tackle and Butkus Award contender Willie McGinest at end/outside linebacker They are among an outstanding group of linemen in the conference that also includes tackles Vaughn Parker at UCLA and Todd Steussie at California and defenders Rob Waldrop at Arizona and Shante Carver at Arizona State

Washington had its winning streak stopped at 22 games last fall, lost to Michigan in the Rose Bowl, and dropped out of the top 10 in the final polls. Now Don James has to replace his quarterbacks, Mark Brunell and Billy Joe Hobert, who guided the team to Rose Bowl thumphs in 1990 and '91. The Huskies feature an outstanding pair of talbacks in Napoleon Kaufman, who ran for 1 045 yards a year ago, and Beno Bryant, who had 940 yards the previous season

During a six-week stretch last season. Arizona was as tough as any team in the country. The Wirdcats defeated Washington, UCLA, Stanford, and California and lost by a point at Miami. But they lost to Baylor in the John Hancock Bowl and finished a ho-hum 6-5-1. Coach Dick Tomey needs more consistency and a quarterback. He already has the defense, which was the best in the nation against scoring in 1992.

n the Southwest Conference Texas A&M is shooting for the first three-peat since Texas won six straight league tities in 1968-73. The Aggies should have little trouble extending their 15-game SWC winning streak with 69 underclassmen returning from the team that lost only to Notre Dame in the Cotton Bow, and finished seventh in the polls Sophomore quarterback Corey Pulig directed the team to an average of nearly 40 points per game in the second half of the season. There are two talented junior running backs in Greg Hill (if he remains eligible) and Rodney Thomas and four consensus all-conference defenders

John Mackov chas the b.g-play receivers in his second season at Texas but he lacks the capable quarterback to get the ball to them and to raise the ...onghorns higher than the 6-5 mark they posted last fall. Baylor finished the regular season at 6-5 and then defeated Arizona in the John Hancock Bow. While aiming for a third straight bowl bid, the Bears will have to adjust to a new coach. After 21 years on the sidelines, Grant Teaff turned the chores over to offensive coordinator Chuck Reedy.

In the Rockies, the big name is San Diego State's Marshall Faulk, who became just the second back (after Herschel Walker) to rush for more than 3,000 yards in his first two seasons and only the fifth to win back-to-back NCAA rushing titles. He has accomplished that despite missing hearly six full games due to injury. He had a career-high 300 yards and four touchdowns against Hawaii, 299 yards vs. Brigham Young and 220 against Southern Call A knee sprain side ined him for the Miam game, denying him the chance to go head-to-head with quarterback Gino Torretta, who outpolled him for the 1992 Heisman Trophy. The Aztecs' schedule this fall is less form dable, with Cal State Northridge. Cal fornia, and Minnesota replacing M'ami UCLA, and Southern Cal, so if Faulk remains healthy, he could run up some staggering numbers.

It will be business as usual in the Big Eight. which could produce the most exciting race between Nebraska and Colorado since the Buffatoes replaced Oklahoma as the Cornhuskers' chief rival. Nebraska went 9-2, the 24th year in a row it won at least nine games (an NCAA record), before losing to Florida State in the Orange Bow G ve the slight nod again this fall to Nebraska to win a third consecutive title and Orange Bowl berth. In tailback Calvin Jones and quarterback Tommie Frazier it has the league's best players at their positions, plus the premier offensive line Colorado featured the most prolific passing attack in Big Eight history in 92 as Kordel Stewart connected with Michael Westbrook and Charles Johnson on 133 passes for 2,209 yards

A step below the big two in the Big Eight is Kansas, which went 8-4, including its first bowl victory (Aloha, over BYU) in 31 years. The Jayhawks return a solid nucleus with the unenviable task of facing top-ranked Florida. State in the Kickoff Classic.

Street&Smith's

All-America Team

At the head of the 1993 Street & Smith's All-America class are a group of junior running backs. They are led by th's season's early Heisman Trophy favorite. Marshall Faulk of San Diego State. A 5-10, 200-pounder Faulk led the nation in rushing for the second straight season in 1992 with an average of 163 yards per game. He had 1,429 yards as a freshman and became just the second player in college football history (after Herschel Walker) to rush for more than 3,000 yards in his first two seasons.

The runner-up to Miami's Gino Torretta in the Heisman voting last year, Faulk might have won it if he had stayed healthy. He prayed only 10 games - and that included a 21-yard day against Fresno State (he left after an injury on the first series of the game) and a 60-yard outing against Colorado State (he d dn't play the second half due to an injury) He also had to sit out the Mami game with a knee sprain, thus missing his chance to go head-to-head with his main Heisman competition Against many of the Aztecs' tougher opponents, however, Faulk was usually at his best. He had a career-high 300 yards (and four touchdowns) against 20th-ranked Hawaii, eclipsing by one yard his total against Brigham Young in the season's second game

He also had 220 yards against Southern Call and 200 against New Mexico

Faulk's running mate in our first-team backfield is Nebraska junior Calvin Jones, who averaged 110 yards per game last year and scored 14 touchdowns. Jones averaged 7.2 yards per carry, the highest figure of any returning player among the top 25. Among the Huskers' rich tradition of running backs, Jones became the first Nebraska player to gain 2,000 yards before the end of his sophomore season. He has a total of 2,110 for a 105.5 yards-per-game mark with a stunning 7.82 yards-per-carry average through two seasons. A unanimous all-Big Eight selection last year, he's also the first player ever to lead the league in scoring as both a freshman (8.6 points a game) and sophomore (8.2) And amazingly Jones never played more than two quarters in any game last year, alternating with fellow all-conference back Derek Brown (who opted to turn pro this year) until the final game against Kansas State

Still, in gaining first-team recognition, Jones barely nudged out Tyrone Wheatley, the Michigan junior who averaged 122 yards a game rushing and 6.6 yards per carry, and Texas A&M junior Greg Hill, who averaged 111.5 yards per game Hill is expected to be forced to sit out one or two games this year in a disciplinary measure over some special employment benefits he received

At quarterback was another extremely close race. Our first-team pick is Florida State's Charlie Ward, who narrowly edged Marvin Graves of Syracuse for the nonor Ward's stats were dazzling as he helped the Seminoles to an 11-1 record and a final No 2 ranking nationally. The 6-1, 190-pounder finished fourth in the NCAA in total offense, averaging 286.5 yards per game, and was the country's most dangerous two-way quarterback threat. He threw for 2,647 yards and ran for 504—no quarterback had a combination of higher totals—and was personally responsible for 28 touchdowns (22 passing)

Graves helped the Orangemen to a 10-2 record in a season when he was overshadowed in the Big East Conference by Torretta But his statistics actually outshone Torretta's in several departments. Graves had the nation's

No. 2 passing efficiency rating at 149 2 (behind Michigan's Elvis Grbac at 154.2), throwing for 2,296 yards and 14 touchdowns with 12 interceptions. He led the country in yards gained per attempt (9 49) while completing 60 percent of his passes

Colorado's Michael Westbrook is on his way to rewriting nearly all of the Buffaloes' receiving records. Last season, Westbrook had a school-record 76 catches and eight touchdowns. He and teammate Charles Johnson each surpassed 1,000 yards, only the fourth pair of receivers in NCAA history to accomplish that. Westbrook, a 6-4, 210-pound junior, is already the Buffs' all-time leader in TD receptions (13) and second in catches (98) and receiving yards (1,369)

Texas Tech's Lloyd Hill had a school-record 76 catches last year for 1,261 yards and 12 touchdowns. His yardage tota, was the fourthnever seriously considered passing up his sen'or season though he likely would have been a first round NFL draft choice

Taylor, though, hasn't always been this shining example of virtue and success. By the time he was a 14-year-old living in a highcrime section of Marin City, California, near San Francisco, Taylor had already lived a rough life. The product of a mixed marriage in Brownsburg, Indiana, his father divorced his mother and left before Taylor was two years old His mother, Mardi Taylor, moved to Cali-friends and family, she told Aaron to hit the road after one all-night party too many. Aaron moved in with a friend, but he was in shock Little did he know at the time, it was a shock for his mother as well

"It was a total bluff for her," Taylor said. "I was 14 and didn't know where to go, but she best ever in the Southwest Conference Hill has averaged 17.1 yards per catch over three seasons and his 114.6 receiving yards per game last year led the nation.

Tight end Dwayne Chandler of Kansas is a converted running back who knows what to do with the ball after he catches it. Though he had just 17 receptions, the all-Big Eight player's 23.4 yards-per-catch average was tops in the conference and one of the highest in the nation as he helped the Jayhawks to an 8-4 record and the Aloha Bowl

On the Line

Notre Dame offensive lineman Aaron Taylor won consensus All-America honors off his marvelous performance in 1992. And the Lombardi Award and Outland Trophy candidate has a grade point average above 3.0 with a major in sociology and will graduate at midterm. He's a co-captain and a player who

"I was new to the area and I just wanted to fit in," Taylor said, "I was doing drugs and selfing them and my grades dropped pretty badly if something hadn't happened, I'd probably be dead or in jail by now."

What happened was that Mardi Taylor put her foot down. Against the advice of all her just told me to pack my bags. She told me later it was the hardest thing she had ever done. But she figured by doing it she would e ther lose me forever or turn me around before it was too late "

At his friend's house, Taylor had no rules He could stay up, stay out, and stay high. Nevertheless, Taylor lasted barely seven days before he called his mother and the two of them had a tear-filled conversation

All-America Team

"I knew the ifestyle I had been ifving wasn't right," he said. "We had a long talk about what I had to do, and she said she would help me toward my goal of being a pro football player if I'd get myself straightened out. The first thing she did was get me out of that area. We moved across the bay to a better area and school. It was amazing how simple things were after that. Everything just fell into place."

Taylor enrolled at football power DeLaSalle High in Concord, Carifornia, as a junior and began to apply himself to his football and his books. He won prep All-America honors and became one of the country's most highly recruited players before signing with Notre Dame. From there, it has been nothing but success for Taylor. Still, it's certainly not the classic All-American story, and Taylor knows it turned out right because of only one person. My mother saved my life," he said. "She helped me become everything I am today."

What he is today is one of the country's best offensive linemen. And this year, the Irish are asking him to move from guard, where he made everyone's Alf-America list and was a Lombardi Award semifina ist, to tackle "The move has been difficult and I have a lot to mprove on," Taylor said "The techniques are different at tackle But my main goal is to do whatever I can to help the team, so I don't mind switching."

coining Taylor on the first-team offensive line is Southern Car's Tony Boselli, who earned several All-America honors last season. Only a junior, the 6-7 285-pounder will be starting for the third straight year

"Tony appears to be ready to take his place alongside the great offensive tackles who have played at USC," coach John Robinson said. 'The key will be how much he improves and if he can take it to that next level as all the great ones have done.'

Across town at UCLA, the Bruns also have a first-team, preseason pick in Valighn Parker. At 6-4 and 271 pounds. Parker is a two-time, all-Pac-10 choice who is considered one of the best tackles the school has ever prodduced. Many already are comparing him to former Bruins inv. Eatman and Luis Sharpe, All-Americas who went on to become all-pros.

Missouri's Mike Bedosky, a 6-5, 288-pound guard, was all-Big Eight and led an offensive line that gave up only 18 sacks in 460 passing plays last year. A team captain who has started 31 straight games, Bedosky was also an academic al.-conference selection

Alabama center Tobie Sheils, a 6-3 250-pound senior rounds out the first-team offensive line. Sheils was a consensus all-SEC selection as he heiped the Tide roil to a 13-0 mark. In the national championship clinching Sugar Bowl victory over Miami, Sheils and the Alabama line dominaled the Hurricanes for 267 yards rushing

The place-kicker is Memphis State's Joe Alison, a consensus Al-America tast year when he led the nation in field goas and field goas accuracy with a 920 percentage (23 of 25) Allson, also the nation's leading kick scorer (101 points), had six games in which he kicked three-of-three field goals and another when he had four-of-four

On the Defensive

Ar zona senior tackle Rob Waldrop, one of three finalists for the Outland Trophy last season, is the only consensus All-America returning on defense. With 55 tackies—including 22 for losses (a Pac-10 high)—and 10 sacks, Waldrop helped control the line of scrimmage.

for a unit that led the nation in defense against scoring last year. And the Wildcats expect him to be even better this year

"Rob a a special guy," coach Dick Tomey said "After he was named All-America, he made a commitment to have an even better senior season in all the proficiency tests our people have given him he has scored better than last year. He earned every award he received and he works to get even better."

Just across the state is another of the country's premier linemen. Arizona State's versat le senior end Shante Carver already owns the ASJ career record for sacks (31) after registering 10 last season. The 6-5 230-pound Carver showed up just days after the football season ended last year to play for the Sun Devils basketball team as a reserve forward At Lincoln High in Stockton, California, Carver once grabbed 45 rebounds in a two-game stretch and eventually turned down scholarship offers to play basketball at Oregon, Oregon State, and Fresno State.

Southern Cal coaches say they plan to feature end Willie McGinest on their defensive this year And no wonder McGinest tied for the league lead with 16 sacks and had 63 tackles last year as he won all-Pac 10 and USC Defensive Prayer of the Year honors.

Another top pass rusher is Colorado senior Ron Woolfork who led the Big Eight with 13½ sacks last year and had a total of 21 tack es behind the line. The 6-4, 235-pound alconference choice has 26½ career sacks, second in school history to former All-America Alfred Williams s 35.

The three linebackers on our team all piled up imposing tackle totals last year led by Texas senior Winfred Tubbs's 157. The 6-5, 240-pounder originally was a Longhorn fullback but he performed so well on defense that the UT coaches once offered him the option of taking former All-America Tommy Nobis's old jersey No. 60, which Tubbs declined.

Washington State senior Anthony McClanahan wasn't far behind with 140 tackles including 20 against Arizona State. He had 144 to lead the Pac-10 as a sophomore. The brother of former Arizona State and Minnesota Vikings running back Brent, McClanahan also led the team in tackles for loss with 12 last year.

'Nobody blocks him," Washington State defensive coordinator Mike Zimmer said of McClanahan, "People try to block him-and he's gone. He has tremendous speed and a great vertical eap

Ok ahoma State's Keith Burns rang up 126 tackles including 102 solo stops. A consensus all-Big Eight pick, he was also named the league's Defensive Newcomer of the Year.

Leading the secondary is Alabama's Antonio Langham, a big-play cornerback who is sure to be a top pro pick after this season Langham has 12 career interceptions, four short of the Tide record. That includes two that were returned for touchdowns a year ago. The first was a 61-yarder against Auburn and the second a 27-yard sprint in the regular-season finale that sewed up a 28-21 victory over Florida in the SEC championship game

Another top cover man at cornerback is Texas A&M's Aaron Glenn, who had six interceptions and an SWC-record 20 pass deflections in '92. A transfer from Navarro Junior College, Glenn proved he could play with the big boys immediately. In the Aggies' opener against Stanford in the Disneyland Pigskin Classic last August, he intercepted a pass broke up another, and had five tackles

Free safety Jamie Mendez of Kansas State was a Jim Thorpe Award candidate last year and should be again this season. He's a twotime all-Big Eight selection who holds two K-State career records interceptions (13) and interception-return yardage (275) Last season, the 6-0, 200-pounder had six interceptions, 67 tackles, and broke up a conferencehigh 12 passes

Florida State safety Corey Sawyer tied for second in the nation in interceptions with seven as he made a big splash starting for the

Seminoles as a sophomore

Our first-team punter is Colorado's Mitch Berger, who received some All-America notice last year when he finished No 2 in the country with a 47-yard average. He was the only punter in the top five in gross and net (41 7) average Berger also doubled part-time as the place-kicker, and his 53-yarder gave Colorado a 24-24 tie with Oklahoma.

THE COURSE BY ED SHERMAN CHICAGO TRIBUNE

It's a new beginning for the Big Ten And not a moment too soon. Back in December of 1989 when it was announced that Penn State had been invited to join the conference, the idea of the Nittany Lions playing Big Ten football seemed faraway. Not anymore Penn State breaks its 106-year independent tradition when it hosts Minnesota on September 4. It could be the first step toward the Rose Bowl for Penn State. It will certainly be a change of approach for 66-year-old coach Joe Paterno.

"It's going to take some getting used to," Paterno said "We've got a lot of new teams we haven't played before. There are new coaches we have to get to know. But I know our fans are excited about it. They saw what playing in the Big Ten was like in basketball."

Nobody, though is more excited than Paterno. Ret rement age has now been pushed back to at least 70 for college football's winningest active coach. The prospect of winning a conference title and going to the Rose Bowl, the only major bowl in which Paterno has never appeared, has rejuvenated him, "We're looking forward to getting into those Big Ten stadiums and seeing what it's like," Paterno said. "This adds a whole new dimension."

Tyrone Wheatley Michigan

Paterno admits to being somewhat apprehensive, but the other Big Ten coaches are just as uneasy about having to play Penn State. Despite last season's subpar 7-5 record, the Nittany Lons have been a power through the years, winning two national tities in the 1980s and finishing third in the country in 1991. Unlike their basketbal team, which came into the Big Ten with title tradition and fanfare, the Nittany Lions are expected to challenge for the conference football title. Perhaps the most and cities and coache of the season will occur on October 16 when Michigan invades Happy Valley.

Penn State's arrival comes at just the right time. If ever the Big Ten needed an injection of fresh blood, it is now. Last season, the league suffered through one of its worst campaigns in years. Was it the Big Ten or the Beleaguered Ten? Even those within the conference took pot shots. When asked who the conference should take as its 12th member, Michigan State basketball coach Jud Heathcote cracked, "DePaul DePaul's football is on par with most of our league." DePaul of course, doesn't piay football.

The coaches weren't laughing, yet even the legendary Bo Schembechler had to admit the obvious. "The Big Ten is underlably down," he said "It is the worst I can remember it being." The Big Ten went 13-17-1 in nonconference play, including losses to Centra Michigan and Toledo It placed only three teams in bowls and two of them lost. Michigan saved some face with a victory in the Rose Bowl but the conference hasn't won a national championship since 1968. Still, the Big Ten is hoping the addition of Penn State will bring some much needed respect. Paterno contends that it was a young league last year. Whether it matures remains to be seen.

As for the conference race, Michigan is the favorite to win its third straight title. The Wolver nes have lost quarterback Elvis Grbac, but they have a capable replacement in Todd Collins. Penn State will be a big factor, especally if Paterno can get the Nittany Lions to rebound from last year's slugg sh finish. Oh o State is looking for a strong season for coach John Cooper, who once again is seeking a little job security. Defense will be a key for the Buckeyes. That's also the case for Illinois whose defense ranks among the best in the league If the Illini get some offense, they could make a run. Wisconsin has made a dramatic turnaround under coach Barry Alvarez and might also might make some noise. Iowa's Hayden Fry is looking to rebound from ast year's 5-7 record. And Michigan State could contend as well

As for the other Midwest power, Notre Dame, coach Lou Holtz has many holes to fil after losing four players in the first round of the NFL draft. But despite Holtz's ominous warnings, bringing in new talent has never been a problem for the firsh.

DWIGHT CHAPIN SAN FRANCISCO EXAMINER

Things were a little different when I took on this assignment in 1969, the year after O J. Simpson won the Heisman Trophy and moved on from USC to greater glory. With Arlzona and Arizona State stil in the Western Athletic Conference, the Pac-10 was merely the Pac-8 then. The Big West Conference was the Pacific Coast Athletic Association and included UC Santa Barbara and Cal State Los Angeles, which no longer field football teams, among its members. But there was one thing you could be sure of 25 years ago. Street & Smith's College Football West Coast report covered schools that were almost exclusively on the West Coast

Willie McGinest Southern Cal

That's definitely not the case anymore. The Pac-10 hasn't had any geographical redistribut on since the Arizona schools came into the conference in 1978. But the Big West has had considerably more movement, and now it's headed all over the place-south, east. stretching not only boundar as but credibility Do Northern Illinois, Arkansas State, Southwestern Louisiana, and Louisiana Tech strike you as somewhat strange lodge brothers of San Jose State, Pacific, Nevada, Ltah State, Nevada Las Vegas, and New Mexico State? They'll all be together this season in what has become a most curious athletic association

When the expansion was announced in the spring of 1992, then Big West commissioner Jim Haney said, "The addition of these four institutions, in combination with the new Las Vegas Bowl, has us very excited about our football future " And Cal State Fullerton athletic director Bill Shumard said, "The addition of these four fine universities will bring added prestige to the Big West Conference, not to mention some badly needed exposure in different parts of the country "

The world moves on quickly, however Haney is now executive director of the National Association of Basketball Coaches. And Cal State Fullerton has dropped football, following Cal State Long Beach. Maybe it's best to look at all this movement in the words of Northern Illinois athletic director Gerald O'Dell, who said of the expansion, "This is a significant step for all the participants of the Big West, particularly positive since intercolleg'ate athletics now transcends traditional geographic boundaries.

No one could argue with that, even an old mossback who has been reviewing West Coast football, in its various configurations, for a quarter century. But that still doesn't make it easy to accept Il inois, Louis ana, and Arkansas as Western states

The Western schools in the new Big West each will play two of the Eastern schools per season initially along with four of their old conference rivals. The Eastern schools will play three Eastern and three Western opponents. All 10 schools will be eligible to win a conference championship and advance to the Las Vegas Bowl. To help cut down on travel costs, the Big West's long-range goal is to have six Eastern and six Western teams, and develop divisional playoffs

The new-look Big West will include one old football name in its coaching ranks. San Jose State has hired John Ralston, who led Stanford to a pair of Rose Bowls two decades ago before going on to coach the Denver Broncos. to replace Ron Turner Even though he's 65, Ralston, who's perhaps the quintessentia football man, has never stopped coaching "From the age of 11, I've a ways wanted to coach," he said, "Going on the field is like somebody gave me a million dollars. People don't realize what an addiction it is."

A so back for an encore is one-time Los Angeles Rams coach John Robinson, who returns to Southern California's Trojans after a 10-year absence. Robinson sounds almost exactly like Ralston. "It's an honor for me to return to USC," he said. "My energy level is the same now as it was when I was named USC's coach the first time [in 1976]. I can't wait to get started."

Robinson may not get much of a honeymoon period after taking over for Larry Smith, because winners are demanded at Troy But he doesn't sound worried "We can be very compet tive in 1993 at the highest level," he said "I find myself shooting my mouth off and saving well win them al. But you can't function at USC without those expectations. We feel we should be in the top five nationally every year. We can never be an underdog."

Like Bil Walsh at Stanford in 1992, Robin son has a chance to break back in with a bang in a Pac-10 where, for the first time in several seasons, there are no clear-cut favorites. With Washington beset by problems and missing

key players, almost any team could win And almost no school looks totally out of what could be a race to remember in the Big West-South-Midwest, things appear turbulent, too. But Nevada, which said nelio to the conference with a title in '92, rates a slight edge over Utah State and San Jose State it's hard to tell what the four newcomers might do to the title picture, although it's doubtful that any of them will be in the first division this season

Football in the Rockies takes on two divergent themes in 1993, one upbeat, one not so upbeat in the Division I-A Western Athletic Conference, the theme is the third coming of Marshall Faulk, the sequel to the sequel for the record-breaking San Diego State junior running back. In the I-AA Big Sky Conference. the theme is the great scholarship decline. In a vote of the league's presidents last winter the Big Sky decided that within the next four years, the schools' scholarship limits will be reduced from 63 to 48, a cut that could senously undermine the ability of the league's programs to remain competitive nationally

But that's tomorrow's news Today's news is Faulk All eyes will be on the San Diego State running back. Again Wil he finally win the Heisman Trophy? Will he run for more than 400 yards in a game? Will he run for more than 2 000 yards in a season? Will he become the first back in history to win three straight NCAA rushing titles? And then there's the big one Wil he stay healthy? That's been Faulk's only nemesis Injuries, not linebackers. In two eyepopping seasons that have seen him run for 3 059 yards (the second sophomore in NCAA history-after Herschei Walker to pass the 3.000 barrier) and score 36 touchdowns, he has missed almost six full games due to injury It sn't hard to mount a case that had Faulk played every game as a freshman and sophomore he would have two Heisman Trophies already to his credit and San Diego State would have won the WAC and gone to the Holiday Bowl last year Indeed Faulk's most serious downt me came in last season's game against Fresho State, when he was injured on his second carry and Fresno came from behind to get the victory, tie for the WAC title, and dump San Diego State from a tie for first to a fourth place, no-bowl finish

Doug Nussmeier Idaho

With most of last year's lineup back in place, led by Fauik, the most intriguing story ine in the WAC will be to see if the Aztecs can rebound from the late-season skid that saw them lose four of their last six games and fall one victory short of the NCAA's six win bowminimum. It's one thing to have one of the most prolific running backs ever to play the college game. It's another thing to have titles to show for it. So far the Aztecs are 0-for-2 in the Faulk Era Fresno State and Brigham Young figure to pose familiar obstacles for Faulk and the Aztecs in the WAC

Meanwhile in the Big Sky race, Idaho w'll be every bit as marked as Faulk. The Vandais In shed the regular season ranked No. 5 in -AA and most certainly will begin in the top 10 this year. That won't be just based on reputation and tradition. Coming off its fourth Big Sky championship in six years, daho returns a number of top players, not the least of whom is sen or quarterback Doug Nussmeier. If he stays healthy, Nussmeier should surpass most or all, of John Friesz's passing records at Idaho and turn himself into a viable Walter Payton Player of the Year Award winner

Controversial shots of topless women spliced into practice films wasn't the kind of increased exposure Steve Hatchell was seeking for the Southwest Conference when he signed on as the league's new commissioner It didn't take long for Hatchell to learn that directing a conference which has as many members under NCAA investigation as it sent to bowl games last year will be a form dable challenge Texas A&M and Bay or were the only SWC teams to receive bowl bids last fall The Aggies made almost as many headlines defending themselves against allegations that several players were paid for summer obsithey didn't perform as the team did in winning its first 12 games and contending for the national title, in contrast to A&M's problems. Houston found itself under NCAA scrutiny after allegations that the coaching staff worked players too hard in the summer and then rewarded them by showing films of women in various stages of undress

Other than a new commissioner and a few fresh scandals, not much has changed in the SWC. Head coach John Jenkins is out and Kim Helton is in at Houston and Chuck Reedy lakes over from Grant Teaff at Baylor Texas

A&M once again is prepared to defend its SWC title with the return of 69 freshmen and sophomores from last year's 12-1 team. Whispers persist that the SWC might expand or contract as it searches for ways to become more appealing to television executives who oislike the fact that all eight member schools are in Texas unless the NCAA steps in its way, Texas A&M should have little trouble extending its 15-game conference winning streak. The Aggies will be aiming for the first SWC three-peat since Texas won six consecutive league crowns from 1968-73. A national championship could be within reach if the Aggles maximize their added speed at the skill positions and display increased polse on defense

Texas is determined to contend for a bowl invitation in John Mackovic's second season now that the Longhorns have had a full year to digest their head coach's multiple offense Finding a capable quarterback to throw to a long list of talented receivers is a priority, but the Longhorns' primary concern is a secondary which must replace three starters

A third consecutive bow bid could be in the offing at Baylor, where Reedy has a solid foundation on which to build an escalated passing

The fifth consecutive year of domination by Nebraska and Colorado could produce the closest and most exciting race for the Big Eight Conference championship since the Buffaloes replaced Oklahoma as Nebraska's principa rival for eague supremacy. Colorado likes its chances The Buffs are deeper than Nebraska at quarterback and tailback, positions that traditionally titled the scales in the Cornhuskers' favor. Also their showdowns on the Buffaloes' campus at Boulder.

Nevertheless, it says here, the edge belongs to Nebraska to win a second straight und sputed title and a third straight ticket to the Orange Bow. The Cornhuskers have in tailback Calvin Jones and quarterback Tommie Frazier the Big Eight's premier players at their positions. They also have the best offensive interactions. An inviting nonconference schedule will allow them the luxury of developing depth. And 1993 looms as a year when all the Big.

Michael Westbrook Colorado

Eight teams will be no better than average on defense. In the words of Casey Stengel, you can look it up. When Tom Osborne, the Big Eight's best offensive coach, has an experienced offense to attack shallow defenses, the trophy usually winds up at uncoin.

Nebraska will need all its weapons to hold off Colorado. The 1992 Buffs won nine garnes in their debut in a passing offense. It was a radical departure from the triple option they used to win the 1990 national championship and three conference titles. But quarterback Kordeil Stewart and superlative receivers Michael Westbrook and Charles Johnson proved coach Bill McCartney was ideally equipped to embrace the new offense. They are among nine returning starters on offense if newcomer Rashaan Salaam or one of the gifted and veteran tailbacks can galvanize a running game that disappeared last year, the Buffs could win their fourth title in five years

A level behind Nebraska and Colorado are Kansas and Oklahoma. Kansas returns a solid nucleus from a third-place team that won the Aloha Bowl. If highly regarded but unproven quarterback Fredrick Thomas comes through, the Jayhawks should finish third again, Oklahoma, coming off its worst season since 1965, expects to be improved on offense, because quarterback. ning backs and blockers and competent receivers this fall. But the Sooners do not have the stars to contend

The second division has the same prospective look as last year, when four teams won two games. Three of the four teams expect to improve. Oklahoma State has perhaps the league's best defender in linebacker Keith Burns and returns the skill-position operatives whose midseason moves fired the Cowboys surprise drive to fifth place. Missourl, which closed on an encouraging note, returns its prolific passing battery of quarterback Jeff Handy and wideout Kenny Holly but continues to search for a running game and defense lowa State, which scored the year's top upset by defeating Nebraska expects its second year in the triple option and new speed to produce improvement. Kansas State returns nine starters on offense but they are short on quality and the defense must be rebuilt

The all-star check lists reflect a changing conference. It used to be heavy with running backs and defensive linemen. Nebraska's Calvin Jones is the only running back of merit this year, and there are no dominating linemen. The qualified cand dates for postseason honors are mostly on offense. The SEC East could turn into a three-horse race between Florida, Georgia, and Tennessee, but on paper the edge goes to the Gators They are solid and deep at virtually every position and hungry for a title. The one big question mark for coach Steve Spurner is at quarterback, where record-breaking Shane Matthews leaves a gaping hole to fill. The leading candidate for the job is junior Terry Dean, who last season took a total of 69 snaps. Molding quarterbacks is Spurrier's specialty, however, so if that's a problem, the Gators have a master to solve it. Florida has perhaps the league's premier running back in Errict Rhett, and one of the top receivers in Willie Jackson. If the defense comes through, the Gators have a chance to become the first Florida squad in history to win nine or more games for four straight years. The changing college football scene in the East finally comes into sharp focus this fall. The Big East begins round-robin piay, two years ahead of schedule, and Penn State officially starts competing as a member of the Big Ten. So the two-year-old football league no longer has to share the region's spotlight with the Nittany Lions. The shuffling leaves Army and Navy as the only remaining Eastern I-A independents.

Miam, was declared the Big East champion twice strictly on the basis of national ranking. The Hurricanes were No. 1 in most final regular-season polis both times. This year, with every team playing each of the other seven, the conference standings now will determine the championship. This certainly should make the competition more interesting and exciting if not boost the chances of Miami's challengers. The league also has locked up a third automatic bowl bid by signing a two-year deal with the Sunshine Classic, formerly the Blockbuster. Bowl. The first two choices will be made by the established bowl coal tion.

Some folks around the Big East figure that surging Syracuse may overtake Miami this season. The Orange, 10-2 in each of the last two years under coach Paul Pasqualoni, have key performers among a dozen returning starters. These include Heisman Trophy candidate Marv.n Graves at quarterback, wide receiver Shelby Hill, defensive standout Kevin Mitchell, and kicker Pat O'Neill In contrast,

Miami, 11-1 in 1992, has just two starters back on offense and five on defense. But several other veterans obtained considerable experience and loom large in the "reloading" process. The Hurricanes' cupboard always seems well-stocked.

While Syracuse shapes up as a bona fide contender records and tradition still favor Miami Four national champ'onships in the past decade came in odd-numbered years. And the fact that each of those teams had a first-year starting quarterback is encouraging to Frank Costa, who's succeeding Gino Torretta Miami, 44-4 under fifth-year head coach Dennis Enckson, has ranked among the nation's top three teams for seven consecutive years.

What's more Miam will have two weeks to prepare for that October 23 showdown. Playing only five home games also could hamper Syracuse's bid for top honors.

Boston College expects to continue its resurgence after going 8-2-1. Highly productive quarterback Glenn Foley heads a list of 13 returning regulars. The Eagles' lofty ambitions will be tested in the September 4 opener against Miami at Chestnut Hill.

Rusty Medearis Miami

Marvin Graves Syracuse

West Virginia, with seven home games, looks capable of improving on last year's 5-4-2 record. Rutgers also could be stronger after going 7-4. Change is the big story at Virginia Tech, Pittsburgh, and Temple Coach Frank Beamer hired four new assistants at Tech Johnny Majors, forced out at Tennessee started a second stint as the Panthers' coach Ron Dickerson took over the Temple Owls.

If you'd like to know more about how we charcost-mellow Jack Danie's here in Tennessee, drop us a fine

IT TAKES A SHARP SAW to make a smooth whiskey.

You see, unlike bourbons, Jack Daniel's Tennessee Whiskey goes through a step called charcoal mellowing. We seep our whiskey—drop by drop—through room-high mellowing vats of finely-tamped charcoal. To fill just one of these vats with charcoal, our sawyer will cut enough hard maple wood to stack 32 ricks, seven feet high. Then, he'll do it all over again. No doubt, charcoal mellowing is hard on our saw and our sawyer. But it sure makes things easy on our drinkers.

SMOOTH SIPPIN'
TENNESSEE WHISKEY

Tennessee Whiskey • 40-43% alcohol by volume (80-86 proof) • Distilled and Bottled by Jack Daniel Distillery, Lem Motion, Proprietor Route 1, Lynchburg (Pop 361), Tennessee 37352 Placed in the National Register of Historic Places by the United States Government.

Division I-AA National Preview

by DAVID NEWTON

THE (COLUMBIA) STATE

Wil Marsha I and Youngstown State meet in the title game for the third straight year? What will Georgia Southern's mpact be on the Southern Conference? And is the Southern Conference still the premier I-AA eague in the nation? How does newcomer Troy State fit into the national picture? These are questions Division I-AA footbail coaches should be asking instead they're asking it I-AA footbail as they know it is on the way out

If the NCAA accepts a proposal to cut I-AA scholarsh ps from 63 to 45, the group that was formed for small schools that wanted to play Division 1 basketbail but not football may cease to exist Perenn at powers such as Marshal Idano and Middle Tennessee State already are looking to move to Division I-A. The Southern Conference as a whole has explored the possibility Northeast Louisiana will move to I-A by next season. Schools that can't meet the I-A requirements (a 30,000-seat stadium and an average attendance of 17,000 over the past four years) fear they must drop to Division II. At east then, coaches say, they'l be on equal terms as far as the number of scholarships awarded.

Many coaches believe the cuts are inevitable because of the increasing costs of college athletics and demands for gender equity. A survey by the Ohio Valley Conference which, along with the Big Sky is pushing for the cuts, says that only 33 of 115 I-AA schools favor keeping scholarships as they are t's terrible what they're doing, and our league [Big Sky] is forcing their hand," Idaho coach John L. Smith said "Our league is the leader in justice and stupidity."

Middle Tennessee State coach Boots Donnelly says that every coach in the Ohio Valley is against the cuts, but that doesn't seem to matter. 'it's the league presidents who make the decisions,' he said. 'They're going to cut back to where all we're going to have across the country is the Super 60, and everybody else will be playing intramural football."

North Texas coach Dennis Parker agrees Cutting and reducing scholarships is the beginning of the death march," he said "If it doesn't destroy it, it certainly will water it down"

Southern Conference commissioner Wright Waters says the cuts will come. Waters was elected at a I-AA meeting in May to chair a committee to study the matter and come up with a proposal for the NCAA convention. "We said they re going too fast with the additional cuts, and we'd like to have some time to see how current levels work out," he said. "We need it to see the impact on gate receipts, on minorities, and on the schools." Waters said the cuts won't be as cost-containing as the presidents believe, that they're going to hurt schools that have kept dates with Division I-A schools Southern Conference teams played 10 i-A teams last season for a guaranteed $1.5 million. A reduction in scholarships would force those schools which can't move up a level to drop those dates.

"We're totally against it," Marshall coach Jim Donnan said of the cuts: "We've made a commitment to a new stadium. We feel like we're going to have to get some learns that have similar interests as us and form a new league in I-A.

Many coaches believe the beginning of I-AA footbal's end began two years ago when the NCAA ruled that Division I teams must have six Division I victories to be eligible for a bow! That forced many I-A schools to drop -AA schools, thus eliminating gate guarantees of $250,000 and up. "Those were money games that really helped the program," Northeast Louisiana coach Dave Roberts said "Now a lot of schools supported by those big games can hardly make it '

That the Southern Conference has maintained a soild relationship with I-A schools and is leading the fight against scholarship cuts reinforces a widely held opinion that it is the nation's strongest league. "The Southern a ways has been very progressive," Donnelly said. "Their commitment is very simple. Try to contain costs at any avenue possible, but don t jeopardize the quality of the programs."

The cover of the Southern Conference lootball med a guide, which depicts six national championship trophies and five runner-up trophies since 1983, is evidence of that. But four of the championship and one of the runner-up trophies were won by Georgia Southern as an Independent Furman and Marshall own the other two Marshall has been a runner-up twice, Furman and Western Carolina once each

'Our goal always is to reach the championship game, Georgia Southern coach Tim Stowers said "However, this year, we have a new goal, I think it's one of the most challenging we ve ever had. That is, to compete for the Southern Conference championship I think without a doubt it's the toughest I-AA league in the country."

He'll get little argument from his Southern Conference peers, who have said for years that winning the league is tougher than winning the national title. They've claimed that Georgia Southern had an advantage in being an Independent because it could schedule easy games between its tough ones. But in the Southern Conference, most coaches say there are no breathers, no weekends to re-ax and heal wounds. In fact, picking a team to win the league is about as tough as picking a national champion

That's especially true this season. Mershall returns 10 starters and 61 lettermen from the team that won a school-record 12 games and led the nation in scoring with 42 points per game. The Citadel, which concluded the regular season ranked No. 1 in the nation, has nine starters back from its Southern Conference title team. Furman appears poised to return to the top with a defense that includes five fifth-year players. Appalachian State is always strong. Western Carolina is picked by many to win the league after battling to stay out of the league cellar for most of the past six seasons. The Calamounts return Lonnie Galloway, who finished second in the nation in passing efficiency last fall, and his top two receivers in Craig Aiken and Kerry Hayes And there's newcomer Georgia Southern. The Eagles return 17 starters, including nine on a defense that should carry them to the playoffs for the first time in three seasons.

'We've been wanting to get into the Southern Conference for a long time," Stowers said 'I'm excited Our players are excited. Our tans are excited. We've had a lot of success in a short period of time, but what we haven't had is a lot of natural rivalries. Once we start playing Citadel and Furman on a home-andhome basis, that will be a natural. Our lans can learn to hate somebody year-round

Georgia Southern won't have to wait long to find out how tough the league is. The Buildings host The Citadel on September 11 and play at Marshall the following week Two weeks later, they play at Miami before taking on Western Carolina in Statesboro, GA While Stowers admits his team has to adjust mentally to competing for a league title, he challenges those who criticized the Eagles' schedule as an Independent "A lot of people think our schedule was weak," he said. "But I look at our RPI [rating percentage index] and our schedule two of the last three years was one of the toughest In 1990, we played Eastern Kentucky, Marshall Middle Tennessee, and Florida State. How much tougher can you get? "

Youngstown State coach Jim Tressel who as an Independent has admired the Southern Conference, said Georgia Southern is about to find out. "It was going to be a difficult enough task because of their past success," he said. "Everyone wants to beat them, anyway. They will get a double dose of reality in the Southern Conference

The Citadei coach Charlie Taffe laughs. He realizes the Southern just got tougher, too "You're talking about bringing in one of the premier I-AA teams," he said. "They've been down-for their standards-the last two seasons, but I don't look for that to last.

Ne ther does Stowers, whose program has the second-best I-AA percentage in the nation behind Eastern Kentucky since 1980. The Eagles' worst season since the program was reinstated in 1982 was 6-5 in 1983. They won 12 or more games five times between 1985 and

1990 going 15-0 under Erk Russell in 1989 Their 7-4 record in each of the past two seasons would satisfy most alumni, but not this group. "They expect a national championship every year," Stowers said. He hopes to give them one with talent such as All-America candidate Alex Mash at defensive end. "We have big shoes to follow," Stowers admitted. "But I wouldn't have it any other way."

Stowers says the team everybody should look out for is Troy State. The Trojans played a I-AA schedule last season and finished 10-1, but they weren't eligible for postseason play They beat Georgia Southern, 21-0, in Statesboro "They may have been the best team we played, 'said Stowers, whose team lost, 21-10 at Youngstown State in the regular-season finale. Troy State coach Larry Blakeney jokingly says Stowers is trying to put pressure on his young team. "We had a great day against Georgia Southern," he said "We were able to convertion something like 14 of 16 or 17 third downs. We didn't give them a lot of chances to score I'd have hated to have been in their shoes in that situation "

Perhaps But most coaches around the country mention Troy State when asked to name national contenders. They point to Trojan quarterback Kelvin Simons as a potent a All-America and Allen Ray as one of the nation's premier offensive linemen. Troy State also has some talent on defense in informen Antwoine Clark and Sherman Jones

"They may be the best team in the country,"

CHRIS 2 Tide

Tressel said 'They're definitely a team to reckon with," said Donnan, who also likes Youngstown State, which has 10 starters back from the team that lost the I-AA championship to Marshali 31-28, on a field goal with 11 seconds left. Tressel admits his team has a chance as long as it remains healthy for the third straight year. Youngstown's running game should be healthy with the return of Tamron Smith (979 yards, 14 TDs). Defensively outside linebackers Jeff Powers and Alfred Hill could be outstanding.

In the Ohio Valley Conference look for Middle Tennessee to make a strong run at the title, with perennial power Eastern Kentucky and possibly Tennessee State not far behind Middle Tennessee lost five players to the NFL, noluding third-round pick Mike Caldwell, the teams Most Valuable Player But back is sophomore quarterback Kelly Holcomb, expected to be the premier quarterback in the league if Donnelly can rebuild his line EKU has one of the nation's best defensive linemen in Chad Bratzke

Donne ly says Tennessee State will contend because it has the most experience and talent coming back. The last three or four years, it's basically been a two-team race; us and Eastern," Donnelly said. "I think Tennessee Tech has finally gotten to the point they feel they can win Tennessee State always has had the players to make a ripple Tennessee-Martin has made moves to improve."

McNeese State, Northeast Louisiana, and North Texas are the teams to beat in the Southland. Nobody is more confident about his team's chances than North Texas s Denn's Parker, despite a 4-7 record a year ago "I probably should be a I the more restrained" Parker said. "But we've got everybody back from the last two seasons and we had a great spring I feel good. God, dang, they worked their rear ends off last year. We had some real close osses that were tough on the k ds, but we finished the year 2-2 against the best teams in the reague."

Northeast Louisiana lost the bulk of its offense, but it should be strong enough defensively to stay in the running. Defensive end James Foiston ran a 4.49 40-yard dash for proscouts in May. The other end will be Clemson transfer Arthur Bussie, ranked by some as the second-best defensive end in the nation coming out of high school.

Idaho and Montana are the teams to watch in the Big Sky, although neither coach from those schools will admit it. John L. Smith claims Idaho has the youngest team he remembers coaching in 22 years. He says Montana easily is the team to beat because it has the best offens ve and defensive lines in the league, not to mention 13 starters back from a team that won its last five games. "We're going to be a bunch of bables," Smith said "We'll all be lining up in diapers."

Montana coach Don Read thinks Idaho is the team to beat because it has most of its team back, including quarterback Doug Nussmeler Last season's Player of the Year in the Big Sky Nussmeler will be an advantage in a conference that prides 'tself on air warfare Most of the other teams, including Montana, are looking for a quarterback Smith shi't optimistic the league will have a contender for the national championship as it has in the past "I think it's a young league" Smith said 'A lot of quarterbacks came out. Now it's a recycling period '

Northern Iowa, which finished third in the final poll a year ago and lost only once during the regular season, could rule the Gateway

Conference Western dinois, which finished second in the league in 1992, should be strong again as well

In the Ivy League, Princeton has perhaps Division I-AA's best running back in Keith Elias. The 5-11, 195-pound senior is the country's top returning rusher and is among the favorites to win the Payton Award (I-AA's equivarient to the Heisman Trophy), which was won by Marshall's Michael Payton last fall Elias had 1,575 yards and 18 touchdowns a year ago, averaging 157,5 vards per game.

ago, averaging 157.5 yards per game
Lehigh Lafayette, and Holy Cross should be strong again in the Patr of League, as should Grampling in the Southwestern Athletc, South Carolina State, North Carolina
A&T, and Delaware State in the Mid-Eastern, and Delaware and Villanova in the Yankee

Whether those leagues and others will exist as they have in the future is the key question

Junior College Report

by TONY JIMINEZ

During his only season as an assistant coach at Northeastern Oklahoma A&M Junior College, Mike Loyd thought he had a good handle on the mystique of the program He felt that he knew why it's in a football world of its own. Then the Norsemen won their sixth national junior college athletic championship in 1991, Loyd's first season as the head coach, and his feeling was punctuated loudly and clearly by telephone calls from players inquiring about coming to A&M

Nine months and some 700 calls later, 183 players from every state in the U.S. and from Wales, Canada, and Belgium showed up for the team's first practice in August of 1992 "It was incredible," said Loyd. "If I could give one reason why we've been so good so long, it would simply be because of good players. The bottom line is the players we've had Recruiting juce players to four-year schools-notably NEO A&M has become routine, according to talent scout Hank Ives of u C. Grid Wire, who has seen his list of clients jump from 50 in 1960 to 350 in 1993, "Juco players are having more of an impact than ever before," said lives

Tucked hard in the northeastern corner of the state, no more than 30 minutes from Arkansas Kansas or Missouri, Miami of Oklahoma, home of the A&M Norsemen, will never be mistaken for Miami of Florida. There are no paim trees, no sandy beaches, and no bustling traffic It's small-town-life deluxe

One of the few bonds the two Marnis share, however, are big-time programs in their respective ranks. The smaller Miami, population 13,500, has amassed achievements, most notably its high rate of walk-ons and its impressive list of alumni, unique at the juco level Northeastern Oklahoma A&M was the nation's No. 1 junior college team of the 1980s and '90s, according to an NJCAA poil The Norsemen were No 4 in the final 1992 poll and as sure as Miami of Florida will be a top 10 team again in the major college ranks, Miami of Oklahoma will be a top 10 J C, team "It's the only game in town," explained ives. "It's their Rams, Raiders, or Jets. It's the world

"They turn down more players than some schools sign," said Coffeyville, Kansas coach Sk p Foster. "There's no question they could play with some NCAA Division I-AA schools."

Coffeyville and the 151 other junior colleges (72 in Cal fornia) may get the'r foot in the door when recruiting prize prospects, but in many instances players are knocking at NEO A&M's door. Ernest Givins of the Houston Oilers walked on. So did former pros James Wilder and Matt Blair LeShon Johnson of Northern Illinois, the No. 8 rusher at the NCAA Division I level last season, once wore the blue and gold About 110 players walked on in the past two seasons. Marion Butts of the San Diego Chargers and Scott Case of the Atlanta Falcons weren't walk-ons, but they are former Norsemen. So are tailback Vaughn Dunbar, a first-round NFL draft pick from the University of Indiana by New Orleans, and defensive end Chuck Smith, a second-round choice from Tennessee by Atlanta, two stars of the ate 1980s Butts, Bobby Wilson of Washington, and Nate Lewis of San Diego were the best of the 1986 team

There were 33 sophomores on last season's roster and all but two-who qu't the teamearned scholarships at four-year schools, 18 at NCAA Division I institutions. The pride of that team, cornerback Cari Kidd, a Dale Carter-type player, and offensive lineman Pat Baker, remarkable because he started 20 of 20 games in two years at NEO A&M, are at Arkansas. Two years ago, 30 of 34 sophomores on the NJCAA title squad earned free r des, 22 to Division I schools

Lovd says his biggest problem is finding schools which will play his team. Because Northeastern Oklahoma A&M is an independent able to offer an unimited number of fulscholarships and the only juco which fields a team in Oklahoma, its schedule last year included trips to Texas, Tennessee, and Georgia In 1991, NEO A&M went to lowa, Kansas Texas, Georgia, Michigan, and California Eight of 11 games will be on the road this fall Home or away, the Norsemen don't lose. They haven't had a losing season since 1931

'Realistically no other junior college should be able to compete with them," said Dick Foster Oklahoma's director of recruiting "They are the measuring stick in luco football A school can figure out real fast how good tis by playing them.

CHARLOTTE OBSERVER

FLORIDA STATE

(11-1) "F$U's Defense Graduates to the NFL," screamed the headline in the Tallahassee Democration the day after pro football's draft.

So what? Florida State's Atlantic Coast Conference rivals wondered. Indeed, do not expect Florida State's loss of four defenders in the first two rounds of the NFL draft to upset the balance of power in the ACC. The offense will take care of any shortcomings. Only two starters are missing from the unit that ranked sixth nationally in total offense, 15th in passing, 27th in rushing, and third in scoring Quarterback Chartie Ward, fourth nationally in total offense with 286 yards per game, again will direct the quick-strike attack. Although Ward missed spring practice following surgery to repair a shoulder injury, coach Bobby Bowden said, "I'm not really concerned about it," Ward threw four interceptions in each of the first two games last season but only nine the remainder of the way

Sean Jackson and Tiger McMillon com-bined for more than 1,000 yards rushing and are back at tailback. William Floyd returns at fullback, Tamarick Vanover, the Seminoles' leading receiver and the ACC's Rookie of the Year, headlines a deep and talented corps of wide receivers. Four-year starter Robert Stevenson at tackle and three-year regular Robbie Baker at center are gone from the offensive line. Sophomore Forrest Conoly gets first crack at the tackte job, and Clay Shiver steps in at center Patrick McNeil and Lewis Tyre return at guard, Marvin Ferrell at tackle, and Lonn e Johnson at tight end

The big hole to plug on defense is at linebacker, where Marvin Jones patrolled. He gave up his final season to join the NFL, and chosen. Three regulars are missing from the line and both safeties. But players such as outside linebacker Derrick Brooks, the No. 2 tackler last season, cure a lot of headaches Junior Corey Sawyer, who had seven interceptions, returns at cornerback along with Clifton Abraham and Corey Fuller.

The Seminoles enter the season ranked in the top five in every poll and No 1 in some including Street & Smith's. On merit

CLEMSON

(5-6) Clemson experienced the school's first losing season since 1976 last fall, and rivals are circling like sharks that smell blood in the water. Not so fast, warn the Tigers Indeed, dismissing the Tigers would be a mistake Although forced by injury to start three quarterbacks. Clemson missed an 8-3 record by three plays; one each in narrow losses to Florida State, Georgia Tech, and Wake Forest. But Clemson did not make the big play, especially on defense, all season and suffered the consequences. It failed against Florida State and Georgia Tech early and did not recover.

"We're going to be right back up there competing for the championship," coach Ken Hatfield said. To attain that goal this year, the Tigers must: 1) decide on a quarterback, 2) rebuild the offensive line, and 3) plugs holes in the secondary

Patrick Sapp (6-4, 241), forced into action midway through his true freshman year, suffered from mexperience. But he came out of spring practice atop the depth chart at quarterback. Louis Solomon, who directed the Tigers to 11 touchdowns and two field goals on his 27 possessions, is No. 2. Solomon led Clemson from a 28-0 deficit to a 29-28 victory

over Virginia. Richard Moncrief, who started six games last season, likely will move to wide receiver Rodney Blunt, the top rusher for two straight years, returns at tailback, and Terry Smith is on course to become the school's career receiving leader. All-ACC Stacy Seegars at guard and Brent LeJeune at tackle make the right side of the offensive line formidable. Bryce Ne.son steps in at center and sometimes starter Franklin Thomas is the probable tight end. inexperience on the left side and overall depth could be problems

The defensive front should be strong with Canos Curry at middle guard and Warren Fornev and all-ACC Brentson Buckner at the tackles. Derek Burnette and Tim Jones again will handle the inside linebacker spots. But the remainder of the defense is unproven. Only Darnell Stephens returns to the secondary, and he might move to outside inebacker

Nelson Welch is a two-way threat with his kicking skills. He led the ACC in scoring with 89 points last season and already ranks seventh in the Clemson record book in career scoring after two seasons. He also averaged 40.1 yards on 63 punts.

NORTH CAROLINA

(9-3) The Tar Heels suffered some significant personnel losses after their best season in a decade, but the program has matured under coach Mack Brown, and the arsenal is far from empty Upon arriving in Chapel Hill in 1987 Brown set a modest, short-term goal Be competitive in every game. The Tar Heels achieved that, then they had a winning season, and now they have consecutive winning seasons and a bowl game

Missing stars create some question marks. especially on defense, but the Tar Heels are past the point that one injury wrecks the team Brown has developed depth in his five years and quarity replacements abound. One significant factor is increased speed "Our overall team speed is at such a different level now," Brown said And speed is the ingredient the Tar Heels-and everybody else, for that matter-must have to challenge Florida State for league supremacy

Six starters are gone from the defense, and Brown frets over the lack of experience. But defensive backs Bracey Walker and Sean Crocker, tackle Austin Robbins, and linebacker Bernardo Harris ease the pain Walker, a second-team all-ACC choice, is a fierce hitter He also blocked three punts, two in the Tar. Heels' victory over Miss ssippi State in the threw for 831 yards, including 299 against Duke Thomas also is the all-league punter Tailbacks Means and Randy Jordan and fullback Mike Faulkerson are among the missing. Sophomore Curtis Johnson, who averaged 7.2 yards per carry, is the leading rusher returning. But the experienced line, led by guard Curtis Parker and tackle Ethan Albright. should create plenty of running room. Corey Holliday, who needs three catches to become the school's career leader, and Bucky Brooks are outstanding receivers.

GEORGIA TEGN

(5-6) Florida State needed a successful onside kick and late scoring march to escape with a 29-24 victory over the Yellow Jackets. But Georgia Tech more often struggled in its first season under coach Bill Lewis. Now, with no experienced personnel to replace recordbreaking quarterback Shawn Jones and allstars Coleman Rudolph and Scott Sisson, a bleak outlook might be expected. But that's not necessarily so

Highly touted sophomore Donnie Davis, considered the nation's top high school quarterback three years ago, finally gets a chance to work his magic. He has 4 6 speed and an excellent arm and seems to be a perfect match for Lewis's high-powered offense. He will be joined by Tech's top five rushers from 92, an excellent wide receiver in Jason McGill, and four line starters. Center Mike Cheever and tackle Jason Dukes, both sophomores, and senior guard Gary Brown lead what should be an imposing line McGill provides a big-play threat. The senior split end averaged 19.1 yards on his 32 catches last season and scored six TDs. Fullback William. Beil healthy after an injury-plagued '92 season, should easily exceed his 281 yards rushing. His presence allows Tech to experiment with moving Michael Smith, the leading rusher last season (336 yards), to defense

Six starters return on defense, and Lewis wants more of an attacking style from the unit this season, "We need to force things and make them happen," he said, "Last fall, we developed into a tentative, passive defense " The outside-linebacker spots should be the unit's strongest positions. Marton Williams starts on the weak side for the fourth year and Tom Johnson, who had 71/2 sacks last season, is back on the strong side. Both starting inside linebackers, Jamai Cox and Rodney Wilker-

Harris took part in 90 tackies in '92, the most by a North Carolina outside linebacker since Lawrence Taylor's 95 in 1979 Senior Rick Steinbacher, who has started 16 games over two seasons, ranked No. 2 in tackles a year ago with 108 and leads the cast of inside linebackers. Rudolph's absence creates a yawning hole at one tackle, but Richard Kimsey starts on the opposite side for the third season and Elhott Fortune, who started five games last fall, is back at middle guard. THEOREM

(7-4) The Cavaliers raced impressively to a 5-0 record in 1992 and built a 28-0 lead against old nemesis Clemson in game six. Then the season collapsed. Clemson railied for an improbable 29-28 triumph and Virginia never recovered. Oh, the Cavaliers finished 7-4, but they can't help but wonder what might have been. Prospects for '93 will depend on the performance at quarterback, where coach George Weish will start a different player for the fourth straight season. It is unlikely that the new starter will lead the league in passing efficiency for the fourth straight year. Virginia also must replace the school sicareer rushing eader, plug some gaps on the offensive line and compensate for the loss of All-America defensive and Chris Slade.

If Virginia stretches its streak of winning seasons to seven, the defense will be the reason. Although Slade is missing, eight starters and 20 ettermen return to the unit. Senior P J Killian, the team's feading tackler, heads the 1st of five linebackers with starting experence. The cast includes No. 2 tackler Randy Neal, who returned two interceptions for touchdowns against Virgin a Tech. No. 3 tackler Tom Burns, an academic All-America majoring in nuclear engineering; Curtis Hicks, who made 46 tackles and intercepted a pass, and seven-game starter. Gene. Toliver. End. Mike Frederick and tackles Mark Krichbaum and Ryan Kuehi solid fy the line. Safety Keith Lyie and cornerback Greg. McClellan are experienced starters.

The quarterback scramble centers around junior BJ Hawkins, sophomores Mike Groh and Symmion Willis, and redshirt freshman Tim Sherman Groh, who played in six games and threw 27 passes last season, is the most experienced. The starter will have big shoes to fill, for Bobby Goodman threw for 1,707 yards and 21 TOs last fall Lerrod Washington and Keyn Brooks, who combined for 885 rushing yards in 1992, will share the tailback spot. They must take up the slack created by the absence of Terry Kirby, who led the team in rushing with 1,130 yards despite missing three games. Char es Way, who shared the position last season takes over at fullback Guard Mark D xon, compared with former Virgin a stars um Dombrowski and Ray Roberts by the coaches, anchors the line. Tackle Jim. Reid and tight end Aaron Mundy, both twoyear starters, join Dixon in providing a solid nucleus Tyrone Davis (23 catches for 548 vards, a 23 8-yard average, and 7 TDs) and Pete Allen are big-p ay receivers

MONTH CANDENSA STATE

(9-3-1) Only Florida State and Flor da really solved the Wolfpack's 1992 defense, which restricted foes to 15.3 points per game and

gobb ed up 31 turnovers. But six stalwarts, including three starters in a cracker ack secondary are missing, and matching those impressive statistics will be difficult. And the offense cannot be expected to take up the slack, for the entire backfield and three others must be replaced.

But don't shed too many tears for the Wolf pack too early Coach Dick Sher dan's arsenal is seldom empty. A plus is the offensive line where tack as George Hegamin and Eric Taylor guard Shawn Johnson, and center Todd Ward return to starting roles. Although quarterback Terry Jordan, who completed 64 percent of his passes for 1.963 yards. Is gone Geoff Bender and Terry Harvey have starting experience Gary Downs, the No. 3 rusher in 92, replaces Anthony Barbour (1.204 yards) at tailback. Leading receiver Eddie Goines (46 catches for 580 yards and 3 TDs), Robert Hinton (23-323-2) and Ray Griffis (17-241-1) form a solid receiving corps

But the offense, which scored 14 or fewer points in five games last season, must improve production to offset the defensive losses. Four of the top five tacklers are missing Inside inebacker Damien Covington (149) tackles) is an outstanding building block. Gregg G annamore (67 tackles) should complement him and help atone for the loss of eading tackler David Merritt, Tackles Car Reeves and John Akins solid by the front and Tyler Lawrence is proven at outside linebacker The secondary though, requires rebuilding Cornerback Dewayne Washington is the lone veteran starter. Missing are free safety Ricky Turner, corner Sabastian Savage, and strong safety Mike Reid, who combined for 269 tackles and nine interceptions in 1992

A plus is the return of leading scorer Steve Videtich who made all 38 of his extra points and 14 of 22 field goal attempts

MAKE PERFET

(8-4) Seldom have the Demon Deacons ooked forward to a football season with more just flable optimism. They re coming off an 8-4 record that included the school's secondlongest winning streak (6 games) and a dramatic 39-35 victory over Oregon in the Independence Bowl. A total of 42 veterans. including 10 starters, are back, and they step into '93 with new confidence and a new look. The confidence of course came from the surprisng 1992 season and the new look is head coach uim Caldwell, who replaces the retired Bill Dooley Caldwell, in his first head coaching job, comes to Winston-Salem after spending seven seasons on Joe Paterno's staff at Penn State He had also served previously under Howard Schnellenberger Bil McCartney and Denn's Green

The Deacons must replace quarterback Keith West, who threw for 2 301 yards and 13 TDs last season. Sophomore Rusty LaRue and senior Jim Kemp battled for the job in spring practice, and LaRue had the better spring game (14-for-25 for 272 yards and 2) TDs) Whoever the starter is, he will make senior Todd Dixon his prime target. Dixon has averaged 18 yards on 106 catches, including 20 for touchdowns, in his three seasons. He added five receptions for 166 yards and two scores in the independence Bowl. The running game should be in good hands with seniors John Leach (575 yards) and Ned Moultrie (717) at tailback and senior Mitch Kennedy and junior Wendell Wells at fullback. Add redshirt freshman Stacie Gresham to the mix He led all rushers in the spring game with 78 vards and a pair of touchdowns on just seven carries. Three starters-center Eddie McKeel, guard Kevin Smith, and tackle Elton Ndoma-Ogar--are back in the interior offensive line,

(3-8) The Terps set 27 school and eight conference records yet won only three games. But five losses came by a touchdown or less, and only Penn State and Florida State crushed them. Year two of coach Mark Duffner's restructuring project promises more of the same glittering offensive statistics, but the defense must improve substantially before the number in the victory column rises appreciably. "We played very well against Clemson, a 52-23 victory a week after a 69-21 loss to Florida State," said Duffner, "but we can't go one week playing well and the next not so well "

Quarterback John Kaleo and wide receiver Marcus Badgett, chief authors of the rewritten record book, are gone, and finding a quarterback is the first priority. Scott Milanovich is the heir apparent, and Duffner likes his potential If Milanovich delivers, the Terps again will be a statistician's nightmare. Tailback Mark Mason (5-8 and 191 pounds) lacks only durability. He has led the ACC in all-purpose yards in each of the last two seasons. But injuries have curtailed his efforts. "He's healthy right now, and he is the key to our running game," Duffner said. The top four receivers are gone, but back are Wade Inge (26 catches) and speedster Jermaine Lewis (30) Tackle Steve Ingram heads an improved offensive line that also includes Dave Hack, Jade Dubis, and Jamie Bragg "That's the strength of the team," Duffner said

The defense kept the Terps close in most games, but the big play and inconsistency plagued the unit. Nose tackle Jim Panagos and end Mark Sturdivant are proven, but exparience is limited at the tackles. Sophomore Tim Brown and seniors Chad Wiestling and Jaime Flores have started at linebacker. Soph cornerback Mike Lacy and junior safety Ange Guerra enjoyed strong games in the seasonending romp over Clemson

(2-9) If experience counts, the Blue Devils are wealthy. They return nine starters on offense and eight on defense for coach Barry Wilson The key to improvement will be the defense The Blue Devils surrendered an average of 31 points per game a year ago-too many even for an offense that scored 25 or more in six garnes Better luck will help, too. Duke lost four close games

MARK MASON Maryland

Although one of the few absentees is Randy Cuthbert, who led the team in rushing (1,031 yards) and receptions (37), offense will be Duke's strength Spence Fischer, who shared the quarterback duties with Steve Prince last season, has the job alone and looks to improve on his 1,505 yards passing. His chief targets will be tight end Dan Clark (30 catches for 285 yards and 4 TDs) and wide receivers Brad Breedlove (29-479-2) and Stanley Dorsey (23-291-3) Leroy Gallman who carried only eight times for 32 yards last season, moves in at tailback. Robert Baldwin (312) yards and 7 TDs) returns at fullback. Guards P.J. Schunke (6-4, 300) and Steve Alderfer (6-and senior Davie Lowe figures to fill one vacancy, experienced personnel is otherwise scarce Walter Rasby gets the call to reptace three-time all-ACC tight end John Henry Mills

Seven defensive regulars are gone, but Dred Booe and Jay Will ams are back in the line, and leading tackler Kevin Giles returns at Inebacker Richard Goodpasture and Kevin Cole (5 interceptions in 5 starts) lead a secondary that must be rebuilt

4, 285) anchor the line that paved the way for 362 yards and 24 points per game last fall

Outside linebacker Darrell Spells and strong safety Derrick Jackson, the Nos. 1 and 3 tacklers, must be replaced. Inside linebacker Scott Berdan leads the unit. Assistance will come from tackle David Wafle (6-6, 270) whose 71 tackles included a team-leading four sacks and 13 other tackles for losses, and outside linebacker Brad Sherrod, who collected 70 tackles. Improving its turnover ratio would be a giant stride forward for Duke. The Blue Devils had 33 giveaways (19 interceptions, 14 fumbles) and only 21 take-aways (10 interceptions, 11 fumbles).

predictions

1. East Carolina, 2. Liberty, 3. Towson State, 4. Davidson 5. Charleston Southern

With the reshaping of the college football landscape, the number of independents in the Atlantic Coast area continues to dwindle William & Mary and James Madison take up residence in the Yankee Conference this fail, leaving East Carolina the only I-A independent around and reducing the I-AA independents to Liberty, Towson State, Davidson, and Charleston Southern season that ended with an 11-1 record and a thrilling come-from-behind win over North Carolina State in the Peach Bowl. But the Pirates came back to earth in 1992. Don't expect a season like '91 from any of the area independents this year. Nevertheless, 1993 should be exciting. East Carolina features bigplay performers in quarterback. Michael Anderson, running back Junior Smith, and wide receiver/return specialist Morris Letcher. Liberty expects wide receivers James McKnight and Maunce. Jones to post some big numbers. And Towson State anticipates an improved offense over its record-smashing unit.

Defense? Well, that's mostly a word in the dictionary. The area independents more often got into scoring duels, and improvement on defense is a must before they can dream of a season like East Carolina's in 1991.

BAST CARDCHIA

(5-6) The Pirates continued to collect yardage in wholesale lots, but they gave up a mountain of real estate, too. Thus, they followed the school's best-ever mark with a mediocre record Look for the Pirates to make the statisticians work overtime to keep up with their offensive production again this season. Eight starters return from the unit that racked up 421 yards and 26 points per game. But coach Steve Logan must strengthen his defense to improve the record East Carolina yielded 457 yards and 33 points per game.

Running back Junior Smith is short on size (5-6, 174), but he is long on ability and will be the key man in the running game. He rushed for 1,037 yards, averaging 5.6 per carry last season. He burned Arkansas State for 232 yards and scored three touchdowns against Bowling Green. Quarterback Michael Anderson, who usually came off the bench last season, starts at quarterback with a goal of curbing turnovers. Although he completed 56 percent of his passes for 2,486 yards and 22 TDs, he threw 23 interceptions (five against Southern Mississippi). His primary targets will be Morns Letcher, who led the team with 47 catches for 557 yards and five TDs, collected

1,626 all-purpose yards, and set seven school records. Tight end Carlester Crumpler (38 catches, 524 yards, 4 TDs) is another threat Three regulars return on the offensive line

Six starters are back on defense, including Bernard Carter, who broke the school record with 11 sacks last season. But the Pirates need more like him They surrendered 253 yards per game rushing, and opponents completed 60 percent of their passes

PERMIT

(7-4) If quarterback Travis Wilemon delivers the Flames will be difficult to handle. The other ngredients for a first-class football team are in place. Coach Sam Rutigliano returns eight offensive and six defensive starters, and they will face a less taxing schedule.

Wilemon, who has a bit of game experence, replaces Robby Justino, who owns most of the school's passing records. Adrian Cherry (773 yards rushing) and Matt Council (501) head a deep cast of running backs, and the receivers are superb. Maurice Jones caught 53 passes for 702 yards and seven TDs, James McKnight caught 50 for 711 yards and five TDs in only nine games. Two-year starter Eric Autenreith at guard leads the line. If the offense stalls, the Flames can call on junior kicker Daniel Whitehead, who made 34 of 36 extra points and 12 of 14 field goals.

Linebacker Dion Krause heads a defense that could be the school's best in several seasons. Krause took part on 137 tackles. He added five sacks and intercepted four passes. Bobby Walker (53 tackles, 5 sacks) and Manson Clark are strong on the front. The secondary must replace three regulars, but that's a bit deceiving. Calvin Thompson moves from linebacker, where he started last season and made 89 tackles, to strong safety and senior Shelton Lewis is back after missing most of 1992 with a hand injury. Cornerback Chris Hadley (80 tackles, 3 interceptions) is the returning starter.

COMMON ATTACK

(5-5) The Tigers won more games last season than in the three previous years combined, and coach Gordy Combs can't wait for his second season at the helm to begin. Most of the key players return, and 25 of the top 47 are seniors, "This team has a lot to look forward to." said Combs, an assistant at Towson for 19 years before getting the head job last season "I'm concerned about our depth at a couple of places, but we have an excellent nucleus coming back."

No wonder he is optimistic Tackles Kar Nieberlein and John Loch are four-year starters who anchor a line that permitted only nine sacks on 363 pass plays tast season. They paved the way for the Tigers to record a school-record 4,383 yards. "If we can block adequately enough to give these people time to perform, we're going to put more than a few points on the scoreboard, ' Combs said

These people' include quarterback Dan Crowley who has thrown for 4,105 yards and 30 touchdowns (but also 40 interceptions) in two seasons. Big-play man Mark Orlando (35 catches, 730 yards. 8 TDs) leads the receiving corps and record-breaking tariback Tony Vinson the running attack. Vinson, a transfer from Purdue, set school records for singlegame (261) and season (1,042) rushing yards despite suffering a knee injury in the first quarter of the eighth game. If he is not fully recovered. Br an McCarty is more than capable.

The defense which yielded more than 30 points in five games, should be improved. The line is solid and the secondary could be one of our best ever, "Combs said. Mike Arbulina and Dan Nate return at inside linebacker."

and nose tackie Mike Curcio and end Rob Stanavitch anchor the line Free safety Aaron Bates and comerback Marcellus Campbell lead the secondary

DAVIDSON

After competing for the last three years in Division III, the Wildcats will play this fall as a non-scholarship member of Division I AA But because there are so few schools in their area in the same class fication, they will still face 10 Division. III opponents. Head coach Dave Fagg returns 19 starters from the team that won four of its last five games to finish at 500.

Senior cornerback Alden Smith who had 55 tackles and a team-high seven interceptions, is the top honors candidate. Nose guard Mills Aria Lanchors the Line and Chris Leak, John Daiton, Mark Hemby, and Billy Evans the line-backing. Richard Howell returns for his fourth season at quarterback. He threw for 1,097 yards and nine touchdowns and led the Wildcats in rushing with 301 yards. Fullback Bruce Bannister had 251 yards, most of them in the final five games. Senior tackle Jack Barry, who has started the last 28 games, is the most experienced lineman.

CHARLESTON SOUTHERN

Head coach David Dowd welcomes back 13 starters from the 3-7 team that will compete for the first time in Division I-AA in September. But an imposing schedule features road dates with Troy State, Liberty. South Carolina State and Towson State.

Linebacker Jon Belk is one of seven returning defensive regulars that also includes free safety William Penn, comerback Chris Toney, linebacker Wesley Watts, and linemen Dennis Hamilton and Carlos Hinton Junior quarterback Brad Johnson, the Buccaneers' feading rusher, will be rejoined in the backfield by D'Arigelo Dereef, who averaged 6.7 yards per carry. But the offense that was shut out three times and held to one touchdown in two other games last fall, needs bolstering.

It's a marnage made in football heaven. Take the best program in the NCAA's Division I-AA (Georgia Southern) and merge it with the best league in the division (Southern Conference) And it means that the best just got better. It also means that this season, the Southern will be an even tougher conference, tougher than the group that sent a division-high three teams to the I-AA playoffs in 1992, including eventual national champion Marshall

What does Georgia Southern contribute to the mix? The Eagles own four national championships (1985, '86, '89, and '90) and a reputation for football excellence. They were voted into the Southern Conference in January of '91, but had to wait until this season to compete for the football title. The Eagles join an impressive group. Since 1982, the SC has sent three different teams to a total of six I-AA bitle games. In addition to Marshall, Furman won the championship in 1988. And six SC members have reached the playoffs. But there could be a problem on the horizon. A majority of I-AA schools surveyed this spring want to cut football scholarships from 63 to 45. All nine Southern Conference members are dead set against the proposal.

"We voted to stay right where we are," said Western Carolina athletic director Larry Travis. "I don't know what they re thinking, because culting scholarships is not going to save money because you Il lose your biggest revenue games. With 45 scholarships, you wouldn't be able to play the Clemsons or the Dukes or Georgia Techs, and that will cost you a ton of money "The NCAA could address the issue in January Stay tuned"

The league has one new face along the side ines this season. After a wintess conference season in '92, Tennessee-Chattanooga dumped coach Buddy Nix in favor of South Carolina co-defensive coordinator Tommy West, who will quickly find that winning in the Southern Conference won't be easy.

Picking the Catamounts No. 1 is a tribute to what coach Steve Hodgin has accomplished in just three seasons in Cullowhee. After 3-8 and 2-9 records, Hodgin turned it around last year with a 7-4 mark that included an impressive effort in a 37-19 ioss at Georgia. Tech Compare that with Hodgin's first try against a Division I-A foe, a 67-0 loss to N.C. State in 1990 in which Western had no first downs.

The Catamounts return 16 starters plus both kickers. They have perhaps the league's top quarterback in Lonnie Galloway who completed 61 percent of his passes for 2,181 yards and 20 TDs for an offense that averaged 415 2 yards a game last year. His top targets, flanker Kerry Hayes and split end Craig Aiken might be the best two receivers in the league.

An example of the Catamounts' new-found depth is tailback, where Kevin Thigpen became the first WCU player to rush for over 1,000 yards (1,079) since 1977. He's being pushed by Georgia Tech transfer Tim Johnson who had an outstanding spring camp. The main question mark is the offens or line. Three starters, including al-SC guard Todd Harkins, must be replaced Eight regulars return on defense, including four all-conference selections nose guard Tony Johnson, free safety Julius Grant, strong safety Stanley Marrow, and inside linebacker Tom Bodine.

So Western a league doormat three short years ago, is now the big dog on the SC block. But we shouldn't really be surprised. Hodgin gets things done fast. Following last season, the burly coach decided he was a bit too bury. So he went on a diet and lost 58 pounds.

MARKSHALL

Last season, the Thundering Herd thundered over just about everyone, a brilliant offense (42 3 ppg) more than making up for an occasionarly suspect defense. The season ended in fairy tale fashion, with Marshall taking the national title from Youngstown State in a 31-28 thriller before an overflow crowd of 31,304 in Marshall Stadium. What, after that school-record 12-3 season, will coach Jim Donnan's charges do for an encore? Don't expect a championship replay, although it's not impossible. The setting is favorable. (Marshall is hosting the title game again.) But Michael Payton won't be back. The Herd was basically picked up and carried by quarterback Payton, the I-AA Player of the Year. He tore up the Marshali record book and rewrote it. Now Donnan has to replace Payton's 3,744 yards of total offense and 35 touchdowns.

He's going with his son, junior Todd Donnan and this isn't a case of favoritism Donnan actually has a better arm than the more ath etic Payton. Last year, the younger Donnan showed poise under pressure when Payton was hurt taking over in the second-round playoff game with Middle Tennessee and quarterbacking a 35-21 victory. For the season, he completed 49 of 83 passes for 741 yards and six TDs Donnan is one of 61 returning lettermen. While only four offensive and six defensive starters are back, the Herd has a stockpile of quality talent just waiting its chance. A good example is wide receiver

Picky Carter, who caught 29 passes for 437 yards in the Herd's last four games. Many of the other big names, wide receiver Troy Brown and running back Orlando Hatchett, for example, are gone. It won't matter. Jim Donnan will dip into his mountain of talent, and the Herd will Thunder on

GEONGLE SOUTHERS

Last season the Eagles were a respectable 7-4, so it's hard to say that fourth-year coach Tim Stowers is on the hot seat. But Georgia. Southern fans, after all those titles, expect more than 7-4 Stowers gave t to them in 1990, the year he replaced the legendary Erk Russell That team fin shed 12.3 and won it all and Eagles' fans expected the dynasty to roll on and on, Instead a pair of those 7-4s has followed It gets tougher this season In the past, the independent Eagles could beef up their records (and play lots of nome games) against a few extra cupcakes each year. With a league schedule awaiting, that's no longer an option. This time, the eight SC games are packaged with nonconference meetings with Savannah State, Concord, and (guip) Miami Yes, that Miam

Stowers doesn't want to juggle quarter-backs again this season so he's given the nod to Joe Dupree over junior classmate Charles Bostick. That despite the fact that Bostick accounted for 1,125 yards of total offense and scored nine TDs a year ago. The team's strength will be defense, where nine starters return, led by senior All-America end Alex Mash. The appropriately named Mash had eight tackies for loss. All three starting

I nebackers—Paul Carron, Darius Dawson, and Nick Davis—return and the three were the Eagles' leading tacklers in '92. In addition, three starters are back in the secondary Look for the Eagles, who had three shutouts last season to play superb defense again. But if they finish 7-4 against this schedule, the school should extend Stowers's contract

THE CITYLESS.

Last year, coach Charlie Taaffe's Buildogs were sensational, with a school record 11-2 season that included a Southern Conference championship, a stunning 10-3 upset at Arkansas, and a trip to the I-AA piayoffs. That team was built on seniors, seasoned and smart Now those 25 seniors, including 14 starters, are gone, and Taaffe must virtually start over. The biggest loss is quarterback Jack Douglas, who finished his career as Division I-AA's all time leading rusher at the position. Behind him, the 1992 Citadel team led the division in rushing out of its wishbone offense, averaging 345.5 yards per game.

So who takes over? The new guy is expected to be junior C.J. Haynes who completed 11 of 15 passes in limited duty last year. Most of the time he'll simply hand off to fullback Everette Sands, who rushed for a whopping 1 449 yards. Taaffe has got to hope Sands has enough time to get out of the backfield. The entire offensive line, which included All-Americas Carey Cash. Lance Hansen, and Brett Copeland, was lost to graduation.

Across the line, the Bulldogs are in better shape, with six starters back from the unit that ed the nation in scoring defense (13.0). The line, keyed by end Garrett Sizer, should be a strength, and two starters return at I nebacker. It gets dicey in the secondary, though. All-

America safety Lester Smith and two other regulars are gone, so it's unlikely The Citadel will rank sixth in pass efficiency defense (93.6) again

Last season was fun, as all the pieces fit well. This season will have its moments, but not enough of them to make the Buildogs top dogs again in the conference.

- ARMAR

At first glance, last season was an aberration for the Paladins, a 6-5 effort for a program that seems to live at the top of the league. But the fact is, Furman's gittering records are glittering less these days as the league becomes more competitive. Coach Jimmy Satterfield replaced Dick Sheridan in 1988 and promptly turned in a 13-2 record and a national title. Since then, he's followed with marks of 12-2 9-4, 7-4, and that 6-5. In a sense, though, the Paladins recruit with one armitted behind their backs, because of perhaps the league is most stringent academic requirements. And now, other programs are working just as hard, but with fewer restrictions.

The Paladins return 13 starters but there are some important holes to fill, most notably at tailback, previously the domain of Carl Tremble, the SC's all-time leading rusher with 4,746 yards. Senior Billy Whitley, Tremble s backup for three seasons, may finally get to show his stuff. That is, if the Paladins don't make fullback Rod Green, who picked up 402.

yards rushing last season, the focus of the running game. Heath Brownstead and OJD Davis could also get some playing time, although Brownstead may wind up at tight end Quarterback fails to Philly Jones, who took over midway through 1992 and completed 77 of 130 passes for 893 yards and five TDs Furman led the conference in total defense (310.8 yards per game) last fall, but returns just five starters. End Ryan Livezey and cornerback Andre Worrell are all-SC performers.

APPALACHIAN STATE

The Mountaineers were 7-5 tast year and made the playoffs in coach Jerry Moore's fourth season but then came the exodus. Appalachian lost 15 starters, including three All-Americas punter Harold Alexander, defended sive tackle Avery Hall, and outside inebacker Rico Mack. In addition, D.J. Campbell, the school's all-time winningest quarterback must be replaced.

Three players-Andy Arnold Scott Satterfield and Jason Yaudes-will battle to replace Campbell, but because their predecessor was so durable, none has much experience. Arnord, a senior, has the most appearing in 12 games over the past three seasons While quarterback is being sorted out, the offensive focus may turn to the ground Junior larlback Chip Hooks, a 5-6 waterbug and surprisingly tough, has scooted for 1,953 yards over the last two years. Johnny Smith is expected to take over at fullback, and two of last year's top three receivers, Craig Styron and Ray Gama, are back Defensively, the line should be a plus despite the loss of Hall since seven lettermen return, led by Kevin Sikorsk Unebacker features all-SC performer Brent David, who had 142 tackles in 1992

Expect the Mountaineers to start slowly but mprove as the season goes on

EAST TENNESSEE STATE

A year ago at th's time, the Buccaneers were coming off a dismal 1-10 season and more of the same was expected. But new coach Mike Cavan refused to permit it, and the Bucs wound up with a respectable 5-6 mark that included two conference victories. Taking the next step w'll be a little more difficult.

Seventeen starters return leight each on offense and defense along with kicker Pat Crust If the Bucs can avoid major injuries, they should be able to compete with most of their conference rivals. Three all-league candidates return italiback Derrick Hollins (689) yards), free safety Maurice Kelly, and wide receiver Scotty Dykes who was out most of last year with a knee injury. Quarterback belongs to Gabe Berry, a eft-hander who won the job by default when Brad Warbington transferred Berry, who will run the Bucs out of the I-formation, started the first five games in '92 before an injury sidelined him. The secondary is the strength of a defense that won to be all that strong. Depth is lacking along the ine and at I nebacker.

Cavan, of course, is still developing his program. And that means that even with Wingate and Mars Hill on the schedule, another 5-6 season would be just fine.

UT-CHATTANOOGA

Tommy West, who takes over as head coach for Buddy Nix after the Moccas is finished 0-7 in the league and 2-9 overall, has a reputation for building defenses. He did good work in that area at both Clemson and South Carolina. He li need to do a lot more of it now. Last season, the Mocs surrendered 35 6 points and 413.9 yards per game. They never gave up fewer than 20 points in a game, even yielding 28 to Tennessee-Martin. And no conference opponent scored fewer than 27 on them

Now to rebuild, and there is some talent available among the 14 starters and 38 ettermen Who return Quarterback Kenyon Earl threw for 1,055 yards a year ago despite a string of injuries. He II have a lot of help in the backfield. Leading rusher Jerry Eilison (814 yards) s back, as s James Roberts, who was injured last season after pling up 2 685 yards rushing in the previous three. Also, tight end Demarko Kemp and split end Bobby Acree (21 catches each) return along with three starters on the offensive line. So the Mocs should be able to score. Unfortunately many of their drives may start after their opponents kickoffs Leading tackler David Masterson is gone from defensive end, and while the secondary is experienced, the entire linebacking crew must be replaced. West will improve the defense eventually, but he may be living on Rolaids this year

VIRGINIA MILITARY

Like The Citadel, its fellow military school in the Southern Conference, VMI runs the wishbone. Unlike The Citadel, its results haven't been all that great recently. Now coach Jim Shuck, entering his fifth season in Lexington with a 13-30-1 mark, will try again. As usual there are holes to fill. Last season, the 3-8 Keyoets weren't that bad offensively, averaging 22.3 points per game. But the keys to making that wishbone go, quarterback Tony Scales and halfback Marcus Mines, are gone.

At quarterback, Shuck must choose between Erik Reynolds (205 yards rushing, 86 passing) and Spike Johnson (37 rushing, 111 passing) The job remains a tossup headed into fall practice. Enc Walker leads a strong cast at running back. Three starters are cone. from the offensive line, but split end Marion Anderson, the SC Freshman of the Year in 92 with 19 catches is back and should get more opportunities as VMI tries to diversify its attack. The defense, featuring linebacker Camilus Mussleman (127 tackles), has seven reguars back, but they return from a unit that allowed an average of 367 9 yards. Help comes from strong safety Dewayne Arkadre, who missed most of 92 with a knee injury

- 1. South Carolina State.
- 2. North Caronna A&T 3. Florida A&M.
- 4. Delaware State, 5. Howard
- 6. Bethune-Cookman, 7. Morgan State

n the world of college football the words "balance' and "parity" seem to creep up more and more with each passing year. On some occasions, the words are overused. But on others, they don't quite do the situation justice. This year's race for the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference championship falls into the atter category. Over the last several seasons, the gap between the league's upper and lower echelons has harrowed so much that the line is almost no longer discernible, making preseason predictions an exercise in futility Just about any team can take out any other. The race this season will be no different. South Carolina State may have the premier athletes Morgan State the best crop of skill-position players, Howard the No. 1 quarterback and Forida A&M the top pro prospect. Bethune-Cookman may be the team no wants to play late in the year. And we haven't even mentioned North Carolina A&T and Delaware State, who have combined to win at least a share of the league title in three of the last four seasons. So who will win this year? We may have to wait until the league's final game 's over to find out.

SOUTH CAROLINA STATE

(7-4, 4-2) As the MEAC title race drew to a conclusion ast season, the eyes of most observers were glued to Florida A&M and North Carolina A&T. But when the smoke cleared, it was actually South Carolina State that nearly pulled out the title. A touchdown in the waning minutes by A&T in the last regular season game for both teams edged S.C. State at the tape. The 24-21 loss sent the Buildogs tumbling to third place and left them to look ahead to this season—one that just might produce the ending State was looking for last fall.

The Bulldogs have led the nation's I-AA schools in total defense for the last two years. The keys for this year's unit are tackle Anthony Cook, monster man Patrick Scott, linebacker. Creig James, and safety James Hester. The trick for coach Willie Jeffnes will be putting the right pieces in place around them. He has a slew of talented players, but they must make the transition from part- to full-time duty. Until the defense gels, the offense may have to carry the show. It is capable of doing just that Marvin Marshall, a dimunitive but deadly quarterback, is one of the league's top returnno rushers and also threw for nearly 600 yards in State's run-oriented attack. He will have three quality backs in Dione Summers, Frankie Sanders, and Antonio Mackey operating behind him. On the flanks are Quincy Miller and Fredd'e Soloman, Linemen Carnell Carter, Greg Middleton, and David Blanchard make everything go for State

State used to own the MEAC title in the late 1970s and early '80s. It may never own the league grown like that again, but it is possible they could "borrow" it back again this season.

NORTH CAROLINA A&T

(9-3, 5-1) When coach Bili Hayes took over the head coaching job at A&T five years ago he said one of his major goals was to get the Aggles in a position where they could reload every year, not rebuild. Last season proved the program is just about where he wants it. The Aggles, despite losing several top players, repeated as MEAC champions and advanced to the Division I-AA playoffs for the first time since 1986 Hayes, whose teams have wen 27 games in the last three years, hopes this team will be able to produce a similar effort against a very challenging schedule

On offense, quarterbacks Maceo Bolin and David Russell will oversee the wing-T attack Returnees Barry Turner, James White, and Brian Rodman rushed for well over 1 000 yards Rudy Artis is back at split end, while Robert Holiey, who could be one of the league's best, it chard Lide, and Tyrone Brown anchor the line. The return of place-kicker Carl Warren, an ail-conference selection as a freshman also bosters the offense

Defensively, Hayes took some losses, ncluding Rodney Edwards, the MEAC's Defensive Player of the Year and all-league selection Alonza Barnett in the secondary. So Hayes converted a pair of athletic running backs Michael Belk and Anthony Perkins, to inebacker, where they will oin Leevary Covington, who led the team in tackles Toran James and Cassius Adams could have big years on the line, while John Dixon, Curtis Burgins, Dion Caldwell and Miles Onatowora are the top players in the secondary

PLEGGERA AZE

(7-5, 4-2) If the Rattlers could have stopped after their ninth game, it would have been one of the more glorious seasons in recent memory at a school rich in football tradition. But FAMU instead had to play out the year losing to rival Bethune-Cookman, which cost them the league title, and then to Eddie Robinson and Grambling in the Heritage Bowl.

Coach Ken Riley has some holes to fill but the Rattlers may again be a force by the time league play heats up. Start with wide receiver Terry Mickens, the league's Offensive Prayer of the Year (52 recept ons for 900 yards and 6 TDs). Who will be throwing to Mickens, however, is unknown Tony Rucker had wrestled the job from incumbent Tracy Werden during the spring, but he suffered severe knee damage in the spring game and is out for the year

Weldon went down with a shoulder injury shortly thereafter, leaving the job up for grabs lvory Driard heads a talented group of linemen, but FAMU will be relatively inexperienced at running back.

At times, the Rattlers were dominant on defense last year. Against A&T and Howard, two of the MEAC's more explosive offensive teams they yielded a pairty total of 10 points. Linemen Ervin Collier and Marcus Lampkin are back, and before suffering a broken legast fall, inebacker Bruce Daniels was leading the conference in tack es. Should be return to form, Daniels and Louis Williams will give FAMU a pair of excellent backers in a league full of them. Juniors Ken Riley and Keino Taylor, who could be All-America candidates before they're through, ead the secondary.

DESCRIPTION OF THE PERSON

(6-5, 3-3) The Hornets were picked in many circ es to be the class of the MEAC last season. For about three-quarters of the way through, that's exactly the way things played out Then, things fell apart. Del State was stung by defeats in their final four games, including three in league play The end result was a tie for fourth place, the lowest finish for Del State in nearly 10 years. Once upon a time, a fourth-place finish for Dei State would have been cause to celebrate. But coach Bill Collick's success at the school has but an end to those days. A return to the top is possible in time, but Del State must find replacements on the defensive line to aid topnotch performer Unuru Hamiter, Free safety Brian Randall has established himself as one of the league's top all-round performers. Last season, he had 81 tack es, tied for the league lead with six interceptions, and was second in punt returns Linebackers Lloyd Badson, Mark Still, and Rich Zoeltsch and ali-MEAC punter Charles Popios are other returning regulars

Collick is hoping that quarterback Erik Jones and running back Phil Anderson can help make last year's finish a distant memory this season Jones accounted for more than 1,500 yards total offense Anderson, the latest in a long line of fine backs at Del State rambled for 744 yards Stanley Burris Thane Watkins, and Keith Jarvis return on the line, as does tight end Neon Chapman

HOWARE

(7-4, 3-3) Two years ago, Jay Walker probably wasn't sure he would even be playing college footbali. The program at Long Beach State had just folded, leaving Walker and his teammates to fend for themselves and find new schools. Fortunately for coach Steve Wilson. Walker look his considerable skills to Howard, where last fall he led the MEAC in total offense, passing for 2,347 yards and 18 touchdowns. He was the big reason Howard was so improved, and is now the premier quarterback. When Walker does drop back to throw, chances are he will be looking for Gary Harrell. A lot. Harrell caught 50 passes a year ago. and can be lethal in the open field. Ruperl Grant and Rhadi Ferguson combined for nearly 700 yards on the ground and will give the offense a balanced attack Brook Caw.ey eads several returnees on the line.

On defense the Bison secondary could be tops in the conference, though they'll get an argument from Bethune-Cookman. Free safety Neai Downing was a first-team all-league selection, While Laveremy Adamson and Dondre Owens are also solid performers Linebacker Jose White and nose tackle Aaron Kinchen are back as well for the Bison, who led the league in scoring defense

BETHUNE-COOKMAN

(4-7, 2-4) Sylvester Collins's first year at Bethune was one of adjustment. The Wildcats started very slowly but won three straight to close the season, claiming an especially sweet victory over rival Florida A&M, keeping FAMU from claiming the league title. The Wildcats hope to carry that momentum right into this year. But the first order of business for Collins is to replace quarterback J.D. Hall, who took over 4,000 career passing yards with him The job is Michae Jackson's to lose. but Leon Hill ard, Tony Kerrin, and Clover Coffev will push him Wilmer White and Kervin Daniets lead the running backs and John Jones and Morris Nobles the receivers. Devon Cole and Willie Felton form a pair of bookends at tight end and the line led by Braynon Edwards should be in good shape

Defensively, the Wildcats have a solid nucleus to work with David Walkins Zatic Simpson, and Sam Newsome are small but capable linemen. Terrance Carey, the leading tackler is back at inside linebacker, as is Tyrone Laster, who made a lot of noise as a freshman by tying for the MEAC lead in interceptions. Laster, Eric Hudson, and Leotis McNeil will key the secondary On paper, Bethune may still be a year away from moving back into the upper level of the league But any team that throws the ball as well as it does is always a threat to do some damage at any time Ask Florida A&M

MORGAN STATE

(2-9, 0-6) Though it did not show in the victory column, the Bears displayed some improvement in 1992. They had a few of the league's best skill-position players and stayed competitive in games for longer periods of time. But there were still problems. The Bears led the eague in total offense but were last in total defense in addition to that, the team forfe ted its final game against Bethune-Cookman as a protest against the style and motivational factics of coach Ricky Diggs. But the troubles have seemingly been erased by an excellent spring practice and enthusiasm over the prospects for the coming year.

The big reason for the eagerness to get to the new season are the team's offens vaire-turness. Morgan's run-and-shoot attack proved to be potent, rolling up over 370 yards per game. Junior quarterback Orlando Persell passed for nearly 2,000 yards in just eight games. Jesse Humphrey, a juco transfer led the league in receptions and will be joined by Chris Ursini and Bernard Barnes at wideout Running back Tony Phillips, a walk-on who walked right on to the all-MEAC unit, is also back as are four starting lineman.

How much the Bears improve will depend on now many steps forward the defense can take. It gave up more than 50 points on five occasions and was constantly pounded by bigger, stronger teams Diggs brought in Ronnell Woods, a new coordinator, to help address the problem. He will build his unit around all-MEAC tackle Matthew Steeple and strong safety Eric Johnson, who will be among the league's best by season's end.

The Aggles have put together a mini-dynasty n the SWC the kind only the NCAA might be able to destroy. Starting the season with a 12game winning streak pushed A&M near a potential national title before allegations of rules violations were revealed that resulted in the suspension of sophomore running back Greg Hill and a lops ded loss to Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl But there is ample reason to be-Leve the Aggies could pull off a rare SWC three-peat under head coach R.C. Stocum and reach the Cotton Bowl for the sixth time in nine years. A wealth of talent remains on both sides of the footbail 69 members of A&M's team last season were freshmen or sophomores including an offensive backfield that could rank among the nation's best

Even if Hill is suspended by the NCAA for affeged rules violations, the Ággies' running game should be able to rebound with the help of junior Rodney Thomas and redshirt freshman Leeland McElroy Sophomore quarterback Corey Pullig missed the second half of spring drills after going down with a knee injury, but he should be ready to regain the form that helped him direct the Aggies to an average of nearly 40 points per game during the second half of the season. A physically punshing line led by tackles Dexter Wesley and Todd Mathison, center Chris Dausin, guard Tyler Harrison, and tight end Greg Schorp is one of the key elements of an offense that also returns speedy receiver Tony Harnson and welcomes highly touted newcomers Danny McCray and Kevin Beirne Terry Venetoulias handles the place-kicking

The Aggies will be reloading instead of rebuilding a defensive unit which lost severa standouts yet returns four consensus att-SWC players. The linebacking corps could be among the best in A&M history with the return ol Jason Atkinson, Steve Solari, and Reggie Graham and reserves Larry Jackson and Jason Andrus. An intimidating line led by ends Eric England and Sam Adams and nose guard Lance Teichelman should continue to excel, as should a secondary patrolled by standout cornerback Aaron Genn and Michael Hendricks Defensive backs Brily Mitchell and Steve Kenny were impressive during spring drills, leaving the punting game as the Aggres biggest area of concern. Sean Terry is the top candidate for the job, the Aggies equivalent of the Maytag repairman

Coaches and players come and go, but the attention focused on quarterbacks tends to remain the same on the Forty Acres Finding a replacement for the Longhorns all-time passing leader, Peter Gardere, is the top priority for coach John Mackovic and his staff, who will be a ming for a bowl bid after last year's 6-5 finish. The task won't be an easy one. Other than redshirt freshman Shea Morenz, who received an extra year of eligibility after being nured last year, only Chad Lucas has taken a snap in a college game. Competition should increase when highly touted freshmen James Brown and John Dutton report for fall dril's

The need for a capable quarterback is underscored by the presence of a large number of talented receivers. Big-play threats Lovell Pinkney and Mike Adams averaged almost 21 vards per catch last season and Phil Brown caught a team-high 31 passes out of the backfield, while Justin McLemore led the Longhorns with four touchdown receptions Brown also is the team's top returning running back and will be joined in the backfield by sophomore Curtis Jackson Anthony Holmes, and senior Geraid Crawford Several spots are up for grabs in a line anchored by veteran tack es Troy Riemer and Blake Brockermeyer John Elmore and Joe Phillips are projected starters at guard and junior Trent Elliott is the top contender at center. A lack of depth could be a problem at light end, where Jimmy Hakes is the only player on the roster who has caught a pass at that position

Converted linebacker Norman Walkins developed into one of the SWC's best pass rushers by sharing the team lead with seven sacks a year ago. Watkins will be united with ends Duane Vacek and Brian Vasek and tackies Dominic Bustamante and James Lane in a line that should be the strong point of the Longhorns defense. By comparison, a massive rebuilding tob awaits in a secondary depicted by the loss of three starters. Lone holdover Joey Ells will be joined by sen or safety Van Malone and junior cornerback Victor Frazier Added help could come from senior Pasca. Watty and a long list of incoming freshmen that includes Chris Carter, Tre Thomas, and Bryant Westbrook. Traditionally the most prestigious position on the Longhorns' defense, the linebacking corps should be boistered by the return of Winfred Tubbs and Kevin Watter Tubbs missed spring drills after undergoing arthroscopic knee surgery, allowing senior Chris Rapp and sophomore Robert Reed more practice time

The Longhorns' kicking game could be a case of feast or famine. Place-kicker Scott Szeredy returns after converting 16 of 21 field goals last season, but the punting duties could go to incoming freshman Mark Schultis.

BAY LUIS

Not since 1972 have the Bears had to adjust to a new head coach, a situation they find themselves in this fall as Chuck Reedy takes control from Grant Teaff. Reedy had been the offensive coordinator for the previous three seasons and should be able to field one of the SWC's most potent scoring units. Whether the Bears improve on last year's 7-5 mark and earn a bowl bid for the third time in four years will depend largely on the progress of a defense which lacks experience at linebacker.

Entering his senior year, quarterback J.J. Joe is poised to break virtually every Baylor record for passing and total offense Quality depth is a big plus elsewhere in the backfield with the return of tailbacks Brandell Jackson and Malcolm Hamilton and fullbacks Robert Strait, Bradford Lewis, and John Henry. The Bears are hoping to have some receivers emerge from a long roster of candidates who caught only three passes among them last season in contrast to a year ago, Baylor's offensive line has the necessary depth and experience to contend for a possible SWC championship, Senior center Chuck Pope will anchor a front line that also includes guards David Leaks and Will Davidson and tackles Fred Miller and Craig Bellamy John Turner, Edwin Newman, Curtis Draper, and Mike Oatis provide depth

Heralded tackles Steve Strahan and Joseph Asbell form the nucleus of a defensive line projected to be among the SWC's best Scotty Lewis has been moved from tackle to end, where he will join 6-9, 265-pound Daryl Gardener Although the secondary ost three starters, the Bears believe such players as Jason Young Brian Newberry Chad Hunter, and Andrew Swasey are ready to make their presence felt at safety along with two-year starter Chris Lewis Kendrick Bell has been moved to cornerback, where he will join Raynor Finley. The litmus test for the Bears defense will be the ability to find consistency at linebacker. Chris Dull has been moved to the middle and Tony Tubbs is expected to return after being sidelined with a knee injury Phillip Kent, Jerry Robles, and Justin Still have been shifted from the secondary to provide depth in the Bears, greatest area of concern

Another quest on mark fooms in the kicking game, where punter Rhett Delaney could be pushed by Willie Shupp during fall drills. Mike Chilton handled kickoffs for the Bears a year ago, but he has little experience in kicking extra points and field goals.

TEXAS TECH

Optimism has been building for years on the high plains, where the Red Raiders have been yearning for their first-ever SWC title and trip to the Cotton Bowl since the university entered the conference in 1960. This finally could be the year Tech improves on back-to-back second-place finishes and last year's 5-6 record and reaches the top with a talented experienced offensive unit that rewrote severa school records a year ago. Avoiding injuries during a challenging early schedule in which the Red Raiders will play five consecutive games against bowl teams will be a must, especially for an inexperienced defense

Only two starting linemen have departed from an offense that ranked 17th in the nation with an average of 423 yards per game last season Center Brad Elam and tackle Stacey Petrich should be among the SWC's finest Mike Moore and Ronnie Seals will contend for the other tackle position, while Bingo Mancilias, Peter Allen, Ed Hendrix, and Scott Fitzgerald are the top candidates at guard. Head coach Spike Dykes might be able to start an all-fifth-year senior offensive line and rotate five senior receivers and three senior fullbacks. Senior quarterback Robert Hall is on the verge of setting Tech records for career total offense and passing yardage. He already has passed for 5,014 yards and should rank among the SWC's top five all-time leaders when he ends his career. The biggest reason to project another potent Tech passing game is the return of Lloyd Hill, who led the nation in '92 with an average of 114 yards in receptions per game. Hill needs only 520 yards to establish a conference career record Derrell Mitchell, Donald Marshall, and Tony Miller add depth and speed to the aerial show. But Tech is striving for a balanced attack, one which will utilize the ability of running back Byron Morris (second in the conference with 1,279 yards a year ago) and fullback Bruce Hill in addition to the forward pass

Added team speed might be the Red Raiders' biggest plus on defense, where seven starting positions were up for grabs during spring drills. To complicate matters. Tech has switched to a 4-4 alignment to better utilize its qu'ckness. Shawn Jackson and Byron Wright are mainstays at end, but the interior line must find two starters among a group that includes Stephen Gaines and Chris On and transfers Tyrone Brooks and Sean Johnson, Sophomore linebackers Anthony Armour, Zach Thomas, and Shawn Banks should figure prominently in the new defensive scheme, but depth at the position is a concern Donny Brooks and Anthony Wiley are the top names in a secondary that must make major strides after allowing opponents to complete 56 percent of their pass attempts ast season. The kicking game appears solid with the return of Jon Davis and punter Robert King

A loss in their final game last season was the only obstacle that prevented the Owls from their first bowl appearance since the Kennedy administration. As a consolation prize. Rice went 6-5 under head coach Fred Goldsmith for its first winning season in 29 years. Whether the upswing will continue will depend on how quickly the Owls compensate for the loss of All-America running back Trevor Cobb.

The need for a more diverse attack on offense should prompt the Owls to escalate Emanue who ranked fourth in the nation in pass efficiency a year ago and whose speed makes him a viable option threat. Emanue passed for 1,558 yards and rushed for 680 yards and seven touchdowns despite the fact that he did not earn the starting job until the Owls, third game, Emanuel's favor te pass targets likely will be juniors J'mmy Lee and tight end Clemente Torres. Several candidates, including Yoney Edmonds, Spencer George Carlos Anderson, and Pat Callahan, will contend this fall for the unenviable task of following in Cobb's footsteps. An experienced offensive line should ease the transition at tail back Sophomore tackle Chris Cooley and center Tom Hetherington were standouts a year ago and will team with tackle Jimmy Golden and guards Brendon Fitzgerald, Bobby Gray, and Mike Ecklund The elusive bowl berth could become a re-

a ity for the Owls if they can find enough depth in their defensive line. Newcomers might be called upon to fill spots behind such proven players as senior tackle Corey Seymour junior end Deric Rutherford sophomore end Brynton Goynes and nose guard Michael Shirk, Converted linebacker Bryan Soward, redshirt freshman Sean Clarady, and incoming freshman Ndukwe Kalu are possible substitutes up front. Big things are expected of a secondary which returns starters Nathan Ben nett and Jeff Sowells at safety and Sean Washington at comerback. The Owls ranked second among SWC teams in scoring defense last season, a trend that should continue with such capable linebackers as Emmett

Waldron, Joe Davis, Jeff Mercer, and Larry Izzo Versat le junior Darrell Richardson will handle the punting and place-kicking

DUDLATON

Allegations of rules violations and other controversies in April led to the resignation of John Jenkins as the Cougars' head coach and cast a huge shadow over the team's prospects for the coming season Jenkins had been the target of criticism for back-to-back 4-7 seasons in which Houston continued to put up glossy numbers with its glitzy run-and-shoot offense yet failed to field a consistent defense. Constructing a potent defense undoubtedly will be new coach Kim Helton's top priority during fall drills while the NCAA continues to sort through allegations that the Cougars held illegal summer workouts and made illegal payments to transfer students

Regardless of whether the run-and-shoot is retained, Jimmy Klingler should continue to excel at quarterback after leading the nation with 32 touchdowns passes and an average of 342 vards total offense per game. Only a junior, Klingler has the luxury of throwing to such capable receivers as Sherman Smith Ron Peters, and Keith Jack. Smith led the nation with 103 receptions and Peters was tops with an average of 26 yards per catch. Lamar Smith should bolster the Cougars' running game from the superback position after finishno second in the nation last season with an average gain of 7.6 yards. Since the success of any passing attack is directly related to the effectiveness of a team's line, the Cougars once again should be in good shape with the return of heralded tackles Darrell Clapp and Jimmy Herndon. The remainder of the offensive front will be composed of several hefty candidates that include 295-pound Kenny

Robbins, 300-pound Billy Milner, and 305pound Joe Wheeler

Added depth and experience in the line is the best hope for improvement on a defense that yielded an average of 411 yards and 35 points per game last season. Steve Williams, Eric Harrison, Marlon Foots, Terrance Mouton, Stephen Dixon, and Allen Aldridge all saw extensive playing time a year ago in a 4-3 alignment. Added help up front could come from Colin Scrivener, who led the nation's juniorcollege players with 18 sacks, and Otis Grant Senior I'nebacker Ryan McCoy has been a starter since his freshman season and is the top name at a position which must get quality play from such newcomers as juco transfer Chris Jones and George Pratt. The secondary could develop into one of the team's strengths. with the presence of cornerbacks John Brown, John W. Brown, Dedric Mathis, and Aifred Young and safeties Gerome Williams and converted quarterback Donald Douglas

The Cougars' special teams were plagued last season by several bad snaps from center, a factor that ternished Cody Avants's punting stats and Trace Craft's field-goal accuracy. Correcting breakdowns that resulted in several blocked punts and kicks that were returned for touchdowns was high on the Cougars' agenda during spring drills.

SOUTHERN METHODIST

Times are changing on the Hilltop, where the Mustangs were only a short field goal away from a winning season before finishing with a 5-6 mark under head coach Tom Rossley. SMU not only snapped a 25-game conference tosing streak, but also experienced a renewed confidence that might be tested in what looms as a rebuilding year

Junior wide receiver Brian Berry and guard Jeremy Stout are the only starters returning on offense In fact, Stout might be the only senior in the Mustangs' offensive lineup this fall Quarterback candidates Calvin Burdick, Mark Eldred, and Ramon Flanigan have yet to earn a letter among them, meaning it could take time for an effective passing attack to develop with the loss of such receivers as Korey Beard and John DeVoss Kevin Shepard is projected as the starting superback after rushing for 460 yards in the Muslangs' run-and-shoot. Several sophomores will have to make their presence felt early in a line that underwent a major overhaul during spring drills. Tony Ned has been moved from defense to offensive tackle. where he will join such candidates as Bryan Craig, Jason Holz, Jason Hunt, Jason Sands, and Greg Shea

The Mustangs might find it difficult to continue their upswing on defense after holding their first four opponents to fewer than 20 points and finishing first among SWC teams in pass defense Returning lettermen Scott Fly Cagan Morgan, B.J. Stankovich, Craig Swann, and Eric Tomlin have combined to start only two games at linebacker, making the position a serious concern. The situation is a bit more promising up front, where veteran ends Chad Patton and Byron Slaughter return along with tackle Byron Bonds Defending against the pass should be another SMU speciality with a deep and experienced secondary led by senior cornerback Marcus Malonson and senior strong safety Richie Butler Added help will come from Michael Artmore and Jonathan Dupree, both of whom were starters two years ago before missing last season because of injuries.

The Mustangs' special teams blocked six kicks a year ago and should continue to excel with punt returner Mick Rossley, punter Larry Israel, and senior place-kicker John Stewart

There were times when Pat Sullivan might have been tempted to suit up TCU mascot Super Frog during a 2-8-1 season that tarnished his debut as the Horned Frogs' head coach. How much improvement is made this year will depend on how quickly a quality starting quarterback can be found to get the ball to a talented group of receivers

Max Knake is the only quarterback on TCU's roster who has thrown a forward pass on the college level, giving him the inside track to the starting job over such candidates as Scott McLeod and redshirt freshmen Adam Wright and Todd Bauman A rebuilt offensive line led by tackles Paul Simmons and Barret Robbins, guards Boyd Milby and Jason Kelly, and center Kevin Brewer must provide adequate pass blocking to take advantage of the presence of veteran receivers Richard Woodley, Mike Houston, and Jimmy Oliver, Juniorcollege line transfers Bart Epperson, Brandon Hickman, and Chuck Wills were impressive during spring drills, but tight end Greg Harriss suffered a neck injury and will miss the entire season. The Frogs enter fall drills with Brian Collins as their only tight end with college experience, a factor that could hasten the emergence of incoming freshman Ryan Tucker Junior tailback Derrick Cultors and senior fullback John Oglesby were among the Frogs' top three rushers last season, providing optimism that TCU will be able to improve on its average output of 113 yards on the ground

A lack of depth on defense enabled opponents to wear down the Horned Frogs in the second half of games last season, outscoring them 212-85 That problem should be alleviated this fall with the return of several heralded players at linebacker and in the secondary Sophomore weakside linebacker Leroy Jones set a school record by making 13 tackles for 79 yards in losses, while strong safety Greg Evans's seven interceptions were the most among SWC players and ranked third-highest in TCU history Free safety David King and cornerbacks Rico Wesley and Manvel Hopes should help solidify a defense that also returns linebackers Mike Moulton and Reggie Anderson, Junior tackle Royal West and ends Vincent Pryor and Chris Piland compose the nucleus of a veteran line

The kicking game was greatly emphasized in spring practice as freshman redshirt Brian Leinart contended with senior Rudy Oliveira for placement duties. Kevin Cordesman once again will handle the punting after averaging 35 yards per kick last season.

A familiar battle between Cowboys and Indians should settle the Southland Conference race for the second year in a row. Northeast Louisiana was ranked No. 1 in the nation in Division I-AA at the end of the regular season. but whether the Indians repeat as SLC champs in their final season before moving to Division I-A will depend on the caliber of players who must compensate for the loss of nine Al -America performers.

McNeese State could wrestle the conference crown from the Indians by avenging the only loss it sustained in SLC play in 92 with the aid of 47 returning lettermen. The Cowboys hope to continue the momentum they ach eved by winning seven of their last eight games in a surge that moved them into the national rankings

An experienced offensive line should botster Northwestern Louisiana State's chances of reaching the r-AA playoffs. North Texas and Stephen F Austin also have enough talent returning to make strides in the SLC standings.

MCNEESE STATE

Consistent improvement has been a hailmark of Bobby Keasler's teams in his first three seasons as the Cowboys' head coach. McNeese advanced to the Division I-AA playoffs two years ago and reached the second round of postseason play last season. This time, the Cowboys hope to add a Southland Conference championship to their list of achievements as 47 returning lettermen take aim at a potential national title

A talented offense which he ped engineer ast-minute victories in six games might hold the key toward improving on last year's 9-4 record Kerry Joseph made headlines by passing for 1.361 yards and eight touchdowns as a freshman and returns to a backfield that includes tai/back Henry Fields, Center Sam Breaux and guard Blayne Rush are mainstays in an offensive line that will try to allow Joseph time to get the ball to veteran receivers Adam Henry and Skeet Owens.

Senior linebacker Terry Irving became the first consensus All-America in McNeese histony ast season by logging 125 tackles and eading a unit that specialized in making the big play Backs Bran Brumfield and Lance Guidry, end Dana Scott, and tackie Eric Kidd. are the Cowboys' other returning starters on defense. McNeese's kicking game should be a strong point. Pat Neck averaged almost 40 yards per punt and place-kicker Jose Larios successfully converted 12 of 18 field goal attempts as a freshman

NORTHEAST LOUISIANA

Heavy losses on offense might jeopardize the Indians' chances of winning their third conference championship in four years, but head coach Dave Roberts could have enough talent on hand to guide his team into the Division I-AA national rankings for the fourth consecutive year. Whether the Indians can build on last season's 10-3 record will depend on how quickly they can find quality replacements for a school-record nine All-Americas who were seniors a year ago

Wide receiver Dennis Bamburg is the only starter returning for an offensive unit which will use Robert Cobb and junior college transfers Brent Scott and Rick Sparks for leadership at quarterback. Transfer running backs Kendall Bussey, Irving Spikes, and Tito Wooten also figure prominently in the Indians' plans, as do hefty line transfers Chris Stortz, Herb McMath, Lorenzo Wallace, and Keith Hindsley.

uames Folston has been moved from defensive end to outside linebacker and cornerback Dale Branch is the only regular returning in the secondary. Such stalwarts as linebacker Philip King tackle Lennie Jenkins, and end Tommy Fagan will add stability on defense while the offense tries to gain much needed confidence and experience. Junior college transfers Brian Lambert and Roger Miller are projected to handle the punting and placekicking duties, respectively

PERMIT NAMES OF THE PARTY OF TH

A repeat of last year's 7-4 record might be within reach for the Demons If they can get maximum mileage from a large group of sophomores projected as starters for head coach Sam Goodwin. Six sophomores could start on defense and another two for an offense that once again will utilize a run-onented attack behing an experienced line

Decorated tackle Marcus Spears joins guards Jason Ball and George Paul tackle Curtis Wilkins and center John Dippel as veterans in an offens ve front that should provide ample running room for tailback Deon Ridgell Questions must be answered at receiver, where Steve Brown is the only veteran returning, and at quarterback. Junior college transfer Tony Taylor should contend with Brad Laird for the starting quarterback job this fall

Free safety Fred Thompson will anchor a young secondary, which could start three sophomores, including cornerback Don Butler By comparison, the linebacking corps returns regulars Edward Moses, who could finish as the second-leading tackler in school history, and Jerome Keys. A lack of depth and experience are concerns in the line where sophomore end Loe Cummings will be teamed with nose tackle Rodney King and łackle Nathan Platt

MODELLA ALCOHOLISMS

For the third year in a row, the Eagles opened spring football practice on head coach Dennis Parker's birthday. North Texas might have further reason to celebrate this time, especially if a talented offense that returns nine starters makes significant strides

The Eagles return starters Chris Brown, Brian Gothard, Scott Dukatnik, and Kent Englehardt in an offensive I ne that should provide adequate pass protection for veteran quarterback Mitch Maher who led the SLC in total offense by averaging 205 yards per game during the Eagles' 4-7 season. Wide receiver Clayton George and tight end Luis Si va once again will be two of Maher's primary targets Terrance Brown led the Eagles with 974 yards rushing a year ago and could be joined in the backfield by promising freshmen Cedric Cromer and Kervin Crenshaw

Senior safeties Wayne Walker and Sean Mayes join sophomore cornerback Umo a Gibson in a secondary that is the most improved part of the Eagles' defense. James Rodewell, a 379-pound transfer, will make a big impression in a line that also welcomes junior college transfers Willis Hudson and Stan Thomas to go along with holdovers Clay Jennings and Shane McLaughlin. The fact that the Eagles switched to a 4-3 defense late last season alleviates a rack of depth at linebacker, where converted fullback Shawn Hicks returns after leading the team in tackles

STEPHEN F. AUSTIN

Slow but steady progress has been charted by the Lumber, acks, who have increased their number of victories in each of the last two seasons. But there's still plenty of room for improvement over the 3-8 record under head coach John Pearce in 1992, a goal that could become a reality since nine starters return to what was one of the SLC's best defensive units. Senior defensive back Cedric Walker will try to add to his all-time conference record of 19 interceptions while teamed with Ryan. Thomas and two-year starters Cally Betcher and Terrance Snaw in a first-rate secondary Willie Mitchell and Michael Everhart add stability at Inebacker, while Johnny Jernigan, Chris Roberson, Kelly Lokey and transfer Lowell Hutchens anchor the front

Finding a capable quarterback remains a concern for a team which completed only 46 percent of its pass attempts and threw 22 interceptions last fall. Mike Goddard will be challenged for the starting role by sophomores James Ritchey and Blake Armstrong More product on will be needed from Leonard Harris, who led the Lumberiacks with 699 yards rushing. Michael Pearce led the team as a freshman with 426 yards in receptions The line returns starters Scott Griggs, Bill Campbell, Lee Kirk, and Edd'e Langford

STATE WOTHINGS STATE

A rebuilding year awaits the Bearkats after last year's 6-3-2 finish under head coach Ron. Randleman Inexperience is a concern at almost every position, underscoring the need for nine junior college transfers to establish themselves early on both sides of the ball

Team rushing leader Charles Harris returns at tailback and Dana Sherman adds experience at fullback for an offensive unit that might have trouble generating a consistent passing game Redshirt freshmen Stacey Arrambide and Brandon Bennett will contend with Dwight Gross for the No. 1 quarterback role, while Blake Vincent tops a long list of candidates at receiver Donald Henson and Kevin Johnson are the only holdovers in the line

Strong safety Mitcheil Moore, end Zenon Fores and tackle Ray Malone form the nucleus of a defense which caused 31 turnovers and set a school record with 47 sacks a year ago. Matching those numbers will be difficult. unless newcomers Jeff Jordy, Sherman Patrick, and Billy Holmes quickly solidify the Bearkats' unproven situation at linebacker.

ROUTHWEST YERAB DYNYE

The ability to rebound from losses sustained in the closing minutes of several games is paramount for the Bobcats, whose depth and experience on offense provide hope that the team can improve on last year's 5-5-1 record A quality offensive line led by center Spicer

Sigman quard Charlie Nelson, and tackles Derek Bailey and Wes Campbell should open holes for fullbacks Scott Smith and Donald Miller and quarterback John Hygh and help the Bobcats lead the SLC in rushing for the second consecutive year. Hygh, who led the team in rushing in 92 will throw to veteran receivers Scott Moore and Anthony Wood

Revamping a defense which had three linebackers dismissed for a violation of team rules last season is of vital importance. Sen or tackle Victor Carr and safety Nelson Robinson are the leading returning tacklers. Sack specialist Monte Lewis and cornerback Brian McCray provide the Bobcats with a foundation on which to build under head coach Jim Bob Helduser. Ray Whitehead has been a paragon of consistency in the last two seasons, convertino all of his extra-point attempts and 17 of 19 field goars

HOMOLAU STREET

An ineffective passing attack was an overriding factor which dropped the Colonels into the conference cellar in their second season in the Southland Conference Quarterbacks completed less than 33 percent of their pass attempts during a 1-9-1 season that prompted the hiring of Rick Rhoades, who plans to run a multiple offense in his first season as head coach Henr Ransefore, Sharoye Taylor and converted running back Jared Allemand are the main contenders at quarterback. Finding more capable players at the skill positions to go with running back Clyde Washington and receivers David Johnson and David Baker is a high priority, as is avoiding a series of injuries which plaqued the Colonels' line last season.

The situation is a bit brighter on defense, where sophomore Darryl Pounds, Kendail Smith and Michael Wills are mainstays in the secondary Demetrius Crawford, who led the Colonels with 87 tackies, will be joined at linebacker by Brett Adams and Michael Morris A lack of depth and experience in the line doms as the biggest concern for a unit which yielded an average of 31 points per game

Southern University is expecting big things from all-SWAC cornerback Sean Waltace. Defensive back LeCorvey Harvest of Alabama State and defensive lineman Eric Alexander of Mississ pp' Valley are honors candidates, but Prairie V'ew's all-star cupboard is bare as the Panthers try to regroup after going winless

ALCOHO DYNYE

(7-4, 7-0) With Steve "Air II" McNair lighting up the scoreboard with his passing and John Thierry providing 'lights out" play on defense, the Braves hope to repeat last year's 7-0 SWAC title run. McNair (8-2, 215), whose brother Fred plays in the Canadian Football League, threw for 3 541 yards and 29 touchdowns and ran for a team-high 633 yards. Thierry, a linebacker/end who has the NFL scouts excited, was credited with 56 tackles, including 39 soio stops and four sacks.

An injury to tailback Harry Brown Jr., who still managed to score 11 TDs, curtained the Braves' running game. Brown returns with Cherone Harness, Demechie Hulbert, and redshirt freshman Alfred Daniel. The receiving corps will miss all-SWAC first-teamers Tony Price and Fernando Evans, but coach Cardell Jones is hoping Marcus Hinton (6-6, 230), Tracy Cook, and Donald Ray Ross can pick up the slack. Hinton had 11 TD grabs as a redshirt freshman

Thierry is one of five defensive starters returning. The others are linebackers Patrick Varnado and Al Childress and backs Eric Ward and Malco m Jones

SMIJEMARE

(10-2, 6-1) Calling the shots in his 53rd season as the Tigers head coach is Eddie Robinson, who must find replacements for 14 starters from yet another Black College national championship team (his ninth) including seven all-SWAC performers

Senior fullback Eric Gant, whose brother Kenneth plays for the Dalias Cowboys, gained over 1 000 yards in each of the past two seasons while reaping All-America honors. Sophomore Kendrick Nord, Tommy Dyer, and Ron Bias will battle for the quarterback job held a year ago by Alex Perkins, who threw 27 touchdown passes. Ron Dyson (24 catches for 557 yards and 10 TDs) is the top returning receiver. Senior tackle Roderick Henderson (6-5, 295) is the lone returning regular up front. All-America. Gilad. Landau assures the Tigers a strong kicking game.

Veteran Eric Fontenot, Kai Burrell and Keith Marks are entrenched on the defensive line Rodney Ladd, Corder Ward and Claude Wilson lend experience. Kerry Brown returns at Imebacker and Jeffrey Celestand, Eudean Toney, and Kelvin Reddix in the secondary.

JACKSON STATE

(7-4, 4-3) James Carson got out of the starting blocks quickly as a head coach on the collegiate level last season, but the Tigers have a big hurdle to clear if they hope to make a serious run at the SWAC title in 1993. Five offensive starters are missing off the unit that averaged 420.7 yards per game. The biggest loss is James Johnson, who rushed for a league-leading 1,327 yards and scored 15 touchdowns.

The Tigers will reload with 16 returning regulars, including six first-team all-conference honorees. Senior quarterback Ricky Jordan threw for 2,124 yards. Juniors William Arnold and Alfred Wilson join him in the backfield. All-SWAC wide receiver Isiah Bliss had 38 catches and seven touchdowns and Ernest Pate had 27 grabs. Donald Burrell and Terry Ross are steady up front.

Five mainstays return to the defensive unit, which was the stinglest in the league (19.0 points per game). All-SWAC tack es D.J. Hollie and Pheathur Edwards lead the charge with Lee Moten. Seniors Marlo Perry. Who topped the league in tackies, and Fernando Smith, first-team all-conference picks, form a solid 1-2 tinebacking punch.

TEXAL COUTHERN

(5-6, 3-4) Graduation stripped the Tigers of 17 players, the biggest loss being All-America defensive end Michael Strahan, who was the first draft choice of the New York Grants. But at least the numbers favor coach Walter Highsmith. More than 60 players return from the team that filted with a winning season before losing four of its final five games.

Senior Schaminsky Payton has the nod over soph Mark Sasser in the battle to replace quarterback Stacey Moore Sophomore Jason Hampton averaged 7.5 yards per carry and senior Joe Rogers caught a league-leading 11 TD passes Center Joe Burch ments top billing on the offensive line after earning second-team all-SWAC recognition as a punior. Darius Alexander and Greg Parks join tomus frost.

Across the line eight slarters are gone from the defense. Prominent in the new cast are Eric Johnson, James Jones, Aifred Bryant, and Alex O'Snaw up front. Enc Elison, Horace Williams, and Undrae Martin are experienced linebackers and Leroy Malboro returns in the secondary.

SOUTHERN

(5-6 3-4) Head coach Marino Casem closed the books on his 22-year career on a disappointing note as the Jaguars came within 10 points of posting an 8-3 record in his final season. The six setbacks included a one-point loss to Jackson State and three-point defeats to Nicholls State and Grambling

New coach Pete Richardson inherits 18 returning starters. Topping the list is quarterback Enc Randal, the SWAC Freshman of the Year, who threw for 15 touchdowns in nine games. He is joined in the backfield by Paul Nixon and Lindsey Scott who combined for 925 rushing yards. Michael Green was the Jaguars' second-leading receiver. Senior Anthony Harris is the lone returning line starter.

All-SWAC first-teamer Sean Wallace returns to the unit that led the conference in pass defense and ranked second in total defense. He was the No. 2 tackler in the league. Rejoining Wallace in the secondary are Chauncey Hogan, Jabbar Juluke. Matthew Dorsett Malik Boyd, and Jerry Wilson Jr. Donald Broussard and Kenya Rounds are experienced linebackers and Calvin Griffin, Charles Johnson, Ear Mackey Jr., Richard Montgomery, and Kevin

Wilson are on the line. Corne LJohnson, the SWAC's No. 1 punt returner, will be missed

ALABAMA STATE

(5-6. 3-4) The Hornets showed some sting in the stretch last season, winning four of their final five games, and coach Houston Markham is hoping that momentum will carry over into this fall All-SWAC senior comerback Le-Corvey Harvest, who had a league-high seven interceptions, and sen or halfback Rico White, with a team-best 628 yards, head the list of returning starters.

Quarterback John Feagin (628 yards, 5 TDs, and 6 interceptions) and wide receiver Reggle Barlow (16 catches for 288 yards) have to improve on their frosh numbers. The offensive line features guards Kurt Lavender and Emille Stallworth, center Leon Bell, and giant tackle Paul Etheridge (329).

Latrod Garner plays opposite Harvest in the secondary. Joe Dean is the lone returning regular among the linebackers. Darnell Palmore, freshman Gerald He delburg and Ervin Garner also figure prominently in the defensive scheme Punter Erik Mothershed, who ed the conference with a 39 5-yard average, tends an added dimension to the unit Jacques Cothren is a dependable place-xicker.

MESSISSIES VALLEY

(4-5, 2-5) Larry Dorsey enters his fourth season as the Delta Devils' head coach hoping added depth and experience will help his team regain its winning touch. Sophomore quarterback Cliff Robinson threw for 527 yards in his injury-shortened season Victor Cullen and Steve Booze head the receiving corps. Senior James Butler is the leader on the offensive front, which shapes up as the most improved area on the team. His line mates are issae Green, Darien Anderson, John Collins, and Keith Ward

Jamarh Nevitt joins Alexander on the defensive line. Brandon Dominick also bears watching. Alonzo Brown and Felix Wicks are experienced linebackers. Defensive back Burnel-Dedeaux picked off a team-leading five passes in his rookie season.

Some things are sure-fire. Massachusetts voting Democrati Princess Diana being on a People magazine cover sometime this month Taxes rising Long lines at customs And Brigham Young winning the WAC

The Cougars won 10 WAC titles from 1976 through 1985. They've won or tied for the last four. The non-title drought seems to have been the exception and not the rule. Somehow, someway BYU will win the eague. Last year provided the most vivid evidence yet Seemingly buried after September setbacks to San Diego State and Hawai, the Cougars didn't lose again in the WAC. They got road victories at the notonously unfriendly outposts at Wyoming Air Force, and Utah and wound up tying for the WAC title with Fresho State and Hawaii Their trip to Hawaii for the Alona Bowl was their 15th consecutive bowl game

John Waish, who opened 1992 as the starter before exiting with shoulder problems, is again projected to be No. 1 when the 1993 season begins Behind him, in no particular order will be Tom Young, 49er quarterback Steve Young's brother, who made his major-college debut in the Alona Bowl (a 23-20 oss to Kansas that was no fault of Young's Steve Clements, last year's second starter who also went down with a bad shoulder, and Ryan Hancock, the third starter a year ago, who succeeded Clements and proceeded to

PERSONAL PROPERTY.

Fresho State's debut season in the WAC in 1992 hardly qualified for the Miss Manners Hail of Fame. The Buildogs did not come in humbly Respect for their elders was not their style. At the final taily, they had won six WAC. games and lost just two, a record that not only qualified them for a co-title along with Hawaii and BYU but also enabled them to bump San Diego State from the bowl scene and land in the Freedom Bowl. Any doubts that Fresho, long the bully of the Big West, could continue its high-fiying ways in the WAC were dashed early its two league losses came on the road. and not by much (36-24 to BYU and 47-45 to Hawaii). Then, in the Freedom Bowi, Fresno did its new conference proud by beating highly favored Southern Car 24-7. For its second WAC go-round Fresno could be even better

Offensively, the Bulldogs are as loaded as they were in 92. Fullback Lorenzo Neal is the only sign ficant loss from an offense that led the nation in scoring (40.5 points per game) and was No 2 in total offense. A I-WAC quarterback Trent Differ 's back, as is the tallback tandem of Ron Rivers (1,007 rushing yardscounting the Holiday Bowl) and Anthony Daigle (734 yards) three-fourths of the line, and the top five receivers (Malcolm Seabron, Tydus Winans Michael Ross Lee Harris, and Charlie Jones), who combined for 134 catches for 2,553 yards and 20 touchdowns. If that's not enough consider that a late April signee, wide receiver David Dunn from Bakersfield Junior College, was wrestled away from Miam, and San Diego State and could be inserted into the lineup as a second slotback, el minating the Light end and turning Fresno into the Lamborghini of footbail

But if scoring points should be no problem—particularly with the return of Derek Mahoney, a punter/place-kicker who is on target to shatter all of the school kick-scoring records—preventing them could be it ast year, the Bulldogs were ninth in the WAC in total defense, and they lost two of their best defenders in Zack Rix and Eari Oliver Backs Sam Watson and James Burton look solid, but overall the unit needs help A quick fix could emerge in the form of inside inebacker Ron Papazian, a redshift transfer who led the University of Pacific in tackles in 191

BOS DILGO SYREE

The Marshail Faulk Heisman campaign won t be able to sneak up on anybody this fall particularly in the WAC. The oring took its toll in 92 Numerous incidents on and off the field indicated just how much of a toll. Head coach Al Luginbi I spent much of the offseason working at repairing his team's tarnished image. The Aztecs opened against Southern Cal, Brigham Young and UC. A in 1992 but this year's early schedule calls for games against Cal State-Northridge, California, Air Force, and Minnesota The opposition is strong enough for Heisman votes, but not so imposing that the Aztecs will be out of gas by the toughest part of the conference schedule Also in SDSUs favor is a year's layoff from its series with Miam, and a home game against BYL late in the season

Faulk wont have to introduce himself to many new teammates. Nine offensive and seven defens ve starters return. Wide receiver Darnay Scott is the perfect complement for Faulk He caught 68 passes for 1,150 yards and nine touchdowns last season, going well beyond decay status for college footbal s most prolific back Quarterback David Lowery, who lacks consistency is back for his senior season, fronted by a well-stocked offensive line led by 340-pound strong guard Carlson Leomit Chris Finch, and Mike Alexander Faulk reportedly "didn't come close to leaving' after his sophomore season despite an obvious eagerness displayed by the NFL "He insisted he was going to stay no malter what happened," said sports information director John Rosentha

The Aztecs got a new defensive coordinator-from Fresno State, of all places. Del Wight was the delens ve line coach for the Bulldogs before accepting the promotion with the Aztecs. He inherits an experienced unit but one that nonetheless could stand some improvement. The Aztecs gave up 421 1 yards per game in 1992, ninth in the WAC and 97th in the nation. A handful of jun or college transfers showed promise in spring practice including Scott Blade and Aaron Pruitt, one of whom should start at middle linebacker between Mark Roberts and Shawn Smith, and cornerback Craig Weems, who emerged as a starter after a good spring and will join all-WAC second-team selection Darrell Lewis and Chris Johnson in the backfield

DIVIDA

You'll forgive the University of Utah If it's not sure just where its footbal stock ranks these days. The Utes are walking that fine line, deciding whether they re on the way up or on the way down. Last falt's 6-6 record (4-4 in the WAC) did include the school's first bowl game in 29 years (a 31-28 loss to Washington State in the Copper Bowl).

Thirteen starters return headed by All-America wide receiver Bryan Rowley, a hard-ship senior Skill-position experience is everywhere, except at quarterback, where Mike McCoy has emerged as the starter after backing up Frank Doice last year. The Utes are most baded at running back, where Keith Williams, Pierre Jones, Jamai Anderson, Charlie Brown, and Henry Lusk can all be regarded as starters. Add to them Robert Hamilton, a 6-2 220-pound transfer who joined the Utes after an injury-plagued season at Grossmont.

Junior College caused the Lin versity of Georgia to abandon the chase. Ham Iton ran well in Utah's spring game. The Utes would be in even better shape offensively if they didn't have to rebuild their line, which returns just Lance Scott and Roy Ma'afala.

Of even greater concern is the linebacking corps. Not a single starter returns. Anthony Hall, a converted lineman, and Derrick Stapley seemed to fill in well at the inside positions in the spring, lessening the load a bit End Luther Eilis was all-eague first team ast season while just a sophomore and senior tackle Blaine Berger was honorable mention all-WAC. In the defensive backfield the Utes are well-covered, with Kareem Leary, Ed Miller Sharieff Shah, and Mark Swanson all returning starters.

The schedule doesn't figure to be kind to the Utes, at least not at first. They must traveto Arizona State and Kansas for two of the r first three games in the fourth game, they open WAC p ay at Wyoming Absent from the slate is a game against expected league contender Fresno State, and San Diego State must visit the Utes in Sait Lake City. The Inal game of the regular season against traditiona fival BYU, however, is in Provo

BARRICOTORS.

The traditional, ground-hugging Air Force option program spent the spring passing the football. In three scrimmages, the Falcons behind senior quarterback Scott Teigen, threw for 1,056 yards. If that doesn't seem like a lot to Fresno State, BYU, or San Diego State, it seemed like all the yardage in the world to the Academy, which passed for all of 747 yards during the entire 1992 season. Of course, wishbone offenses usually don't throw for many yards, which raises the questions. Are the Falcons gearing up for a change? Or are they merely taking advantage of the throwing talents of Teigen, a first-year starter as a senior? After a 1992 season that was uncharacteristically lacking in offense (Air Force ranked last in the league in both total offense and scoring offense), a change would seem to be in order. Certainly the Falcons have plenty of weapons to get a fresh offense on the move Running backs Obasi Orugha Wayne Young, and Joe Pastorello all return, as does alternate fullback Joe Paris. a virtual starter himself The offensive I'ne (Chad Mathis, Enk Mitchell, Rob Peragine, and Jim Remsey) is mostly exper enced as well

Defensively, the Academy has seen better transition years. Just one starter, right tackle Curtis Sutton, returns. He'll be joined by 10 new companions although for the most part coach Fisher DeBerry has veteran players to choose from in finding replacements. It was on defense where the Falcons shone a year ago, ranking second in total defense in the WAC and first in scoring defense. That was enough to get them to a 7-4 record and an appearance in the Liberty Bowl, where they held Miss ssippilito just 13 points. Alas, the Faicons didn't score at all

This season should be a flip-flop. There is plenty of offense but not enough defense, which should keep the Falcons in about the same position as they finished a year ago.

WYOMING

Fourteen starters return for coach Loe Tiller, seven on each side of the ball. That experience, blended with the optimism behind senior quarterback Jos Hughes and wide receiver Ryan Yarborough and a favorable schedule, suggests that the Cowboys can get back above 500 A year ago they were 3-5 in the WAC and 5-7 overall. At that, Hughes was named honorable mention all-WAC and Yarborough, who caught 86 passes for 1 351 yards and 12 touchdowns, was named firstteam all-WAC. The Football Writers Association was impressed enough to name Yarborough as its first-team All-America wide receiver Hughes-to-Yarborough should provide quite a show in Laramia, as should Prentice Rhone's returning talents. Rhone, who also starts at cornerback was the WAC's first-team return specialist in 1992. Tight end Mike Jones, a second-team al-WAC selection last year is another offensive threat along with wide receiver Curtis Dewberry and running back Terry Hendricks, an 800-yard rusher as a freshman two years ago before injuries slowed him almost to a stop in 1992. Guards Cody Kelly and Greg Scanlon and center Isaac Hawkins are the returnees on the line

Ends Kurt Whitehead and Tyrone Williams anchor the defense with linebackers Corey Talich and Ryan Folsom. The secondary needs to be shored up and could be aided by newcomer. Vince Colbert, a junior college transfer who enjoyed a particularly good spring. The Cowboys could use some luck. Two years ago, they could have staked a craim to leading the nation in significant injuries. Last year they specialized in shooting themselves in the foot. They lost to San Lose State on a 60-yard field goal on the last play of the game. They also lost games to Ulain BYU, and Texas Tech after leading in each

The schedule isn't too formidable. A rebuilding Oregon State team visits Laramie for the opener on September 4, followed by a visit by Northern Iowa the next weekend. Then comes a game at San Jose State before another game in Laramie, this one against a Utah program that traditionally has a tought me winning on the High Plains. In addition, Hawai and Fresno State both must travel to Laramie and Brigham Young is not on the Cowboys schedule this season.

HAWAII

As is usually the case, a price must be paid after a school has had its most successfuseason in history in the wake of Hawa, 's 11-2 record in 1992 and the school's first major bowl victory (27-17 over Illino's in the Holiday Bowl) the price was the loss of key personnel It's true that 13 starters return It's also true that the nine who don't return provided significant roles All-America place-kicker Jason Elam will be sorely missed, as will running back Travis Sims, who averaged seven yards per carry, wide receiver Darrick Branch defensive tackle Maa Tanuvasa, and others

The offensive line does return four starters (center Lene Amosa, tackles Travis Fonseca and Kelly McGill and guard Peter Pale), and this is the unit that led the way for the nation s No 2 rushing game in 1992. The familiar voice of two-year regular quarterback Michael Carter will be behind them. Carter brings expenence to the backfield that is the heart of Hawair's spread offense Slotback Brian Gordon and wide receiver Johann Boult are other returnees. At running back, where Sims rushed for 1,498 yards a year ago, Calvin Melvin should be the replacement. When Meyn scored two touchdowns in the spring game in Kauai there was some relief that Sims might not be mourned too heavily Replacing Tanuvasa and Junior Tagoai, the defensive MVP in the Holiday Bow, will be difficult, but 270-pound tackle Taase Faumu returns. David Turfua, a transfer from Ricks Junior Coilege, should add immediate help on the line. Senior inebackers Al Alipule and Stewart Williams are back, as are Demitreus.

Henderson, Zac Odom, and Darryl Green in the secondary

The Rainbow Warners, whose co-title fast season was the first in their 14-year WAC history, won't be able to ease into the conference race. They play at Brigham Young in the second game of the season They also must travel to the mainland to play Fresno State.

COLORADO STATE

The Rams come into the season with the currous biend of a mostly new coaching staff and returning starters at 16 positions. Head coach Earle Bruce was released from his contract last season after four years at the helm a victim of player and administrative unrest. Replacing him is 55-year-old Sonny Lubick, once the head coach at Montana State and a member of coach Leon Fuller's staff at Colorado State before Bruce replaced Fuller Lubick spent the past four years working on the staffs at Stanford and Miam. To maintain coaching continuity in the program, as well as a CSU flavor, he has retained three of Bruce's coaches (Tom Ehlers, Dave Magazu, and Urban Meyer), added a former Ram quarterback great as the quarterback coach (Steve Farchild), and prought back a former CSU offensive coordinator (Dave Lay)

Spring ball was practically business as usual, despite the new coach. There were few personnel shakeups. Anthoney Hill a 5-11, 186-pound junior remains the starter at quarterback, flanked by tailback Leonice Brown, a 1,000-yard rusher last season, and wide receiver Matt Phillips. On the line, left guard Pat Meyer and center Bob Cox are both returning second-team ail- eague performers.

Among the nine defensive starters back are two standouts. Junior outside linebacker Brian Schneider had a team-leading 136 tackles and a WAC-high 12 tackles for loss a year ago Sophomore free safety Greg Myers was first-team all-WAC and second in the conference with six interceptions. Tackles Steve Norton and Lewis Capes and end Matt Rood return. Ray Jackson. Andre Strode, and Roy Williams rejoin Myers in the secondary

The Rams aren't giving Lubick the easiest schedule with which to debut. Colorado State has the distinction of being one of just six teams in the nation that will play seven teams that went to bowls last year—Oregon Air Force Brigham Young, Nebraska, Kansas, Fresno State, and Utah—all in its first eight games. The other game in that stretch is against Marshall Faulk and San Diego State

HER PURCO

For the first time in 17 seasons, New Mexico football returns with its coaching staff intact Head coach Dennis Franchione, embarking on his second year as a Lobo after debuting with a 3-B record (2-6 in the WAC), also has a relatively experienced learn returning. Eight offensive starters plus place-xicker Mike Nesbitt and seven defensive starters are back. That doesn't mean that depth sn't the perenmal problem it's always been in Albuquerque The Lobos still should be the WAC's thinnest team. They were soundly beaten by Brigham Young (35-0) and San Dego State (49-21) during a season that saw them lose to cochamp Fresno State by just three points and to bow-bound Air Force by one The Lobos open the season in Albuquerque against BYU and entertain Fresno State at home after a nonconference game against TCU It isn't the easiest way for a rebuilding program to launch into the year

Quarterback Stoney Case and 1,000-yard rusher Winslow Of ver, the WAC's 1992 Freshman of the Year, are back on offense, along with four regulars on the line (Klint Hail, Justin Hall Corby Hankins, and Kenrity Thomas) and a small army of experienced receivers, including three-year letterman Carl Winston, senior Manley Woods, Turhon O'Bannon, Joey Kowaiczyk and tight end Jerone Williams

A defense that led the WAC with 40 sacks a year ago must replace the bulk of the interior line. Junior college transfer Kenny Duillo should provide immediate help inside All-WAC candidate Tuli Materialia, the team's second-leading tackler with 95 last year, anchors the linebacking corps along with sophomore Roston Thomas. Three starters return in the secondary corners Herb McKin ey and Eric Jack and free safety Ray Wilson.

OTTES:

If nothing else during ast year's 1-10 campaign UTEP he ped prove that crime does pay The Miners got whistled for a league-low 49 penalties and averaged only 37 yards in penalties per game. They still finished last The Miners managed a 20-13 victory at Utah in the seventh game of the season. Other than that, they were wintess, although four of their 10 defeats were by nine points or less

Head coach David Lee, about to enter his fifth year at UTEP, has juggled his coaching staff He brought Charlie Bailey back as the defensive coordinator. Bailey had held the same position for the Miners-and Lee-durng the 1990-91 seasons before spending 1992 as the defensive line coach of the Orlando Thunder of the World League of American Footbail Bailey brought two coaches from the WLAF with him to give UTEP, which ranked last in the WAC and 106th in the country a year ago, a new look on defense. The team's top defender is 'nside linebacker Barron Wortham, a 6-0, 230-pound senior who has been the Freshman of the Year and a two-time all-WAC selection in his three seasons to date With 403 career tackies, Wortham is on pace. to challenge the school record of 524 tack es held by former I nebacker Doug Morgan, Just two other defensive starters are back, nose tack e Larry Davis and end Joei Barczak, The most pleasant defensive surprise of the spring was veteran Steve Thompson, who came on strong to win a starting linebacker slot

Shawn Gray the leading rusher with just over 400 yards and a 51 percent passer, is back at quarterback Senior wide receiver Derrick Brown and junior flanker J.J. Rowiett are other returning starters. The Miners need help at running back after a 1992 season that saw offens ve guard Jesse Villareal record the longest run from scrimmage, 55 yards against Utah that paved the way for the season's lone victory. Vidareal is back this year, but the play that got him his fame—the fumblerooski—has been out awed by the NCAA

HOVEHO

Idaho head coach John L. Smith has a Walter Payton Award candidate in senior quarterback Doug Nussmeier, a 62 percent passer who threw for 3 028 yards and 22 touchdowns with just nine interceptions a year ago. He has a first-team all-Big Sky running back in Sherriden May, who gained 1,111 yards while scoring 25 touchdowns. He has a first-team all-Big. Sky tackle in Jody Schnug, who anchors an experienced offensive line. And overail, he has six starters returning from an offense that ranked third in Division I-AA, averaging 490 yards per game

So what does Smith think about? He thinks about a defense that lost seven starters, not the least of which was first-team Al-America. end Jeff Robinson. And he thinks about two years ago, "I see ourselves in a similar situation to the 1991 team," said Smith, "We had some big-name players returning on offense but we were 6-5

Still you won't find any tears being shed in the Big Sky for the Vandals. This is the program that has become the Big Sky's model of consistency. Besides winning four of the last six conference titles, Idaho has gone to the -AA playoffs seven of the last eight seasons No one will be surprised to see the Vandals make it eight of nine. The 6-4, 210-cound Nussme er is on virtually all of the NFL scouts preseason draft lists, often as high as No. 2 or No. 3 And that includes quarterbacks at all collegiate levels. In 28 starts in his three seasons, Nussmeier has completed 561 of 921 attempts for 7,864 yards and 58 touchdowns

This year he should slide past John Friesz, now with the San Diego Chargers, and wind up on top of most of daho's career passing and total offense lists. Friesz finished with 801 completions in 1 350 attempts for 10,697 yards and 77 touchdowns

The Vandals' defense got a boost when reserve running back Wind Henderson was moved to safety in the spring, Linebackers Duke Garrett and Jason Shelt will be the veterans of the unit along with tackle Brian Strandley and back Miregi Huma

MONTABLE

The Grizzies continue to play respectable, if not spectacular football and always give the impression that they're about to turn the same corner they turned in 1989, when Don Read s team had a school-record 11 victories and advanced to the Division I-AA national championship semilinal game

This year suggests more of the same. Thirteen starters are back from 1992's 6-5 team, along with a number of promising recruits, included are a pair of transfer running backs. Chris Morton from Oregon State and Damon Boddle from American River Community College, either of whom could emerge as a Big Sky star Bill Cockhill, Shalon Baker, and Scott Gurnsey are returning wide receivers and four line starters-Frank Garrett, Eric Simonson, Scott Gragg, and Joe Martin-also are back Gragg, at 6-9 and 305 pounds is the biggest of the group, but he doesn't exactly dwarf any of his teammates. The smallest of whom is Garrett at 274 pounds. The question mark is at quarterback where two-year etterman Bert Wilberger and sophomore Dave Dickenson battled neck-and-neck through the spring. A starter may not emerge until the season opener against South Dakota State, a game that could give Read his 52nd victory with the Grizzlies (alongs de 29 losses). When he gets that victory, Read will become the winningest coach in 100 years of Montana football

Pass rushing, or the lack thereof, will be the key to Montana's defense. Lance Allen Shawn Merz, and Chuck Mason are the team's interior linemen, while the top linebacker is Dan Downs and the secondary is anchored by free safety Todd Ericson, an Al-America candidate whose six interceptions and 97 tackies led the team a year ago. Brothers Mike and Sean Golcoechea, a junior and freshman, respectively, are competing at strong safety. If the defense comes together a November 6 date at Idaho could have a major mpact on the Big Sky race

MULICIPATION AND ADDRESS OF THE PARTY OF THE

At a lot of schools, the 5-6 record the Broncos posted in 1992 would have been if not embraced, at least tolerated. But not at Boise State where t represented only the second sub- 500 mark in the 47 seasons of football The fans and the program had seen enough of head coach Skip Hall, who went the way of the other coach (Lyle Setencich went 5-6 in 1986) who finished below .500. He resigned Replacing Hall on the Bronco Blue Astroturf of Bronco Stadium is Pokey Allen, most recently the coach of Port and State For all intents and purposes. Aften had his employment interview during the 1991 season when he brought his Division II Portland State team to Boise to play Hall's Broncos. Bose State was on a fivegame winning streak at the time. Allen's team successfully converted on 11 of 12 third-down opportunities and never punted in a 51-26 victory, in a place like Boise, good football is appreciated even if it's being pounded down one s throat. Allen has moved his staff intact to Boise, it's basically the same group that went 64-26-2 in seven years at Portland State

During spring ball the transition process seemed to go smoothly enough. Incumbent quarterback Travis Stuart, who threw for more than 2,000 yards ast year, emerged as the starter, although he is expected to be pushed in the fall by junior college transfer. Lee Schrack. Tight end Dave Deitz also held onto his starting spot, and since quarterback and tight end are the two key positions in Allen and offensive coord nator Alan Borges's 49er type system, these two should be an integra part of the Pokey Era in Boise Ditto for wide receiver and All-America cand date Mike Wilson who caught 76 passes for 913 yards.

Eight defensive starters return, but that's from the unit that ranked last in the Big Sky and statistically was the worst in school history. It's in the secondary that the Broncos need the most help. A chailenge, too, will be on the offensive line, with only two starters returning. Among Alien's recruits, junior college transfer Willie Bowens, a running back could turn the most heads.

PERSONAL PROPERTY.

The biggest challenge facing Weber State and head coach Dave Arsianian is how to replace the most prolific quarterback in Division I-AA Gone is Jamie Martin, a starter for 36 straight games who threw for 12 207 yards and 87 touchdowns in his career, Replacing the 1991 Walter Payton Award winner won't be easy. Weber went through the spring looking at four candidates, with no clear-cut choice emerging. Rob Westervelt a junior who backed up Martin the last two seasons, led the gang of four, followed in no particular order by sophomores Bryan Martin and Tyler DeHart and freshmen Brad Otton. "Opviously, finding a starter to replace Jamie's a high priority, said Arslanian, "But we have four excellent players to choose from. We are not going to rush them, but let them develop and see who emerges." Whoever emerges will have the top eight receivers from last year to throw to That includes starters Nate Burchette, Fred Safford, and Trevor Shaw, the team leader with 50 receptions. Burchette added 47 receptions A.so in the receiving group are Dell Stilson, Joel Pelagio-Williams. Pokey Eckford, Pat McNerney, and Wade Lindley At running back, Von Robinson figures to be the earlyseason starter, pushed by Eric Roof and Eddie Lua, a transfer from Cal State Fullerton

Of the seven defensive starters returning, three-year letterman Jantz Afuva, is the head-liner along with cornerback Mark Hood. Depth should be a strength for the Wildcats with 34 lettermen back, 17 on each side of the line So, too, should the schedule. Early-season nonconference games against Sonoma State and Ca. State-Northridge are both in Ogden as are games against expected Big Sky contenders Idaho and Boise State.

EXELECT MACAMISTON

Forty retter-winners and half of the starters from last season s 7-5 playoff-quality ng team return for coach Dick Zornes, whose biggest worries are finding replacements for his quarterback and defensive line. "If we can get those two things done, we could be as good as we were last year," said Zornes. "Every spring we have to rebuild something. Last year, it was the offensive line."

All four starters from a defensive line that held opponents to just 83 rushing yards per game (second in the nation) are gone. The four earned all-Big Sky mention and Tommy Williams won Al-America accolades if transfers Ron Braxton, an end and Lamont Mason a tackle, come along quickly the Eagles could hold their own along the line. At quarterback, with four-year starter Mark Tenneson gone, the most likely replacement is junior Todd Bernett, although no final decision was made concerning No. 1 in the spring. Also in the competition is junior college transfer and 1992 redshift Torresy Smith.

Still, Eastern has a number of players back who paved the way to a share of the league championship with Idaho. The Eagles finished the regular season ranked 14th in the nation in the I-AA playoffs they traveled to Northern lowa and lost, 17.14. Among the top returnees are four first-team, all-Big Sky selections: cornerback Jackie Keilogg, offensive guard Harold Fox, offensive tackle Trent Pollard, and wide receiver Tony Brooks. Also returning are Inebacker Jason Marsh and running back Harold Wright all-Big Sky second-teamers. Wright heads a strong running attack that includes sophomore David Lewis and Daryl Wright, Harold is brother.

MORTHERM ARIZONA

Coach Steve Axman's Lumberjacks won't have trouble finding motivation this season. Of their seven losses during 1992's 4-7 campaign, five were by a combined 23 points NAU lost by three to Southern Utah, by six to Boise State, by one to Montana, and by six to Eastern Washington and Weber State. They play all five of those foes again this season.

Fourteen starters return in a veteran lineup that includes second-year quarterback Jeff Lewis and eight defenders from the unit that finished tied for first in the Big Sky, Linebacker Beau Smith had 130 tackles and was honorable mention Al-America. Fellow inebacker Scott Strin' had 114 tackles. Chuck Walton Chris West, and Greg Semas are returning starters on a line that had 30 quarterback sacks and 45 tackles for loss a year ago. To assist Lewis on offense Len Raney, a national leader in kickoff returns in 1992, will be the one-back in the backfield Receivers Alex Caiderwood and Kevin Sulfivan combined for 54 catches a year ago. They'll be joined by transfer wide receiver Antonio Morgan and Angel Martinez, two of the Lumberjacks' most anticipated recruits. Another top returnee is punter/ place-kicker Terry Belden

It won't take long for the Lumberjacks to get into the swing of a revenge theme. They open at Southern Utah on September 4.

DODATESTA PERSE

Coach Cliff Hysell launches into his second year with the Bobcats after a 4-7 maiden voyage in 1992. 'We now know what some of the guys can do," said Hysell "Last year, we dign't have any idea. We need to continue to raise the level of talent in this program." One thing the Boocats would like to do is have a winning season. It's been nine years since that happened in the past eight years, the program hasn't won more than four games in any single season. By that standard. Hysell's first effort was the high-water for Montana State. This year there are 15 starters back some promise at quarterback, where Chad Mayer returns with Brock Spencer and Ryan Grovom nipping at his heels, and depth and experience at linebacker and in both lines

"We definitely made some progress last year," said Hyselt "We have a long way to go, but we've improved." The numbers at virtually every position have improved. On the offensive line, for example, 13 players reported in the spring, compared with six the year before. The Bobcats honors candidates include connerback/return specialist Sean Hill and wide receiver. Clint Bryan, who sat out last year Among the recruits expected to make immediate impact are junior college transfer. Raymond Braggs, a wide receiver who had an exceilent spring, and fullback T.T. Ryan, a refugee from Cai State Fullerton.

The schedule isn't easy. Road games at Western Illnois and Washington State start it off. But no schedule is bad that has Montana visiting Bozeman, The Bobcats will host this year's MSU-Montana game in Sales Stadium on November 13.

IDAMO STATE

Numbers and expectations are up in Brian McNeely's second season as head coach of the Benga's A roster of more than 100 players was anticipated for fall drills almost double from a few years ago. "We're definitely better we're improved, but I don't think we're ready to compete for the title." said McNeely, who took over a program that had gone 14-49-2 before he arrived. The three victories in his inaugura, season were a step in the right direction as far as Pocatello was concerned, particularly since they included a triumph over archival Boise State in the annual "Globe of Death" game. Also, three of the year's eight osses were by a touchdown or less.

The Bengals will continue to run the option, making them something of an aberration in the pass-crazy Big Sky. Returning as quarterback is Shawn Behr but he could wind up sharing time with either Afredo Anderson or Virgil Gardner, a freshman and J.C. transfer respectively. Behr is the passer of the group. while Gardner and Anderson more closely resemble option-style quarterbacks, Running back Robert "Turbo" Johnson figured high in last season's freshman-of-the-year balloting after gaining 5.9 yards per carry and ranking second in the nation in kickeff returns (29.7yard average). He's a team strength, as are cornerback Eric Alden free safety Brion Bethel, strong safety Johnny Flowers and nside linebacker Rod Murphy Add to this list offensive tackle Steve Mutsaers, a former J C All America who transferred from Arkansas.

pac-10 conference

SOUTHERN CAL

The Trojans will have a familiar look this season-if you were around in the 1960s, '70s, and early '80s John Robinson will reinstitute the tailback-oriented offense and physically ntim dating defense that served him so well as John McKay's successor "Football," Robnson said, "is a physical game first. That has not changed and it never will change

Robinson has eight offensive and nine defensive starters back from the last Larry Smith team, which went 6-5-1 overal, 5-3 and tied for third in the Pac-10. The best of them are

- 6. Stanford, 7 Washington State.
- 8. Oregon, 9. California, 10 Oregon State

Al-America offensive tackle Tony Boselii, a leading Outland Trophy candidate, defensive end Willie McGrnest, an All-America and Butkus Award contender, and all-Pac-10 secondteam receiver Johnnie Morton, who is tied for third on USC's all-time receiving list

Junior Rob Johnson (2,118 yards passing) is back at quarterback, but leading rusher Estrus Crayton is gone, so Robinson I kely will choose between sophomore Dwight McFadden (465 yards rushing) and sen or Deon

Strother, who was slowed by ankle injuries, as his workhorse, i-formation tailback. Untested Rory Brown, Michael Jones, and Kevin Clark will bid to replace Wes Bender at fullback. The early departure of Curtis Conway to the NFL leaves a major void at wide receiver and in the kick-return spot Junior Ryan Lenderman, redshirt freshman Quincy Harrison, and JC transfer Ken Grace will vie to start opposite Morton The offensive I ne should be very tough with starters Boselli and Len Goreck at tackle, Joel Crisman and Kris Pollack at guard. Craig Gibson at center, and Brad Banta, who will be a key man in Robinson's offense, at tight end

The defense, under new coordinator Don Lindsey, who served both McKay and Robinson in the '70s, will be minus only end David Webb and safety Stephon Pace McGinest, who had 63 tackles, 23 for losses, and 16 sacks, will be at one end in Lindsey's 4-3 augnment, with senior Darren Gallaway opposite him, and hard-nosed seniors Thomas Holland and Mike Hinz at the tackles. Sen or Shannon Jones should be the middle linebacker, with juniors Jeff Kopp and Brian Williams, who played inside last season, at the outs de postions. The secondary will be led by seniors Jason Sehorn (80 tackles in 1992) and Mike Salmon at the safeties and sen or Jason Oliver at one cornerback with junior Jerald Henry at the other

Either McFadden or Morton may try to fill the void left by Conway as a kickoff returner, with Sehorn or Salmon possible as Conway's successor at returning punts, but newcomers could figure too. More consistency is needed from jun or place-kicker Cole Ford, who made just 11 of 20 field goal attempts. But returning punter John Stonehouse set school records in 92 for most punts (80) and punt yardage

(3 099) and had just 31 of his kicks returned

Robinson will get no breaks in his return to the college game after a decade's absence The Trojans' schedule was rated the most difficult in the nation last season, and should be nearly as challenging this fall, with eight '92 bowl teams on tap But Robinson has never racked for confidence. And he seems to have many of the tools to contend for a conference championship. He won three of those the last time he was in charge of the Trojans, not to mention nearly 80 percent of his games durng seven seasons as head coach including a 6-1 record against Notre Dame and 5-2 vs Pac-10 archrival UCLA

NOTONIHEAW

The Huskies not only had their winning streak stopped at 22 games during the 1992 season, they went through almost as many scandals as the British royal family. And the problems aren't over yet. They may enter this season without knowing if they'll be on probation, after an investigation of an interest-free loan to now departed quarterback Billy Joe Hobbert and reports of easy-money summer jobs for other players. That large distraction, plus significant osses in the playing ranks may topple the team from what has become its almost accustomed rung at the top of the Pac-10

Don James must replace not just one quarterback but two Mark Bruneil leaves as well as Hobert. Sophomore Damon Huard and converted flanker Er.c Bjomson are vying to fill the spot. The receivers, except for senior Joe Kralik and junior Damon Barry, will be young, too, although sophomores Jason Shelley and Theron Hill have sprinters' speed. Running back is the best and deepest skill position on the team, with Napoleon Kaufman, one of the nation's top tailbacks (1,045 yards rushing and also an ace kick returner) backed by senior Beno Bryant, whose 1992 season was shortened by a hamstring injury, with solid blocker Matt Jones returning at fullback.

The offensive line, even minus All-America tackle Lincoln Kennedy, should be very Hillary Butler attempting to replace All-America Dave Hoffman and Clifford, who had 173 tackles between them, inside. Pahukoa. Tommie Smith, and Watter Bailey all will be missing in the secondary, but James thinks he'll be able to fill in well there with backups Josh Moore and Reggie Reser at the corners, either Lamar Lyons or redshirt freshman Lawyer Milloy at free safety, and Louis Jones or David Killpatrick at rover

Travis Hanson returns as the Husky placekicker and he's coming off a season in which he was 10 of 13 on field goal attempts and hit alt 36 extra-point tries. The reliable John Werdel is back as the punter.

The Huskies (9-3 overall, 6-2 in the Pac-10) were only eighth in the conference in total defense but James said, "We feel good about what we're doing. We just have to take out the number of big plays that we gave up. The tough, too Senior center Jim Nevelle is the leader, with other returning starters including guards Andrew Peterson and Frank Garcia, tackle Tom Gallagher, and tight ends Mark Bruener (second on the team with 21 receptions) and Ernie Conwell Guard Pete Kaligis, out with a knee injury last season, also has starting experience

The defense is much less sure, with the likes of Dave Hoffman, James Clifford, Jaime Fields, and Shane Pahukoa all gone. The line should be fine with Jamal Fountaine. D'Marco Farr and Steve Hoffman back, but the picture is not so clear at finebacker. The anchor there will be Lombardi Award candidate Andy Mason, who has moved to Fields's vacated spot outside. He had 14½ tackles for loss last season. Donovan Schmidt, Mason's backup in 92, should be at the other outside linebacking position, with seniors Steve Springstead and

Washington State game and the Rose Bowl [a 38-31 loss to Michigan] are examples of times when big plays really hurt us. The defense can also do a lot to protect our quarterbacks, if we can stay away from shootouts.

There's no doubt the Huskies have the ingredients to be near the top of the league again. But they didn't finish well under duress last season (three losses in the last four games), and things may not get any easier.

AMOUNDED

For a six-week stretch in the middle of last season, the Wildcats, thanks to a smothering defense, were as good as any team in the nation. They lost to Miami by only one point during that span and upset Washington But before and after the big six weeks, the 'Cats were only so-so, finishing 6-5-1 (4-3-1 in the Pac-10, good for fifth prace) and losing to Baylor in the John Hancock Bowl. The defense—at least the front seven—should be special again, but Dick Tomey needs to find more offense of the stocontend for a Pac-10 title.

The first task is to find a quarterback to replace the inconsistent George Malabulu Sophomore transfer Dan White and redshirt freshmen Henry Cofer and Ryan Hesson are the main candidates, but freshmen Brady Batten and Sean O'Brien will get a look, too Ontiwaun Carter, the 'Cats leading rusher in 1992 with 739 yards, Chuck Levy (who's recovering from knee surgery), and Billy Johnson form a good running back corps, and seniors Troy Dickey and Terry Vaughn are back as the wide receivers. The offensive line looks like a strength, too, with returnees Paul Stamer at tackle, Eric Johnson and Warner Smith at guard, Rod Lewis at tight end, and Hicham El Mashtoub and Mani Ott at center Junior Mu Tagoai, who has played all the line positions ikely will be the other starter

Towering over the defense, which was the nation's best against scoring in 1992, is consensus All-America nose guard Rob Waldrop, who not only weights 275 pounds but has run a 4 65 40-yard dash. He led the Pac-10 last season with 22 tackies for loss. Waldrop, who bench-pressed 500 pounds and squatted more than 700 in spring testing, will be joined up front by all-out sophomore. Tedy Brusch.

and junior Jim Hoffman, with redshirt junior Akil Jackson and senior Shawn Jarrett at outside linebacker and junior Sean Harris and senior Brant Boyer—a very physical duo—inside Harris, who had 71 tackles, 11 for loss, was a second-team alf-Pac-10 selection Boyer contributed 66 tackles

There is some concern in the secondary where ail-Pac-10 cornerback Keshon Johnson is gone in the spring, Tomey switched junior Mike Scurlock, who had played at middle linebacker and safety to one corner, with senior Jey Phillips, redshirts Claudius Wright and Spencer Wray, and transfers Shawn Parnell and Derrick Stewart competing at the other. The impressive safeties are sophomore Brandon Sanders and junior Tony Boule

All-America punter Josh Miller has depart ed, so junior place-kicker Steve McLaughin (just 11 for 20 on field goal attempts) may do double duty. McLaughlin averaged 42 yards per kick in high school. He II be challenged by redshut freshman Matt Peyton.

Pac-10 Coach of the Year Tomey has been very consistent. In the last 10 years, the Wild cats have been above, 500 in the conterence eight times, a figure that trails only the nine posted by Washington and LSC. And they get a break this fall by not having to play Washington. Tomey has pinpointed what he needs to succeed. "We have to find a quarterback punter, and some cornerbacks, he said "and then everyone else needs to get better." We'll have a lot of numbers on the field in the fall. We can be a good football tearn if we answer some of the questions."

LAMBELMA STATE

Coach Bruce Snyder loves to run the footbal and his Sun Devils will run it as well as anyone in the Pac-10 this season if gifted tailbacks. Mano Bales and George Montgomery are recovered from season-ending knee injuries. Sophomore Bates ran for 441 yards in just three games before being hurt. As it was, the Sun Devils, who opened the season 1-3 won tive of their last seven games to finish 6-5 overall and 4-4 in the Pac-10.

Seven starters return on offense Sophomore Grady Benton, who passed for 1,707 yards and broke the NCAA freshman record for highest completion percentage (66.2), will direct the attack with JC transfers John Livngston and Johnny Thomas joining Civde McCov at wide receiver, where Eric Guliford is a major loss Brian Ryder, who subbed for Bob Brasher in '92 or sophomore Steve Bush will be at tight end, and four of the five starters return in the interior line, senior Toby Mills, an all-Pac-10 second-teamer at center, senior Farrington Taco" Togiai a 329-pounder at guard and senior Greg Thurston and talented junior Jeff Kysar at tackle. The other quard may be three-year veteran Chuck Underwood. Also returning up front is junior tackle. DeMario Vaughn, who missed most of last season with a heart virus. So Snyder thinks he I have more depth in that unit

The Sun Devils will be hard pressed to duplicate their defensive production of last season They finished No 2 in the Pac-10 and seventh in the nation allowing only 268.8 yards per game, and just 16 points in the fourth quarter. But the heart of that defenseplayers such as Brett Wailerstedt, Keyin Minief eld and Adam Brass-has departed, and Shvder is concerned about a depleted line and depth at inside I nebacker and in the secondary But he has Al-America end Shante Carver, an Outland Trophy and Lombard Award candidate, back as an anchor at one end spot Carver had 10 quarterback sacks for a three-season total of 31 Senior Larry Boyd, redshirt freshman Brent Burnstein, or transfer Ken Talanoa will be at the opposite end with Bryan Proby Talanca Mike Ballan. and redshirt freshman Shawn Swayda vying at tackle Transfer Darren Venu whois from New Zealand could be a factor in the fa

Returning starter Justin Dragoo, who's coming off knee surgery, and either sophomore Sam Santana or junior Dan Lucas, should be at inside linebacker, with Jean Boyd, an all-Pac-10-caliber player who was plagued by injuries last season, at rover Junior Kendal Rhyne and either sophomore Marcus Soward or transfer Craig Newsome should work in the secondary with big senior cornerback Lenny McG II. Some think Newsome, a multitalented athlete with great speed was the nation's best JC cornerback.

Four-year starter Mike Richey, one of the eague's most accurate place-kickers and two-year punter Steve Rausch are gone, but two highly regarded athletes will take over Cal State Fullerton transfer Noel Prefontaine as the punter and freshman Marcus Williams as the place-kicker Prefontaine was third in the Big West last season (41.7.)

DELA

Injuries ed to inconsistency for a Bruin team that won three in a row to open the season, then lost five straight before rebounding with three consecutive victories for a 6-5 overall record, but just a 3-5 mark, good for eighth place, in the Pac-10 Coach Terry Donahue is in position for a considerably better finish this fall if he can keep his squad healthy

Three quarterbacks, junior Wayne Cook and sophomores Rob Walker and Ryan Fien, all showed ability in 1992 before going down and out with injuries They'll battle for the starting spot There's a contest at running back, too, where junior Daron Washington (No. 2 rusher with 415 yards) is competing with James Milliner and T Ford for one spot and Rickey Davis is vying with Sharmon Shah and Derek Ayers at the other Wide receiver is more settled, even with the departure of alltime leading receiver Sean LaChapelle Juniors J J Stokes and Mike Nguyen had 41 and 25 receptions respectively Senior Brian Allen, who split time as a starter a year ago moves in at tight end

The interior line should be excellent, although Donahue is concerned about depth. Tackle Vaughn Parker is a candidate for the Lombard Award and the Outland Trophy and tackle Jonathan Ogden was a first-team Freshman All-America. The guards are returning starters Craig Novitsky, an honors candidate, and Derek Stevens. The likely center is union James Christensen.

There was a cloud over the defense in the spring, when two starters, big-play junior outside linebacker Jamir Miller and senior lineman Bruce Walker, were suspended indefinitely from the team after being arrested for investigation of possessing stolen property. The Bruins appear to have enough depth to replace them if necessary, though Senior Matt Werner and junior Sale Isaia have starting experience in the line where Kim Lawhorn, London Woodfin, Gary Walton, George Kase, and Grady Stretz will push for playing time. Junior Rod Smalley could step in for Miller at outside backer opposite Donnie Edwards who was tied for second on the team with 61 tackles, Or senior Bradley Craig could switch back from inside linebacker.

Seniors Nkosi Littleton and Carrick O Quinn are the likely starters inside pushed by junior Shane dasper. The secondary returns two quality regulars in junior strong safety Marvin Goodwin and junior cornerback Carl Greenwood. But All-America corner Carlton Gray and Othe lo Henderson will have to be replaced. Senior Robert Gamble and sophomore Teddy Lawrence should vie for Gray's position, with senior Travis Collier, sophomore Tommy Bennett, and redshirt freshman Abdu McCullough competing at free safety.

Junior Darren Schager, who averaged 41.9 yards on 74 kicks, handles the punting chores with Bjorn Merten ahead of fe low redshirt freshman Greg Andrasick to replace couls Perez as the place-kicker.

The nonconference schedule doesn't look too taxing. The Bruins draw both Nebraska and Brigham Young at home. And the major Pac-10 tests are at the Rose Bowl or in Los Angeles, too But this was a team that, largely because of the injuries. fell well beyond expectations in 1992.

TAMPORE

B.II Walsh may need all of his considerable wiles to keep the Cardinal from falling into the middle of the Pac-10 pack after losing the core of his defense off a squad that was 10-3 overals, 6-2 and tied for the top in the Pac-10 and beat Penn State in the Blockbuster Bowl

Stanford recorded three notable firsts in 1992 (1) first 10-win season at the school since 1940, (2) first Pac-10 title since 1971 and (3) first New Year's Day bowl since 1972 And it added just the lifth national top 10 finish in school history. The most important number from 1993 however, may be the 12 starters Walsh jost, including seven from a defense that finished the season ranked 10th in the nation, Ali-America Ron George and four-year starter Dave Garnett leave a huge void at outside linebacker and three starters, All-America John Lynch, all-Pac-10 Darrien Gordon and three-year starter Seyon Albert are gone from the secondary, along with Estevan Avila up front

The key returning defenders are linemen Tyrone Parker and Jason Fisk, who probably will team with either junior David Carder or junior Nate Olsen (Hall of Famer Merlin Olsen's son), who has been converted back to defense from running back; inside linebackers Coy Gibbs and Toby Norwood, and cornerback Vaughn Bryant, a potential star Sophomore Jason White, senior Tommy Knecht, a converted safety and junior Damon Philips are the leaders in the hunt to replace George and Garnett Sophomore Kwarne Eilis is favored to join Bryant at cornerback, with Kevin Garnett, John Henton, David Walker, and Damlen Crochel battling at safety

On offense Walsh is most concerned about the development of his line, which didn't do a good job of protecting quarterback. Steve Stenstrom ast season and will be without starter Chris Dalman But there is a quartet of lifth-year seniors, tackles Steve Hoyem and Jeff Bailey, guard Brian Cassidy an honors candidate whose 92 season was cut short by a knee injury, and center Glen Cavanaugh Junior T J, Gaynor may start at the other guard Converted flanker Justin Armour should be the starting tight end and senior Tony Cline replaces. Ryan Wetnight. Stenstrom is a steady quarterback who had led the Cardinato a 17-4 record as a starter but his runners and pass catchers will be new All-America Glyn M burn is another big ioss, at running back, and starting full back J.J. Lasley departs as well Ellery Roberts (381 yards rushing in the last four games) may be primed for a big season, though Senior Ethan Allen is likely to step in at fullback, Replacing receivers Mike Cook (53 receptions) and Armour may be senior David Shaw and junior college All-America Mark Harris or sophomore Jami Webb.

Soph Eric Abrams gave promise of being one of the nation's top young place-kickers in 92, hitting 16 of 20 field goals, but punter Paul Stonehouse graduated. Aaron Milis replaces him. It seems I kely that a recruiting class that includes 19 prep All-Americas and has been ranked tops in the Pac-10 and fourth nationally will get plenty of chances to contribute.

WASHINGTON STATE

The Cougar brass is actually saying that quarterback Drew 8 edsoe, the No. 1 pick in the NFL draft, may be easier to replace than running backs Snaumbe Wright-Fair and Derek Sparks, who's out for the 1993 season with a shoulder injury. Either way, it seems doubtful that the Cougars can display the sort of offense they had in a surprising 1992 season when they went 9-3 overall and finished in a third-place tie in the Pac-10 with a 5-3 record.

Mike Price also will be minus starting receivers Phillip Bobo and C J Davis, tight end Clarence Williams, and three offensive linemen Price is hoping several second-unit performers can step in quickly, most notably fifth-year senior quarterback Mike Pattinson, who, if nothing else, is more mobile than Bledsoe, who passed for 3,246 yards. Pattinson will be throwing to one veteran wide receiver. Deron

Pointer, and taiented tight end Brett Carolan, who caught 33 passes in '92 as Williams's backup. Keith Reynolds may be the other wideout Running back is a major question mark, with league-leading rusner Wright-Fair and Sparks gone Transfer Kevin Hicks will vie with redshirt freshman Elijah Raphael, veteran Delton Johnson, and sophomore Frank Madu The offensive line returns only two starters guard Josh Dunning and tackle Mike Barley but center Steve Wolfe started in 1990 and 1991 before hurting a knee Joining that group should be junior Clay Reis at guard and redshirt Maro McCloskey at tackle, but there seems to be some depth behind them

The Cougars may go as far as a defense that was ranked No. 18 in the nation last season can carry them." I think we'll be better on defense because we're bigger, stronger, and more experienced," Price said. Nine starters are back, including linemen Ray Hall, Brian Ford, and DeWayne Patterson, linebackers. Anthony McCanahan and Ron Childs, and all four members of the secondary cornerbacks.

Torey Hunter and Greg Burns and safeties Signor Mobley and John Rushing Very much a part of the picture up front is junior Chad Eaton, who the Cougar coaches think could develop into the best tackle ever at WSU Senior McCianahan is an outstanding player, too, a Bulkus Award candidate who had 140 too, a Bulkus Award candidate who had 140 tackles last season after a Pac-10-high 144 in 1991. Childs added 104 The third Inebacking spot was a contest in the spring among veteran T.J. Folkers and sophomores Chris Hayes and Derrick Hentz

The kicking game looks solid again with the return of Aaron Pr.ce, the coach's son, as place-kicker and Steve Johnston as punter Price had game-winning field goals against Arizona in the regular season and Utah in the Copper Bow!

The Cougars won't have to wait long to determine if their new, more quick-hitting offense is going to be potent enough to shoot for another 4,000-5 000-yard season which has become almost commonplace in Pullman, and a second straight bowl bid. Price's club opens September 4 against Mich gan in Ann Arbor before settling into what looks like a somewhat favorable schedule.

OREGON

Rich Brooks is feeling frustrated after another competitive season that saw the Ducks rebound from a 3-8 mark in 1991 to 6-6 and a berth in the Independence Bowl. "The good news is we've been to three bowl games in the last four years and we're among the better programs in the nation," Brooks said "The bad news is we're not going to the Rose Bowl and not ending the season ranked among the top 25 teams in the nation."

Those things don't figure to change in 1993 unless Brooks can find more consistency in a team that was just 4-4 in the Pac-10. The Ducks do have some weapons, however. The defense self-destructed in the Independence Bowl against Wake Forest, but it was 14th-ranked nationally and 6-5, 280-pound end and nose tack e Romeo Bandison could have a huge year. Senior Gary Williams and junior Silia Malepeai, sidelined by elbow surgery tast season, should man the front with Bandison, with talented Ernest Jones and sophomore Tony Koker at outside linebacker and David Massey and either Jeremy Asher or John Taumoepeau inside But team MVP Joe Farwell and Terreil Edwards will be missed in the linebacking corps Herman O'Berry, who led the Pac-10 with six interceptions, is a terrific cornerback, but there is uncertainty at the other corner, where sophomore Alex Molden is trying to recover from a serious knee injury If Molden can't go transfer Dante Lewis or junior Eugene Jackson may get the call. Junior Chad Cota will take over for Eric Castle, who had 12 career interceptions, at one safety spot, with Lewis, Jeff Sherman, or Grady O'Connor at the other

The kicking game may be the best in the conference, thanks to dual-purpose sen or Tommy Thompson, who was sixth nationally in field goals and averaged 41.4 yards per punt and is a strong Al-America candidate.

Offensively the Ducks will have to do something about the 47 quarterback sacks they gave up in 1992. When he had time quarterback Danny O'Neill did a good job in his sophomore season, passing for 2,152 yards. He'll be working again with tailbacks Sean Burwel and Ricky Whittle who combined for more than 1,400 yards rushing, and split end Derrick Deadwiler (29 receptions in nine games before separating his shoulder). Returnee Juan Shednck, a very capable blocker will open at fullback again, with sophomore Cristin McLemore likely at flanker and solid junior Wily Tate at tight end

The offensive line is a veteran group, with seniors the probable starters at all five inter or positions. Steve Hardin and Justin Starck get first call at tackle, with Mike DiFonzo and Eric Barnes at guard, and Tom Curran at center Brooks doesn't blame the line alone for all those sacks last season, "The line got a bad rap," he said 'Often, a back has a blocking assignment he may not execute, the quarterback doesn't recognize a situation where he needs to get rid of the bail, or a receiver doesn't run the appropriate route."

CALIFORNIA

Keith Gilbertson had a rough baptism as a Pac-10 head coach last season, and unless he can develop a defense—not to mention replacements for a couple of key offensive players—in a hurry, it's likely to be another long season. The Bears were just 4-7 overail and 2-6 and in ninth place in the Pac-10

Still, the talent isn't bad, and 't will get better. Gibertson's recru'ting class has been ranked No. 14 in the nation, and tops in the Pac-10 along with Stanford's But in a conference as good as this one, veteran talent usually wins, and the Bears may not have enough of it in 1993, particularly since players such as Sean Dawk ns, who left early for the NFL Russell White, and Mack Travis are gone

Junior quarterback Dave Barr (2,343 yards passing) again will run an offense that was No. 2 in the Pac-10 with 389.3 yards per game Dawkins, in particular, is a huge loss, but seniors M ke Caidwell and Damien Semien, who combined for 44 catches, are back at wide receiver and four running backs return, led by honors candidate Lindsey Chapman who'll be backed by Reynard Rutherford and Tyrone Edwards, with Marty Holly at fullback

The Bears will have a big, experienced offensive line, headed by All-America candidate Todd Steussie at tackle and Eric Mahlum at center. Brian Thure should be at the other tackle, with Todd Blackwell and probably Randy Nonhof at guards. Tight end is uncertain, since Chris Carpenter went out with a serious knee injury in the spring.

Cal was eighth in the nation in total defense through the first eight games, but depth could be a problem this season. The mix up front should include junior Brad Bowers, sophomore Duane Clemons, and sen ors Stafford Evans, who is coming off shoulder surgery. and Bill Ayer with JC transfer Greg Webb a possible breakthrough at tackle. Linebacking will revolve around Jerrott Willard, who set the tempo last season with a relentless style of play He led the Pac-10 with 133 tackles, including 9½ behind the line of scrimmage, Junior Paul Joiner is I kely to start inside opposite Willard with help from Jim Joiner and Maurice Johnson Senior Michael Davis and sophomore James Stalworth will work outside

The secondary was deficient last season with just seven interceptions. But senior Isaac

Booth, who had four of those, returns at one comer and veteran Jody Graham and junior college transfer Rich Richardson at the other Senior Eric Zomalt, who was third on the team with 62 tackies, will be at strong safety. With Edwards now a running back, sophomore Lerod Cherry figures to move in at free safety. but transfer Darrell Miles might give him an argument

Doug Brien, who is on target to become the school's all-time leading field goal kicker durng the season, is an Alt-America candidate Punting probably will be handled by redshirt freshman Ryan Longwell. Junior college standout Latario Rachal could help both as a punt and kickoff returner, as could redshirt freshman Na' I Benjamin

STATE HOOSEWAY

Jerry Pettibone was under no illusions when he took the head coaching job in Corvallis three seasons ago. "I knew the job was a tremendous challenge," he said "The Pac-10 is probably, from top to bottom, the toughest football conference in the country Bul I still feel Oregon State can be successful." Pettibone has posted 1-10 and 1-9-1 records. But even though the Beavers were just 0-7-1 in the Pac-10 last season, they competed well against Arizona Stanford UCLA, and Oregon. Petrbone thinks they'li keep improving

The measure of a program in transition is that starting quarterback Mark Offord has been shifted to cornerback because of passing deficiencies, Ian Shields may get the call ahead of youngsters Don Shanklin and Rahim Muhammad Senior Chad Paulson (381 yards rushing), J.J. Young, and J.D. Stewart look to be the best of a deep and veteran running corps, but sophomore Chris Cross is the only returnee among four wide receivers who saw much playing time. Tight end Ray Penniman is coming back from offseason shoulder surgery The Beavers' offensive line looks decent, with returning starters John Garrett, who played well in '92, Christian Miller, and Johnny Feinga at tackle, guard, and center, respectively Jim Buchanan likely will open at the other tackle, with Adam Albaugh and Alai Karaniuvalu, who is being shifted from defense, vying for the other guard position

The leader on the defensive line is senior tackle Chad de Sully He'lt work alongside Eric Hale, David Kiepke, and Tom Holmes, who is coming back from shoulder surgery that forced him to miss the '92 season if Holmes is not ready, look for JC transfer Packy Ena to step in Linebacker should be the team's deepest position with starters Tony O'Billovich, Rico Petrin, and Cory Huot and top backup Kane Rogers all returning. Pettibone is concerned about the depth in his secondary, but he finally has some quality players there, and some experience. Reggie Tongue and Herschel Currie will be at the corners, with Michael Hale, who has been hampered by an ankle injury, and William Ephraim at the safet es Ephraim, a junior was honorablemention all-Pac-10. The hope is that Oiford will blossom after his switch of positions.

Pethbone hopes to emphasize the Beavers' kicking game, which will be nothing if not versatile Jamie Burke is the place-kicker and Tim Kollas the punter, but they can switch roles if necessary. Kolias averaged 41.8 yards on 71 punts last season

One national sports publication listed the Beavers' '92 schedule as the second-most difficult in Division I; another said it was the third-toughest Eight opponents made it to bowl games and eight were in the top 25 at one time or another during the season. This year's schedule looks a little easier, but it includes all the Pac-10 tough es except USC

The Wolfpack opened in the Big West the same way it closed in the Big Sky with a conference championship. Chris Ault's team has now won three straight league titles, and seems to have enough back after a 7-5 season (5-1 in the Big West) to shoot for No. 4

Ault's offense continued to move the hall in 1992, averaging 430 yards a game but its point production was down to just 25.8. That should change with more experience at all the ball-handling positions. Quarterback Chris 'Magic' Vargas started just five games but still threw for 2,094 yards and all five of his top receivers—Bryan Reeves (81 receptions for 1.114 yards), Michae Stephens, Chris Singleton, Mixe Senior, and tight end Tom Matter—return. So do running backs Dedric Holmes and Zexe Moore, who'll be joined by J.C. All-America Marcellus Chrishon, who rushed for more than 1,500 yards and scored 27 TDs at Saddleback Junior College.

Defensively the Wolfpack may be down a little because of the loss of seven starters including the entire secondary. But returning are sophomore inside linebacker Lamonte Porter, who led the team with 115 tackles, and outside I nebacker Steve Bryant, the big-play man with 17 tackles for losses including 10 sacks. Back, too, is detensive tackle Jim Jones, the team's most consistent lineman Ault concentrated on recruiting defensive backs, and came up with two quick transfers.

The offensive line will be built around four returning starters, senior tackle Todd Shara, guards Tony Lorenz and Anthony Valentin and center Ryan O'Donnell Experienced punter Steve Lester is back but place-kicker Steve Tere ak 's out with an injury. Redshirt freshman Buddy Well man may replace him. Ault has reason to be optimistic in the last three seasons, his learn has gone 32-8 (20-2 at home).

The Aggies finished only 5-6 overall but were 4-2 in the Big West and missed the conference title by just a whisper. And with 37 lettermen, including 15 starters, back, they could well make another title run and perhaps earn their first bowl bid since 1961. "If we stay healthy," coach Charlie Weatherbie said, "we have an opportunity to win this conference and a lot of nonconference games, too."

Quarterback Anthony Calvillo had a terrific first season in Logan, guiding the Jim Zorndesigned offense with 2,494 yards passing and 16 TDs. Leading receiver Greg Watts has departed, but most of Calvillo's primary targets return, including Toney Jenkins. Mike Lee and Aubrey Thompson, whose 36 catches were the most by a Big West Iight Weatherbie also is a little worned about his defensive front, with tackle David Balls the only returnee. We know we've got to mount a better pass rush." Weatherbie is a With the departure of a l-league tackle Joe Jacobs, along with Stephen Robinson and Mark Johnson, he'll have to get help from lettermen Shawn Griswold, Dan-ie'l Taplin, and Scott Moala. But Big West Defensive Prayer of the Year Jermaine Younger, a 245 pound senior inside linebacker who is a Butkus Award candidate, is back as are linebacker Gary Brown and defensive backs. Donald Toomer Efrem Haymore Michael Coe and Damon Smith, all returning starters.

SAN JOSE STATE

John Ralston's first Spartan team should have ots of offense of an almost-all-new line fells quickly but only three starters are back from a defense that helped produce a 7-4 record (4-2 and a second-place lie in the Big West) for Ron Turner who show a Chicago Bears assistant coach Raiston always had a way of making things happen in a hurry when he was at Stanford, however, and he has considerable laient to work with

His offense has prenty of point potential with the likes of all-Big West quarterback Jeff Garcia (2,418 yards passing 223 yards rushing) and running back Nathan DuPree (1,239 yards rushing including a national-high 844 in the last five weeks of the season), plus wide receivers Brian Lundy (38 catches for 679 yards), Jason Lucky, and Jerry Reese and first-rate place-kicker Joe Nedney John Cott a tackle who transferred from Cal State Fullerton will help a revamped line that may also include returnee Chris Hilf Saiofi Tautuaa.

Wally Bonnett, and Keith Moffatt, along with light end Rich Sanatte, who had 32 receptions. The Spartans also have a valuable weapon in purter Lee Myhre, who was 15th nationally with a 42 9-yard average.

Ralston's 4-3 defensive front may feature newcomers. Marty Lyon, Kevin O Connell, Sean Neel, and Chad Carpenter. The line-backing crew has more experience and more numbers, with second-team a I-Big. West Jim. Singleton the key man in the middle. Derrick Childs and Kareeb Harbin, trying to rebound from subpar seasons, may be outside, but Dan Godfrey, another transfer from Cal State Fullerton, is likely to start at outside linebacker or strong safety. Two-year starter Des Grayer and Elliott Franklin are ahead at the corners with Troy Jensen (team-high 76 tackles) and Marcus Galbreath or Chris Willis at safety where Anthony Washington is a huge loss.

NEVADA LAS VEGAS

When Jim Strong took over the Rebels four seasons ago, he had just 29 p ayers in spring practice. Now he has 55 returning settermen, eight record, and three juco transfers and high hopes of improving a 6-5 overall record and a 3-3 finish in the Big West. We have a solid nucleus coming back from our first winning team since 1986," Strong said, "We will be a much improved ball club."

Offensively nine starters are back from a unit that averaged 352.4 yards per game. The strongest position is wide receiver, led by all-Big West Henry Bailey, who set a school record with 1,883 al-purpose yards, and Demond Thompkins (52 receptions for 919 yards). Seniors Bob Stockham and John Ma ae will compete at quarterback, with alconference Shannon McLean, who has been slowed by injuries, and Omar Love at running back and Tommy Lewis and Elroy Reese at tight end. All-conference Lonnie Paleiei and John Hurley are gone from a depleted line but starters. Howard, McGowari, Jerry Reynolds, and Doug Roper return.

Defensive improvement is needed, since the Rebels gave up nearly 435 yards a game ast season. Honors candidates Eric Simien and Keith Washington will be at the ends with seniors Tiger Townes and Stephen Anderson in the interior front They'll be aided by three heavily recruited tackles. DeShannon Campbell, Rick Mausau, and Corey Sears The linebacking corps, devastated by injuries last year, will be anchored by senior Rumone Hitton with Jason Medlock and Marvin Robinson.

on the flanks. The secondary should include Rodney Mazion, D'Mentrie Lacy, who had shoulder surgery in early 1993, Jason Davis, and Clarence Mack, but Auntwan Armstrong and Jermaine Webster also will bid for starting spots. Junior Nick Garritano should be one of the Big West's best place-kickers, but all-conference punter Brian Parvin is gone

MORTHERNILLINOIS

Coach Charlie Sadler says that LeShon "Cowboy" Johnson "is the best running back in America east of San Diego." Johnson has the statistics to prove it. He rushed for 1,338 yards in 1992, 70 percent of his team's total. The 201-pound senior tailback, who runs over defenders rather than around them, will be the Huskles' main man again as they try to improve upon a 5-6 record "You take away four or five plays and we could have been 8-3," Sadler said

He thinks his team can contend for the title in its first season in the Big West. The Huskies return nine starters on offense and seven on defense Quarterback Scott Crabtree and fullback Brian Cotton should work in the backfield with Johnson, and there is talent at wide receiver in junior Vaunce Patterson and sophomore Otha Brooks, who runs a 4 38 40 Tackle Brad Capes is gone from the offensive line, but top tight end Raymond Roberts and guards Tim O Brien and Joe Patterson return So does place-kicker Brian Steger

The defense 26th in the nation against scoring in '92 with just a 17 6-point average will feature senior linebackers Tony Smith (18th nationally with 142 tackles) and Steve Wild and junior Gerald Nickelberry along with junior cornerback MacArthur Griffin. The mafor defensive questions are in the line, where nose quard Rob Wagner, the anchor, has graduated. The ends should be seniors Paul McAndrews and Matt LeVoir, a seven-game regular who missed spring practice because of a fractured ankle. The nose guard may be redshirt freshman Joe Moscato, who is coming off shoulder surgery, but newcomers Duane Arrindell, Troy Seabrook, Hollis Thomas, and Greg Bryant could figure in the line m'x Juco transfer Tony Eggleston should help the linebacking corps. The Huskies will use three punters, including the nation's tallest, 6-6 Quin Corbett

NEW MEXICO STATE

After years of humiliating results, the Aggres had a surprising 6-5 season in 1992, and coach Jim Hess claimed, "We're now in a posit on to start building a program. I don't necessanty think we'll go straight up We'll have some ups and downs,"

Hess thinks he finally has some depth, not to ment on needed speed to augment a squad that was 3-3 in the Big West and, amazingly, not far from a league championship. Offensively the Aggres must replace quarterback Charlie Puler (2 788 yards passing), prolific tight end Todd Cutler, and wide receiver/kick returner Fred Montgomery Redshirt Cody Ledbetter looks like a capable quarterback, however, and he'll be working with No 2 rusher Troy Dublin and two transfers, wide rece ver Polee Banks of Ca. State Fullerton and tight end Sean Manuel Leading rusher Lawrence Truehill is academically ineligible. Three starters-center Gerald Slovacek, tackle Ishan Rison, and guard Heath Haedge-return in the offensive line and punter Chad Zecha and place-kicker Bubba Culin are back, too

All three down linemen, first team all-Big West Sam Austrino, George Turoti, and Norman Steele, have departed, but seven defensive starters, including the top four tacklers. will be in place. The leaders will be inside linebackers Tim Mauck (team-high 113 tackles) and Mike Wall (83 tackles) with Bryan Duplessis and transfer Samuel Manuel (Sean's twin brother) the favorites at outside linebacker, Offensive guard Troy Sienkiewicz has been moved to defensive tackle, and he should be joined up front by top reserve Steve Gilbert and nose tackle Tim Melendez All four starters return in the Aggie secondary-cornerbacks David Barela and Cedric Walton and safeties Marc Shaw and Donald Stowers -but the unit has to improve on the 21 touchdown passes it gave up.

PACHEU

Subtract four skilled players-running back Ryan Benjamin, quarterback Troy Kopp, wide receiver Aaron Turner, and offensive tackle Greg Bishop-from a team that could do no better than 3-8, and Pacific wouldn't seem to have much reason for optimism. But coach Chuck Shelton thinks the Tigers might make up for the loss of that quartet with more strength, speed, and depth, and improve

Shelton will scrap the run-and-shoot offense in favor of a San Francisco 49er-style passing game, with senior left-hander Dave Henigan as his quarterback. Despite the loss of Benja. min the two-time NCAA all-purpose running leader, there appears to be depth at running back, with returnees Jessie Campbell and Steve Mehl and J.C. transfers Howard Blackwell and Stanley Green. Veteran receivers Trent Julian, Jay Mayo, and Ron Smith will be joined by transfer Kerry Brown. The line was a problem in 1992, and could well be again despite the presence of 6-5 310-pound Eric Alvarez at tackle. He II be joined by guards Dan Weldon and Matt Nicholis, center Aaron McClellan, and maybe high school star Jesse Atkinson at tackle

Defensively, the Tigers lowered their points against average from 40 1 in 1991 to 26 1 and are looking to do even better. The team's best player is outside linebacker Grant Carter, an All-America candidate, and the secondary should be strong with returning starters Darius Cunnigan, Duane Thomas, and Kevin Muliens at the corners and Jeff Russell and Dimitri Gazelas as the safeties. But the inside linebacking looks thin and two of three starters will be gone from the line, where only nose tackle Dave Karthauser returns from a unit that was one of the Tigers' weakest in '92. Punter Jason Schouten returns, but place-kicker Eddie Ausherman has departed. His likely replacement is sophomore Doug McDaniel but Russell might get a look

LOUISIANA TECH

Most coaches heading into a season with only one returning starter on offense and just three on defense would be a little nervous. But Bulldogs' coach Joe Raymond Peace said, "We are actually very excited about it. I admit the numbers look scary at first, but I think this season will help tell something about what we've treen doing with our program over the last several years

The offensive building block from a team that finished 5-6 and lost to Alabama only 13-0 is junior running back Jason Cooper (1 563 yards rushing in two seasons) The biggest offensive loss is wide receiver Corey Parham who had 65 catches but Peace has high hopes for senior quarterback Aaron Ferguson, junior guard Greg Lancaster, and No. 2 receiver Brian Francis Place-kicker Chris Boniot (11 of 18 field goals) has a chance to overtake Tech's all-time leading scorer, Cleveland Browns' kicker Matt Stover and Boniol may be asked to punt, too

Defensively the returning starters are junior knebacker Fred Price (74 tackles), senior tackte Kavin Crawford (62 tackles), and senior cornerback Chris Gray Several other defenders have considerable experience, including inebackers Key Battle and Carlos Bolton, end Derrick Moore, tackle Thedrick Harris, and cornerback Rodney Bruce

The major concern for Peace, who is a respectable 30-21-4 in five seasons in Ruston, is his team's mability to score. "We had only three touchdown passes in 1992," he said, "and that won't get it." Peace made three changes in his coaching staff in the offseason, including the installation of Dan Werner as offensive coordinator, and the Buildogs probably will expand on their one-back offense.

SOUTHWESTERN LOUISIANA

Coming off a 2-9 season, Ragin' Cajun coach Nelson Stokley is making changes all over the place, a new attacking defensive scheme, a new defensive coordinator, more emphasis on a drop-back passing offense, and several new faces. Stokley has even shed his dual role as athletic director and head coach to concentrate on football. We re going to be a better team," he said.

The Cajuns return seven starters on each side of the ball, but Stokley has to settle on a quarterback. Junior Reggie Hayes was a better fit in the old option attack, so redshirt Danny DiPace and transfer Jason Sanborn could both get long looks. The offense also has back tight ends Ryan McGarth (22 receptions) and Buck Moncia, wideout Tori Williams, budding star Sam Heinen at tackle, and consistent senior center Robby Waguespack. The leading returning rusher, Steve Mocek, missed spring drills with a neck injury. Other than the quarterback slot, Stokley's chief concern is what to do about his special teams. He has no returnees who attempted a punt, field goal or extra point last season. But he likes the looks of several offensive newcomers, including four transfers: wide receiver Marcus Carter, who has star potential, and Jeff Dupre from Louisiana State, offensive tackle Keno Hills from Kent State, and running back Marcus Prier from Texas Christian

Vic Eumont's defens ve unit looks more solid heading into the season, even with the change in style. The big-play man is junior safety Orlanda Thomas, who had 64 tackles. Also highly regarded are three seniors line-backer Charles Pool nose guard Conrad Lewis, and tackle John Robinson Pool led the team in tackles last season with 95

ARKANSAS STATE

John Bobo, who's in his first head-coaching job at any level, is a reakst coming off the Indians' first season in the I-A ranks, which produced just a 2-9 record. "We go into the league understanding that we are on an uphilt climb." said Bobo, who was the team's offensive 4-line coach in 1992. "We are pretty stim in numbers where games are won and lost—in the trenches. We lost the bulk of our offensive line and half of our defensive front, so enough said about where our priorities fie."

The squad's primary offensive weapons are quarterbacks Torn Sears and Johnny Covington who shared starting time; wide receivers Kendricke Bullard and Blake Denison, who have 67 and 55 career receptions, respectively, and running backs Jerrold Seymore and Stacy Crockett. Seymore is the top returning rusher, with 395 yards. The offensive line will be led by junior guard Stacy Harrell.

No 2 tackler Carlos Emmons, a sophomore who played at both linebacker and end, is the fulcrum of a defense that also returns linemen Lucas Perkins and Mike McDonald, corner-back Curtis Fitch, and free safety Clark Watkins Sophomore Joey Staples hopes to inject life into a subpar kicking game, and soph Kyle Richardson is back as the punter

The Indians had 13 first-year players last season, including eight true freshmen, and it showed in the results. But Bobo has trained under coaches like Ray Perkins and Howard Schnellenberger, and is hoping the momentum from a season-ending victory over Southwestern Louisiana will carry over into 1993. More likely however, this is a team that will have to take its lumps in a tough new conference until it can build the needed numbers.

Interim head coach Bob Biggs has to rebuild his defense, but he does welcome back leading tackler Jason Hairston and Marc Miner at Inebacker and Kerth Dunn on the line. There is talent on the offensive side Preston Jackson the NCAC Player of the Year was No 9 in the nation in rushing, setting school records for yardage (1,435), touchdowns (15), and points (92) Quarterback Khari Jones completed 55 percent of his passes for 2,454 yards and 20 TDs Mike Ichiyama is the leading returning receiver (37-464) and a dangerous kick returner.

CAL POLY-SAN LUIS OBISPO

The Muslangs lost two games by one point last fall and finished 4-5-1 (1-3 in the WFC) Coach Lyle Setencich hopes the return of seven starters plus the addition of seven transfers from Santa Clara can make the difference in those close games this time. The linebacking is a strong suit Jay Wells, if healthy, lines up alongside Matt Boeddeker and Serge Kaska with Eric Coley and redshift Dennis O'Malley Tylyn Cook rejoins Robert Smith at cornerback with Steve Rudis II and Facio Benav dez at the safeties and all-WFC Martin Cano on the line. The offense has all-conference performers in leading rusher Br an Fitz (787 yards and 10 TDs) and linemen Jason Vornbaum and Lioyd Tiffany Pancho Renteria is the quarterback. His leading targets are light end Jeff Radcliffe who may be moved to wide receiver and Cal Fullerion transfer Andrew Hill

SAINT MARY'S

The big weapon for coach Mike Rasmussen's Gaels as they move from Division II to I-AA is All-America place-kicker Mike Estrella, who led the nation with an average of 1.67 field goals per game last fall and is within 23 points of becoming the school's all-time leading scorer Quarterback Cree Morris should give Estrella and the Gaels plenty of scoring opportunities. He threw for 1,535 yards and 11 touchdowns in '92 Wideout Abdul Lewis was on the receiving end of 30 passes. Players to watch on the other side of the ball are line-backers Scott Evars and Peter Baichtal and defensive back Lavel e Townsend.

MAARIN

SHELBY HILL Syracuse

The Hurncanes saw their humiliating Sugar Bowl defeat to Alabama in painfully vivid detail every time they suited up for spring practice. A reminder of that 34-13 loss, a stunning upset that cost the 'Canes a national title, was hung on a bulletin board in the locker room The coaches pinned a magazine advertisement selling plaques that commemorate Crimson Tide Domination," a tribute to Alabama's bowl victory. It hung there until senior defensive end Darren Krein tore it away and taped it to the back of his locker. "It reminds me every day," Krein said. "When people talk about how we had a great season, the first thing I say is that it didn't mean anything to me because we didn't win the national championship if it's not on your mind every day that you want to win the national championship, you're going to get beat sooner or later "

So the 'Canes prepare for a new season with lots of new faces but the same old lofty ambition. "Our goal is to win the national championship and win the Big East," said coach Dennis Erickson "But I'm not so sure our ultimate goal sn't to get an opportunity to play Alabama again, to go back to the Sugar Bowl and play them "

The Tide snapped Miami's 29-game winning streak and prevented the 'Canes from winning an unprecedented five national titles over 10 seasons. Erickson replayed the film of the Alabama loss over and over and he used spring to make changes. He expanded his one-back passing attack, adding a blocking fullback and more two-back formations. Sophomores Danyell Ferguson and James Stewart are poised to take over at tailback. Junior Donnell Bennett, the leading rusher a year ago with 421 yards, and junior Larry Jones, the 1992 Orange Bowl MVP, are proven backs Still sophomore fullback Derrick Harris was the surprising star of the spring. All this depth at running back won't mean much if junior quarterback Frank Costa doesn't develop quickly. The 'Canes play at Boston College at Colorado, at Florida State, and then host Syracuse in the first half of their schedule. If Miami wins all six of its games in the Orange Bowl, it will increase its home winning streak to 57, tyring the NCAA mark set by Alabama.

The Miami preview was written by Randy Mell of the Fort I auderdale Sun-Sentinel

 Only two starters (Bennett and junior center) Trireil Greene) return to the offense. Costa. who replaces Heisman Trophy winner Gino Torretta, looks so much like former Miam. Heisman winner Vinny Testaverde he was nicknamed Costaverde.

The defense lost star linebackers Micheal Barrow, Darrin Smith and Jessie Armstead but sophomore Rohan Marley broke in with a bang. He is one of five returning defensive starters. A trio of ends lead the way. All-America candidate Darren Krein, senior classmate Kevin Patrick, and former Outland Trophy candidate Rusty Medeans, whose season ended with a major knee injury after three games last year. Medearis is expected to be ready early in the season. Senior All-America. candidate Terris Harris is in the secondary with Dexter Seigier and Paul White

This could be the year the Orange capture the Big East championship. They also could contend for the national title, last won by Syracuse in 1959. The 1992 team posted a second consecutive 10-2 record, including a 26-22 victory over Colorado in the Fiesta Bowl, and wound up ranked sixth and seventh in the two major polls. It also won a sixth Lambert/Meadowlands Trophy, symbolic of football supremacy in the East Paul Pasqualoni was an assistant coach for four seasons before being promoted to the head job in 1991. And Syracuse hasn't missed a beat in its surging success with him at the hetrn. During his six years. there, the Orange compiled the nation's sixthbest record (56-14-3) and made six straight bowl appearances (five victories, one tie) With a dozen starters back, Pasqualoni has the makings of another powerful team

Heisman Trophy candidate Marvin Graves one of the nation's finest quarterbacks, is a fourth year starter Fullback Al Wooten (312 yards) and wide receiver Shelby Hill (29-480) also return. But such standouts as Qadry Ismail, Chris Gedney David Walker, and Terrence Wisdom are gone from the nation's most balanced attack (2 426 yards rushing 2,343 yards passing) Graves, who has passed for 5,919 yards and 33 touchdowns and added 11 touchdowns rushing, already owns most of the school career passing and total offense records. Terry Richardson (336) yards) replaces Walker at tailback, Center John Reagan and tackle Kyle Adams are the only holdover starters in the line Eric Chenoweth likely will be at tight end with Melvin Tuten the other tackle and Dave Wohlabaugh and Cy Ellsworth the guards

All-Big East nose guard Kevin Mitchell anchors Syracuse's traditionally tough defense He ranked third in tackles with 61 as opponents were held to 16.6 points and 336 yards per game. Tackle Ernie Brown and inside linebacker Dan Conley, the second-leading tackler, also return. Dave Rebar will be one outside linebacker, with Chris Marques, Dana Cottrell, or Greg Shaw the other Chip Todd is back with Conley inside, Cornerback Dwayne Joseph heads a veteran secondary which logged a school-record 24 interceptions in 1992. Safeties Bob Grosvenor and Tony

BORTON COLUMN

The Eagles were one of the nation's most improved teams last season. They went from 4-7 in 1991 to 8-2-1, earned national ranking, and ost to Tennessee in the Hall of Fame Bowl. If third-year head coach Tom Coughlin can develop a strong defense to complement a highpowered offense, the Eagles should continue to soar in the Big East. Of 14 returning starters eight are on offense.

Four-year starter Glenn Foley is one of the country's leading quarterbacks, With 6,642 career passing yards, he ranks second only to He sman Trophy winner Doug Flutie in the B C record book Foley completed 146 of 265 passes for 2 231 yards and 15 touchdowns last year as the team averaged 438 4 yards and 28 points per game. Junior tight end Pete Mitchell, the top receiver (40-555), returns along with four veteran wideouts. Clarence Cannon, Ivan Boyd, Keith Miller, and Greg Grice, All-Big East tai back Chuckie Dukes, who rushed for a school-record 1,387 yards and 10 touchdowns, has departed But fullbacks Dwight Shirley (604) and Darnell Campbell (384) are back, Soph Justice Smith is heir apparent at talback, where Chris Campbel, and David Green also vie. All-star candidate Tom Naien at center and Pete Kendall and Greg Landry, both sophs, remain starters up front. But Kendall has been moved to tackle, leaving Landry at guard. Jun or Ben Velishka, soph Josh Porter and redshirt freshmen Mark Non and Dan Onskovich are battime for the other two jobs

Ted Page a starter in 1991 before knee surgery, returns at tackle on defense. Other contenders on the makeshift the include soph tackle Chris Surlivan tackle Nelson Long, and soph nose guard Tim Morabito. Dan Kerr

Junior Ed Sanabria will provide help. Nine ettermen are available in the secondary Junior Michael Reed and soph Tony Ransome will share duty at one corner, with Eric Shorter and Junior Joe Kamara at the other. Soph Terence Wiggins and Junior Clint Kuboyama are the starting safeties

Recruit Chris Hackett could push punter Jeff Beckley, though the latter's 42 2-yard average was the Eagles' best since 1977. David Gordon or newcomer Brett Bleeker will hand e the place-kicking

WEST VIRGINIA

This is a critical year for the Mountaineers After strugging to an overall 15-16-2 record the past three years, they must win consistently and impressively in Don Nehlen's 14th season as nead coach. Restless fans are clamoring for national ranking and a bowl bid. Nehlen thought last year's team was somewhat stronger than its 5-4-2 record indicated. But he felt that bad luck, bad calls, and bad timing were contributing factors to the most frustrating season of his career. Fitteen starters are returning, plus at -Big East punter Todd Sauerbrun, who also will do the place-kicking. At least six others have made one or more starts. To achieve more flexibility, the Mountaineers have added the shotgun and one-back set to their offense and some new winkles to their 4-3 defense.

Jake Kelchner beat out Darren Studstill n the spring for the starting job at quarterback Splitting time in 1992, the two combined for 1,966 yards and 15 touchdowns passing and a net 174 yards and three scores rushing Mike Baker, out nine games with a fractured foot, rejoins Ed Hill (43-540) at wide receiver with senior Jay Kearney and sophomores Rahsaan Vanterpool and Daymelan Gallimore. Nate Rine moves up at tight end. All-Big. East talback Adrian Murrell, whose 1,145yard rushing total was second-best in Mountaineer history, has graduated. But Nehien is high on successor Jon Jones (429 yards) as well as speedy sophs Robert Walker and Jimmy Gary Junior Rodney Woodard (318 yards) remains the fullback. Tack e Rich Braham and guard Dale Williams are key returnees up front. Calvin Edwards and J m LeBlanc, both of whom missed spring drills white recuperating from operations, will pair with them in the fall. Dan Harless takes over from the departed All-America Mike Compton at center Other leading innemen include Tom Robsock, Chris Klick, Pete Tirado, and Frank Gondorchin.

All-Big East strong safety Mike Collins, linebacker Tim Brown, and tackle Barry Hawk ns are standouts on defense Steve Perkins and Darrick Wiley have become fine pass rushers Sophomore Buddy Hager moved ahead of Scott Gaskins at the other tackie. Backups will not Jude Mike Booth, Joe Pabian Tarr's Alexander, and Keith Morris. A deep linebacking corps features Brown, Matt Taffoni, Wes Richardson and James "Puppy" Wright Remaining with Collins in the improved secondary are free safety David Mayfield and cornerback Tommy Orr. Aaron Beasiey likely will start at the other corner.

THE PERSON NAMED IN

The Scarlet Knights have made great strides under fourth-year coach Doug Graber. They have achieved back-to-back winning seasons for the first time since 1979-80. Graber wasnit totally pleased with last years 7-4 record, including 4-2 in the Big East, because he thought it would be better. Even so he felt the Knights deserved a bow bid. He anticipates even more success this fall, however, with 14 starters returning.

Quarterbacks Bryan Fortay and Ray Lucas return to an offense which set several school records, including an all-time high of 407.2 yards per game. Fortay completed 115 of 230 passes for 1,608 yards and a record 16 touchdowns, while Lucas was 61 of 105 for 836 yards and four scores. Jim Guarantano, Rutgers' top receiver with 157 career catches, has graduated. But seven wideouts and tight ends who combined for 86 receptions last year are back. The leader is Chris Brantley, who caught 40 passes for 559 yards and six touchdowns. Soph Marco Battaglia is pressing starter Chris Stoll at tight end. Bruce Presidents.

ley, the Big East and ECAC Rook'e of the Year, set several standards for a Rutgers freshman The scatback rushed for 817 yards caught 14 passes for 263 yards, and returned 23 kickoffs for 452 yards. His 1 532 all-purpose yards ranked him second in the Big East and 17th nationally. Flashy freshman Terrell Willis will back up Presiey Fullback Bill Bailey is a fine blocker. The Ine must be rebuilt around starting tackles Ken Damman and Scott Vaughn. Mike Spitzer has been moved from defense to offensive guard. Scott Patkochis has played both guard and center.

Seven returning regulars provide a solid foundation on defense Ends Andrew Beckett and Keif Bryant are third-year starters, with soph Ibrihim Washington an experienced nose guard Bob Sneathen, Anthony Cauthen, and Shane Spells are veteran outside inebackers Help is needed for inside linebacker warill Jackson who has 158 career tackles Top tackler Malik Jackson and Jay Bellamy are all-stars in the secondary, where both are four-year regulars. Keith Price, Tim Geckeler and Shaun Smith also started several games. The kicking phase should be strong. Place-kicker. John. Benestad has booted 23 f.e.d goars and scored 139 points. Punter David Lipetz averaged 39.9 yards on 39 attempts.

VIRGINIA TECH

After back-to-back losing seasons, Frank Beamer has made some changes to help reverse the trend. He shook up his coaching staff, hiring four new assistants, and junked the wide-tackle-six defense in favor of a conventional 4-3 alignment. The Hokies must do a better job of containing opponents, having allowed 405 yards and 25.6 points per game in 1992. Yet their 2-8-1 record was deceiving. They held fourth-quarter leads in seven games, but lost five by a combined total of just 12 points. "There is no question that we have some quality players," said Beamer, in his seventh year. "I am optimistic that we can be improved in every phase of the game." Tech plays all of the other seven Big East football schools for the first time.

Offens.vely, the Hokies should be even more potent than last year (380 yards, 245 points per game). Maurice DeShazo returns at quarterback, where he passed for 1,504 yards and 12 touchdowns and added a net 206 yards rushing. Split end Antonio Freeman (32-703) set a school record as a sophomore for average yards per reception (220) Flanker Steve Sanders (14-189) also returns along with tight end John Burke. But Tech's top three rushers, who combined for 1,518 yards, are gone Dwayne Thomas, junior Ranail White, and freshman Tommy Edwards will share time at tailback, with Joe Swarm and Mike Hodges at fullback. Jim Pyne, a candidate for All-America honors and the Oulland Trophy anchors the line, He's rated by many as the nation's best center. Pyne has handled 1879 snaps without allowing a sack. Other returning starters are tackle Mike Smith and guards Chris Malone and Jared Hamlin Phin Elmassian was lured from Syracuse to install the new defense. He inherits all-Big East cornerback Tyronne Drakeford, whose seven interceptions tied him for second in the country, and five other regulars. Top tackler P.J. Preston moves from outside linebacker to rover and Stacy Henley from cornerback to safety in the new alignment, Danny Dunbar, a redshirt freshman, will pair with Drakeford on the corners. Linebacking should be strong with Ken Brown, George DelRicco, and Dwayne Knight Ends Bernard Basham and Billy Swarm must become more consistent J.C. Price has been switched to tackle.

Place-kicker Ryan Williams, the leading scorer (64 points), and punter Robbie Colley (38 1-yard average) return.

PITTSBURGH

The situation is much the same as when Johnny Majors took up the reins in 1973. The Panthers' program had hit rock bottom and he proceeded to build a powerhouse. After piloting Pittsburgh to the national championship in 1976. Majors returned to his alma mater, Tennessee for a highly successful 16-year coaching stint. Now he's back in Pittsburgh, facing a task strikingly similar to that of 20 years ago. The Panthers are coming off a 3-9 record, their worst since 1-10 in 1972. But Majors has cautioned the faithful not to expect miractes. He can't go out and bring in 75 recruits as he could—and did—back then. "We need help at every position," Majors said.

Quarterback Alex Van Pelt, third on the NCAA's all-time career passing and total offense yardage lists, has graduated. He owns virtually every school record at the position including 11,000 yards passing. Replacing Van Pelt will be sophs John Ryan or Ken Ferguson. Ryan has a slight edge on experience Among five starters returning on offense is the dazzling Dietrich Jells, a record-setting wide receiver. He caught 55 passes for 1,091 yards and eight touchdowns as a sophomore Bill Davis (34-503) also is back. Tim Colicchio and Curtis Martin, who combined for nearly 1,500 yards rushing, return at tailback. Vince Williams and Lyron Brooks are experienced fullbacks. Tackle Reuben Brown and guard Lawson Mollica are the only holdover starters in the young line, but both missed spring drills. Brown was under indefinite suspension, while Mollica rehabilitated a knee Matt Bloom and Rick Cardinali are the only other veterans at those positions, with junior college transfer Jason Stevens pushing Frank Huck at center Sophs Raymond Belvin and Chad Skrocki and redshirt freshman Luther Wormack are vying

Seven starters return on defense But Majors has switched from a 3-4 to a 4-3 alignment and juggled the depth chart. Opponents averaged a staggering 411 yards and 35 8 points per game in '92. Tackle Tom Barndt remains a stalwart up front Ends Matt Hosilyk and Mike Halapin also are back. Linebacking should be solid with Charles Williams, Jason Chavis Geraid Simpson, and Tom Tumulty. Anthony Dorsett, whose famous father Tony, was a Heisman Trophy winner under Majors, will pair with Jay Jones at the corners in a revised secondary. Chris Hupko, David Sumner, and Derrick Parker remain in the picture. Kevin Leon will do the punting Frosh Steve Kalmanides may be the place-kicker

YHMENN.

New head coach Ron Dickerson knows it won't be easy to turn the Owls around. They're mired in a 10-game losing streak, show just three victories in the last two seasons, and have yet to win a Big East Conference game. Yet Dickerson, the former defensive coordinator at Clemson, believes there's "great potential" in a program which has had only two winning seasons in the last 13. Dickerson recruited 25 prospects after being named to succeed Jerry Berndt on November 24. With just 10 starters back from last year's 1-10 team, he expects all of the freshmen to come in and provide immediate help. "There will be no redshirts," he said. "The key to our strength is our freshman class."

Quarterback Chris Paliscak is one of seven returning regulars on offense. But he's being pushed by junior college transfer Phil Lang Lew Lawhorn (14-326) and Wilbur Washing-

Ralphiel Mack is the likely starter at tailback and Sid Morse at fullback All-star Tré Johnson has established himself as one of the top tackles in the Big East, Dickerson is pleased with the play of tackle Glenn Tinner, guard Enc Johnson, and center John Summerday But quard Dean Sholders (330) needs to trim down

The Owls are looking for greater improvement on defense. Only three starters return from a unit which gave up 4313 yards and 34.8 points per game. The veterans are end. Adnan Drones, cornerback Kyle Glasper, and free safety Tony Angelo Tackle Davin Miles could be a dominant force on the line along with nose guard Scott Holland, who missed spring drills with an ankle problem. Joe Wentzel, and Sean Carden are other leading linemen. Lance Johnstone, probably the team's best athlete and Drones are the ends in the new stack alignment. Leading linebackers include Andrew Brown, Jason Thompson, and Shedrick Perry Joining Glasper and Angelo in the secondary will be Robert McWilliams and Evens Charles, although Jeff Coles and Keno Cox remain contenders

Rookie Zane Michalski will challenge Rich Maston for the place-kicking job. John Shay or Kerly Sims will do the punting

The Cadets should get over the humo in Bob. Sutton's third year as head coach Fifteen starters return from last year's team that climaxed a 5-6 season with an exciting 25-24 come-from-behind conquest of Navy in addition, nine others who started some games are available. The experienced players will enable Sulton to concentrate on fine-tuning

All but two regulars return to Army's wish bone attack, which again ranked fourth nabonally in rushing offense (265.1 yards per game) Fullback Steve Weber (750 yards). quarterback Rick Roper (603), and halfbacks Chad Davis (530) and Akili King (282) remain the leaders. Roper completed 55 of 97 passes for 708 yards, with returning wideout Paul Andrzejewski the top receiver (27-307) The offensive line looks strong Center Kevin Muir. tackles Matt Conway and Mark Escobedo, and quard Troy Prehar are holdover starters with Josh Freeman moving up at the other guard Jon Kerr takes over at tight end

Defensively, reshaping the secondary is the toughest task, with Jason Sutton the only starter back All-America free safety Mike McElrath (157 tackles) will be missed. His job is up for grabs, but Todd Turner and either James Chun or Jami Wolocko will fill two vacancies Kevin Czarnecki, who logged 131 tackles, and Pat Work return as starting linebackers

nside and Jason Miller and Aaron Mitchell outside Mitchell however, now is at nose guard, behind all-star candidate Gary Graves Tackle Jim Slomka has some starting experience, with Joel Davis filling the other tackle slot Bob Heckathorne or Mike Plara will replace Mitchell at outside linebacker

Patmon Malcom, whose 49-yard field goal with 12 seconds left beat Navy, has graduated Todd Hawkins is an experienced ounter. but the place-kicking job is wide open

RECOUR

Despite back-to-back 1-10 seasons, George Chaump isn't panicking. Neither is he planning any wholesale revisions in his fourth year as skipper. He believes the Midshipmen are so close to successful sailing that they simply need to refine the basic offens ve and defensive philosophies. A winning season would be the academy's first in more than a decade

Injuries prevented stability at quarterback last year and forced Chaump to abandon palance for an option attack after two games Strong-armed Jim Kubiak, who suffered a season-ending shoulder dislocation in the opener, returns at quarterback with Tony Solliday and Eddie Buckles, Jason Van Matre, the starting quarterback in nine games, reverts to a tailback/flanker role. He was the team's top rusher (632 yards) Buly James, Lionel Hines. and Jeff Williams are other experienced tailbacks Cleavon Smith (468 yards) Brad Stramanak, and sooh Monty Williams are competing at fullback. The top six wide receivers, led by junior Tom Pritchard (30-404), return along with starting junior tight and Kevin Hickman Tackles Max Lane and Blair Sokol and guard Dan Pidgeon remain fixtures. Junior Tom Neville has moved from tight end to center. Other teading linemen include Zach McMechan, John Formoso, Dave Gordon, and sophs Jason Jolliff and Alex Domino

Defensively, all four starters return to the secondary Steve Lipsey, Chris Hart, Jonathan Wellington, and Grover Favors. Ail-star candidate Javier Zuluaga, who had 146 tackles last year, and junior Shane Halloran lead the linebacking. The biggest problem is findng a replacement for all-East tackle Bob Kuberski End Dave Shaw is the only holdover starter up front. Others in the picture include end Dave Stowers and tackles Stacey Yopp and Ty Renick

predictions

1 Lehigh, 2. Lalayette, 3. Holy Cross. 4 Colgale, 5. Buckriell, 6. Fordham

Losing quarterback form Kirchhoff and all but fifth-year senior guard Dave Pyne and tight end Craig Roubinek from the offensive line will make repeating difficult for Lafayette

Perhaps an even more significant factor is Scott Semptimphelter of Lehigh, the only established quarterback in the Patriot League, who passed for a league-high 3,190 yards and 19 touchdowns and ranked fourth nationally in I-AA total offense. "Lehigh has the best returning quarterback, but still you've got to have other things," Lafayette coach Bitl Russo said "It's a quarterback league It's always a good start for the title"

Like Lafayette, Lehigh returns most of its defensive unit. The Engineers retain their entire line and two of their three starting fine-backers. Lehigh is a tenuous favorite but Lafayette or Holy Cross also can win it. "I think we can be good," said Lehigh coach Hank Small, an offensive marvel who has produced a string of outstanding quarterbacks. "But with Delaware and Idaho on our schedule, will the record show it?"

Holy Cross, which has five championships in the seven year history of the league, won six of its last eight games behind freshman quarterback Andy Fitzpatrick after an 0-3 start Lafayette has tailback Erik Marsh, the league's offensive player of the year, who rushed for 1,365 yards, and nine defensive regulars returning

The teague is saving its best for last. On November 20, Lafayette will be at Lehigh white Holy Cross plays Fordham at home

LIESTONE

The Engineers' stock could rise dramatically after coach Hank Small gets a look at senior tailback Mark Lookenbilt, who sat out most of last season following knee surgery. "The question with Lookenbill is to what degree will be return... for a guy who makes a living off quick cuts," Small said. "I won't know until [preseason'] camp. He's a big part of the equation "Lookenbill scored a league-leading 18 touchdowns as a junior. Small moved Lookenbill's replacement last year, Jason

Mastropierro, back to fullback in the spring and went to camp with Lookenbill and four freshmen lined up at tailback. While the running game gets sorted out, it's a cinch Lehigh will move the ball through the air with Scott Semptimphelter, the league's lotal offense leader Small's club has led the league in passing offense and been ranked in the top 10 nationally for five straight years. Semptimphelter passed for a school-record 480 yards in a 32-29 season-ending loss at Lafayette-319 yards on 11 completions to wide receiver Jason Costino, Their performances, however, were not enough to negate a 251-yard rushing effort by Lafayette's Erik Marsh, the game MVP Semptimphelter won't have Cristino to go to, but veteran wideouts Dave Cecchini and Kevin Rubin are still around. An untested line is anchored by massive tackles Ray Powers (6-7, 275) and Marcelo Campillay (6-3, 290) and center Bill Hahner

The defense shouldn't have to do much more than slow down the opposition. A line featuring end Brett Almassy put a premium on the weight room during the offseason. The vetern linebacking corps has Kevin Jefferson, a four-year starter and second-team all-league. Two key additions to the unit are linebacker Greg Moore, a junior college transfer from idaho, and free safety Mike Blunt, who missed last season with a broken bone in his right wrist Craig Melograno led the league with a 36 6-yard punting average.

But Lehigh's forte is offense. Defenses try to be an their toes but quickly find themselves on their heels.

LABORITOR

The Leopards are in a position where they must ride their horse, junior tailback Erik Marsh. What remains to be seen is if a rebuilt offensive line can open the stable doors to the pasture. Jason Carnevale has one final chance after three seasons as a junior varsity quarterback, Russo said he would prefer not to start one of his three frosh quarterbacks The return of junior tailback John Kahn trig gered the switch of the talented Jarrett Shine. the team's rookie of the year, from tailback to flanker. Sophomore Tramont Evans, another speedy back, goes from the secondary to split end. Senior fullback Chris Flood rushed for 301 yards, caught 24 passes, and helped clear the way for Marsh, who needs 793 yards to become Latayette's all-time rusher. Another plus is place-kicker Jason McLaughlin

A beleaguered defense that yielded nearly 26 points a game last fall now is a veteran unit that is deep at linebacker. Ironicelly, a linebacker to watch is the new man in the middle sophomore Rawle Howard, and a new starting lineman, end Harnson Bailey, led the team with seven sacks. Senior end Pete Ohnegian and junior tackle Derek Mast each had six sacks and strong safety Mark Reardon, a fifthyear senior, was the No. 2 tackler

HOLD DECAS

Peter Vaas, a former Holy Cross quarterback invested in the future during his first season as head coach at his alma mater. He went wire-to-wire with freshman Andy Fitzpatrick at quarterback and eight other first-time starters. The Crusaders paid a steep price in productivity, but Vaas understands quarterbacks "I look for consistent growth," he said By season's end, Fitzpatrick was playing well.

enough to earn the league's Rookie of the Year award. He passed for 972 yards and ran for 399, throwing only two of his nine interceptions over the last six games -both on long passes at the end of the first half. He's Holy Cross's finest running quarterback in years. Fitzpatnck will give the ball to tailback Eric Sampson and fullback Scott Wikander. Another back to watch is A.C. Cravedi, The line is built around senior tackte Frank Visconti and junior tight end Joe Cooney.

Fans grew accustomed to watching Holy Cross's defensive unit, No. 3 in the country, smother the opposition (275 total yards per game). The Crusaders have nine new faces on defense with two first-team all-league performers, senior linebacker Rob Milanette, the league's preseason defensive player of the year, who led the team in tackles, and senior strong safety Todd Araujo, who led the league with five interceptions. Seniors Scott McCabe move from end to tackle, and Mark Kirk from inside to outside linebacker.

Senior punter Jeff Meader was first team allleague and Anthony Pignio was the secondteam place-kicker

COLUMN

The Red Raiders seem committed to re-establishing a once-proud program. It won't happen overnight, Athletic Director Mark Murphy, the ex-Redskin, carried out the difficult choice of replacing coach Mike Foley, a former Colgate teammate, with Ed Sweeney from Division III Dickinson Coilege The coaching change was one of several significant offseason developments. Center Kyndle Mongeon. was stabbed to death in an off-campus incident. Mike Whalen was hired off the staff at Lafayette, where he was recruiting coordinator and offensive line coach, and partly responsible for an outstanding ground attack. Frosh corner Corey Hurst and soph punter Adam Rennert, Floridians both, escaped the harsh New York winters by going home

Tailback Bill Sparacio, first-team all-league, is the marquee offensive player. He ll run behind a rebuilt line that includes starting tackles. Todd Kehley and Mike Boorman. Sparacio's backup, junior Dana Fariand, rushed for 101 yards against Holy Cross's nationally ranked defense one week last fall when Sparacio was njured. Quarterback will come from among Chris Lane, Mike Rymsha, and Bill McDuffee. The Red Raiders will have a decent corps of receivers, including flanker Tom Nash, who missed the first six games last year with a broken collarbone.

The defense is learning a new system for the second time in two years, going from a 3-4 to a 4-3 and now a 4-4. Tony Barrett was a second-team all-league defensive back last year Sweeney not only needs to build the offensive and defensive lines, but come up with a punter and place-kicker. The Red Raiders play a brutal early schedule that includes back-to-back games at Rutgers and Army to open the season, and at Navy in the sixth week before the league schedule begins.

BUCKMELL

The Bison, with massive holes in the backfield and in both lines, are headed for their third straight losing season. And it's vital that junior quarterback Travis Kopp stay in one piece. He was ranked 13th in the country in passing efficiency and punting for a 36.7-yard average when he broke a foot at Holy Cross and missed the last four games. Kopp had offseato son shoulder surgery the year before. The oss of their four top rushers leaves the Bison with jun or Craig Svendsen as the likely starter at tailback, Brad Bernardini (5-7, 150), the eague's champion sprinter caught eight passes for 151 yards last season. Another wideout is senior Damon Garner (19-137)

The Bison have strong linebacking that features Russ Strohecker and Dan Zappa, each of whom had more than 100 tackles. Cecil Boone is the only returning starter in the defensive line. Coach Lou Maranzana is hopeful that freshman Richie M. Ier is the answer to his team's kicking woes. Bucknell converted only one of five field goals and missed six of 24 extra points last year

ECHDHAR

Last in total oflense, the Rams made offens ve Ine coach Kevin Naughton their fourth offensive coordinator in as many years. And coach Larry Gueck vowed, 'We'll throw the ball more than we've ever thrown it." That may be in part because the Rams are hurting for exper enced running backs. Junior tailback Chris Ross rushed for 416 yards, starting the ast six games, Junior quarterback John Poniman started the last five games, completing 62 of 151 passes for 641 yards and five touchdowns. When Pohlman wings it, he'll at least have decent protection. The Rams not only have an experienced the but depth as well The anchor is senior Rob Birk, a 6-5, 270pound tack e

The Rams also have experience in the delensive ine. Aaron Dougherty Ryan Reinert, and Aaron Torgrer produced 16 sacks. But a unit that ranked fifth nationally against the run and 19th overalt in I-AA will slip considerably Mostly new faces will man the linebacker and secondary positions in a 4-3 alignment. Senior Mike Costanzo goes to outside linebacker and Maurice O'Shea into the middle. Mike Will s the only veteran in a young secondary.

Fordham has not won more than two games in a season since upgrading its program from Division Id in 1989. That string doesn't appear to be in danger

yankee conference

- 1 Delaware, 2. Villanova, 3. William & Mary,
- 4. Richmond, 5. Massachusetts,
- 6. Northeastern, 7. Connecticut,
- 8. James Madison, 9. Boston University,
- 10. New Hampshire, 11. Maine,
- 12 Rhode Island

If bigger really is better this should be a banner season for the Yankee Conference. The league has expanded to 12 teams, adding William & Mary James Madison and Northeastern. William & Mary will be the newcomer making the biggest impact, but the old guard will have a of to say about who wins the champronship, Everyone will be chasing defending champion Delaware, where Tubby Raymond has assembled another offensive machine that could steamroll back into the I-AA national playoffs. The Blue Hens last year became the first team from the Yankee Conference since 1984 to reach the semifinals, routing Samford in the first round to snap an 11-game postseason losing streak for the conference Then they knocked off No. 1 seed Northeast Louisiana before being eliminated by eventual champion Marshall Villanova, which received an at-large bid to the playoffs, was ousted in the opening round by Youngstown State

The Yankee Conference may have a different look with three new teams, but there will be a lot of familiar faces with seven first-team alleague selections and 16 second-teamers returning. There also will be two new coaches stalking the sidelines. Jack Cosgrove at Maine and Floyd Keith at Rhode Island

THE WARREN

Tubby Raymond has put together another point-a-minute club that can find the end zone n a hurry and in a veriety of ways. Delaware returns most of the arsenal that scored 503 points a year ago as the 11-3 Fightin' Blue Hens won the Yankee Conference championship and reached the sem finals of the national tournament. They scored 57 points against Maine, 56 against Samford, 55 against Towson State, and 40 three other times

Two-year backup Dale Fry and reashirt freshman Leo Hamlett are the leading candidates to replace wing-T quarterback Bill Vergantino, who set 25 school records. They will have the luxury of throwing to Dan Cooper (50 catches for 797 yards and 7 TDs) and tight ends Tom Fitzpatrick and Rob Highee Bruisng fullback Daryl Brown (1,240 yards and 10 TDs) and halfback Lanue Johnson (756, 12) are reunited in the backfield. They will run behind second-team all-YC guard Geoff Hannan and tack e Matt Wildes

Eight starters are back on defense, led by Erst-team ale-YC end Matt Morrill a pair of second-team all-YC linebackers, Mike Bandish and Pat Mulhern and cornerback Scott Acker, the lone returnee in the secondary Place-kicker Steve Leo and punter Brian Meyers give Delaware a solid kicking game

VILLANOVA

The Wildcats enter their 100th season of football with a lot of question marks, but Andy Talley has enough potential answers at his disposal to make this a memorable season Still, don't look for Villanova to repeat last year's 9-3 record and appearance in the NCAA playoffs

Tailey's first order of business will be to restructure a defense that will be hard pressed to match the success it enjoyed last year when it ranked No. 1 in the country against the run (77.8 yards per game) and fourth in total defense (276.8) and scoring defense (14.7 points) Only four players are back from that unit, including junior free safety Davian Logan, who had a team-high three interceptions and is the leading returning tackler. The other veterans are tackle Mike Hoffman, iinebacker Andy Cobaugh, and free safety Matt Smith

The offense will have a major makeover, emphasizing the run more now that quarterback Torn Colombo is gone. The Wildcats are loaded at tailback with Kevin Mosley (814 yards and 10 TDs) and Eric Hunt (181-1) Vernon Smith, who rushed for 605 yards and seven TDs in 1991, returns after missing last seesoл for family reasons. Senior Brad Parpan is the only quarterback with any experience, having completed 34 of 73 for 440 yards and four touchdowns last fall. He will be looking in the direction of franker Harold Hunt, whose 49 receptions for 699 yards and seven TDs led the Wildcats a year ago. The line is established with tackies Bill Lacey and Dick Ras and guard Jose Ramirez

Bill Hoffman, whose longest field goal was 42 yards, connected on 13 of 21 to provide another scoring threat

WILLIAM & MARY

Coach Jimmye Laycock s Indians, always one of the top offensive teams in the country have 14 returning starters and all the ingredients necessary to reach the playoffs. They decided to skip the tournament in 1992 to participate in the Epson Ivy Bowl in the Tokyo Dome Their 9-2 record doesn't include an exhibition 35-19 victory over Nihon University

Quarterback Shawn Knight, a fleet senior who played basebal in the spring and ranked in the top 10 in the country in sto en bases, completed 124 of 195 for 1,890 yards and 11 touchdowns last fall and rushed for 244 yards and six TDs Tailback Derek Fitzgerald was named the ECAC Rookie of the Year and set a school freshman record rushing for 835 yards and 11 TDs. Wideout Corey Ludwig, a twoyear starter, caught 33 passes for 506 yards and three TDs and Mike Tomlin is a long-ball threat (22-560-4). Terry Hammons, a starter in 1991, will add depth after sitting out 1992, All of the offensive linemen are fifth-year sentors, ied by guard Tom Waiters.

The stalwart of the defense is tackle Cra.g. Staub an active senior who had 71 tackles, eight sacks, and four tackles for loss a year ago Others back are linebackers Eric Lambert and Jason Miller (97 tackles), cornerback Marc Richards, and end Melvin Griffin.

Jim Marshall knows offense. And the Spiders know how to put points on the board from anywhere on the field. Just about all of the main characters are back from last year's 7-4 team that set school records for points (338). touchdowns (46), yards (4,761), and first downs (250) The Spiders, who spent seven weeks in the top 20, earned Marshall the Yankee Conference Coach of the Year award

Richmond's two most lethal offensive weapons are quarterback Greg Lilly, the Yankee Conference Player of the Year, and tailback Uly Scott, Lilly completed 162 of 275 for a school-record 2,704 yards and 19 touchdowns. Scott tied a Richmond record with 78 points on 13 TDs, ran for 1,318 yards the second-best total in school history, and caught 15 passes for 84 yards. Fullback Michae Henderson (309 yards) does the dirty work. Lilly again will throw to his favorite receiver Rod Boothes who caught 47 passes for a school-record 1,115 yards and 10 TDs Rodney Bowens (21-280) is a deep threat and tight end Price Williams (29-417) has no fear going over the middle. Tackle Scott Wenk anchors a reconstructed line.

The secondary will be the strength of the defense returning free safety Maurice Glenn, comerbacks Brian Lyle and Chris Owens, and strong safety Scott Burton, who led the team with five interceptions last season. Tackle Matt Joyce, second-team all conference, and I nebacker Jeff Edm ston are standouts

MASSACHUSETTS

Expectations are much higher than a year ago, when UMass did the unexpected by gong 7-3 in coach Mike Hodges's first season With 17 starters back, including all 11 on offense, the Minutemen will be expected to challenge for the conference hite. They are deep in experience and talent on both sides of the ball, with a ground-oriented offense featuring sophomore Rene Ingoglia (656 yards) and a swarming defense led by outstanding linebackers Mario Perry and Scott Assencoa.

Ingoglia managed to be named Rookie of the Year despite missing 2½ games with a sprained ankle. Option quarterback Andrew McNeilly completed 44.7 percent of his passes for 774 yards and four louchdowns and rushed for 203 yards. His favorite targets again will be split end Matt Read (18 catches for 315 yards) and tight end Steve Dembowski, who had a team-high 19 receptions for 243 yards Fullback Mike George (475 yards) and tailback John Johnson (234) put additional punch into the attack. The line revolves around guards Bill Durkin, an all-conference performer, and second-learn selection Phil Hallard

Defensively the Minutemen are solid up front superb at linebacker, and a bit suspect in the secondary Perry covered a of of ground last season to total 15 sacks, five forced fumbles, and 68 tackies. Assencea had 84 tackles. Juniors Brian Corcoran and Ben Albert solidify the line, but Tony Williams. who started at quarterback in 1991 is the ione proven veteran in the backfield

HOSTHEATTERN

Remember the name Clarze | Pearl You could hear a lot from the junior quarterback who will be the key to the season for the Huskies, a team desperately looking for someone to ignite coach Barry Gallup's run-and-shoot offense. Pearl is a big question mark because of a lack of experience, but there's no questionng his athletic ability. He has quick feet and a quick release. The Huskies will surround him with skilled people who can make things happen. Kevin Williams rushed for 664 yards and five touchdowns and wide receiver Jeremy Gobel had 38 catches for 516 yards and six TDs. The line has experience with tackles Austin Saladin and John Robinson, center Joe Pittorino, and guard John Douzep's

Nine defensive starters are back, spearheaded by senior strong safety Mark Salisbury. Free safety Jason Seapker had a teamhigh 75 tackles, followed by linebacker David Atwood, End Miles McLean had eight sacks The Huskies should surpass last year's 5-5-1 record with an improved defense and a consistent effort from Pear

DOMEST TO MY

Don't be surprised if the Huskies are the surprise team this season in the Yankee Conference. But quarterback Zeke Rodgers won't be sneaking up on people as he did last season, when he started the final five games and put UConn's offense into high gear Rodgers, who led UConn to a 3-2 record was named the league's Rookie of the Week four times and completed 58.1 percent for 1 107 yards and nine touchdowns on the year. The Huskies averaged 27.4 points with Rodgers in the I'neup compared with 19.7 prior to his insertion Coach Tom Jackson 's toying with the idea of putting his two most productive runners, Ed Long (900 yards and 8 TDs) and Wilbur Girlard (679-9), in the same backfield. They never were on the field together last season because Long missed three games with a broken finger and Gilliard was side ined for a couple of games with vanous ailments. The duo will work behind a huge line that averages 6-5 and 280 pounds per man. The Huskles will often veer to the right behind Pat Waish (6-10 293) and Alonzo Montague (6-3, 284). UConn. is shy on experienced receivers, with Monte Nowden the only veteran

The defensive strength is at linebacker, where Paul Duckworth and Bruce Bourgoin cover a lot of ground. Mike McCarthy leads a young line and strong safety Gary Bailey and cornerback Scott Mitchel the secondary

ALCOHOL: BUYCHNIAM

Rip Scherer's program will undergo a major face-lift in 1993. The Dukes, a member of the Yankee Conference after being an independent since 1980, will have a new look on detense with the 4-3 alignment and a complete overhaul on offense without quarterback Eriq Will ams, the first player in NCAA Division I-AA history to pass for 5 000 yards and run for 2,500, and tailback Kenny Sims JMU's attack will be a shell of the one that averaged 30 3 points and 411 4 yards per game a year ago

The really bad news is on defense, where the Dukes must find a way to at least slow people down after they allowed 32.3 points and 471.9 yards per game. They won't be able to trade touchdowns as they did in victones (52-49) over Youngstown State and Northeastern (35-34). The good news-sort of-is the return of six starters from the defense. The leading tacklers back are tackle Tyrone Washington, end Dion Foxx, and linebacker Clint Dunn. Other returnees are end. Julius Williams, tackle Lamont Gooding, and cornerback Day of Quattlebaum.

The Dukes have a game-breaking receiver n David McLeod, whose 58 receptions were a school record, but they don't know who's going to get him the bail. The top quarterback candidates are Gary Lyons, who completed both of the passes he threw last season, and redshirt freshmen Tony Jordan and Shawn Goodwin Fullback Joe Sparksman, who sat out last season after starting in 1991, and returnee Steve Agee (314 yards) give JMU a solid short vardage game. The line has a thoof experienced players center Brad Morris, guard John Kraus, and tackle Kris Orendorff

POSLOW OMIDENZILA

Dan Alien's run-and-shoot offense can keep lans on the edge of their seats with big plays, but the Terriers must find a way to stop the run if they re going to better last year's 3-8 record Opponents ran up and down the field for 32 points per game. The Terriers, who created some anticipation for this season by Winning the r final two games, return 18 starters.

Quarterback Greg Moore, who completed almost 60 percent for 1,211 yards and 10 touchdowns, and running backs Zack Burwell (587 yards) and Ron Jenkins (318) have proven they can move the ball. The Terners have a quality receiving corps. Tight end Paul Francisco is a devastating brocker who had 15 receptions and three TDs and Jason Andrade (42-561-4) and Carnell Henderson (47-595-3) are deep threats. A workmanlike line will be headed by center Andre Maksimow and guards Matt Demshar and Tim Foley

The defense, which hopes to improve with experience, features outside linebackers John Schaefer who had a team-high 134 tackles a year ago, and John Hickey Andy Brennan, who missed last season because of a neck injury after leading the Terriers in tackes in 1991, will be a welcome addition at nside linebacker Tackie Mike Pedone is a good one up front and the secondary returns. safeties Pablo Rodriguez and Marc Fauci and cornerbacks Chris He on and John May

HEW HAME SHIPE

With a few more good bounces and fewer interceptions, the Wildcats easily could have gone 9-2 instead of 5-5-1 last season. They lost three games by a total of 12 points and settled for a 10-10 tie against Northeastern

Coach Bil Bowes who has a 136-78-5 record in 21 seasons, will again fill the air with footballs. Strong-armed junior quarterback Jim Stayer was fourth in the conference, completing 59.1 percent for 2,220 yards and 11 touchdowns. But he must cut down on his 14 interceptions if the Wildcats are to move the ball more consistently. The pass-happy Wildcats led the conference in 1992 with 259 5 yards per game. But they lost their top two receivers, so look for David Gambie (46 calches for 737 yards and 3 TDs) to emerge as Stayer's No. 1 target. The running game is a mystery, with fullback Lee McClinton the only returnee Tackle Kerth Novak and guards ueffrey Curina and Steve Wagoner fortify the line. The team's hidden offensive weapon is east

Avrom Smith, the league leader in kickoff returns with a 27 9-yard average

A defense that ranked third in the conference by allowing 339.0 yards per game should be even better with eight starters back, led by second-team all-conference corner-back Bob Jordan whose seven interceptions tied for second in the league.

MIND DIAM

Jack Cosgrove spent the past four seasons as UM's offensive coordinator constructing a well-balanced attack that ranked with the best in the Yankee Conference. Now he must reconstruct that offense in his first year as the head coach. He has to find a way to replace the 1,214 yards that Ben Sirmans piled up on the ground and most of the linemen who opened the holes for him. Only three players are back from the unit that scored 23 1 points per game. More of the load will be placed on the shoulders of junior quarterback Emilio Colon, a two-year starter who completed 157 of 256 passes for 1,823 yards and 13 touch downs and rushed for 142 yards. The top returning ground-gainer is sophomore fullback Ray Baur (266 yards) The Black Bears lost their top Iwo receivers but retain tight end Brian Gaine (21 catches for 212 yards) and wideouts Frizeli Davis (26-306). Steve Cates (21-246) and Kenny Squires (20-262).

There are six good reasons why Maine should be able to shore up a defense that was tough against the run but still surrendered nearly 25 points per game linebacker Jemai Murph (94 tackles and 4 interceptions), end Fred Harner tackles Todd Park and Jed Wehrman, cornerback Fred Guions, and free

SHOOM ISLAND

It can't get much worse for the Rams, can it? After going 1-10 last season, losing the final 10, URI hired Floyd Keith to turn things around Or at least to make the Rams respectable. Keith's top priority will be to shore up a defense that was shredded for nearly 31 points per game in 1992. The Rams simply couldn't step anybody from running all over them, allowing 249.5 yards per game on the ground. They return five defensive starters including sen or linebacker Dave Slattery, the team's No. 3 tackler. He also topped the Rams in tackles as a freshman and sophomore. The rebuilt defense will count on huge contributions from free safety Gregg Hoffman, cornerbacks Brian Merritt and Troy Rothman, and end Kevin Shirley.

URI's offense was erratic last season because the Rams threw 28 interceptions, 14 by quarterback Tony Squitieri, who completed 144 of 302 passes for 1,958 yards and 11 touchdowns, Fullback Kevin Quinn (562 yards and 4 TDs) and tailback Shundell Hicks (384-1) were the top ground gainers. The Rams have a familiar look up front, with tackles Chris Keneally and Tod Short, guard Dave Kolman, and center Joe Bean

ivy league

- 1 Dartmouth, 2 Princeton, 3. Penn,
- 4 Cornell, 5. Yale, 6. Harvard, 7 Brown,
- 8. Columbia

There have been some high-profile players in the Ivy League's past, individuals who took their game to a higher level, a national level, and even to the NFL. Calvin Hill at Yale and Ed Marinaro at Cornell, to name a couple. But two in one year? In the Ivy League?

"We've had this situtation, with Gary Fencik [Chicago Bears] and Dick Jauron [Detroit Lions] and Calvin Hill [Dallas Cowboys] in the late '60s and Ed Marinaro [Minnesota Vikings], who was in the Heisman race in the 70s," said Carm Cozza, Yale's coach for the last 29 years. "But not for quite a white." Hill was the NFL's top draft choice in 1969, the only one the lvy League has ever produced Marinaro, who led the nation in rushing, finished high in the Heisman voting that year

Now comes Jay Fiedler, a quarterback at Dartmouth, and Keith Elias, a Princeton running back, who likely will draw more NFL attention this season than any two players in the same season in the league since then If their physical dimensions don't appear particularly imposing for NFL consideration, their statistics-no matter their level of competition-do. The 5-11, 195-pound Elias was the top rusher in Division I-AA last season with 157.5 yards per game, set a I-AA record for most yards rushing in two consecutive games (572), and tied an NCAA mark for most yards gained in three consecutive games (711) The 6-2, 215pound Fiedler was the top-ranked quarterback in passing efficiency (169 35) in the NCAA-all divisions

The league is entering a new era, with freshmen eligible for the first time (next year, can you handle this, spring practice), but it's an old story as to which tearns figure to battle it out for the title. In the last two years, the championship was decided in the final game of the season between Dartmouth and Princeton There is parity in one area, where seven teams have incumbents at quarterback.

SAUCTHOUGH

The Big Green won the title outright by beating Princeton in the last game of the season two years ago and fied the Tigers for the crown by winning at Princeton last year. They will be going for a win or a share of the title for the fourth straight season,

Jay Fiedler, who completed 64 percent of his passes and threw for 25 touchdowns last season, has 75 percent of his receiving corps returning John Hyland, David Shearer, and John Clifford But keeping the defense honest could be a problem since the top four running backs have departed. The loss of fullbacks Neil Martin and Russ Torres, who were the keys to the pass-blocking schemes, could be especially troubtesome if seniors Chris Umscheid and Matt Burkholder don't perform There are also questions on the offensive line. where three of last year's starters are gone, but fifth-year all-league senior Andy MacDonald is back at tackle. Nat Cook at center, and Duncan MacLean at quard. Across the line coach John Lyons doesn't appear to have a problem. Eight starters from the defense that ranked second in the league against the runand third overall return, headed by all-lyy outside linebacker George Neos (12 sacks)

Coach Steve Tosches is 38-21-1 since taking over in 1987 at the age of 31. Those numbers will surely get better with running back Keith Elias, a consensus first-team All-America, and his bodyguard, fullback Peter Balley, back "We will give Elias the ball 25 or 30 times a game," Tosches said. "We'd be shortchanging ourselves if we didn't, "Senior quarterback Joe. Foote, who was 7-1 as a starter and has a current streak of 116 passes without an interception, returns. The defense has one key returnee in all-lvy tackle Reggie Harris, who had seven sacks last season, but both lines need to be rebuilt. And the loss of all-purpose Michael Lerch, who caught 30 passes for 579 vards and averaged over 120 yards in offense per game, could be critica.

The Quakers are another team with an experienced quarterback, Jim McGeehan, but defense appears to be their game. Al Bagnoli, who went 7-3 in his first season after coming from Union Coilege, where he was the American Football Coaches Association Region 1 Coach of the Year four times, is stocked with expenence from a team that ranked sixth in Division I-AA in total defense (280 7 yards per game), fifth in points allowed (144), and third in pass defense (90.39). Ends Michael Turner and Dave Betten, who combined for 127 tackles are back, as are tackles Kelly Tolton and Wayne Droesser Linebacker Pat Goodwille, who led the team in tackles, was the IVV League Sophomore of the Year The secondary is not as experienced, with senior Jim Magallanes at strong safety and jun or James Daniels at cornerback McGeehan who was slow to pick up the new offense, started six games and threw for 909 yards, but he should be able to upgrade his game behind an offens ve line that returns seven lettermen. The receiving corps out five players to graduation, but senior Ben Holman and junior tight end Warren Rosborough are back. The running game will miss all-vy Sundiata Rush, who averaged 106 yards per game, but much is expected from junior Terrance Stokes. Remember the names of running back Maurice Barton, receiver Miles Macik, and quarterback Clarence Friend. They are off the 5-1 freshman team.

COMMEN

This team was en route to the league title and had its longest winning streak since 1971

when if was ambushed by Columbia and Penn in the last two games of the season. So start over with all-livy senior linebacker Chris Zingo, who set a school single-season record for tackies (179) had eight sacks, and three blocked kicks astifall. He needs just 11 tackies to be Cornellis all time leader Junior linebacker John Vitulio, who is coming off an 84-tackle season complements Zingo nicely Senior quarterback Bill Lazor owns 17 school passing records, including consecutive passes without an interception (124). Two of those records had been held by coach Jim Hofher (14-7 in league, 19-11 in three years)

There is a lack of depth, so the club cannot afford many injuries. And there are holes to fill Running back Scott Ollaro (834 yards) is gone so senior Pete Fitzpatrick, the teams No 2 rusher will have to step up for a learn that was second in the league in total offense Mike Jamin, second in school history in receiving yards, and five other targets are gone Also, a reinforcement will have to be found for all by center Troy Thompson

TOTAL

Color the Blue green. Coach Carm Cozza will be looking for at least a few good men to replace 34 players lost from a team that went 4-6 overall and 2-5 in the league after it won three of its first four games

Want a reason for optimism? Keith Price who collected 1,141 yards, averaged 4.7 per run, led the Elis in pass receptions (16 for 151 yards), and scored half the team's touchdowns (11), is one of the returnees. His ground production was the third-highest in school history and included five 100-yard games. Need another reason? Quarterback Steve Mills, who threw for 863 yards and three TDs (he ran for two others) despite being sacked 28 times is also back. And consider that Yale teams, under Cozza, have a history of rebounding after losing seasons, the latest being the 1988 team that won the lvy title after a 3-6-1 record in 1987.

Now back to reality. Replacements for four regulars on the offensive line, three starting defensive lineman, two linebackers and 75 percent of the defensive backfield must be found. Outside linebackers John Saunders, who was in on 95 tackies and had two sacks and inside linebacker Carl Ricci, who ed the team with 103 tackles, will likely be busy. The schedule, which includes Holy Cross, Central Florida, and Connecticut, is considered one of the toughest in recent years.

AAHMARIE

You want tough? Take Crimson linebacker Brian Ramer. He had 59 tackies, two interceptors, a fumble recovery, and four sacks last fall. Wonder what he could have done with two good arms? Most of the numbers came while he wore a cast on his right arm. Harvard will return a healthy Ramer, but two other starting linebackers, the entire defensive line, and three-fourths of the secondary have graduated. Senior left comerback Jay Filis is the other surviving member of a defensive unit that was No. 2 in league games a year ago.

There is more optimism for the offense especially since two year starter Mike Giardi, a second-team all-leaguer, is back. He may ranking the passing through the team's all-time passing yardage (2,464) list is tied for the school record in rushing TDs (21), and is the No. 3 career scorer with 128 points. And the numbers do not tell it all He threw only three interceptions in 172 passes last season and twice rushed for 100 yards in a game. Giardi may get some time and space to do his thing since four starters, led by all-vy second-teamer Jason Slavik are back to protect him.

HEROWAL

Mickey Kwiatkowsk, isn't asking much, "All I want is improvement," he said of his program, which didn't produce a victory last season. He better get it. Don't look now, but the turnover among coaches in the Ivy League does not reflect the league's "academics first" philosophy. There have been more coaches fired in the Ivy League than in the Big Ten. You could look it up. Kwiatkowski, who came from the staff at Hofstra, which made the NCAA playoffs five times, was also previously the offensive coordinator at Southwest Missouri State for four years with no losing records. He is taking over the direction of the offense and entrusting the league's most porous defense to Jim Fleming, in from Boise State and touted for his aggress ve philosophy.

First the bad news Brown will be the only team in the league without an incumbent quarterback, Gordie Myers, the MVP of the freshman team last fail, rushed for three touchdowns and passed for two in just six quarters of piay and looks like the leading candidate. Youth will also be served in the running game, where Jose Torres, Paul Gillette, Anthony Alexander, and Jody Gallegos figure to see plenty of time If the offensive ine which returns four starters who average 275 pounds, gives the quarterback time, the Bruns have two good returning receivers in runfors Brennan Nakane and Charlie Buckley

Now, the good news: Three starters—Eugene Smith John Powers, and Karl Lozanne return in a secondary that was No. 2 in the lvy in pass defense. Of course, opponents didn't have to throw very often. The Bruins gave up 260 rushing yards per game

POST TORONTO

This is Ray Teller's team the first one with all players he recruited. And the team he will take into the 1993 season has momentum, having won its last two games last season, one of which derailed Cornell's title hopes. The Lions are mainly counting on offense, since the defense has been ravaged by graduation. Much will depend on quarterback Chad Andrzejewski, who threw for nine touchdowns and 1,897 yards last fall. Those numbers however are sulled by his league-high 14 interceptions. A big hole on offense lieft by Des Werthmen (10 TDs and 185 yards rushing when he wasn't playing linebacker), the runner-up to Princeton's Keith Elias for the Ivy League Player of the Year award, must be filled. Marcellus Wiley, who led the frosh in rushing, and Greg Evans a transfer from Air Force, are candidates for the vacancy.

Werthmen will a so have to be replaced on defense, but all-lvy tackie Sean Nichols, who had seven sacks last season, is back. Recruits up from the freshman team could play a big role: free safety Tom Cusick, cornerback Steve Choe, defensive backs Scott Eastman and Ralph Hudson, linebacker Jake Lill, and fullback John Harper.

metro atlantic athletic conference 1. St. John's, 2. Iona. 3. St. Peler's, 4. Canisius, 5. Georgetown, 6. Siena

There are no scholarships no spring practice, and virtually no idea of how the Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference will unfold in its first college football season. Four MAAC teams (Canisius, Iona, Siena, and St. Peters) and two reluctant football powers from the Big East (Georgetown and St. John's) have melded in an NCAA-mandated move up from Division III to a different style, low-profile Division I-AA, "Let's face it, we're talking semantics here," Canisius coach Barry Mynter said. "We were Division I teams last year, and we are again this year, no matter what you call it."

The MAAC called it the only way to go after attempts eitner to remain in Division III or form a Division I-AAA were shot down. "Our first preference was to remain at the Division III level but the NCAA membership voted against it," Siena athletic director John D Argenio said. So here we go on a magical, mystery maiden season: Division III football packaged smartly as I-AA

ST. JOHN'S

The Redmen are best equipped for the jump up. Favorite? We don't want to hear it," coach Bob Ricca deadpanned before conceding, "We know we have a good group returning. On paper, we took pretty solid," For openers, the offense returns four high-profile players. Senior tailback Anthony Russo, the school's all-time leading rusher (4,276 yards) went for 1,479 yards and 15 touchdowns last season. Senior Sean Sharkey completed 54 percent of his passes for 1.702 yards and 18. TDs and was second in rushing. His favorite receivers are senior Anthony ladevaic (47 catches for 722 yards and 3. TDs) and junior Tom Mac-Pherson (36-571-14).

So why wasn't St John's better than 5-5 last fal? Injuries wrecked Ricca's 3-4 defense.

Ray Lambright, who had 73 lackles and seven sacks in 1991, broke his leg in the '92 season opener Linebackers Chris Carew and Martin Wade missed most of the year with torn knee I gaments and nose guard Al Bruno (torn arch) played hurt practically every game "Ray is the biggest key," Ricca said, In 15 seasons in Division III, the Redmen were 92-59-1 Now they aim higher. "We're looking forward to new horizons," Ricca said

The Gaels' 5-5 season was tainled by four losses decided by seven points or less, including a painful 33-30 defeat administered by St. John's in the opener, Iona squandered a 24-13 half-time lead, failing to end an 11year drought against the Redmen This fall the Gae's finish at St. John's in a game which could decide the league championship

The Gaels come out throwing In '92, they averaged 283 yards through the air and an abysmal 31 on the ground Junior quarterback Tom Proudian, who passed for 875 yards and nine touchdowns, runs the run-andshoot with an explosive corps of receivers headed by senior wideout Eugene McGowan, who caught a school-record 59 passes in '92 for 864 yards and eight TDs. Senior tackle Guy Stankiewicz leads the offensive line

Though the defense loses leading tackler Andrew Cox, nine starters return, including Inebackers Tom Oakes and Mike Morgan, back Jim Torhan (6 interceptions) and lineman Vincent Santelia (7 sacks)

ST. PETER'S

In going 7-2 in 92 The Peacocks doubled the ripponents points (185-92) and beat two MAAC rivals Georgelown and Siena. Big plays? Free safety Scott Mahike returned a short, lourth-quarter field goal attempt 109 yards for a touchdown to beat rival Jersey City State 20-14 in the Boulevard Block Trophy Game Split end Ray Marshall didn't go quite that far but one of his 41 catches went for 77 yards and a touchdown. The year before, he earned a spot in NCAA history with a 99-yard TD catch. Behind a line that lost just one player, jun or quarterback Anthony Guma (1 334 passing yards and 16 TDs) is poised for his own big season with Donny Russo (499 yards), a healthy Pat Jacques (320), and Derrick Reynolds (303) in his backfield. Senior Key n Young is a four-year starter on the line

Linebacker Ken Vaughn, who led the Peacocks in tackles for the second straight season and Mahke who doubled as the 91 MAAC tennis singles champ, head the defense. The kicking game is crucial. St. Peter's made only one of two field goals the entire season and missed eight of 24 PATs

There are two ways to regard the Golden Griffs' 3-6-1 record: a poor performance overall, or a horrible 0-4 start with a respectable 3-2-1 finish Coach Barry Mynter surprises no one by looking at the positive: It think we're headed in the right direction." To continue, he must clear up congestion at quarterback Sophomore Ben Kucia may have to wait behind senior Steve DiAnna, who won both games he started last fall "If Ben can just progress a little bit, he's the player of the future for us," Mynter said. Kucia played in six games last year and threw 11 interceptions vs. three touchdowns, but his completion rate. was higher than D'Arina's. The Griffs' multiple-I offense features hometown (Buffalo) junior tailback Turhan Jordan, who had three 150yard games and finished with 683 yards in '92 Joht end Chris Mucica (6-5, 240) is a large target next to another huge guy, tackle Roger Malcolm (6-4, 290)

Defensively Canisius returns just one man in the secondary, speedy Dave Frateringo Frank Zabawa and Mike Duffy anchor the line

THE RESIDENCE

The Hoyas who were 0-4 at home and 3-2 on the road begin a new era with a new coach Bob Benson, the former defensive coordinator at Johns Hopkins. He replaces Scotty Glacken, who was 98-96-2 in 25 years of service Football began here in 1887. The Hoyas were ranked 13th in the nation in 1940 and appeared in the Orange Bowl, where they lost to Mississippi State, 14-7. These are humbler Saturday afternoons, as losses to St. Peter's and St. John's last fall indicate

Scoring shouldn't be a problem. A trio of senior running backs, Rob Sgariata (327 yards) Carli Walker (250), and Paul Uppole (239), return, easing the loss of Georgelown's all-time leading receiver, Chris Murphy Walker also averaged 32.9 yards on nine kickoff returns. The status of Junior quarterback Aley Demarest, who completed 51 percent for 1,532 yards and 14 touchdowns, was uncertain this summer Sophomore David Brewer is ready to take his place. The detense returns eight starters, including linebackers Brendan Boler and David Powlatis, end Jim Kiessel. and backs Chris Fazio and Mark Wiedemer

Coach Jack DuBois seems up against it, tackring a much more difficult schedule after a 2-7 season. "We can be competitive if we can avoid the injuries that happened last year," he said Quarterback Jeff Mulholland suffered a shoulder injury in the Saints' final game and could miss the entire season. Not a good sign. for DuBois If Mulholland is a no-show, Damon Bienek dets the call Art Tambaro will move from defensive back to tailback to give some life to Siena's offense, which was blanked three times in its last five games. Willie Peterson (143 yards) is the leading returning rusher. The best of the defensive linemen are senior nose guard Mike Hussey and tackle Tom Cartnick TJ Sabotka keys the secondary

WAGNER

The 1992 Liberty Conference champions hope their 9-2 Division III record will be as easily accomplished as they move up in '93 to Division I-AA. The Seahawks shouldn't experience much of a letdown with a similar schedule and 16 returning starters. Hunning backs Chris Purdy, Wagner's leading scorer (10 TDs) and rusher (578 yards). Kito Lockwood (498), and Brian Prescod (399) all return, as do guard Rick Grimaldi and tight end Jim Bogacki (24-288-5) Brian Murphy and Archie Dean are the leading candidates to replace quarterback Terry O'Hare Honorable mention All-America outside linebackers Ryan Tobin (133 tackles, 6 sacks) and Bryan Devone (114-6) are proven and the line is solid with end Anthony Harper and tackle William Shell. Dan Ricciardi averaged 37.9 yards per punt but made only one of 10 held goal attempts.

ST. FRANCIS (PA)

In 1991, the Red Flash posted their first winning season since 1986 with a 6-3 record. In 1992, they improved to 8-2-1, including their first postseason tournament appearance, a 48-6 loss to Wagner in the ECAC Southeast championship game. With 15 starters back St Francis has its sights set on an ECAC crown Quarterback Kevin Magee, the ECAC Southern Player of the Year, will once again pilot the offense. He completed 150 of 272 attempts for 2,056 yards and 19 touchdowns His leading receiver, Todd Eckenroad (51-709-3), returns. Junior running backs Kevin Keenan and Dwayne Eck combined for 1 154 yards and 13 TDs. The line has experience but must reduce the 35 sacks it allowed

The strength of the defense is the secondary headed by leading tack er Michael Graziani, Don Geiger, and Kevin Beistel. Linebackers Matt Penrose and Jason Eminh zer are solid. Replacements must be found on the ime, but PJ Petrarco (5 sacks) returns

HITTER

Hofstra recorded its first losing season in seven years (4-6) but the Flying Dutchmen should improve with the return of 16 starters. Junior running back Jeff Becchetti chalked up 1,345 all-purpose yards and senior quarterback George Beisel completed 53 percent of his passes with 10 touchdowns. There are capable receivers in Ken Colon (28-389-1), Michael Wright (29-310-1) Rafae Morales (22-230-1), and Wayne Chrebet (18-134-4) The line is achored by senior Jason Soe and sophomores Owen Gardner and Dave Fiore. Linebacker Herve Damas returns with Michael Pfeffer and Dante Gilliam, who notched 50 tackles apiece. End Fritz Avin and tackle Emery Tyler are solid. The secondary returns Ali-America candidate Lee Harris, a junior free safety who led the unit with 108 stops, four nterceptions, and two fumble recover as

SHOW SHE

This will be a season of "firsts" for the Dukes. Head coach Dan McCann announced his retirement after 19 years, the longest tenure of any coach in Duquesne history. And after competing for 13 years in Division III, the Dukes enter I-AA. Replacing McCann is former assistant coach Greg Gattuso, who hopes to improve on last year's 5-4 record. Duquesne's first winning season since 1989 He'll rely on two veterans senior team captains Mike Haines and Damon Berry, to show the way. Haines has led the Dukes in rushing and scoring for the last two years and last fall he set four school records: single-season rushing yards (1,230) and carnes (238) and single-game yards (267) and carries (35). Sophomore Brian Staines is the leading candidate to replace quarterback Todd Cunningham Damon Berry, who also returns punts anchors the defense. He has career stats of 149 tackles and six interceptions

Second-year coach Jim Parady hopes to improve upon last season's 4-5-1 record, but with the jump from Division (I) to I-AA, that could prove difficult. Parady has 19 starters back, including Ail-America candidate Don D'Aiuto at tailback. The school's all-time eading rusher (3 099 yards), D Aiuto had 746 vards and five touchdowns despite missing two games a year ago with a hamstring injury Fullback Kyle Carraro had 779 yards and nine TDs. The two runners should once again be effective with four starters returning on the line anchored by senior Andrew Young Sen or Br an McCourt returns for his third year as the starting quarterback. He will be reunited with favorite target, split end Dan Phelan, the team's top receiver (25-400-2). The defense will miss Inebacker Joe Riccardi, Marist's alltime leading tackler, but the line is solid with ends Joe McGann and Matt McGilvray and tackle Jeremy Thode, who led the unit with seven sacks. David Caldwell, who also punts, is the lone returning inebacker. The secondary returns three starters, the best of whom is strong safety Bryan Oles

MERALM

Despite last fall's losing record, coach Jim Ward is confident of the Bulls, chances in their first season in I-AA. "We were 4-6, but anyone who saw us play, especially our opponents knew we could have easily been 6-4 with our offense." One reason for Ward's confidence was a sing e-season school record for points (319) On the down side, the Bulls also allowed the most points in their history (395). Returning to lead the offense is quarterback Cliff Scott, who completed 140 of 287 passes for 2,088 yards and 18 touchdowns. The receiving corps is solid with seniors Rusty Knapp (38 catches for 525 yards and 4 TDs) and Doc Smith (47-996-10) The backfield is inexperienced, but the line should be strong with four starters returning. The defensive line returns Todd Schaffer Bubba Walker and Jason Galley Linebackers Ben Kincel, Doug Lindsay, and Matt Werder snowed promise as freshmen. The secondary is anchored by Robert Harris who led the Buils with five interceptions and was second in tackles with 56

CENTRAL CONNECTICUT STATE

The Blue Devis return 13 starters from last year's 1-8 squad as they make the step up to I-AA this season Halfback Jeff McLeod averaged 6.3 yards per carry, was the third-leadng receiver, led the team in punt and kickoff returns, and scored five touchdowns. Fullback Matt Per colosi, who scored nine touchdowns in 1991, returns after missing most of ast season with an injury. The offensive line must replace three starters. The defense, with seven returning starters, is headed by All-America candidate Mike Gannori at tackle and inside i nebacker Leonard Mehillo Gannon led the team with nine sacks and was tied for third with 61 tackles with Melillo, who had three fumble recoveries. Nelson Mingachos returns to do the place-kicking but a punter must be found. State begins the season with four road games in what could be the beginning of allong year for the Blue Devil faithful.

MUSHIGON

(9-0-3, 6-0-2) The Wolverines had one of their strangest seasons in years. The joke went that their record read more like an area code. The Wolverines were a few breaks away from a national championship, yet at the same time, they were close to having a med ocre season, at least for them.

This year's team, though, shouldn't disappoint Offensively, Michigan is loaded. It starts with All-America wide receiver Derrick Alex ander (50 catches and 11 touchdowns) and continues with junior tailback Tyrone Wheatley (1,357 yards rushing), who should be in the running for the Heisman Trophy. Senior tailback Ricky Powers slowed by njuries last fall returns with over 2,000 career rushing yards Todd Collins should answer any questions at quarterback Filling in for Elv's Grbac, he set Michigan's sing e-game completion mark with 29 against Oklahoma State and then threw four touchdown passes against Houston At 6-5 and 240 pounds. Collins has the size to go along with the poise. But the biggest key will be the offensive line. Michigan doesn't have a true veteran returning, which would be trouble for most teams. The Wolverines, though, have a history of turning out fine linemen. They will be counting on Marc Milla (6-3, 272) at center Shawn Miller (6-4, 273) at guard, and Trezelle Jenkins (6-8, 298) at tackie, with the remaining two spots yet to be filled

Defensively, the Wolver nes lost nose guard Chris Hutchinson and back Corwin Brown They are looking to linebackers Steve Morrison on the inside and Matt Dyson on the outside to anchor the unit. Up front, middle guard Tony Henderson and tackle Buster Stanley are solid. Senior strong safety Shonte Peoples was first-team all-Big Ten.

The schedule is inviting, with Notre Dame, lowa, Illinois, and Ohio State at home. But a trip to Penn State Icoms, and with it perhaps another. Big Ten title—it would be six in a row—and Rose Bowl big.

DOMESTICAL PROPERTY.

(7-5) Coach Joe Palerno has many questions to be answered in his first season in the Big Ten Gone from ast year's squad are receiver O J. McDuffie and running back Richie Anderson, and those losses will hurt. They scored 28 of Penn State's 49 rushing and receiving touchdowns ast fall

The key will be settling on a quarterback Paterno has three choices. Sophomore Walty Richardson started the first two games and completed 53.3 percent of his passes. John Sacca led the Nittany Lons in passing but he saw only limited playing time after their midseason loss to Boston College. Kerry Collins was supposed to be last year's No. 1 man, but he was hit by injuries and missed spring practice because of finger surgery. The competition should be interesting in preseason drills. Elsewhere in the backfield, Paterno hopes fullback Brian O'Neal (458 yards rushing, including 105 plus. 4 touchdowns. against Pittsburgh) recovers from offseason back surgery The tailback position is wide open with Mike Archie, Ki-Jana Carter, and Steven Pitts, who combined for 525 yards and nine touchdowns. Penn State is looking for Tisen Thomas to pick up an increased share of the receiving load and Justin Wilhams could also be a factor. The two have big-play potential, having combined for a 22 6-yard average on 15 catches. Up front, guard Mike Mainowski is the only lineman who started every game a year ago. He will be joined by center Bucky Greeley and tackle Derrick Pickett, with Keith Conlin, Jeff Hartings and Marco Rivera competing for starting jobs.

Defensively, Paterno is counting on the Nittany Lions to be tougher. He thought they were inconsistent last season. There are two standout players in the line in tackles Lou Benfatti and Tyoka Jackson Nose tackle Vin Stewart and Todd Atkins and Andre Johnson also return with some experience. Linebacker is solid with Phil Yeboah-Kodie, last year's eading tackler, and Brian Gelzheiser and Eric Cair, both of whom finished strong Derek Bochna who led the Lions with three interceptions, returns in the secondary with free safety Lee Rubin and cornerback Shelly Hammonds. who made a smooth transition from tailback.

A big concern for Paterno is the status of kicker Craig Fayak, who missed the second half of last season with a back injury. If Fayak can't return, V. J. Musc llo will do the punting and place-kicking

COMPUTE CHARGE

(8-3-1, 5-2-1) Job security has proven elusive for battle-worn coach John Cooper He still has three years remaining on his contract, but when asked if he could guarantee that he would be back for 1994, Cooper shrugged, "No." He is well aware of the demanding Buckeye faithful and the high expectations of the administration. He hasn't made life easy for himself in failing to win a bowl game in four tries at Columbus, along with never beating archinval Michigan.

Cooper has some skilled players to replace Sophomore running back Robert Smith and junior safety Roger Harper declared early for the NFL draft. The Buckeyes also lost quarterback Kirk Herbstreit and linebacker Steve Tovar Still, they won't be without talent. Offensively, they should be strong up front with tackles Alan Kline, a Big Ten Freshman of the Year, and Korey Stringer and Dave Monnot and Jason Winrow to open the holes for fullback Jeff Cothran, who gained 410 yards and averaged 4.2 yards per carry last season Tailbacks Raymont Harris, Eddie George, and Butler By'not'e also return. At quarterback is the unproven Bob Having, who threw only 14 passes in 1992. He will be looking for receivers Chris Sanders and Joey Galloway and tight end Cedric Saunders.

The Buckeyes will be strong again on defense after giving up an average of just 13.2 points per game a year ago. The line features end Jason Simmons, an All-America cand date, and tackle Dan Wilkinson. Outside linebackers Craio Powell and Mark Williams and safety Chico Nelson (3 interceptions) and cornerback Tim Walton are back

The schedule is imposing. Oh o State entertains Washington as well as Penn State and takes to the road against illinois and Mich gan

ILL HOUSE

(6-5-1, 4-3-1) The Illini looked dead in 1992 after a midseason loss to Northwestern. But they railled to finish 3-0-1 (including a tie on the road with Michigan) and earn a trip to the Holiday Bowl against Hawaii

Coach Lou Tepper brought in former Chicago Bears assistant Greg Landry to perk up an offense that lost quarterback Jason Verduzco Junior J.J. O'Laughlin will contend with sophomore Johnny Johnson and redshirt freshman Scott Weaver for the starting job None of them threw a pass last season. The threesome could also be pushed by highly touted recruit Jeff Hecklinski Tight ends Dave Olson, the '92 starter, and Ken Dilger, who started most of '91 and sat out much of last season with knee problems, return. Leading receiver John Wright is gone, but Jim Klein (27 catches) and flanker Jasper Strong are back Soph tailback Kevin Jackson (481 yards rushing) showed flashes in his first extensive action. The Illini are also looking hard at redshirt freshman Ty Douthard. They will miss all-Big Ten Brad Hopkins on the line, but three regulars return center Greg Engel, tackle Randy Bierman, and guard Derek Allen.

Illinois is loaded on defense, where 10 starters remain. It's an impressive group, led by junior linebackers Dana Howard and John Holecek, who rank with any pair in the country Howard was a Butkus Award candidate Rush linebacker Simeon Rice was named a Big Ten Freshman of the Year and classmate Kevin Hardy is just as good The secondary is solid with all-conference Filmel Johnson and Robert Crumpton on the corners and free safety Jeff Arneson. And the special teams feature kicker Chris Richardson, who has made 25 of 36 field goals in his career

(5-7, 4-4) The Hawkeyes aren't used to having a losing record under coach Hayden Fry II was only the second in the last 12 years. The performance had Fry terming the Hawkeyes.

'embarrassed, upset, and mad." He's pointing to one positive. The last time lowa had a losing season, it rebounded by going to the Rose Bowl the following year.

The coaches have some work to do in replacing nine offensive regulars, including Ail-America center M ke Devlin. Much of the burden will fall on senior quarterback Paul Burmeister, who won two of his three starting assignments last fall Senior Matt Eyde also figures to contend for playing time. At running back, junior Ryan Terry (429 yards rushing and 19 catches for 170 yards) has expenence, but he'll be pushed by reashirt freshman Sedrick Shaw, whom Fry called "probably the fastest player we ever recruited," and Tavian Banks, another prize recruit. Junior Harold Jasper and senior Jeff Antila are the targets at wide receiver. The line lost all five starters, making that area a priority

Eight regulars return on defense, headed by tackle Mike Wells, an All America candidate and lowa's all-time sack leader (24) Nose guard Maurea Crain and ends Larry Blue (10 sacks in '92) and John Harteib should be fough Linebackers Matt Hillard, Mike Darley, Tyrone Boudreaux, and Bobby Diaco all remain Safety Jason Olejniczak who led the team with 99 tackles, keys the secondary with cornerback Scott Plate

The kicking game has to improve if the Hawkeyes are to rise back above 500 Todd

Romano had a dual role last season, but he averaged only 37 7 yards per punt and made just five of eight field goals. Incoming freshman Eric Meng will get a long look. Fry is also counting on an influx of talent from 10 junior college transfers

WILLDOWNIE

(5-6, 3-5) A year of promise had a disappointing finish for the Badgers. They needed to beat Northwestern in the season finale to earn a probable bid to the Independence Bowl But a two-point loss kept them home for another year Still, the Badgers have made huge strides under coach Barry Alvarez. With 16 starters returning and a couple of strong recruiting classes in the fold, the expectations are high in Madison.

The defense, Alvarez's forte, placed fourth in the conference last year, allowing just 122 yards rushing per game. The unit is keyed by a solid foundation up front of all-Big Ten nose guard Lamark Shackerford and tackles Carlos Fowler and Mike Thompson The group has started 64 games together. Alvarez is anticipating a big impact from junior outside linebacker Chad Yokum, who earned a starting job at midseason and had three sacks against Oh o State Nick Rafko is on the other side and Yusef Burgess and Todd Orlando on the inside Safeties Scott Nelson and Reggie Holt head the secondary with Kenny Gales and Jeff Messenger on the corners

Across the line, the Badgers improved in every facet of the game under first-year offensive coordinator Brad Childress, whose first order of business is to settle on a quarterback Sophomore Darrell Bevell is the incumbent but he will get competition from Jay Macias The tai backs are Brent Moss (739 yards) and Terrell Fletcher (496) Junior split end Lee DeRamus (42 catches and 6 FDs) is a bigplay threat who is on target to become the school's all-time receiving leader Alvarez called the line the most improved unit on the team. It features tackles Joe Panos, a walk-on who has earned all-star consideration, and M ke Verstegen and center Cory Raymer

DECEMBER WATER

(5-6. 5-3) The last couple of seasons have been downers for the Spartans, who haven't gone to a bowl since 1990. A second straight loss to Central Michigan in '92 only added to the frustration. Still, nobody will discount coach George Perles's team, which could be primed to make a strong rebound with 16 returning starters.

As always the emphasis for Peries is on defense. The Spartans will miss leading tackler Ty Hallock, but outside linebackers Rob Fredrickson and Matt Christensen can be expected to pick up any slack Peries is high on the secondary, which is ted by academic All-America strong safety Steve Wasylk, who had 114 tackles last fall, and cornerback Myron Bell. Juan Hammonds and Aaron Jackson return in the line, but replacements are needed for Mike Edwards and Bill Reese.

The offense has to replace tarback Tico Duckett, the school's No 2 career rusher Craig Thomas should get the bulk of the work, with Steve "Batman" Holman and Duane Goulbourne and fullback Brice Adams also returning Big-play receiver Mil Coleman (37 receptions) is one of the Big Ten's more interesting players. A former quarterback, he threw 29 passes last season in double duty. The line includes senior Brett Lorius and soph Bob Denton at guard and juniors Shane Hannah at tackie and Bob Organ at tight end.

ACM HOUST LINE

(3-8, 3-5) The Wildcats are hoping to take a big step this year. New coach Gary Barnett came in with the slogan "Expect Victory" and the Wildcats actually came through, winning three games in the conference for the first time since 1973. An impressive recruiting class has brought unprecedented enthusiasm to the Northwestern campus.

ndeed, no team will look forward to facing the Wildcats' offense this fall it returns 10

starters, including receiver Lee Gissendaner An unknown commodity before last season Gissendaner went on to be named the Big Ten's Most Valuable Player, leading the league with 1,564 all-purpose yards and 68 receptions and averaging 21.8 yards per punt return. A fast start will put Gissendaner in contention for the Heisman Trophy Quarterback Lee Williams also got noticed after throwing for 2,110 yards last year. He blossomed once he got a handle on Barnett's offensive philosophy Junior Light end Luther Morns is a bigplay receiver whose speed enables him to move out wide at times. He had 21 catches for 255 yards, including five for 65 yards against Notre Dame, last fall. Tailback Dennis Lundy (688 yards) provides balance to the attack. Senior tackle Matt O'Dwyer was called the best lineman in the Big. Ten by Michigan coach Gary Moeller Junior center Rob Johnson also is highly esteemed. Todd Baczek and Ryan Badgett are other line relumees.

The problem for the Wildcats last season was a defense that surrendered 34.1 points per game. Seven starters return, so Barnett expects improvement from expenence. The strength will be at linebacker with Steve Ostrowski and Steve Shine. The line is anchored by John Helfebusch and Nick Walker and the secondary by William Benett, Anthony Purkett and Korey Singleton.

The Wildcats do not play Michigan, but otherwise the schedule is formidable, with non-conference games against Notre Dame, Boston College, and Wake Forest—all bowl teams a year ago—in the first three weeks.

DECLARA

(5-6, 3-5) Like almost everyone else in the Big Ten, the Hoosiers are looking to bounce back They finished with a thud last year, losing their last three games. With 16 returning starters, chances for improvement are good.

One of the absentees, however, is quarter-back Trent Green, who has graduated leaving the job to sophornore John Paci. He helped lead Indiana to a comeback victory over Minnesota when Green was injured Paci, though will be pushed by redshirt freshman Chris Dittoe, who is considered an outstanding prospect Indiana coach Bill Mallory vows that the offense will produce on the ground again after gaining only 121.5 yards per game rushing last fall. It was a far cry from the years of Anthony Thompson and Vaughn Dunbar. Brett Law (541 yards) was the starting tailback, but Michael Batts and redshirt freshmen Kenyetta Williams and James Olverson will be in the picture. A plus is the returning offensive line. The receivers look solid with Thomas Lewis (54 catches) and Eddie Baety (39) and tight end Ross Hales (341).

Mallory thinks he has one of his best defensive lines in years. End Charles Beauchamp should be a standout, provided he is recovered from knee surgery. Tackle Hurvin McCormack and end Bernard Whittington form a sound front. Jay Davis led the Big Ten with five interceptions last year, while fellow line-backer Al Thurman topped the team in tackles. The secondary rebounded in the second half behind cornerback Mose Richardson and safety Chr.s Dyer. Punter Jim DiGui io returns after setting an Indiana record (44.3).

PUREFUE

(4-7 3-5) The Boilermakers had an uneven season in 1992. They opened with an impressive victory over California, but they followed that with a loss to Toledo. They also won at lowa for the first time since 1979 but lost to Northwestern at home. Obviously, coach Jim Colletto is looking for consistency this fall.

Starting quarterback Enc Hunter has graduated, but Co letto doesn't have to look far for a replacement. Jun or Matt Pike started five of the first six games last season. He has to improve his decision-making on the field Running back will be a strength. Senior Arlee Conners (676 yards) is the incumbent, but Corey Rogers, a Big Ten Freshman of the Year returns after sitting out 1992. Jermaine Ross adds speed at receiver, where he averaged 22.3 yards per catch. Senior flanker Jeff Hill the No. 2 ground gainer, has rushed for over 1,000 yards, but he has been moved to wide receiver. The line, with just two returning regulars, has to find some players to go along with guards Eivin Caldweli and Chris Sedoris.

Defensively, the Boilermakers have a number of voids because of the graduation of team Most Valuable Player Eric Beatty and nose guard Jeff Zgonina. Cornerback Jimmy Young who rates among the best in the conference at his position, returns. He led the Big Ten in breaking up 14 passes. Safety Pat Johnson is a tough hitter. Sophomore inside inebacker Bart Coniey was second among Big Ten freshmen with 99 tackles. Senior Romond Batten is back on the outside. Up front, Junior Eric Gray is a three-year starter.

ATTREMENDED

(2-9 2-6) New coach Jim Wacker brought a new enthusiasm to the Gophers, but it didn't translate onto the field. Minnesota was last in the conference in 1992, a repeat performance will yield the dublous distinction of being the first learn to finish 11th in the Big Ten in his search for improvement. Wacker is focusing on the turnover ratio where the Gophers ranked 10th in the league (-12) The offense committed 25 turnovers, a figure that has to go down But seven starters return on the unit which lost the bulk of its line and starting quarterback Marquel Fleetwood The race to replace Fleetwood will center on 6foot-6 Tim Schade who sat out last year after transferring from Texas Christian, and Scott Eckers and Robert Jones. Running back should be fine with Antonio Carter (572 yards) and sophomore Chris Darkins (357) Receiver Omar Douglas (61 catches for 669 yards) is the big-play threat Split ands Aaron Osterman (41 catches) and Lewis Garrison are back. The line needs reinforcements for center Neil Fredenburg and guard Rob Rogers Across the line the Gophers must reduce their yield of 28.5 points per game. Eight starters return, led by second-team all-Big Ten end Dennis Cappella, who had 10 sacks. He will be joined on the line by Andy Kratochvil Darrell Cunningham, Doyle Cockrell, and Ed Hawlhorne. The linebackers are headed by Russ Heath (team-high 108 tackles). Also set are Doug Hoefer, Marquette Williams, and Lance and Fodd Wolkow. Wacker said the secondary needs the most work, with the corps formed around Drinon Mays at one corner and safety Jeff Rosga.

REPUBLICATION OF THE PERSON OF

(10-1-1) Some teams lose starters. The frish lose first-round draft picks. Four of them, to be exact quarterback Rick Mirer, fullback Jerome Bettis, comerback Tom Carter, and tight end Irv Smith. Little wonder why coach Lou Holtz has reached new valleys in his forever doomsday outlook for his team.

Yet fret not for Holtz, because the Irish never lack for talent. After losing Mirer, they merely recruited the player many believe is the best quarterback prospect in years. Ron Powlus Holtz said that Powlus will get a chance to play after he was unimpressed in spring drills with returning candidates. Kevin McDougal and Paul Failla. Neither grabbed a firm hold on the No. 1 job going into the summer. Holtz also has to replace his backfield after losing Bettis and tailback. Reggie Brooks. Lee Becton should get the nod at tailback, while senior

The Irish made some strides last fall under first-year defensive coordinator Rick Minter. For the first time in a couple of years, Holtz believes the defense will actually be the strength of the team. It starts on the line with All-America candidate Bryant Young, who is supported by Jim Flanigan and Brian Hamiton Demetrius DuBose is gone, but the line-backer corps returns the experienced Anthony Peterson and Pete Bercich, Holtz likes his secondary, which includes safety Jeff Burris and cornerback Greg Lane. Perhaps Holtz's biggest challenge will be to find a replacement for punter/place-kicker Craig Hentinch Kevin Pendergast could be the man

The schedule as usual, will be rugged it includes trips to Michigan, Stanford and Brigham Young and features November visits from Florida State and Boston College

GOVERNMENTS

(3-8) The Bearcats are hoping the return of 15 starters will give them their first winning record n 11 seasons Coach Tim Murphy thinks his program can turn the corner after a 92 season that included a near upset of Penn State

Offense will be the key Senior Lance Harp has a firm hold at quarterback, having thrown for 1,785 yards and seven touchdowns last fal. He has capable targets in Marlon Pearce, the Bearcats' all-time reception leader with 125 and Brian Jenkins. There is depth in the backfield with 5-foot-6 fullback Mike Britford and a wide-open scramble at tailback among David Small, Craedel Kimbrough, and Darrell Harding. The big question is the line, which needs to be rebuilt. Senior Ray Woodside, junior Rick Simons, and sophomores Dan Boslet and Jamie Lemire have experience

The defense is in better shape. The line is fort fied with tackles Ernest Alien and Bob Duckens The Inebackers are seniors Nate Dingle, who led the Bearcats with six sacks and 11 tackles for loss, Jason Coppess, who had 112 tackles, and Jonathon Boone and unior Reggie Hudson, Jacelyn Borgella, who paced Cincinnati in interceptions for the second straight year is the main man in the secondary that also returns starters Michael Da-Alan Fietcher, and Latish Kinsier

mid-american conference

- 1. Bowling Green, 2. Toledo, 3. Miami,
- 4. Central Michigan, 5. Akron.
- 6. Western Michigan, 7. Ball State, 8. Kent,
- 9. Eastern Michigan, 10. Onio

The hottest team in the Mid-American Conference is Bowling Green, winner of the 1991 California Raisin Bowl and the '92 Las Vegas Bowl, and aspirant to only the third "threepeat" in the conference's 46-year history. The Falcons are 21-3 over the past two years, but they lost four starters in the secondary, an outstanding passing combination in Erik White and Mark Szlachcic, and versatile fulback LeRoy Smith While Bowling Green expects some falloff, the Falcons still may have enough to survive a close race. Toledo's program is thriving, but the Rockets also lost several key people. And few expect Central Michigan to suffer through its second straight losng campaign

BOALING GREEN

Ryan Henry threw only 18 passes in 1992, but he looms as the successor to Erik White. His main larget will be Ronnie Redd, who had 32 catches and must step that up to succeed Mark Szlachcic, the top receiver in MAC history Zeb Jackson is set at tailback and Darius Card takes over for LeRoy Smith at fullback Tight end has depth with Brad Long, Ryan

McElroy and Waiter Regula and the offensive ine is intact with Cal Bowers at center. Matt Foley and Norman Hammoud at guard, and Joe Wyse and Jason Peters at tackle

Coach Gary Blackney has just four starters back on defense end Bob Oudley, nose guard Clint Frazier, and linebackers Vince Palko and Akili Hutchinson Curtis Collins s counted upon to fill one spot in the line and the depleted secondary will be rebuilt around former tailback George Johnson, Darnell Staten, Steve Ayers, Steve Rodriguez, Steve Hartley, and Tom Pate Joe Bair was expected to return at strong safety after making seven interceptions in '92, but he suffered a back injury in the Las Vegas Bowl and elected not to risk further problems. Bowling Green has a nine-game winning streak second only to Alabama's 23 straight

TOLEDO

First-round draft choice Dan Williams represents the biggest loss for the Rockets, who were 8-3 and fied for third in the MAC Williams had 50 tackles for losses, including 28 sacks over three seasons. But Toledo keeps ts other end. Maurice Bulls, who was a firstteam all-MAC selection with 10 sacks last fall Also back from the unit that led the conference in total defense are tackle Terry Jackson, who can bench press 500 pounds, and backs Al Baker, who had 87 tackles, tops among returnees, and four interceptions, and Chad Brown Toledo must replace two of its three starting linebackers, including Darrell Mossburg in the middle John Formentin is set at one of the outside spots

Among seven returning starters on offense s Casey McBeth who ran for 1,037 yards and 10 touchdowns and averaged 4.7 yards per carry Reggie Walls is set again at fullback and Steve Rosi at tight end and Tom Boyd is the flanker after catching 42 passes in 1992 Center Pete Stone, guard Charlie Webb, and tack e Chadd Dehn still claim spots in the line Quarterback Kevin Meger, who completed 33 of 52 passes for 305 yards in a 33-29 victory over Purdue, is gone after starting for four years Tim Kubiak is the likely successor

MIAMI

After back-to-back third-place finishes, the Redskins expect to make a strong run for the top But replacing linebacker Curt McMillan, a Butkus Award semifinalist, and free safety Ron Carpenter will be major chores

Coach Randy Waiker is missing four starters on offense and five on defense, but he has plenty of experience in the offensive backfield Neil Dougherty passed for 1,486 yards and Deland McCullough ran for 1,026 as a freshman, finishing with seven straight 100yard games Redshirt freshman Ty King and former all-MAC tailback Terry Carter will support McCullough Carter was redshirted last year after an ankle injury. Lock Beachum and Robert Echols shared the fullback position and Jeremy Patterson had 31 catches after moving from tight end to wide receiver. The Redskins lost all-MAC tight end James Patton, his successor will be from among Brian Besse, Kregg Creamer, and Enc Beverly Former I nebacker Chris Allen played defensive end most of last season, but he is set at tackle after making eight sacks and 11 tackles for losses. He'll team inside with Bil Atha, who had 42 tackles despite missing five games. The ends will be Jason Michelson and redshirt freshman Chris Rhodes. Even without McMilian, the linebackers are strong with Robert Blanton and Jason Phillips. David Thomas, David Wilson, and Harvey Kelley are veterans in the secondary.

THAT MICHIGAN

The Chippewas (5-6) endured their first losing season since 1964, losing six games by a total of 21 points. However, the victories included one over Michigan State (24-20)

Veteran coach Herb Deromedi must replace seven starters on defense, including all four members of the line. Juniors Randy Danison, Chad Preston, and Dustin Preston will get their chances there. Mike Kyler and Bryant Sattenee are set at linebacker and the two safety spots are owned by Boris Martysz and Darrall Stinson. Chad Murphy, Raiph Wallace. Tim Banks, and Gordon Mattingly will try to fill the vacated cornerback positions.

Although the Zips threw fewer passes than nine other MAC teams. Weems completed 50 percent and Kenny Chapman had 36 receptions. But Faust will have to replace Lavern Bass, who caught 32 passes. The Zips retain center Eric Agosti, guard Mike Lyons and tackle Matt Rose, along with 240-pound tight end Brett Hrivnak

Akron lost punter Daron Alcorn, who averaged a league-best 43.6 yards, and safeties Victor Green and Chris Owens, but corner-backs Ted Draper and Wayne Wade return to the defense that ranked third in the league. The line still has Wayne Anderson, Eugene Philips and 280-pound Chris Haskins. Linebackers Jeff Junko Chad Licht and Phil Dunn are other regulars back.

WESTERN MICHIGAN

Seventh-year coach A Molde will have to retoo after a 7-3-1 season in which the Broncos Invished second in the conference Molde ost 15 starters, including 6-6 335-pound offensive tackle Paul Hutchins who was picked to play in the Brue-Gray and Hula Bowl games Nine Broncos who made first- or second-team at-MAC are missing Only three starters return to a unit that led the MAC in total offense and passing. Junior Andrew Schorfhaar is the log cal successor to quarterback Brad Tayles, who threw for 2,462 yards in 1992, but he will be challenged by Lay McDonagh, Gary Morris and John Sharp Sophomore. Jim Vackaro ran for 893 yards while sharing time with Andre Wallace, now a flanker. Fullback Dave Madsen has moved to tairback. The only veteran wide receivers are Elan Banks and William Atwater, who will be pushed by Larry Johnson and Ryan Sylvester Bronson Trebbilis set at tight end.

Western Michigan had the No 2 defense in the MAC, but it lost seven starters. Linebacker Peter Tufto and free safety Steve Hawkins were 1-2 in tackles and Hawkins had 11 pass deflections. End Tony Tiefenbach and tackle Dion Powe I are other starters in the fold

BALL STATE

Fourth-year starter M ke Neu is the hub of an offense that keeps six starters. The 6-foot-5 Neu will set school records with 608 more passing yards and 26 more attempts. He completed 57 percent in 1992 and has thrown for 4,123 yards in his career. He spread the work around, for the Cardinals had nine receivers with 10 or more catches led by returnee Brian Oliveris 37 Mike LeSure, who had 30 catches is gone but Juan Gorman and Kyle Robinson will receive greater attention Tackle Jose Munoz and guards Andy Berry and Lance Wildoner are back in the offensive line Tony Nibbs inherits the tailback spot vacated by Corey Croom, who ran for 1,157 yards Nibbs's 111 was second-best for the Cardinals, who finished 5-6 and 5-4 in the MAC are back on offense. A mere six-point loss to MAC champion Bowling Green late in the season also was a building block

Kevin Shuman threw for 1,518 yards and was 28 of 53 for 371 yards against Bowling Green, the second-most productive game in school history. His targets include wideout Brian Dusho and tight end Steve Koproski Fullback Troy Robinson had a 64-yard dash against Pittsburgh, scored seven touchdowns, and led the Golden Flashes in rushing. The line features three-year starter Ryan Creed who can play guard or tackle, and two-year regular Rodney West at guard.

Backs Bran Allen, who had a team-high 102 tackles and Vance Benton head the defense. Allen had 20 tackles against Cincinnatitivo years ago and was in double figures four times last season. Benton broke up 12 passes last year. Juniors Morrey Norris, Sean Patterson, and Rich Yurkiewicz are linebackers.

EASTERN MICHIGAN

The Eagles' only bright spot in a 1-10 season was a 7-6 victory over Ohio University in late October Eastern Michigan was pounded 52-7 by Penn State, 57-17 by Army, and 41-0 by Toledo. Not unexpectedly, the Eagles were last in the conference in total defense and allowed 371 yards per game. Unfortunately, Eastern Michigan also was last in total offense and its 223-yard average was 52 yards per game lewer than the next-worst team's. First-year coach Ron Cooper will try to improve both areas with 16 returning starters Eight of those are on offense, where Matt Gillette, Tony Johnson, Kevin Beverly, and Ed Hickman return in the line. Ryan Wheatiey is set at tight end and Craig Thompson is an experienced flanker. Fullback Mike Graff and tairback Stephen Whitfield will start but Eddie Nwagbaraocha and Mike Graff will see plenty of work. John Hignite and Kwesi Ramsey return at quarterback. Neither, however, threw for a high percentage. EMU keeps three starting linebackers in Mike Parkes, Reese McCaskull, and Kevin Tooson. Richard Palmer and Ron. Rice return in the secondary and Walter Campbell anchors the line.

OHIO

Nine returning starters on defense and eight on offense will give the Bobcats a chance to improve on their 1-10 record "I'm convinced we have bigger, better, and faster players than any time since I've been here," said fourth-year coach Tom Lichtenberg, "but we haven't yet converted that to points on the scoreboard and a winning record."

Ohio lost defensive end Jason Carthen and inside linebacker Scott Zele but has a letterman at every other position. Mario Daniel, a 295-pound nose guard, and Jimmy Bizell, a 270-pound tackle, will stabilize the line. Marcus Gamblin, Tony Poole, Tim Norviel, and Damiso Johnson keep the secondary intact.

Running back Tim Curtis has 2,166 career yards but could be challenged by Lakarlos Townsend Darren Reese is solid at offensive tackle and Courtney Burton and Chris Jenkins are threats at wide receiver. Brian Jepson had 33 catches at tight end. Quarterback D.R. Robinson took over for the injured Tom Dubs in the third game and completed 64 of 127 passes. Dubs also is back and quarterback Sam Vink was brought in from junior college.

The highlight of Middle Tennessee State's season probably will be its opener, a September 4 game in Honolulu against Hawaii that MTSU coach Boots Donnelly wisely used as a recruiting ploy. Austin Peay 49-10, in their biggest outbursts National champion Marshal eliminated Middle Tennessee from the playoffs in the second round. Donnelly lost 10 starters, including three offensive linemen, two defensive tinemen and a fullback.

HIDTLE TENNESTEE

Fullback Wait Crowder not only averaged 7.2 yards a carry but caught 13 passes and was a solid blocker so coach Botts Donnelly is concerned about a void at the position. Boo Collins, who had but five carries, or junior college transfer Carlos Wyche loom as the successors. The Blue Raiders also lost tailback Walter Dunson who ran for 13 touchdowns, but they still have Brigham Lyons, who contributed 641 yards and 10 TDs. A major concern is the loss of offensive linemen Steve McAdoo, a i-AA All-America, and Onesimus Leslie. "It all ways seems to take longer to develop the nine sacks among his 15 tackles for losses He'll get front-line support from tackles Daryle Wagner. Matt Childress Brendam Gregory Shane Baikcom, and Shannon Arnett. Eastern Kentucky is switching to a 4-3 defense and starting end Car os Timmons was moved to linebacker. Andrew Nettles, Neil Fittery, and Scott Faircloth will fill out the linebacking corps The secondary has five veterans, led by free safety Loe Smith. Sean Little, Tim Commey, Maurice Haynes and Shelton Walker also remain

Fullback Carlo Stallings is among five starters back on offense, but tailback Markus Thomas and quarterback Joey Crenshaw will be major osses. Senior Mike Penman ran for 467 yards and should replace Thomas, who set multiple rushing records, Redshirt freshman Robert Bouldin and Eric Clay also are available at tailback. Junior Ron Jones is the leading candidate to replace Crenshaw, but ton have experience and redshirt frosh Eric Rowe was moved there from running back

Randy Bearnan started every game at quatterback and was the Eagres' third-leading rusher while completing 55 percent of his throws. Tailback Wille Queen ran for six 100-yard games en route to a 1,228-yard season Sophomore Mike Penix is a capable backup, but an experienced fullback is lacking pending Anthony Carano's development. Tech has sophomore receivers in Gerald Bentley Steve Harris, and Brad Perry, and Scott Trent returns at 1 ght end. The entire line is intact with Derrick Shepherd. Darrin Hill. Buoba Winter, Keith Baldwin, and Tracy Russell.

THINKS SEE STATE

Losing James Wade, who passed for more than 6,600 yards in his career, will be a big obstacle for the Tigers, who went 5-3 in the conference but just 5-6 overall. Tennessee State also lost its top three receivers. Charles Hunter, Patrick Robinson, and John Frierson Darron. Davis gained a school-record 839 yards rushing and fullbacks Chad McCullam and Marcus Moye return, as do offensive Internet Marshun Middleton, Royce McGowan, and Dan Pride. Middleton is expected to be one of the top centers in the Ohio Valley.

Randy Fuller, who had six intercept ons and 120 tackles, is among nine returning starters on defense. Cedric Davis and Brent Alexander lend experience to the secondary and Thomas Jackson, William Tucker, and George Copeland are veteran inebackers. Tackles Gerome Gardner and Robert Hillman provide strength in the line.

AUSTIN PEAY
Two years ago Roy Gregory took over a program that had lost 23 consecutive games. He has gone 8-14 since including a 3-8 mark in 1992. But with eight starters returning on deskills of a lineman than those of other positions," Donnelly said Quarterback is solid with Kelly Holcomb, but he won't have Vince Parks or tight end Steve Dark, his two top receivers this time. Cory Simpson, Dennis Mimms, and Curt Watkins have experience

Seven defensive starters return, led by line-backers. Jabbar Troutman and Shingo Weems. They'll be supported by Anthony Hicks and Anthony Franklin. End Danny Lawrence will start for the third year and Sean Luckett is expected to step in for Mike Caldwell at the other end. Mike Jordan and Preston Sensabaugh are back in the interior line Sophomore. End. McBroom led the Raiders with four interceptions and made 60 tackles.

EASTERN KENTUCKY

Roy Kidd marks his 30th year as the Coloners coach while claiming 10 returning starters from a 9-3 team Kidd's 239-84-8 record includes two Division (-AA championships and a record 13 playoff appearances

The Colonel to watch this fall is 6-4, 270pound defensive end Chad Bratzke who had he threw only 31 passes in '92 Rudy Burney ted the Colonels with a mere 17 catches. Jason Thomas, Dialleo Burks, and Brent Canady add depth on the outside. A veteran line has guards John Combs and Loyd Baker, tack es. Mike Gentry, center Cás Jessee, and tight end Chris Whitefield. Vanderbilt transfer Brent Phoades will get a good took at tackle.

TEMMERSON THEM

The Go den Eagles enjoyed their best record in 15 years, posting a 7-4 mark all four losses were to Division I-AA playoff teams—on the neels of a 2-9 in 1991

A developing defense that retains seven starters allowed a modest 294 yards a game unebacker Maurice Draine, who had 12 tackles for losses among his 90 stops, will anchor the unit and Troy Petersen further strengthens the linebacking corps. The I ne has three veterans. Shane Queen, Jason Hiett, and Craig Long Queen is the school leader in sacks and tackles for losses. There are holes to fill in the secondary, where Tony Eckler holds court but Aveory Allen. Ron Barfield, and Maury Eafense and seven on offense, plus a healthy recruiting class. Gregory hopes the Governors can reach a higher level. Gregory's feat heightens when one considers his personal battle. He was diagnosed with cancer of the lymph nodes in 1991, yet he missed few practices, even while taking chemotherapy. Gregory now believes his health is such that he can concentrate more fully on coaching

Austin Peay lacked depth on defense last season and the unit weakened as the season progressed. The Governors have lost star end Richard Darden but the front line still includes Mark Snead Rod Crutchfield, Withe Little, and James Garrett, Calon Yeldon, Jeff Gooch, and Fred Waters head an experienced linebacking unit and Arthur King, Michael Swift, and James Loydd are set in the secondary

David Stooksbury and Daniel Williams split time at quarterback and Jody Smith returns at fullback, Jamie Spicer and Samy Hillman are the most experienced running backs. Barry Wilson Bob Dagley, and Scott McCormick are the wideouts. The offensive line features Sean Couninan and John Payne at quard. Vernon Lesser and William Cephus at tackle and Jeff Stec at center

TEMMESSEE-MARYIII

The Pacers will play their first five games at home while looking to improve upon their 2-6 mark in the OVC and 3-8 overall debut in Divisign I-AA. The emphasis is on the running game Coach Don McLeary's previous teams have been pass-oriented, but with a veteran offensive line of Trevor Hurst at center, J.B. Norment at tackle, and Joe Weich and Steve Meile at guard, he is hoping for more balance Running back William Parson closed out his sophomore season with a 166-yard game, giving him a quiet 539 yards on the season.

Quarterback will be contested by senior Bubba Beasley, juco transfer Charles Gamble, and redshirt freshman Jason Griffin, Jim McKinney is the tight end and Charles Malone the most experienced wideout

Strong safety Tab Vowell, coming back from a knee injury, anchors the secondary Dewayne Harper is a two-year starter and O'Dale Satterfield is a versatile deep defender. Tim Wright moves from end to middle linebacker, where Steve Nichols saw duty. Tackle Anthony Bowles and ends Ryan Builington and Chris Hines are back.

MERCHANISM WATER

The Eagles, who were 3-8 (3-5 in the OVC). enjoyed a good recruiting year and hope to fill some holes with new players Adam McCormack, who passed for 25 touchdowns and ran for nine more as a senior at Covington (KY) Catholic High, will be given a good look at quarterback. That position was shared last season by Jeremy Holbrook, who specialized in running the ball out of Morehead State's wishbone offense, and the now-departed Steve Donato, who was used primarily on passing downs. McCormack offers both dimensions, having passed for 2,130 yards and rushed for 525 as a prep senior. The Eagles lost Darrin Harns, whose 812 rushing yards topped the team, but keep Phil Dinn, who can play either fullback or running back and was Morehead's No. 2 rusher. Also back is junior tight end Jesse Olverson, a second-team all-OVC pick in 1991 Matt Venturino provides experience at wide receiver

Coach Cole Proctor must fill some vacancies in both lines. He lost Richard Shadwick on defense and Tom Svobodny on offense Tight end Brandon Ford decided to change schools. But J.R Cook is set at offensive quard and linebacker Jaime Phillips led the Eagles in tackles. Mike Duvall also returns at inebacker and Hector D az had two intercept tions in the secondary

SECONDARY STATE

Former Arkansas assistant Houston Nutt takes over the Racers, who uncharacter stically went 2-9 and fin shed tast in the OVC. He will greet 12 returning starters

Senior Butch Mosby, who threw for four touchdowns in the spring game, will be instrumental in Nutt's rebuilding program. Junior Matt Half should be his favorite receiver with Sheldon Smith and tight end Kris Minnich also involved. Timmy Bland leads a deep tailback corps and David Cox returns at fullback. Sean Coleman is set at one tackle and Marcus Kimbrell starts at guard. Bill Christmas and Mike Gossett shared time at center a year ago

Linebackers Fred Davis and Martin Dient are solid and sophomore end Anthony Hutch is expected to make large strides after backing up Kevin Gibbs. Casey Duncan and Dav.d Leavell have the inside track at tackle and David Dodds and Jermaine Scott have exper ence in the secondary

SOUTHEAST MISSOURI STATE

The Indians have an established runner in Kelvin "Earthquake" Anderson who gained 1,371 yards, but they have few experienced players to block for him. Tackle Dave Stukenberg is the only returnee in the offensive line. although Jackie Purrfoy played extensively at center Antoine Esters will join Anderson in the backfield but quarterback Jason Liley will be missed Shane Kennedy has dibs on succeeding him and will have Aaron Layton, who caught 52 passes for 875 yards, as his primary receiver Julius Jones and junior college transfer Lon Rosen could push Kennedy

The defending SEC and national champions figure to reign over the league again, returning 13 starters and both kickers. Back to lead the offense is senior quarterback Jay Barker perhaps the most underrated player in the game Barker, quiet and steady, never gets a nod on any all-star squads yet ranks as Alabama's winningest quarterback-ahead of such names as Namath and Stabler Barker is 17-0 as a Tide starter. Bama must fill some backfield vacancies but Tarrant Lynch looks promising at fullback and Chris Anderson at running back. And versatile flanker David Palmer is a threat wherever he lines up. As a punt returner, Palmer is closing in on the No. 3 spot in Alabama career yardage. Kevin Lee returns at split end and Tony Johnson could move into tight end. The offensive line is solid starting with center Tobie Shells (6-3, 250) and right tackle Roosevelt Patterson (6-4, 290) Newcomer Maurice Belser is one to watch Other top linemen are Matt Hammond John Clay and Jon Stevenson

Jackie Sherrill in two years has coached the Bulldogs to back-to-back seven-victory seasons for the first time since 1980-81 and to consecutive bowls for the first time in a decade. And he seems eager to follow his own tough act. Mississippi State returns nine regulars plus another 12 players who made at least one start during the season.

Leading the charge will be senior quarter-back Greg Plump, who finished the year with a flourish, hitting 24 of 40 passes for 287 yards and a TD in the Peach Bowl Plump will have some untested targets in new wide receivers. Chris Jones and Bernard Euell, along with tight ends Kendell Watkins and Greg Jones. The five interior knemen are left tackle Melvin Hayes (6-6, 330), left guard Bill Sartin, center Brian Anderson, right guard Shea Bell, and right tackle Jesse James (6-5, 307). Junior

Michael Davis is one of the league's top full-backs. He has gained 909 yards on just 177 carries (5.1 average) and scored 10 touch-downs in his first two seasons. A knee injury may shelve tailback Kevin Boule, who set a national junior college rushing record but hurthis knee in State's opener last season on his sixth carry. His backup is Karl Williamson.

Defensively, State must replace three of its four linebackers. Senior insider linebacker Juan Long started all 12 games last season and was second in tackles. The other inside candidate is Wesley Leasy, while Derrick Cagins and Lateef Travis may line up on the outside. Two regulars return in the secondary, strong safety Frankie Luster and free safety Kelvin Knight, with Walt Harris and Mike James at cornerback Knight tied for the team lead with four interceptions. running game are tailbacks Oscar Malone Marius Johnson, and Cordale Johnson and fullbacks Oscar Gray, Carlton Calvin, Jerry Pryor, and Chris Kirby. The line remains intact guards Issac Davis and Ray Straschinske center Earl Scott, and tackles Chris Oliver and Bryan Comish. Lance Ellison is the only place-kicker on the team, and punter Doyle Preston missed spring practice to play baseball

III SEISSIPPI

It seems the dimmer the outlook, the brighter the finish for Ole Miss coach Billy Brewer. Last season, Brewer, whose job just two years ago seemed in jeopardy, led the Rebels to a 9-3 record, and this season holds equal promise.

Mississippi's biggest concern centers around the quarterback. Among five departed offensive starters is Russ Shows, leaving sophomore Lawrence Adams as the only tested quarterback. But his experience is slight. Versatile Marvin Courtney will shift from fullback to tailback. Dou Innocent provides depth, while Renard Brown will step into the fullback slot. Germaine Kohn is back at flanker (29 catches for 377 yards and 3 TDs) He and wide receiver Eddie Small give the new quarterback two good targets. Small led the team in catches (39 for 558 yards) Chris Turner is a candidate at light end. The line looks solid in center Darrell Moncus, guards Joel Jordan and James Holcombe, and tackles Burkes Brown and Clint Conlee

Ole Miss returns six starters from the defensive unit that surrendered a total of 28 points in the last five games. Linebackers Cassius Ware and Dewayne Dotson are excellent, recording 92 and 100 tackles, respectively, a year ago Also back is Abdul Jackson The secondary is intact, with corners Tony Collier and Keith Campbell free safety Michael Lowery, and strong safety Johnny Dixon The line features nose guard Sean O'Malley tackles David Harris and Brian Mays, and ends Deano Orr and Stacy Wilson

The kicking game, a strength in the past will see a new punter and place-kicker

ANDUSE

Pat Dye, one of the deans of the SEC coaching ranks, has been replaced by 37-year-old Terry Bowden, who hopes to oversee a reversal of fortune in the once mighty Auburn program. Bowden has 16 returning starters, including 10 on offense. The squad centers around quarterback Stan White, a senior who has started every game the past two seasons. His 5,830 total yards ranks him second on the Auburn career list. White has passed for 5,959 yards, just 325 behind all-time leader Pat Sullivan. His 27 career TD passes are second in Lunney Jr., Jason Allen, and Mike Cherry. Alfen was the starter early last season and Lunney took over at midseason. Doyle Preston, another former QB, is working now strictly as a punter. Tracy. Caldwell, Kotto. Cotton, and Richard Yager are veteran receivers, but Ford is concerned about a lack of depth. Alf-SEC tight end Kirk Botkin is back, along with Carl Johnson, who was moved from defense last the record book Joining White in the back-field are junior tailback James Bostic, an all-SEC selection who finished fourth in the league in rushing (819 yards) and sixth in ail-purpose yards, and fullback Tony Richardson Familiar faces in the offensive line are tackle Wayne Gandy, guards Shannon Roubque and Anthony Redmon, and center Greg Thompson. Rounding out the offensive unit are tight end Andy Fuler and wide receivers Orlando Parker and Thomas Bailey Parker led the team last fall with 30 catches for 438 yards and three louchdowns.

Defensively, the veteran Tigers are end Willie Whitehead, right tackle Damon Primus, strong safety Chris Shelling, free safety Otis Mounds, and cornerbacks Fred Smith and Calvin Jackson Smith, a junior, has started 22 consecutive games and last season was fourth on the team in tackles and had three interceptions. He also returned eight punts for 60 yards Aubum needs some newcomers to step forward at linebacker. The leading candidates are Anthony Harris, Jason Miska, Mike Pelton, Carlos Thornton, and Terry Solomon.

Place-kicker Scott Etheridge and punter Terry Daniel are back Etheridge led the SEC and tied second nationally for field goals per game, hitting 22 of 28 attempts, an Auburn record. He was 14th in the nation in scoring (86 points). Daniel averaged 42.6 yards, third-best in the league.

LOUISIANA STATE

The Tigers will be trying to reverse last season's 2-9 record with 10 returning starters in what is being billed as a critical year for coach Curley Hallman

Much of the hope centers around young quarterback Jamie Howard, who was tossed into battle as a freshman last season and responded fairly well. He completed 101 of 200 passes for 1.349 yards and five touchdowns but was intercepted 13 times. Senior Chad Loup is also available. Another backfield starter is tailback Robert Davis, a sophomore who was part of LSU's youth movement last fail.

Davis, named to the SEC all-freshman team, collected 527 yards and two touchdowns on 123 carries. Split end Scott Ray (38 catches for 534 yards) and tight end Harold Bishop (17-177) are back. In the line, Kevin Mawae (6-4, 270) will be moved from tackle to center, joining returning veteran guard Ronnie Simnicht. Developing the remainder of the line was one of LSU's top spring priorities.

The young defense needs to mature in a hurry with only four returning starters two of whom will line up at new positions. Ricardo Washington has been moved from inside to outside inebacker and Ivory Hillard from free to strong safety. The other returning starters are tackle Nate Miller and soph outside Inebacker James Gillyard.

FLORIDA EASTERN DIVISION

Florida's No. 1 priority this fail is easy to see Find a replacement for record-breaking quarterback. Sharie Matthews, who virtually rewrote the Gator record books during his career. The leading candidate is junior Terry Dean, who saw limited action last season. The rest of the Gator offense returns intact, and all eyes will be on senior running back Errict Rhett, whose 2,874 yards rank third on the all-

On defense, Florida returns six starters, including three solid linebackers. Ed Robinson, Ben Hanks, and Dexter Daniels. Robinson had 121 tackies ast year second on the team. The top line prospects include Kevin Carter, and promising sophomores. John's Church Mark Campbell, and David Barnard Larry Kennedy, who ranked fifth in tackles is the only returning starter in the secondary. Shayne Edge is back at punter, where he was one of the nation's finest jast fail (43.3).

TEMMENT STATE

The Vols launch the season with a new coach, Philip Fulmer, and potentially the finest quarterback in the conference. Heath Shuler A 6-3, 212-pound junior, Shuler is one of seven returning offensive starters. He won the starting job ast season after seeing limited action as a freshman backup and lost no time in establishing himself as one of the nation's premier quarterbacks as he led UT to a 9-3 record a Hall of Fame Bow, victory, and a No 12 final national ranking. In the process he passed for 1,724 yards and ran for 286. He had only four interceptions in 224 throws, or one per 56 attempts, Shuler is backed up by junior Jerry Colquitt and Todd Herton, a rederes basebal contract to remain in college.

Shu er lost some of his favorite targets to graduation, with Cory Fleming (40 catches) and Ronald Davis heading a thin list of returnees. Tight end David Horn caught nine passes fast year and was a dependable blocker Three solid performers return at tailback Charlie Garner (928 yards) James "Little Man" Stewart and Aaron Hayden Mario Brunson is back at ful back, where he carried 32 times tast fall and gained notice as a blocker. The line will depend on help from newcomers, with guards Bubba Miller and Jeff Smith the only returning starters

On defense six starters are back, led by senior end James Wilson Other regulars are linebackers George Kidd, Reggie Ingram, and Ben Talley, free safety Jason Parker, and left cornerback DeRon Jenkins. Quincy Prigmore could earn a job at strong safety.

The kicking game appears solid Punter Tom Hutton averaged 41 4 yards per kick last year while place-kicker John Becksvoort connected on 16 of 23 field goals and has not missed an extra point in two seasons

GEORGIA

The Bulldogs are coming off their best season in a decade (10-2 and ranked No. 8 nationally), but coach Ray Goff has some major gaps to fill this fall. He lost tailback Garrison Hearst and wide receiver Andre Hastings to the NFL and several other key members of last year's squad. But he returns 11 starters, including All America candidate Eric Zeier, a junior quarterback who last year ranked first in the SEC and sixth nationally in passing. The 6-2, 200-pound Zeier has set consecutive school records for passing yards (2,248 in 1992). His 57 percent completion rate is another Georgia.

The offensive line is anchored by A.I-America tackle Bernard Williams (6-9, 310). The other tackle position will be manned by Paul Taylor, while the guards could be Steve Roberts and Troy Stark. Center is between David Weeks and Scott Brownholtz. Shannon Mitchel will be a four-year starter at 1 ght end. With 20 catches last year, he was the third-leading receiver. At wide receiver. turns along with Hason Graham, whose 19.5yard average per catch was the best on the team. Terrell Davis, who was Hearst's backup had a 7 3-yard average on 53 runs. Frank Harvey will step in at fullback

On defense, Georgia faces a major rebuilding job in the line where junior college transfer Matt Storn will be counted on to make an immediate impact. Also in the picture are Travis Jones, a converted inside linebacker. Jeff Kaiser, who was all-freshman last year. Deshay McKever, who played in nine games; and Phillip Daniels, who saw action last year as an outside linebacker. All three starting outside linebackers are back. Mitch Davis, who led the team with eight sacks, Carof Butler, and

Maurice Harrell The inside finebacker corps will be built around leading tackler Randal. Godfrey, Charlie Clernons, and Damon Ward All-SEC free safety Greg Tremble, who led the team with three interceptions and was the third-leading tackler, is the only returning starter in the secondary

SOUTH CAROLINA

Several South Carolina players sought the resignation of coach Sparky Woods in the midst of an 0-5 start last season, but Woods stood firm and managed to direct his team to five victories in its last six games. The Gamecocks return 17 starters as they try to carry that momentum into this fall.

One of the more dynamic players in the league figures to be sophomore quarterback Steve Taneyhill, who burst onto the scene in the second half of the season and led the second-half rally Taneyhill (6-5, 205) threw for 1,272 yards and seven touchdowns, including a 296-yard, two-touchdown performance in a season-ending upset of Clemson. His top targets will be wide receivers Toby Cates and Asim Penny and tight end Mathew Campbell Brandon Bennett gives the Gamecocks a solid running back, having rushed for 646 yards and six TDs last fall Rob DeBoer had 540 yards rushing and 95 receiving and Mike Reddick had 16 catches for 202 yards. Only two starters return in the line, guard Vincent Dinkins and tackle Corey Louchiey Darryl Carter is a candidate at center

On defense, Ernest Dixon and Lawrence Mitchell are back at outside linebacker, joining inside linebackers Eric Brown and Hank Campbell. Both ends return, Eric Sullivan and David Turnipseed, but the Gamecocks must replace their nose guard. The secondary retained three starters cornerback Frank Adams, strong safety Tony Watkins, and free safety Norman Greene.

REMITTERY

Coach Bill Curry, 11-22 in his first three years in the Bluegrass, is hoping for a major aboutface this season with 13 returning starters. Leading the offense is junior quarterback Pookie Jones, who broke the UK total offense record last fall with 1,729 yards. Also returning to the backfield are junior tailback Damon Hood who moves to fullback, replacing senior Terry Samuels, who shifts to tight end. Senior wingback Matt Riazzi averaged 8.1 yards per carry. Senior Tim Calvert will return at flanker (16 catches for 330 yards). The other returning offensive starter is junior tackle Mark Askin Other line candidates are tackle Chris Page (6-7, 310), center Wesley Jackson, and guards Barry Rich and Barry Jones Corey Reeves is a contender for tight end.

Senior Marty Moore figures to be one of the league's top linebackers. The 6-1, 239-pounder last year led not only UK but the entire SEC in tackles, with 148. Another returning linebacker is junior. Duce Williams. Both tackles return. juniors Robert Stinson and Damon Betz. Junior. Zane Beetin is back at end and seniors Adrian Sherwood and Don Robinson are veteran cornerbacks. Soph Me vin Johnson will get a shot at free safety and jun or Marcus Jenk ns at strong safety.

VARIATIONAL

Vandy returns 16 starters as it attempts to snap an 11-year losing streak. Coach Gerry DiNardo, heading into his third campaign, is most concerned with settling on a starting quarterback to run his complicated 1-bone offense Fifth-year senior Marcus Wilson graduated, eaving sophomore Kenny Simon as the only experienced quarterback on the squadnot counting defensive back Jeff Brothers, a former quarterback who was switched to defense last season and made a I-SEC at free safety Redshirt freshmen Cedric Douglas and Ronnie Gordon are also contending for the job. The remainder of the backfield is settied, with senior tallback Tony Jackson (652 yards) big sophomore fullback Royce Love (280), and jun or wingback Eric Lewis (189). The line returns intact: Owen Neil, Ryan Bell, Richard Saenz, Mark Mikesell and Eric Dahlberg. The Commodores must find new players at tight end and split end positions depleted by graduation and career-ending injuries.

Linebacker She.ton Quartes and corner back Robert Davis, high school teammates represent two of the SEC's top seniors. They anchor a unit that has improved dramatically under defensive coordinator Carl Reese's three-year reshaping Rico Francis joins Quarles at outside linebacker, where the latter last season led the team with 106 tackles Francis added 70 At inside imebacker, Brad Brown is a veteran starter and Gerald Collins returns to the other slot after missing last season with illness. In the line, sophomore James Manley will get a chance to play nose guard with Alan Young and John DeWitt at tackle. In the secondary Brothers gives the team an allconference performer at free safety. He also led the SEC in punt returns. Davis, who led the team in interceptions the last two seasons, is joined at cornerback by newcomer Byron King. Aaron Smith is back at strong safety

LABOUTEVIKEN

The Cardinals will try to ride the momentum of last year's finish into a quick start, a bowl bid, and a top 25 ranking this fall. Coach Howard Schnellenberger has a stockpile of returning talent as he tries to build on last year's 5-6 record. Sixteen of 22 starters return to a team that won four of its last six games. The last time Louisville started a year with this much experience and optimism, it finished 10-1-1 in 1990 with a 34-7 Fiesta Bowl victory over Alabama. Louisville's schedule won't make a bowl bid easy this time, with challenges at home against Arizona. State and Texas and back-to-back road games against Tennessee and Texas A&M.

It helps that senior quarterback Jeff Brohm s among the returnees. He completed 155 of 297 passes for 2,008 yards and nine touchdowns and 12 interceptions a year ago Schnellenberger believes he can blossom into something special "He came of age in the second half last year," Schneltenberger said "He gives us three dimensions at quarterback with his skills as a passer, his speed as a runner, and his escapability to make something big out of nothing. He's a proven quar terback who could become exceptional " Offensively, Brohm gets help from senior half back Raigh Dawkins, the Cardinals' MVP in 1991, and junior Anthony Shelman, the team's leading rusher last fall with 410 yards on 70 carries. Senior guard Dave Debold was voted. the outstanding lineman by the coaches last year and leads a promising offensive front

Defensively, senior tackle Jim Hanna returns after leading the line in tackles in '92 Senior middle linebacker Ben Sumpter is also back and junior Anthony Bridges and senior Kevin Gaines are reunited in the secondary

PERSONAL PROPERTY.

The Golden Eagles won four of their final five games last fall and optimism is high with nearly their entire defense back. Coach Jeff Bower will try to improve upon a 7-4 record and win the bowl bid that eluded Southern Miss a year ago with a defense that won't be easily budged Nineteen of 22 players on the depth chart return, led by senior end Bobby Hamilton, junior tackle Michael Tobias, senior linebacker Tyrone Nix, and senior cornerback Perry Carter Good in man-to-man coverages, Carter was an offensive threat on defense where he returned a school-record three interceptions for touchdowns a year ago. Hamilton is a relentless pass rusher, recording a teamhigh six sacks. Nix was the team's top tackfer and Tobias was disruptive inside. Bower hopes that all that returning talent will make for a better run defense. The Golden Eagles allowed 4.4 yards per carry in '92

Offensively, junior Tommy Waters is one of six returning starters. He completed 110 of 212 passes for 1,159 yards with six TDs and seven interceptions "He did a lot of things in pressure situations to win games," Bower said "He will be a better player just because of experience and work habits." Senior tackle Todd Beeching (6-8, 310) is the team's largest prayer. He's also one of its best. Senior Anthony Owens is among the nation's better blocking tight ends. "Our biggest concern offensively is team speed, "Bower said. He will also need the line and quality receivers to emerge if it intends to be competitive with a schedule stacked with tough road games." Auburn on September 25, Georgia on October 9, and Alabama on October 30.

Mark Salary

The Tigers will try to rally early around a record-breaking quarterback. Sen or Steve Matthews, a junior college transfer and one-time backup at Tennessee, smashed Memphis State's passing records last year en route to a 6-5 season Matthews, a 6-foot-4 left-hander, became the first passer in school history to throw for more than 2,000 yards. He is one of six starters returning to an offense expected to be even more pass-oriented. Back to help Matthews is the tailback tandem of seniors Larry Porter and John Martin, Porter led the Tigers in rushing for the third straight season, running for 732 yards on 140 carries. Seniors Jeff King, Stevie Williams, and Tony Semple are back on the offensive line. Matthews, however, needs to find a replacement for receiver

Russell Copeland, who declared as a junior for the NFL draft. Memphis State's best player just might be senior Joe All son, who won the inaugural Lou Groza Award as the nation's best kicker. He made 23 of 25 field goals including seven of eight from 40 or more yards and two of two from midfield.

The Tigers played so spintedly a year ago that they finished third nationally in total defense, allowing 253 yards per game. That will be difficult to match with only three starters back. Still, senior linebacker Danton Barto, a Butkus. Award. nominee, returns with his stedgehammer-type hits End Rod Brown cornerback Dominic Carloway, and free safety Jeremy Williams, all seniors, also are back

TULION

The Green Wave has almost everybody back from a forgettable 2-9 season. Eighteen returning starters hope to make the program's centennial season memorable.

The star of the offense is senior receiver WT Jrsin an Alf-America candidate who ed Tuane with 55 catches for 755 yards and four touchdowns. He had 70 catches as a sophomore and is second on the school's career list with 138. He needs 100 to break the record heid by Marc Zeno. Ursin's role will depend on how well a pair of new quarterbacks can get the ball to him Junior college transfer Craig Randall and sophomore Tracey Watts are locked in a tight race for the No. 1 role. Last year's starter, senior Billy Duncan, is there if needed as a backup. Starting tailback doey Perry, a junior, returns after rushing for 429 yards and four touchdowns a year ago. Senior center Mitch Tinsley is the top I neman.

The defense features jun or free safety Mike Staid, who has led the team in tackles the last two seasons. The problem is he's being asked to make too many tackles Senior Wilbert Gilmore, moved from safety last year, played well as an undersized linebacker.

THOY STATE

The Trojans showed they were more than ready to make the leap to Division I-AA this fall by going 10-1 last season. After years of so much success in Division II—the Trojans won national titles in 1984 and 87—they luned up for I-AA compet tion by going 7-1 against I-AA teams on their 1992 schedule. Coach Larry Blakeney is team wasn't elig be for the I-AA piayoffs while completing a two-year complance period, but the Trojans proved playoff-poised by closing out their schedule with back-to-back shutouts of I-AA teams Georgia Southern and Nicholls State.

Quarterback Kelvin Simmons is one of six returning starters on offense. He is a junior and an Ali-America candidate who led the Trojans in rushing (694 yards and 7 touchdowns) and passing (1,076 yards with 9 TDs). Defens vely, Troy State would have led Division I-AA in fewest points allowed (10 7 per game) had it had been eligible for the rankings. Only five regulars are back, including two All-America candidates on a line that should head another strong unit. Tackles Sherman James a junior, and Antwoine Clark, a senior could be among the nation's best. The schedule will be trying with the first four games on the road.

SAMFORD

Former pro football coach Chan Gai ey was hired to keep the Bulldogs on their steady playoff climb. Samford was 21-5 with back to-back Division I-AA playoff berths the last two seasons under coach Terry Bowden. Now that Bowden's off to rebuild Auburn, Gailey's back in the college game for the first time in 10 years. The former head coach of the World Football League's Birmingham Fire and offensive coordinator of the NFL's Denver Broncos weicomes back 15 starters.

Significant holes must be filled before Galley's new, one-back pro-style passing offense is ready to soar Quarterback Ben Wiggins, Darin Hinshaw, one of 18 returning starters, threw for 2 505 yards and 24 touchdowns as a sophomore. His top receiver is junior David Rhodes, who made 51 catches for 1,002 yards and five touchdowns last fall Sophomore Gerod Davis impressed with 1 154 yards rushing. Sen or running back Willie Engish also returns after sustaining a seasonending knee injury in the '92 opener. Senior guard Buster Mills and junior center Mike Gruttadauna are the Fine's top players. Defensively, junior Gregg Jefferson and sophomore Emil Ekiyor lead the way on the line.

WESTERN RENTUCKY

Senior Eddie Thompson knows how to put on a show. He returns to the Hilltoppers as one of the nation's best a -round quarterbacks. Though he saw limited action in the first half of the season, he finished as the top I-AA rushing quarterback with 93 yards per game. His 309 yards against Southern Illinois was an who threw for more than 5.000 yards over the past two seasons, passed up his final year of eigibility after earning his degree. Running back Tank Edwards graduated after rushing for 1,270 yards last fail. Redshirt freshman Bart Yancey had the edge on sophomore Scott Thompson at quarterback in spring drills. Junior Damian Hines (61-352-5) and senior Lee Eilis (44-268-4) compete to replace Edwards. Senior tackle Vince Noblitt is an all-star candidate.

The defense, switching from the 4-3 to a 3-4 under Galley, should be Samford's strength Senior tackle Kenny Jones and senior cornerback Marcus Durgin are All-America candidates and among eight returning starters Durgin also led the nation in kick returns (33 4-yard average) and had five interceptions

CHAPTERAL PLOTONIA

The Knights are dreaming of the day they will slay grants in Division I-A. They plan to make the jump to I-A in 1996, but the business at hand is making the I-AA playoffs after missing out last year with a 6-4 record. Quarterback

NCAA record for a quarterback Thompson didn't start the first five games, only one of which Western Kentucky won With Thompson earning the job in the second half, the Hitopers were 4-2. Coach Jack Harbaugh's team will look to build on that strong finish with junior tackle Danny Davis, senior end Ben Mooney, and sophomore safety Dan McGrath back to lead the defense

ALAMADIA BIRINGKAN

The Blazers take the big step up to Division I-AA after going 7-3 in their final season in Division III. They'il find out just how big when they face Troy State, up from Division III. In their opening game Coach Jim Hilyer returns tacked Josh Evans, linebacker Wayne White, and end Rodney Foster, his three leading tacklers aligned year ago John Whitcomb, who passed for 1 377 yards while sharing quarterback duties with Chris Bradford last fall, has the job to himself this year Pat Green, who rushed for a team-high 661 yards, returns, as does Cedric Buchanon, who caught 13 passes and averaged 13.1 yards per punt return.

(9-3, 6-1) The Cornhuskers are uncommonly thin at quarterback and tailback, but they have envied starters at those positions. Tommie Frazier is expected to blossom into a star after becoming the first freshman to start at quarterback in Torn Osborne's 20-year regime Frazier became the starter in the sixth game and passed for 10 touchdowns with only one interception, and averaged five yards per carry while scoring seven times

Calvin Jones led the conference in rushing with 1,210 yards, averaged eight yards per carry and had 15 touchdowns to win his second straight scoring championship. He did this while sharing time with Derex Brown, who passed up his senior year in favor of the NFL

Jones and Frazier are complemented by the Big Eight's best pair of offensive tackles, Zach Wiegert (310) and Lance Lundberg (300) a dynamite tight end in Gerald Armstrong, who scored on seven of his eight receptions, split end Corey Dixon (155), the most valuable Nebraska player in the Orange

The defense has only one standout outside Imebacker Trev Alberts But Osborne expects improvement because free safety Troy Dumas, strong safety Toby Wright, and corner backs Barron Miles and Kareem Moss supply needed speed in the secondary. Three of them will join holdover cornerback John Reece in the starting lineup. (9-2-1 5-1-1) Other than a blowout loss to Nebraska, the Buffaloes kept opposing defenses on the ropes with the most proific passing attack in Big Eight history. Quarterback Kordell Stewart led the conference with a 60 percent completion record and 12 touchdowns Wideout Michael Westbrook led with 76 receptions and eight touchdowns and fellow flanker Charles Johnson led in reception yards (1,149) Westbrook, with 1,060 yards and Johnson were only the fourth pair of receivers from the same team to compile such figures, as the Buffs ranked sixth nationally in passing and averaged 297 yards per game Westbrook, Johnson, and Stewart return with Christ an Fauria who led Big Eight tight ends with 31 receptions, to suggest the Buffs will be more dangerous in their second year with an offense they had to learn from scratch redshirted, Vance Joseph, impressive two years ago in a series of comeback victories, and Duke Tobin. The key to dethroning Nebraska is an awakening of the running game. The Buffs fell to seventh in the Big Eight and 100th nationally in rushing. Sophomore tailback Rashaan Salaam is the new hope, but he has to beat out James Hill and Lamont Warren, who was highly regarded before becoming injury-prone. Another key is the improvement of an offensive line that, was hand-capped last year by inexperience. Four starters return center Bryan Stoltenberg (280), guards. Chad. Hammond. (275). and Clint Moore (295). and tackle Derek West (295).

Woorfork and cornerback Chris Hudson, the latter of whom was moved from free safety Likely to start in the line are tackles Brian Dyet and Shannon Clavelle and nose guard Jeff Brunner, unless he is moved to offense because of bad knees. In such an event, Darius Holland will start. Other defensive regulars expected to join linebacker Ted Johnson are John Knutson, safeties Greg Lindsey and Dwayne Davis, and cornerback Dennis Collier.

Mitch Berger was second nationally in punting (47.0) and kicked a 53-yard field goal at the gun to tie Oklahoma. Back-to-back non-conference games with Stanford and Miam should indicate if the Buffs are ready to dethrone Nebraska.

KANSAS

(8-4, 4-3) Coach Glen Mason thinks the Jayhawks possess improved ability at running back and receiver and more depth in the lines than a year ago, when they won their first bow game (Aloha) in 31 years. But their prospect of improving is clouded by the unproven ability of quarterback Fredrick Thomas, the successor to all-conference Chip Hilleary Thomas was unimpressive when Hilleary was injured in an upset loss to Missouri. But he is faster and has a stronger arm than Hilleary and inspired confidence with his play in spring practice. He faces a taxing debut: Kansas plays Florida State in the Kickoff Classic Thomas will be surrounded by some of the Big Eight's best players it ght end Dwayne Chandler guards John Jones (285) and Hessley Hempstead (287) and center Dan Schmidt (275) Two players who did not start last year tailback George White and wideout Rod Harris excite Mason.

Seven starters return on defense Chris Mauma anga (290) is perhaps the Big Eight's best tackle in a lean year at his position. Free safety Kwamie Lassiter was all-Big Eight first team last season. Other returnees are end Guy Howard, linebackers Don Davis and Larry Thiel and cornerbacks Gerald McBurrows and Robert Vaughn

Dan Eichloff ranks among the nation's best all-purpose kickers. He booted 16 of 20 field goals averaged 40 6 yards punting, and was second in conference scoring with 86 points

AMPORATION

(5-4-2, 3-2-2) The Sooners' poorest season since 1965 was marked by the collapse of their trademark running game. They skidded to 49th on the national rushing charts they once led, averaged only 3.9 yards per carry. and their top three backs totaled only eight touchdowns Coach Gary Gibbs hired Watson

Brown, the former head coach at Cincinnati Rice, and Vanderbilt, to return respectability to the ground attack. Brown junked the oneback set, resurrected the option (on a limited basis) and installed a multiple scheme that is intended to complement the passing of quarterback Cale Gundy

But the primary reason the Sooners should run better is an infusion of new talent. Tailbacks Jeff Frazier and Michael Thompson pushed holdover Earnest Williams to the third unit Incoming freshman James Allen, rated the nation's top schoolboy running back by many recruiters, could make an impact Dwayne Chandler, another highly regarded sophomore, and Terry Collier, a converted linebacker, bring improved ability to ful back Gundy has first-class receivers in wideouts Corey Warren, Albert Hall, PJ Mills, and Ja-Juan Penny and tight end Rickey Brady An offensive line that bled from inexperience is expected to improve with the return of four starters, three of whom could be dislodged by the arrival of tackles Ben Cav I (287), from defense and Joe Carollo (280), from junior corlege, and sophomore center Chuck Langston Defensively, the Sooners remain thin and starless. Linebackers Mike Coats and Aubrey Beavers are the only established regulars. But every position is manned by players who have started, albeit briefly in most cases. Nose

quard Joe Cornela is a key Tackles Russel Allen and Cedric Jones, linebackers Tremayne Green and Brent DeQuasie, cornerbacks Darrius Johnson and William Shankle, and strong safety John Anderson are projected for the first unit along with free safety Wendel Davis, a juco transfer

Scott Branton, who led Big Eight kickers by hitting 16 of 18 field goals, will not have to punt if highly recruited freshman Tim Daughtry is

OWLANGIBL STATE

(4-6-1, 2-4-1) The Cowboys were shut out three times, scored only six rushing touchdowns (33 fewer than Barry Sanders's total in 1988), and ranked in the bottom 20 nationally in every offensive category. But Pat Jones was selected Coach of the Year after making midseason changes that led to an upset tie with Oklahoma and a surprising fifth-place finish The Cowboys had been picked for last place The three principals in the second-half surge-quarterback Gary Porter, wingback Rafael Denson, who moved from tailback after being billed as the next Sanders, and wideout Shannon Culver-are among the 11 returning starters. Elevating the offensive line, which returns intact, and tailback John White to the level of the wideouts is needed if the Cowboys are to climb higher

There is less experience on defense, but the Cowboys have a star in linebacker Keith Burns, the league's Newcomer of the Year, a near star in end Jason Gildon, who is three sacks shy of the school record, and two bigplay performers in linebacker Richie Ansley and free safety Scott Harmon But the basis of Jones's optimism about the defense is the speed of juco backs Delvin Myles (180) and when they averaged only 91 yards per game They will try to improve with the same tailback. Joe Freeman, who ran for 360 yards

Their biggest need, though is on defense, where they were by far the weakest team in the conference. Stull contends that the unit will be sharply improved because of more quickness up front Ends Rick Lyle and Ear Brooks, moved from linebacker, and juco linebacker Chris Singletary inspired Stull. But the secondary is the slowest in the league

(3-8, 2-5) Coach Bob Stull secured his job when the Tigers closed with victories over Kansas and Kansas State This followed close losses to Oklahoma State and Colorado and a competitive effort against Nebraska. Quarterback Jeff Handy and wideout Kenny Holly were third in passing (2,436 yards) and receiving (60 for 663 yards) and return along with all-conference guard Mike Bedosky (288) But the remainder of the offense must be rebuilt. As usual, the Tigers find themselves in need of a running game. They ranked 106th nationally in rushing last year

DISTRIBUTE OF THE PARTY.

(4-7, 2-5) At a time when Oklahoma and Colorado said good-by to the triple option, coach Jim Walden made it the basic offense for the Cyclones A stunning upset of Nebraska was the only notable accomplishment, but Walden thinks a second season in the novel scheme will make the Cyclones better than they were a year ago Eight offensive starters return, ed by quarterback Bob Utter and the fastest group of running backs in Walden's seven years. Ha fbacks Lamont Hul, Artis Garris, and Calvin Branch will battle for the two spots beside Hussein Warmack one of the league's better fullbacks Tack e Doug Skartvedt (308) leads an experienced offensive line

The defense returns only four starters, but Troy Petersen and Todd Miler might be the best pair of tackles in the Big Eight, Strong safety Kevin Fulton and I nebacker Marcus Allen are other returning starters. James McM iion was No. 2 nationally in punt returns (18.9) average) and scored three touchdowns

CAPITALS STATES

(6-5, 2-5) The Wildcats lost most of their defense and return most of their offense. Coach Bill Snyder wishes it were reversed. K-State ranked 104th nationally and last in the Big Eight in total offense and lost its only effective weapon in running back Eric Gallon, Spring practice left Snyder pessimistic as reflected by quarterback Jason Smarg asso, who ranked last in passing among Big Eight starters, being isted behind Chad May, a transfer from Car Fullerton Center Quentin Neujahr and wideout Andrew Coleman are the best of nine returning starters on offense

Despite the loss of seven starters on defense, Snyder expects the sound hard-nosed play of recent years to continue. Free safety Jaime Mendez, who led the Big E ght with seven interceptions, and John Butler, and cornerbacks Kitt Rawlings and Thomas Randoph are returning regulars

(4-7) The Hurr cane will be hard pressed to mprove its record against a schedule that includes road games with lowa Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Houston But coach Dave Rader expects his offense to be better because of experience Back is quarterback Gus Freiceptions (five were returned for touchdowns) and displayed considerable promise. Also returning is wideout Chris Penn, who was sidelined by academics last year after an outstanding season for the 1991 Freedom Bowl champions Gary Brown has big-piay ability at wideout Tailback Lamont Headd rushed for 827 yards a year ago. The concern is in the offensive line, where tackte Jay McDaniel is the only established player.

The defense will be bo stered if tackle Cory Lax and free safety Dennis Hickey recover from injuries. The linebacker corps was depleted but the secondary returns strong safety James Blake and cornerbacks Mike Haenszel and Garrick Jackson.

gateway conference

- 1. Northern Iowa, 2. Western Illinois,
- 3. Southwest Missouri State.
- 4. Eastern litinois, 5. Illinois State,
- 6. Indiana State, 7. Southern Illinois

The Gateway Conference returns nearly two-thirds of its starting players from last season, which ought to make the championship race confusing and competitive. 'This year I don't see a team that clearly has the best talent," Western Illinois coach Randy Barsaid. "Last year, let's face it, Northern Iowa was loaded But this time everybody has experienced players back."

Northern lowa is favored to win its fourth straight conference championship, but the Panthers are anything but a lock Experienced players will help the nine-year-old Gateway deal with its demanding nonconference schedule. Ten Division I-A opponents lurk along with I-AA playoff qualifiers McNeese State, Samford and national runner-up Youngstown State The second week will be especially tough when Indiana State visits Minnesota, Southwest Missouri State visits Oklahoma State, Northern lowa trave's to Wyoming, and Illinois State is at Ball State.

The Gateway put two teams into the i-AA prayoffs for three consecutive seasons until last year, when only Northern lowa advanced. But the returning talent makes it likely the conterence will again double up in the playoffs

MORTHERM IDWA

(12-2, 5-1) The Panthers have come within one victory of the I-AA national championship game three times. With 14 starters returning from last season's national semifinal team, this could be the year they take the final step. The Panthers, who also reached the semifinals in 1985 and 87, graduated severa, high-impact players from a squad that lost to eventual national runner-up Youngstown State, 19-7. Gone are three-year starting quarterback Jay Johnson, All-America all-purpose pick Kenny Shedd, leading rusher Tank Corner, leading receiver Chris Nuss, and reading tacklers Peter Burns and William Freeney, the two-time Gateway Defensive Player of the Year

Fith-year coach Terry Allen returns 14 starters plus all-conference punter Tim Mosley who is also the leading returning receiver, and All-America place-kicker Scott Obermeier. The entire offensive line is back, led by alconference tackle John Herrin. Halfback Ed Threatt is the top returning rusher (647 yards). Three-year backup Kurt Warner will get his chance at quarterback, Defensively, three all-conference performers return lineman Casey Smith and the safety tandem of Jason McCleary and Joseph Walace Iowa transfer Brad Remmert will help replace Freeney and Burns at I nebacker.

WESTERN ILLINOIS

(7-4, 4-2) Watch out for these guys. Not only do 15 starters return from a team that finished No 20 in the final I-AA poll, but the Leathernecks signed 15 juco transfers and four other players with college experience

Some of the best athletes in the conference play defense for Western. All-America back Rodney Harrison and 1991 first-team Sports Network linebacker Ken McMillan are among nine returning starters. McMillan, the team tackle leader the past two seasons, was determined by the conference to have a third year of eligibility

Coach Randy Ball must rebuild an offense that led the GC in passing. Gone is quarterback Don S.mmons and the conference's two reception leaders. Steve Decker (58 catches) and Demeris Johnson (55) Four starters return in the line, led by guard Richard Huddleston. And the team's top two rushers are back Kendall McDonald (688 yards) and Tim Ardis (418) Rory Lee, a transfer from Wisconsin. adds depth. Quarterback Rob St. Sauver 's expected to transfer from Minnesota, where he came off the bench to earn Big Ten Offensive Player of the Week honors in a 28-13 victory against Iowa. Senior place-kicker Matt Seman ranks fourth on the school's all-time scoring list (126 points). Punter/k ckoff specialist Ross Schulte was No. 7 nationally

SOUTHWEST MISSOURI STATE

(6-5, 4-2) The Bears used an opportunistic offense and a swarming defense to start 4-0 in conference play last season, but they dropped from contention with losses at Indiana State and Northern Iowa. Fifteen starters return for another run at the championship under coach Jesse Branch. They II be joined by eight transfers on what could be Southwest Missouri's best team since the co-championship squad of 1990.

The Bears averaged 276 yards rushing last year fifth-best in I-AA. Three-fourths of their backfield returns. Halfback Anthony Pegues. is the most versatile threat. He ran for 498 vards and seven TDs, caught 14 passes for 247 yards and returned 17 kickoffs (24 5 average). The leading returning rusher is quarterback Ceveland Antone (521), but SMU ranked last in conference passing yards per game (87.7), so Antoine will be pushed for starting time by Ken Whittaker and transfer Kyle Geller Offensive tackle Will LaClear, who earned second-team all-conference honors as a freshman, leads a contingent of four returning linemen. The secondary figures to be the strength of the defense with four returning starters, including all-conference cornerback Agrion Smith and safety Shumone Burnett Outside linebacker Cameron Flemming is the leading returning tackler

EASTERN ILLINOIS

(5-6, 2-4) Coach Bob Spoo wants to pick up where the Panthers left off They won their final two games including a 21-15 decision over then-No 1 and undefeated Northern lowa Fourteen returning starters will try to bring home the first winning record since 1989 when Eastern Itlinois reached the second round of the national playoffs

The Panthers are fed by the conference's top returning quarterback, senior Jeff Thorne, who passed for 1,944 yards. Balancing the attack will be running backs Bill Korosec (571 yards and 11 TDs) and Chris Hicks, who will run behind three returning linemen. Three players stand out on a unit that ranked No. 2 in the conference in total defense first-team all-GC cornerback Ray McElroy, second-team linebacker. Shavez Hawkins, and linebacker. Tim Carver, who became the first freshman to ead Eastern in tackles. Kicker Steve Largent is coming off a freshman season in which he converted 31 of 32 PATs and nine of 13 field goals, including a 53-yarder, the second

longest in team history ILLINOIS STATE

(5-6, 2-4) The Redbirds seem poised to post a winning record for the first time since 1985. They've finished 5-6 for four consecutive seasons, but 16 returning starters and several key transfers have raised everyone's expectations. The Redbirds did lose one very important player, Toby Davis, who finished his career as the Gateway's aff-time leading rusher (3.702 yards) and touchdown scorer (3.9). Head coach Jim Heacock shook up the offense by hining Chuck Dickerson, formerly an assistant with the Buffalo Bills, as his coordinator. He probably will use a lot of one-back, three-receiver formations.

Running back Keith Goodnight is the leading returning rusher (352 yards). Ohio State transfer Will Hill will make an impact. Tackle Elbert Betts leads an expenenced offensive line Dan Barnett stepped in at quarterback last season and led tSU to victories in three of its last four games. He ll throw to a talented but thin corps of receivers. Wayne State transfer Kevin Dixson tooks like a big-play flanker Nine starters return on defense, most notably first-team all-GC tackle Clint Cullen, who made nearly one-third of his stops behind the me Chris Stevens returns to linebacker, where he earned second-team honors as a freshman. The secondary is young, but there is considerable starting experience, including honorable-mention alf-GC Franky West

INDIANA STATE

(4-7, 2-4) The Sycamores haven't had a winning season since 1984. Could this be the year? The odds seem long when you consider road games at Air Force, Minnesota, and Youngstown State. But 14-year coach Dennis Raetz returns the key elements from an offense that set school records for points, touchdowns, and total offense per game. The Sycamores ranked No. 2 in the conference in total offense. Rookie tailback sensation David Wright led the nation in all-purpose yardage (2,014), a I-AA record for freshmen. The second-team All-America rushed for 1,313 yards and 10 TDs and led the Gateway in kickoff returns. Third-year quarterback Kip Hennelly is back, along with his top receivers, Scott Crenshaw and Demetrius Dowler. Guard Shawn Moore is among four linemen with starting experience. Tight end Kirk Christensen might move to center.

Now comes the more difficult part of the puzzle defense. The Sycamores ranked last in the conference in total defense and sixth in scoring defense. Six starters are back. Wisconsin transfer Dustin Rusch will pump up the line. Team-feading tackler Matt. Egioff and Mike Nelson return at inside linebacker. Honorable-mention all-GC Von Ganaway is back full-time at free safety after starting seven games at tailback a year ago, Indiana State will have to replace record-setting punter/place-kicker Steve Kneger.

DESCRIPTION OLD SHOOM

(4-7, 2-4) The good news last year was that Southern ranked No. 2 in the conference in scoring offense with 31.8 points per game. The bad news is the Salukis yielded a conference-worst 37.1 ppg. Ten starters return for coach Bob Smith, but many key players are gone Among the Salukis lost to graduation were quarterback Scott Gabbert, who threw for 2,463 yards and 22 TDs; wide receiver Justin Roebuck, who ranked third among conference receivers with 46 catches for 645 yards, and running backs Anthony Perry 1.023 yards) and Yonel Jourdain (790) Two receivers are back. Billy Swain (45-593) and LaVance Banks (29-683) Running back Greg Brown returns after an injury-hampered season Other top returnees include all-GC guard

DAY THE

Dayton returns 11 starters from last year's 10-1 squad, but coach Mike Kelly must find replacements at key positions on both sides of the ball. The Flyers Most Valuable Player quarterback Steve Keller, has graduated and three players are battling for his spot senior John Daniels and juniors Tony Ernst and Brian.

The Salukis open the season at home against Division II Washburn (KS) but then hit the road for four consecutive games, including I-A opponents Toledo, Arkansas State and Northern Illinois

Kadel. The running game is set with fullback Pat Hofacre, who scored 13 touchdowns, and tailback Judd Mintz, who averaged 6.8 yards per carry. Guard Jeff Mathot anchors the line Six starters are back from the unit that led the nation in scoring defense, allowing just 6.7 points per game. Middle guard Robert Christy will be missed, but senior linemates Bob Coode and Steve Lochow are solid. Linebackers Brendan Hill and Martin Londar combined for over 120 tackles. Free safety Dan Thobe is the leading returning tackler (78) and finished second with three interceptions. Place-kicker Tim Duvic connected on 48 of 51 PATs and seven of nine field goals and Jason Brower averaged 37 2 yards per punt.

DESTRUC

Fifth-year coach Rob Ash has reason to smile after compiling a 7-2-1 record in 1992. Drake's best season ever as a Division III Independent. The Bulldogs set or tied 35 school records and closed out the season with a 17-7 victory over Evansville in which the detense allowed a season-low minus-10 yards rushing Returning to that unit are tackles Charlie Partridge and Todd Sauer, linebacker Matt Garvis, cornerback Brad Nemec, and end Craig Ortwerth, who led the team with 11 sacks. Quarterbacks Jamey DeAngeto and Roy Fletcher will battle for the starting role, DeShaun Diggs and Chad Briley are back as their targets. Matt Conlan and Cortez Hull return at tailback with Mike Stanfel at fullback.

EWHINAITY

With only just six seniors, second-year coach Robin Cooper managed to orchestrate a 7-2 record, one of the most successful seasons in school history. This year, with the jump from Division III to I-AA and the loss of quarterback Chad Hohne. Cooper will try for an encore. The Aces return sound performers on both sides of the ball, the best of whom are linebacker Jerry Meade and tight end Hanz Hoad Meade, the catalyst of a defense that allowed just 14.1 points per game, had two interceptions and made 116 tackles, which included three sacks and 10 tackles for loss With 119 receptions after just two seasons, Hoag needs just 38 to break the school record. The Aces began last season by winning their first six games, but they may have trouble repeating that feat. They entertain Dayton on October 9, followed a week later by San Diego Those two contests should determine Evansville's fortune in the Pioneer League

SAH DIEGO

The Toreros finished at 7-2-1 last fall, marking the program's fourth consecutive seven-victory season. Coach Brian Fogarty has 12 starters returning, but with the jump to Division LAA from III, a fifth winning record will be challenging. Junior Vince Moiso replaces quarter-back Michael Bennett and John Lambert steps in at fullback for the departed Scott Sporrer. Tight end Scott Steingrebe caught 27 passes for 504 yards and six TDs. He'll rejoin guards Victor Cruz and Kevin Barres and center Matt Zeller on the line. The entire defensive line and most of the secondary has to be replaced, but linebackers Tim Lynch (90 tackles) and Marcus Carter (66) as well as safety Randy Rivera and comer Scott Buccola return. Punter Robert Ray was tops in Division III with a 42 3 average.

WALPHANDERSO

The Crusaders return a veteran outfit as they make the transition to Division I-AA, and quarterback Bob Rayl will again lead the charge He completed 124 of 279 passes for 1,513 vards and five touchdowns, but he has to cut down on his 16 interceptions. Fullback Trevor. Bell averaged 4.3 yards per carry and soph tailback Ozzie Young is back after sitting out last season. Their production will be determined by a veteran line that includes senior guards Bryan Buck and Brad Weaver, junior John Lyon, and senior tight end John Unger Linebacker Scott Petcu had 140 tackles to lead the Crusaders for the second straight year VU's top pass rusher, John Palyok, and tackle Todd Elder came on strong last fall. # Division II National Preview

by GREGG DEWALT and JERRY FELTS

FLORENCE (AL) TIMES-DAILY

No matter what happens during the 1993 football season, Division il is guaranteed a new national champion. Jacksonvi le State s making the transition to Division I-AA and will not be back to defend its title, won in the closing seconds over 1991 champion Pittsburg State The Gamecocks had played in three of the last four Division II championship games. With them headed toward bigger things, it's anybody's guess who will wind up at Braiy Stadium in Florence, AL, playing for the Division II grown in December

One thing is certain. The usual cast of characters will be in the hunt for the championship, as well as a bunch of newcomers from the NAIA ranks. And nobody seems sure just how the influx of those NAIA teams will affect the status quo among the perennial

Rocky Hager North Dakota State's veteran coach, hopes they're not as tough as former NAIA power Pittsburg State which has played in the last two national championship games and shows no signs of slowing down

"I don't know if Division II has been weakened by the defections, but it has been depleted "Hager said. The NAIA teams are an unknown If they're all like Pittsburg State, then we're in trouble. But Pitt State is a unique situation. They have a solid commitment to the football program. And there s more population within 50 miles of their campus than in all of North Dakota.

Among the new additions to Division I are the entire South Atlantic Conference and a pair of Arkansas schools, Central Arkansas and Henderson State, which will begin play in the always tough Gulf South Conference Even though the NAIA schools are virtual unknowns, the fact remains that most teams will be chasing Pittsburg State, North Dakota State, New Haven, and North Alabama to get to the championship game. Some things, it seems, never change

Pittsburg State has been the best Division II team for the past two years. The Gorilas are a prohibitive favorite to return to the playoffs but it won't be easy Coach Chuck Broyles must find replacements for 11 starters, including two (Harlon Hill Trophy winner running back Ronald Moore and defensive end Troy Wison) who were selected in the NFL draft last spring "I believe we have the talent once again to be successful," Broyles said upon completing spring practice. "We don't know how successful we can be until we start playing It takes more than talent to compete for the national championship. But without the talent, it's > Association let alone nationally Broyles' first task is to find someone who can come close to replacing Moore, who finished with 2,585 yards and 39 touchdowns in 15 games Sean Scott will get the first shot at the school record for total offense in 1992

"We may not have a star player like a Ronnie West or a Ronald Moore," said Broyles. "but I don't think there is as big a drop-off in talent between our starters and our No. 2 players as in the past. We have some players who are capable of achieving stardom, but I think this team is as solid overall at this point as we've ever been."

How good is Pitt State? Broyles and the rest of the country should get an idea on September 4 when the Gorillas visit the Fargodome to take on North Dakota State. That will be a rematch of last year's classic quarterfinal playoff game in which the Gorillas squeaked out a 38-

New Haven came from out of nowhere to within 11 points of playing for the national championship in 1992. The Chargers made a mockery of opposing defenses on the way to a 12-1 record, averaging 5877 yards and 50 7 points per game. Only a 46-35 loss to Jacksonville State in the semifinals kept the Chargers from playing for the title. A year later, they seem ready to make another run for the top. Most of last year's team returns, including the outstanding tailback tandem of Roger Graham (1,717 yards, 22 TDs) and A.J. Livingston (898-17), Defensively, all but one starter is back. But there are some big holes for coach Mark Whipple to fill Quarterback Ken Suhl, a Harlon Hill Trophy finalist, is gone after passing for 26 touchdowns and 2,336 vards Tackle Scott Emmert and guard Brian Houston must be replaced in order to give new quarterback James Weir time to find his targets. Tony Willis had 51 catches for 1,030 yards and 10 touchdowns Max Joyner-Brown caught only eight passes in the regular season, but three went for scores. In three playoff games, four of his 11 catches went for TDs. At times. New Haven gave up a lot of points (three teams scored 45 or more), but it did win a few defensive struggles, including 19-15 over Edinboro in the opening round of the playoffs. Cornerback George Byrd led the team with 88 tackles while linebacker Chris Lunz recorded 8½ sacks

Mike ROOS Northeast Missouth State

North Dakota State was an inch short of playing for yet another Division II championship when a two-point conversion was stopped by Pittsburg State in the semifinals. With the core of last year's 10-2 team back the Bison will be the team to beat in the North Central Conference. Quarterback Arden Beachy is back to run Hager's powerful option offense, and he'll be behind a line that returns intact, including All-America guard Kevin Bloom. Wide receiver T.R. McDonald, an All-America candidate, caught 33 passes, an unusually high number for this offense.

North Alabama made the playoffs for the second time in four years under Bobby Wallace and nearly derailed Jacksonville's championship express, losing 14-12 in the second round. With 14 starters back, including the Gulf South Conference's top offensive player tailback Tyrone Rush (1,364 yards and 6 TDs), the Lions should be one of the favorites to play for the championship on their home field. Rush, who finished sixth in the Hill Trophy balloting, combines with fullback Brian Satterfield (935, 8) to form the most devastaling 1-2 backfield punch in the GSC. Six other offensive starters are back, including five linemen. The top freshman in the league, linebacker Ronald McKinnon (148 tackles), leads a group of six returning defenders. But the Lions must find replacements for All-America safety Harvey Summerhill and all-conference punter John Crittenden. Wallace is confident the Lions can advance even further in the playoffs "This is basically the same team that lined up against Jacksonville State and lost by missing a field goal at the end," he said "We're expecting a lot."

East Texas coach Eddie Vowell is confident his team can compete for the Lone Star title and perhaps even a national championship. Among the 15 returning starters from last year's 8-3 squad are All-America kicker Billy Watkins and running back Michael Hightower, each of whom scored 78 points. Watkins is poised to break the Division II career records for kicking points, PATs, and kicking points per game. Hightower was the go-to guy for East Texas, scoring 13 touchdowns. Combined with second-team all-LSC quarterback Clint Dolezel, the offense appears to be in good shape. Defensively, East Texas must replace the entire secondary from a unit that led Division II, Linebacker Fred Woods (14 sacks) is back for his senior season

Portland State should make it back into the playoffs if it can survive a grueling schedule. The Vikings, like New Haven, narrowly missed playing in the championship game in 1992, dropping a 41-38 decision to Pittsburg State in the semifinals. But the schedule that greets new coach Tim Walsh includes playoff participants Texas A&I and North Alabama, former NAIA powerhouse Central Arkansas, and Big Sky Conference members Idahc

State and Eastern Washington. Walsh (27-14 at Sonoma State) replaces the popular Pokey Alien and promises to keep the ball flying "We'd like to throw 35-40 times and run 25-30 times," he said. Bill Matos took over at quarterback late in the season for Harlon Hill Trophy contender John Chartes and hardly missed a beat. In four starts, Matos threw 16 touchdown passes and was intercepted just three times. PSU's defense has always been overshadowed by Allen's offensive genius, but Walsh would like to see that change. In six of the last seven games in '92, the Vikings yielded 26 or more points. "We'd like to play defense as well as we play offense ' he said. With seven starters back, the Vikings should be better defensively

Division II National Preview

Even though there are some holes to fill, Texas A&I always seems to find its way into the playoffs. The Javelinas went 9-3 and have half their starters back to pursue another Lone Star Conference title. The best is defensive back Anthony Phillips (6-3, 220), an All-Amenca candidate who averaged 5.9 tackles per game. Tai back Dexter Deese was the team's No 2 rusher and will be called on more frequently with the departure of Martin Patton.

Western State has only 10 starters back but should again be the team to beat in the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference. The Mountaineers are coming off a 9-2 campaign. and have plenty of speed at the receiver positions in their high-powered passing offense. Tyrone Johnson, who set a D<sub>v</sub>v s on II record in '91 for yards per catch (32.5), is a good target for quarterback Tim Thenell, who started three games in '92. Enc Karr, a 240-pound ful back also is a threat out of the backfield.

Ferris State became the first Midwestern ntercodegiate Football Conference team to win a playoff game in 1992, stopping Edinboro in the first round before losing to New Haven The Bulldogs did most of their damage with the nation's best scoring defense (10.5 points per game), which led to a schoolrecord 10 victories. They should be strong again with a trio of all-league players returning Senior tackles Jim Lenz and Ed Philon. share the school record with

Edinboro coach Tom Hollman expects his 1993 squad to be as good if not better, than the 1992 playoff team. The Scots have eight starters back from a defense that limited the opposition to 11.9 points and 257.4 yards per game Eight regulars return on offense as weil, including All-America tackle Mike Kegarise (6-7,305), whose main job is to open holes for fellow All-America Larry Jackson, the junior tailback who fin shed fifth nationally in scoring (114 points on 19 TDs) and 17th in rushing (1.218 yards)

Hampton had a good first year under coach Joe Taylor, going 9-2-1 and reaching the playoffs. But the Pirates lost six players and 36 touchdowns from that squad. Quarterback Matt Montgomery, who threw for 2,000 vards and 25 TDs is the top offensive player He will have to have a big year to get Hampton back to the playoffs. Senior end Chris Williams (13 sacks) head nes the defense

Northern Colorado si pped to 6-5 after reaching the playoffs in 1990 and '91, but three of their tosses were by a touchdown or ess With 15 starters back and the return of running back Gaynor Blackmon (1,027 yards and 13 TDs in '91), a medical redshirt last fall, the Bears will be looking for a return trip to the playoffs. The biggest problem is finding a replacement for quarterback V.J. Lechman a four-year starter.

Indiana (PA) missed the playoffs for the first time since 1986 and the Indians have renewed their commitment not to let it happen again. They opened the season with seven straight victories but finished poorly with two losses and a tie. With 19 starters back including all-time leading rusher Michael Mann (779) vards, 10 TDs) and quarterback Scott Woods (2.580 yards passing and 20 TDs), there is pienty of optimism from coach Frank Cignetti

Gardner-Webb will be one of a number of NA A schools to make the move to Division II in 1993. The Runnin' Bulldogs came within 30 seconds of the NAIA Division I title and will be a strong favorite to wrap up the South Atlantic Conference for a second straight season. Five All-Americas are back on a team that went 7-0 in SAC play, winning by an average margin of 21.5 points Quarterback John Craven is a perfect match for coach Woody Fish's hybrid run-and-shoot offense. He passed for 4,089 yards and 37 TDs. Defensive All-Americas include end Gabe Wilkins (11 sacks), inside inebacker Raymond Jennings (152 tackles) and back James Harbison (12 interceptions)

Valdosta State is the Gulf South's second-best team (behind North Alabama) Quarterback Chris Hatcher set 15 school and six conference passing records and is only a un or Sen or Calvin Walker established a school record with 71 receptions. The Blazers lost just one player from an offense that averaged 36 points over its last six games. If the Gulf South race is tight. Vaidosta could have an advantage when it hosts North Alabama in ts next-to-last game

f Grand Valley State (8-3) is to break out of the Midwest Intercollegiate Football Conference logiam with Ashland, Hillsdale and Fer-

r's State, coach Brian Kelly needs to find a replacement for quarterback Brian Tazic, who led the conference a year ago. Depth shouldn't be a problem for the Lakers, who have 22 players back with starting experience. Tailback Rusty Setzer, a transfer from Notre Dame, could provide a major impact

Angelo State peaked at No. 6 in the pol on the strength of a unit that finished 10th in the nation in scoring defense. Ends Greg Collins and Greg Stokes combined for 13 sacks. and 102 tackles. The Rams, though averaged just 10 points in their five losses. In an effort to improve offens'vely, coach Jerry Vandergriff signed tailback Chris Chambers (Kilgore Junior Coilege) and added three new linemen

Fort Hays State did its best work in the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference, finishing second to Western State. but it will need to play better in the nonconference games to charlenge for the playoffs. The Tigers went 0-4 n games outside the RMAC. The combination of Dustin McEwen to Lance Schwindt, however, is one of the league's best.

Winning has become a habit at Hillsdale, which shared the MIFC title with three other teams. The Chargers, coming off a 9-2 campaign, are ooking for even more success in '93 and seem to have the personnel to achieve it. Tai back Scott Schulte, the co-MIFC Player of the Year, rushed for 1,582 yards and 16 touchdowns. Already the leading rusher in school history, he needs 1,004 yards to go over the 4,000 mark. Another plus is a secondary that returns all four starters

Mankato State will pin its hopes on quarterback Jamie Pass, a solid offensive line, and some good running backs. Pass has thrown for nearly 3,000 yards over the past two seasons and should do just as well this year behind a line that returns intact. Another piece of good news for coach Dan Runkle is the return of Rick Fossey, who, after leading Mankato in rushing in 1991, redshirted last fall because of an injury Runkle must find a replacement for All-America safety David Klawitter

Northeast Missouri State got a taste of the playoffs after rolling to nine victories during the regular season. To repeat that feat, senior nose guard Mike Roos must equal his '92 numbers (84 tackles, 6 sacks, 12 tackles for losses). Also quarterback Chris Livingstone (1,062 yards, 9 TDs) must return to form after a rotator cuff injury sidelined him for the final six games Joseph Best had 12 interceptions for Southern intercolleg ate Athletic Conference champion Fort Valley State, but the Wildcats were shut out when it came to the playoffs With nine defensive starters back, including Best, and nine on offense, the Wildcats should

again be the class of the S:AC

North Dakota has played second fiddle for each of the last three seasons to North Dakota State in the North Central Conference Any chance the Fighting Sloux have of overtaking the Bison will depend on what kind of season tailback Shannon Burneli has Among the final nine in the Harlon Hill Trophy voting, Burnell picked up 1,170 yards and eight touchdowns in 11 games in 1992, with another 1,000-yard effort in '93 will surpass the 4,000-yard barrier Still, having to replace 15 starters will make it tough to beat out North Dakota State for the top spot in the NCC

Emporia State reached No. 12 in last year's poll before dropping its last two games Half the team's starters are back, including ail-conference linebacker Greg Harvey and strong safety Jonathan Daniels

Best of the Rest

Millersville and West Chester should battle throughout the fall for the Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference Eastern title Wth 14 starters back from 'ts 7-3 team, Millersville will contend for the playoffs East Strougsburg could make it a three-way race, despite havng to replace 14 starters from an 8-2 squad In the Western Division, Slippery Rock is coming off its best season (8-3) since 1974 and returns Gred Hopkins, who caught 16 passes in one game a year ago ship. Running back Thelbert Withers scored 15 touchdowns and rushed for 1,621 yards for the 7-3-1 Cowboys. Quarterback Jermaine Whitaker tossed 25 touchdown passes, Defensive lineman Luis Pisarra and linebacker Todd Williams will have to have big years if the Orediggers are to contend. Chadron State (7-3) will base its offense around quarterback Trevor Long and tailback David McCartney

Although North Alabama and Valdosta State are the class of the Gulf South Conference, West Georgia, Delta State, and Livingston will all have a say in the race. West Georgia lost four games by a touchdown or less and the Braves have 15 starters back, including quarterback Chris Teal, who threw a GSCrecord 25 touchdown passes in '92

The Lone Star Conference will be as competitive as ever, with three teams ranked in the top 25 and Central Oklahoma and Eastern New Mexico looking to move into the league's upper echelon. Two-time all-LSC first-team defensive tackle Ira Richards of Central Oklahoma is coming off a 63-tackle, 10-sack season. Teammate Tyrone Jones led the LSC with 1.075 vards rushing

Carson-Newman and Elon, along with the aforementioned Gardner-Webb, give the South Atlantic Conference instant credibility in Division II Carson-Newman won five NAIA championships in the 1980s and will look to establish itse f in Division II immediately. Elon went 8-2 and finished ninth in the NAIA rankings a year ago. With 17 starters back, the Fightin' Christ ans should make it a three-team race in the SAC

Michigan Tech, coming off a 9-1 record, appears to be the best among the independents. Running back Jeremy Monroe will be ooking for his fourth straight 1,000-yard season and is just 373 yards short of 4,000 for his career. He scored 20 TDs a year ago.

Wayne State went heavy on junior college transfers and landed some good ones, including quarterback Brett Salisbury (brother of the Minnesota Vikings' Sean Salisbury) and wide receiver Jerry Garrett (95 catches for 1,507 yards and 18 TDs) at Palomar (CA) J C

Norfolk State has a new coach and a new philosophy Archie "Gunslinger" Cooley has produced everywhere he's been, and Norfolk State should be no different. "Last year, they ran basically a wing-T offense, but what we're going to do is Cooley's offense and Cooley's defense," he said. 'My philosophy is that the offense dictates the defense We'll find their weakness and exploit it "

Alabama A&M could dethrone Fort Valley State in the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference if Jermaine Jackson continues his surge from late last season. He led the team with 705 yards on 127 carries

If Western State and Fort Hays slip in the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference, New Mexico Highlands of Colorado School of Mines could slide into the league champion-

Jim Ballard's mom, Bonnie called the USA Today sports department late last year requesting national coverage of her riflearmed son, the quarterback at Mount Union. 'There's no ignoring Jimmy's numbers," she said. Morn is a reception st by profession with the feist ness to get on the phone and promote her son. She was nevertheless correct Ba.lard went on to set 15 school and seven NCAA records and put his team into the Division Id semifinals. He also picked up a few He sman votes along the way

Going into last season we didn't have a returning running back with any type of numbers, ' said coach Larry Kehres. ' We did think we would throw a considerable amount, in the 40 percent range " With the green light, Balard completed 254 of 398 passes for 3,903 yards and 37 touchdowns, pushing his career totals to 8,322 passing yards and 86 TDs

Ballard began at Wilmington College in 1990, throwing for 2,109 yards and 22 touchdowns as a freshman. When coach Bili Ramseyer left to take the job at Clinch Valley (VA)

While Ballard has the statistics, Wisconsin-La Crosse senior quarterback Jason Gonnion has the national championship and is one of 13 returning starters on his team (12-0-1). Gonnion showed exceptional leadership in guiding La Crosse to a 16-12 victory over Washington & Jefferson in last year's Amos Alonzo Stagg Bowl. La Crosse won despite the absence of coach Roger Harring, who was recovering from heart surgery. Sen or running back John Janke (2 437 career yards noluding 692 and 10 TDs in '92) rejoins Gonnion in the backfield, and the Eagles remain. the favorites over Wisconsin-Whitewater and Wisconsin-Stevens Point in the tough Wisconsin State University Conference

Mount Union will be pressed within the Ohio. Athletic Conference by rival Baldwin-Wallace, which went 8-2 and missed the playoffs after losing to archrival Mount Union and to Ohio Northern in a late upset. Six starters return on offense, including All-America quarterback John Koz, who was fifth in the nation in passing efficiency last fall while increasing his career totals to 5,271 yards and 46 TDs, and 6-5. 200-pound wide receiver Lance Yandell (51 catches and 7 TDs) Six regulars are back on defense, where senior outside linebacker Tim-Jansen could be a dominating player End Ph.I Sabley and hard-hitting safety Scott Powers (the brother of Michigan's Ricky) are bigplay performers.

Augustana (IL) retains 15 regulars, includng nine on offense, from the team that went 6-3, the school's worst mark since 1980. The line features four returnees from the unit that averaged 290 3 rushing yards per game. Ali-conference Scott Tumilty ran for 788 yards and 10 touchdowns as a freshman Sophomore quarterback Tommy King shows promise. The defense is more suspect. Linebacker Rusty Van-Wetzinga had 90 tackles as a frosh and was first-team all-conference. Coach Bob Reade s now 131-19-1, dropping his percentage to 871 and No. 2 behind Knute Rockne (881).

Ballard transferred closer to his Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, home and No. 1 fan Bonnie, Now halled as Division IIt's top quarterback, the 6-4 senior has bulked up to 220 pounds for a title run and pro interest. "The guys that do the scouting have made the rounds and come in and seen him it's hard for me to say " said Kehres. "He's big, he's not slow, he's got what I consider a great arm and outstanding accuracy I'm hopeful for him, but I d hate to put pressure on him."

With 14 starters back, Mount Union looks like the national championship favorite after narrowly missing the final game ast year Ballard engineered a 27-10 upset of No. 1 Dayton and a 49-27 quarterfinal victory over Illinois Wesleyan before Mount Union fell to eventua national champion Wisconsin-La Crosse, 29-24, in a memorable semifinal that haunts Bai-

Darwin Breaux the offensive coordinator the past five years, is the new coach at Dickinson. He replaced Ed Sweeney, who took the Colgate job after last season's 8-2-1 mark Eight regulars are back, including the entire offensive line, and quarterback John Tice has experience, having started half the games last fall, but replacements are needed at tailback and wide receiver. Lou Cristinziani, the 1990 ECAC Rook e of the Year, is now a senior and appears ready to step in for the departed Alex Plomaritis. (1,300 rushing yards). Defense could be a problem since only the Inebackers, led by Jason Fox (7 interceptions), return

With 16 returning starters from the team that went 8-1-1, Wittenberg looks like a bona fide national contender. Middle finebacker Taver Johnson, the North Coast Athletic Conference Defensive Player of the Year and an AP Little All America heads the unit that was first in the league in rushing, scoring, and total defense Tallback Marlon Perryman, who has fallen just short of 1,000 yards in each of the past two seasons, and junior quarterback J.R. Runkel, who completed 57 percent of his passes with only three interceptions; lead the offense

If all goes well for St. John's (MN) John Gagiardi (294-95-10) in his 40th year on the sidelines, should get his 300th victory on October 16 at Bethe. As usual, the Johnnes are balanced with 15 regulars back from the team that went 8-1-1 a year ago Quarterback Wade Labatte (1,746 yards passing and 21 TDs) is gone and junior Pat Kemper is the preseason favorite to take over He has two good receivers in Ryan Murray (35-557-8) and Jeremy Lorentz (26-562-6) Guard Burt Chamberlain was the MIAC Lineman of the Year The secondary with Greg Thomas (9 interceptions), Scott Wilts, and Tony Lesch, is the strongest part of the defense

Simpson features senior All-America tailback Trent Nauholz, who ran for 1 302 yards despite missing two games—and was the Division III scoring leader with 16.0 points per game and 128 overall. There's a battle at quarterback between returning starters Scott Driskell and Dan Clark, And although coach Jim Williams prefers the run, the receiving corps is strong with Chris Stokes (26 354) and Shannon Bucknell (15-177). Nose tackle vason Anthony a presence in the middle of the strong line, may be moved to linebacker. The defense must shore up the secondary.

After winning the Amos Alonzo Stagg Bowl in 1991 ithaca fell in the first round of the playoffs last fall to Buffalo State. That didn't detract from coach Jim Butterfield's milestone year. The victory over Washington & Jefferson in the regular-season finale was Butterfield's 200th (200-67-1 in 26 years) and earned Ithaca its 11th postseason appearance. South Hill Field was renamed Jim Butterfield Stadium. This year's team is young, with just eight returning regulars. Linebackers Jon Genese and Jake Cerrone and cornerback Jay Zun c anchor a defense that appears more set than the offense. Senior fullback Mike Murtha replaces All-America Jeff Wittman, Senior Ron Smith and junior Greg Murphy will battle for the No. 1 quarterback job and throw to senior split end Joe Palumbo.

Concordia (Moorhead) went 7 2-1 last year and should contend for the Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference title this fall All-M AA tailback Mike Jousma (1,125 yards) is the main man in the run-oriented attack. Quarterback is a tossup between Ryan Beachy and Kyle Odermann, good passers who will get ample protection from a solid line, Linebackers Harold Hegg and John Byorth are all-leadue material. The line, though, will be new Nineteen starters return from a very young Widener club that went 3-6-1 last year but 2-2-1 down the stretch for first-year coach 8 ll Gubit. Quarterbacks Vic Ameye and Scott MacHenry will take turns throwing to Keith Dukes and Boonta Kheuangthirath. The offens ve line is intact good news for slotback Bill Balley and fulback Doug MacLaugh in Three line-backers—Blaise Coteman Chris MacHenry and Jim Pitts—and all-ECAC free safety Jeff Allison are back on defense Punter Jim Wark (38.8) also helps.

After a 6-2-1 record including 5-0-1 in the nd ana Colleg ate Athletic Conference, playoff hopes are high in Wabash, which could have its best team since the 1982 squad went 10-0. Nine starters are back from the unit that ranked ninth nationally in total offense (426.4 yards per game). Running back David Kogan gained 701 yards and seven touchdowns in seven games. Quarterback Chris Ings set a Division III freshman record for total offense (271.87 yards per game) Chris Wiesehan caught 51 passes for 873 yards and nine TDs and has 3,477 career all-purpose yards. The defense must be rebuilt to replace seven reg ulars, but linebackers Eric Schoettle and Sean Satterfield and end Todd Parish, a transfer from Yale provide a firm foundation

Coach Bob Nielsen has his best team in his third year at Wartburg with 15 returning starters. An experienced offensive line is headed by tackle Jeff Heugel (6-5, 285). Tailback Bob Beatty has rushed for almost 2,000 yards in his first two seasons. There will be a new quarterback, with last year's No. 2 man, Mike Elijah, probably stepping up. The key is now we play up front, 'said Nielsen, 'We've got a difficult early schedule, so how our quarterback comes along will determine a lot." The fine-backing corps of Nate Hill, Don Heidemann, Koby Kreinbring, and Joe Walczyk returns.

John Carroll lost 10 defensive regulars from an 8-2 team putting the pressure on coach Tony DeCarlo's 92 backups. The biggest loss, however, is running back Willie Beers, whose career yardage (4.397) is fifth all time in the Division III record book. Brad Eungard and Shauntey Lett will compete for his spot. Returning guard Greg Zawadzk, and center Matt Francis will help and quarterback PJ. Insana is expected to throw more this fall. The ione returnee on defense is sen or free safety Aaron Perusek. A bright spot is the piay of the special teams. Punter Ryan Haley (40.1) was fifth nationally and place-kicker Mano Valente set a school record with 42 extra points.

With 18 returning starters from the 9-2 team that dropped a first round playoff game to Emory & Henry, Thomas More should dominate the four-team Association of Midwest Colleges. The only loss on offense is quarterback John Paul Case. His replacement will be last year's No 2 man, Larry Hutson, Todd Schaeffer, or Brian Castner, Jun or tailback Ryan Reynolds, a third-team All-America as kick returner (33.8), rushed for 1,171 yards Linebacker Mike Woolf who had 167 tack es and was second-team All-America anchors a defense that includes end Joe Shriver (13 sacks), cornerback Chris Haliburton (5 interceptions), and tackle Jim Ravenna (8 sacks)

Since boiling from the NA A Division II Defiance has gone 8-2 in 1991 and 9-1 in '92, when the defense against the run (59.4 yards per game) was nationally ranked. The goal

Division III National Preview

this year for coach Maien Luke is the playoffs. His first priority is to replace running back Von Cummings (4.131 career yards, including 1,108 last fail). Among the 19 returning starters are quarterback John Smith (1,500 passing yards), wide receiver/kick returner Sammy Williams, defensive back Jason Ramsey, and nose guard Malt Skata.

The offensive line returns intact along with eight defensive regulars for Redlands, which has won three consecutive Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference titles and made the playoffs two of the last three years. The offensive backfield will be new, but there is a valuable weapon in junior Garrett Skipper, who may be Division Iti's top kicker A transfer from Southern Callet he was second-team All-America, hitting all 35 extra points and nine of 13 field goals (the four misses were from beyond the 45-vard line).

Emory & Henry should have little trouble winning its sixth Old Dominion Athletic Conference title in nine years. Fifteen starters are back including offensive innemen Reid Ebert, Rex Carter, Emile Maddy, and John Ely. Quarterback Eric Montgomery, who broke his leg in the second game last fall returns to direct an offense that averaged 406-1 yards and 31-4 points per game. Senior defensive end Scott Pruner is a two-time. ODAC first-teamer with 31 career sacks.

Washington & Jefferson, the national runner-up (11-2) last season lost All-America running back Chris Babirad and quarterback Bob Strope and has no experienced replacements But coach John Luckhardt has a capable defense, led by inebackers Shawn Prendergast (124 tackles and 5 sacks) and Jeff Zamiska (67-3) and Shawn McGee (77-9) and tackle Eric Tarpley (92-5). Offensive veterans include guard John Mueller (6-5, 330), tackle Jason Moore, wide receiver Mike Speca (50 receptions for 648 yards and 4 TDs), and running back Bryan Bandes (508 yards and 5 TDs).

Sixteen regulars return at Wisconsin-Whitewater (8-2) for coach Bob Berezowitz, including two dominant ones senior offensive tackle Dave Lang (6-3, 300) and junior tailback Spencer Johnson (1,012 yards and 6 TDs) Junior quarterback Bryan Pytleski started every game in 92 and smiles at the return of his entire offensive line. The top defenders are backs Tim DeForest and John Forchette and lineman Talmadge Kimmons.

Wisconsin-Stevens Point was 6-4 last season and missed winning the Wisconsin State University Conference after a two-point loss to eventual champion La Crosse and a one-point loss to Wisconsin-Whitewater Running back Jimmy Henderson (832 yards and 13 TDs) quarterback Roger Hauri (1,016 yards passing and 6 TDs) tight end Scott Zwirschitz (35 receptions for 492 yards and 2 TDs), and a veteran offensive line guide the Pointers' run-

Worcester Polytechnic won nine games last year for the first time in the school's 104 football seasons and appears strong again. The defending Freedom Football Conference champions averaged 31.3 points per game with a potent running attack, it's back and stars tailbacks usson Wooley (820 yards and 11 TDs) and Ernie Ansah (680-5) and running back Tony Padula (13 TDs). Defensive standouts include nose guard Joe Laskowski line-backer Matt Mercer, and safety Sean Conley.

Fifth-year coach D.J. LeRoy returns quarter-back Guy Simons and running back Carey Bender from a Coe team that led Division. If in scoring (46.4 points per game). Simons has career totals of 192 completions in 420 attempts for 3.362 yards and 34 touchdowns. Bender has run for 2,197 yards and 26.TDs and caught 61 passes for 842 yards and seven TDs. Marcus Atkins returns to the defensive line after sitting out a year with an njury Hell be joined by end Aaron Styre, linebacker Tim Smyth (121 tackles), and backs Brian Johnson, Aaron Vicko and Brian Ferry

Only nine starters return for coach Steve Briggs 31, who carnes the monicker "Grand Young Man of Football" for his 27-6 record at Susquehanna, the school made famous by Amos Aionzo Stagg The Middle At antic Conference has been realigned and the Crusaders find themselves in the new Commonwealth League with Albright, Juniata, Lebanon Valley, Moravian, and Widener John Heim is an exceptional detensive tackle and Mike Gerhart anchors the secondary but there are concerns on offense where every 92 starter is gone Matt Plessinger who threw two passes last fall, and Erick Hackenberg, a transfer from Virginia are competing to succeed all-MAC quarterback Jim Filippy ts. The September 11 home opener vs. Lycoming and the September 18 road game at Washington & Jefferson are brutal early tests

In his final year as coach, former NFL linebacker John Bunting directed Rowan to the NCAA semifinals before taking an assistant job with the Kansas City Chiefs, K.C. Keeler, the offens ve coordinator the last five years, is the new head man. He has some holes to fill on defense, where just four starters return. His offense, however, is back intact and should light up the scoreboard behind senior quarterback Ed Hesson, a four-year regular who completed 114 of 225 for 1,701 yards and 21 touchdowns in 10 games last fall, and wide receiver Kirby Johnson (40 receptions and 9 TDs) Center Chris Stalcup, tackles Anthony Makoski and Andy Dunn, and guards Scott Sprengel and Matt Swift comprise the line Halfback Calvin Easley (557 yards and 7 TDs) and fullback Jarvis Perry (432-12) are proven Senior linebacker John Rechner and strong

Preseason All-America I nebacker Joe Gitt signe of seven senior returning defensive starters at Lebanon Valley, which went 7-3 last fall, its beat record since 1960 Kris Kohler, Jim Geisel, Tom Kennedy, and Rodney Kovach are two-year regulars on the tine Quarterback Kirk Seesholtz threw for 1 186 yards and 11 TDs Mike Hartman, Jeff Geisel and Brady Smith anchor the offensive line

There are holes to fill on the 10-1 Illinois Wesleyan team that won the College Conference of Illino's and Wisconsin Life. Wide receiver Chris Bisail on, who set 11 school and five NCAA records, including most career touchdown catches (55), and quarterback Tom Monken (2 565 yards passing) are the biggest osses. But the offensive line is back, led by senior center Pat Moore and junior tackle Ed Lefevour. The defense will be strong with I nebacker and league MVP Rop Zvonar (119 tackles) and sen or back Rick Kozlowski who intercepted a school-record seven passes a year ago. Other stalwarts include outside I nebackers Genele Croweil and Brian Tencza and lineman Chad Shepherd

Five first-team all-Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association offensive players return at Albion, led by senior quarterback and league MVP Mixe Montico (1 613 yards passing and 14 TDs) and 1,000-yard rusher Gabe Cooper. The line, headed by all-MIAA center Ron Dawson returns intact. The defense is also solid with junior Jim Heaslip (12 sacks), linebackers Eric Baxmann and Ron Smith, and backs Todd Sebold and Derek Mazur.

Despite losing touchdown-maker Stanley Drayton, Allegheny will not go down the tubes, not with 6-3, 215-pound quarterback Pau Bell on hand. He set the conference standard for passing efficiency. Chuck Bremer, the No. 2 rusher as a sophomore last year, replaces Drayton at tailback. Senior free safety Mark Spoerke was first-team all-conference; nose tackle Eric Winslow was a second-team honoree. Problem areas: tight end, line-backer, defensive end, and punter.

Lycoming went 8-1-1 last year and won its fourth consecutive Middle Atlantic Conference title. With a 28-game regular-season unbeaten streak and nine starters back on defense (all juniors) and eight on offense, it will be the team to beat again this fall. The big guns include tight end Brian Lafty (22 receptions), quarterback Ellio Domenick (1,436 yards passing and 10 TDs), and offensive lineman Tim Kinney (6-5, 290). Defensively, linebacker Bob Shull and lineman Ken Bergmann are All-Americas.

Millikin had a down year (4-5 overall) in the College Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin but expects to be much improved this fall. The key player is junior quarterback Brian Ganser. All-conference offensive lineman Shane Crandall is also back.

Despite the return of three-time all-NCAC quarterback Jim Clark, Ohio Wesleyan remains the league dark horse behind Wittenberg and Alleghery. Wingback Brian Willis (7.9 yards per carry) returns, but the fullback spot is open and tight end Steve Alexander will be tough to replace. Seven starters are back on defense, including four finemen and All-America safety Ryan Spicer.

For Ferrum coach Hank Norton, success depends on a defensive core of six returning starters led by linebacker Jim Kitts and tackle Martin Asprey. Offensively, the team is young. Sophomores Millard Vining and John Poindexter will compete at quarterback. Senior fullback Levi Frye is a strong runner. Last year's 4-5 season was partly the result of a difficult schedule that included Division I-AA power Western Carolina.

John Audino's first year at Union was rocky: three victories, three losses, and three more victories as the Dutchmen discovered a quarterback. Scott Newton guided the team in those final three games and should get the starting nod over fellow junior Chad Stoffer, who is returning from knee surgery. The offensive line appears strong, with Greg Oswitt, Dan Plakans, and John Parsons opening holes for tailback Chris Irving (1,392 career yards). Senior linebackers Marco Lainez and Craig Mosia were in on 21t tackles. The schedule is imposing: Nine of this fall's opponents went 51-37-1 in '92.

Aurora retains 17 starters from the team that earned the school's first playoff berth (a 21-12 opening-round loss to Illinois Wesleyan). Only six regulars are back on the offense, though, where the pressure is on junior tailback Dan Dixon to replace the departed Derek Tieman (1,233 yards). Quarterback

Derek Avery will again run the show and 6-4, 260-pound tackle Tim Heinz, helped Aurora compile a school-record 2,300 rushing yards in nine games. The top defenders are senior linemen Brad Delphy and Jeff Kuna and back Doug Bruyn, who is also the punter.

Two-time Iowa Intercollegiate Athletic Conference quarterback Shad Flynn enters this season as the first four-year starter in Central (IA) history. He completed 57 percent of his passes a year ago for 1,494 yards as the Dutchmen won the IIAC for the ninth time in 11 years and advanced to the national quarterfinals. Tackle Jeff Helle anchors the offensive line and Glen Hummel the defensive. But an all-new receiving corps and a defense that must replace Alt-America linebacker Bill Mulder and three regulars in the secondary are the biggest worries for Ron Schipper, who has guided Central to eight playoff appearances since 1984 and an NCAA-record 32 winning seasons. He ranks third among active coaches in career victories (252-61-3 in 32 years) behind Grambling's Eddie Robinson and St. John's (MN) John Gagliardi.

DePauw went 4-4-2 last season, but hopes are high for an offense that returns six regulars. Either Brian Goodman (1,012 passing yards) or Brian Lansu (1,235) will play quarterback. Jim Fiscella (30 catches for 533 yards) and Bradley Hill (27-419) are the wide receivers and '92 rushing leader Ron Hermann the tailback. Dan Elmore, Pat Roberts, and Rob Cellini are back on the line. The loss of nine defensive starters, however, is a problem. Only nose tackle Benson Henry and tackle Tim Hedrick return. Big game alert: The November 13 clash with Wabash will be the 100th meeting between the schools, with the series tied at 45-45-9.

It would be interesting to see what Williams, a traditional power, could do in the NCAA playoffs, but the Ephmen eschew them due to New England Small College Athletic Conference rules. Coach Dick Farley went 5-2-1 last all—the first time in five years that Williams lost more than one game—and included the 500th victory, the first school in Division III in New England to reach that milestone. The top defensive returnees are Bobby Walker, Chris McIllraith, Mike Levine, Dan Gill, and Syam Buradagunta. Farley needs to replace his quarterback but he does have an experienced offensive line and quick running backs.

Shocked Middlebury alumni watched coach Mickey Heinecken's team bolt to a 7-1 mark after a 2-6 record in 1991. That success could be hard to duplicate with most of the offensive line gone, (Co-captain Jon Fortin returns.) Todd Anderson replaces Andy Hyland at quarterback and co-captain Matt Whitcomb is the top running back. The defense looks solid with all-ECAC linebacker Dave Middleton, end Winfield Campbell, and backs Roy McKinnon and Will White.
